The manuscript collection of Taco Roorda, which entered the Library in 1874. Taco Roorda (1801-1874) is considered as the founder of Javanese studies in The Netherlands. In 1842 he was appointed professor of Oriental languages and ethnology at the Royal Academy of Delft. After the closure of that institution in 1864 he became professor of Indian (= Indonesian) languages and ethnology in the 'Rijks-Instelling tot Opleiding van Indische Ambtenaren' (Government Training College for Indian Civil Servants) in Leiden. In 1874 the Leiden Library purchased the present collection from Roorda's estate. Most are Javanese manuscripts, described in Pigeaud II, pp. 66-83. The Malay manuscripts are described by E.P. Wieringa, Catalogue 1 (1998), pp. 246-275. References to the Arabic manuscripts are given by Voorhoeve, Handlist, pp. 571-572. A collection of notes in Latin on Old Testamental matters is described by A. van der Heide, Hebrew manuscripts (1977), p. 67.

(1) Collection of 139 Javanese, Malay and Dutch letters, originals, mostly from East Java and from Tegal, addressed to Mr. G.R. Lucardie (assistant-resident in Blitar) and to professor T. Roorda, middle 19th century, and some letters in Java-Malay.
Malay: Nos. 39, 53-55, 59-64, 66, 70-76. Dutch: Nos. 83-84. The Malay letters have been individually described by E.P. Wieringa, Catalogue of Malay [...] manuscripts 1 (1938), pp. 272-275, with illustration of No. 62.
(2) 15 pp. Javanese short stories or folkales, written in cursive Central Javanese script, erotic and humoristic.
(3) Note on kyahi Maja, Dipa Nagara's pangulu, dated 1833, report for general de Kock. See cat. Vreede p. 379. Pigeaud II, p. 82.
(Mal. 450)

Or. 2183
Javanese, treebark paper (dluang), 11 loose leaves and 3 scrolls in a card-board box, Javanese script.
Notes, incantations and religious speculation, copies in modern cursive Central Javanese script of old texts, partly hardly intelligible. Perhaps some leaves contain tentative renderings into modem Javanese. Cat. Vreede p. 380 mentions a Panji tale, which is a mistake. Pandawas and Indian gods are mentioned. The longest scroll has a length of more than one meter. From Professor T. Roorda's left papers.
Pigeaud II, p. 82.
(Lont. 94)

Or. 2184
Javanese, paper (portfolio), Javanese script.
Dutch plays, epitomized in Javanese prose by C.F. Winter (1799-1859), about 40 plays, mostly farces.
Pigeaud II, p. 82.
(Mal. 473)

Or. 2185
Javanese, paper, 192 pp., Javanese script.
History of Blambangan, the occupation of Java's eastern districts by the Dutch East India Company and the Madurese, in war with the Balinese in the second half of the 18th century, in verse, dated in the beginning (the copy): 1700 A.J. and (the original): 1699 A.J., i.e. 1774 and 1773 A.D., a copy in small cursive script of MS Jakarta, KBG 63, made probably by order of Mr G.R. Lucardie (assistant-resident of Blitar), on whom see also Or. 2182 (1), above. Or. 10.566, below, is a romanized copy by J. Soegiarto, a copy of which is also available in BCB 65. Cat. Vreede pp. 119-123 has an extensive Dutch summary. Pigeaud II, p. 83.
(Mal. 474)

Or. 2186
Javanese, paper, 47 pp., Javanese script.
History of the district of Basuki, in East Java, in the second half of the 18th century settled by Madurese, and afterwards temporarily let on lease by the Dutch Government to a Chinese capitalist, in verse, a copy of MS Jakarta KBG 64. Cat. Vreede pp. 123-126 has an extensive Dutch summary, and references to other texts. A copy and a list of initial lines of cantos by Soegiarto is added. Pigeaud II, p. 83. Illustrated in Pigeaud III, p. 14 (plate 13).
(Mal. 475)

Or. 2187
Javanese, paper (4 booklets), Arabic script, with Wasiyatu'l Nabi texts:
(1) 17 pp. Wasiyyat al-Nabi.
(2) 20 pp. Wasiyyat al-Nabi, dated 1282 A.H., i.e. 1865 A.D.

(3) 26 pp. Wasiyyat al-Nabi, same date as preceding.
All three are Wasiyatu'l-Nabi, by haji Abdu'l-Samad, eschatology, on Kiyamat. Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 476, mentions `Abd al-Samad of Palembang as an author of Arabic tracts.
(4a) 11 pp. Wasiyat, short version.
(4b) 8 pp. Kadis Mi`rag in verse, Muhammad's Ascension to Heaven, unfinished, dated 1603 A.J., i.e. 1680 A.D., and 1867 A.D. for the copy.
See cat. Vreede p. 331. Pigeaud II, p. 83.
(Mal. 476)

Or. 2188

Collection of Javanese manuscripts, received in 1874 from Mr. W.H. de Jong, controleur Binnenlandsch Bestuur in Java. See Nederlandsche Spectator 1874, No. 47, pp. 379-380.

Or. 2191
Javanese, paper, 545 pp., well written in cursive Yogyakarta script with decorated intial pages.

History of the first Yogyakarta Sultan Amenku Buwana I, formerly pangeran Manku Bumi, in verse, dated in the beginning: 1187 A.H., i.e. 1773 A.D. According to cat. Vreede pp. 109-111 the versions of Or. 2191 and 1786, above, (the major Babad) show important differences, and Or. 2191 continues the history till the death of Amenku Buwana I. Apparently Or. 2191 represents Yogyakarta Court tradition. Or. 10.867 contains a list of initial lines of cantos by J. Soegiarto. Pigeaud II, pp. 83-84.
(Mal. 478)

Or. 2192
Javanese, paper, 233 ff., written in large cursive North Coast (Semarang) script with red rubrics.
Damar Wulan romance in verse, the version of Or. 1866, above, ending in Damar Wulan's apotheosis as King of Majapahit, with his three spouses Kencana Wungu, Angjasmara and Raras Ati, see cat. Vreede p. 179. Or. 10.542, below, is a romanized copy of Or. 1866, above, by J. Soegiarto, with addition: 4 cantos from Or. 2192 referring to the smith empu Lobang who was sent by Prabu Kenya of Majapahit to Urubesma (Menak Jingga) in Prabalingga. Pigeaud II, p. 84.
(Mal. 479)

Or. 2193
Javanese, paper, 150 pp., Javanese script.
Abiyasa, wayang purwa play, complete text (only the *suluk*s are not noted), carefully written in small quadratic script, the pages framed with red lines, the first and last pages decorated with gilt framework. The Javanese text was published, with Dutch translations and notes, by H.C. Humme, Abiaasaa. Een Javaansch toneelstuk (wajang). The Hague 1878. Cat. Vreede p. 254 has references to literature. Pigeaud II, p. 84. Same handwriting as Or. 2134, above ??.
(Mal. 480)

Javanese, paper (damaged, incomplete), 230 pp., Javanese script, illustrations.
Asmara Supi romance in verse, fragment, according to cat. Vreede p. 193, not the same redaction as Or. 1789, above. Cat. Juynboll II, p. 79 has collations with Or. 1798, Or. 2194 and Or. 4077. See also Poerbatjaraka, Indonesische handschriften, 1950, p. 81. Rustic idiom, spelling and script, Central Java. Illustrated with some crude drawings in a boorish wayang style. Or. 10.867 contains a list of initial lines of cantos by J. Soegiarto. Pigeaud II, p. 84.
(Mal. 481)

Or. 2195
Javanese (and some Malay), thick brown treebark paper (dluang), damaged, 28 ff., Javanese script.

Jaka Prataka romance in verse, fragment, see cat. Vreede p. 197. Idiom and script: Central North Coast, text intersperced with Javanese-Malay words and colloquial expressions. Cf. Poerbatjaraka, 'Ind. HSS', 1950, p. 84, Prantaka. Pigeaud II, p. 84.
(Mal. 482)

Or. 2196
Javanese, paper, 274 pp., Javanese script.
History of Pasir (Banyumas Residency) in verse. Kamandaka, i.e. Banak Catra, son of Silih Wangi of Pajajaran (cock-fights) marries in monkey shape (Lutung) the daughter of Kanda Daha and becomes the ancestor of the Pasir family. Cat. Vreede pp. 183-185 has an extensive Dutch summary. The text, published and translated into Dutch by J. Knebel (Babad Pasir volgens een Banjoemaasch handschrift, Verh. KBG, vol. 51/1, 1900), continues the history up to Pajang-Mataram era. The idiom and the spelling belong to the Banyumas district, reminiscent of Sundanese. The script is cursive, rustic Central Javanese. Or. 10.867 contains a list of initial lines of cantos by J. Soegiarto. Pigeaud II, p. 84.
(Mal. 483)

Arabic, paper, 432 pp., dated 1869 AD, copied in Damascus.
Kitab al-Shi`r wal-Shu`ara', by Ibn Qutayba (d. 276/889), GAL G I, 120. CCO 2842 (VI, p. 232); CCA 1050 (II, p. 127). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 339.
Provenance: A copy of a manuscript in Damascus (dated 1090 AH) in the possession Mustafa Efendi al-Siba`i, made at the request of E. Prym and A. Socin (1844-1899), and collated by them with the original manuscript. See E. Prym's short note in ZDMG 28 (1874), p. 677, which is a reaction to a note on Ibn Qutayba's work in a letter by I. Goldziher, on p. 161 of the same volume of ZDMG. The copy was presented by them to the Leiden library. M.J. de Goeje (1836-1909) used the manuscript as the basis for his edition of the text (MS D), Ibn Qotaiba, Liber poësis et poëtarum. Leiden 1904, and dedicated his edition to Prym and Socin.
¶ Other copies of manuscripts used by M.J. de Goeje for his edition are registered as Or. 4994 and Or. 4995, below).

XII. 38 pp. Javanese script. ?? With several calculations.
XIII. Sundanese. Javanese script, with interlinear and marginal notes in Latin script. 'Ketab parerembon djenggoegoeritan'. On the title-page also an explanation of the use of the word 'goegoeritan'. See Edi S. Ekadjati, Naskah Sunda. Inventarisasi dan Pencatatan. Bandung 1988, p. 299.
XIV. Latin script, pencil, 1 p. List of titles of Sundanese works.pahan, afkomstig uit Tjisoeroepan (die Javaansche karakters lezen enschrijven kon'.
XV. Latin script. Wordlists and textual explanations on several of the previously described texts.
Added is a letter from F.S. Eringa (Heemstede, October 9, 1950), to P. Voorhoeve, then curator of Oriental collections in the Leiden library. The letter concerns Loetoeng-Kasaroeng (the subject of Eringa's thesis of 1949). The reference in the letter to Grashuis is probably a mistake of Eringa, unless the documents in Or. 2253 originate from G.J. Grashuis. There is no indication for this in the documents, however.
[* Mal. 547]

Or. 2253 D
Collection of letters, put in portfolio by C. van Arendonk in November 1934, repacked in the 1950's.
Collection of letters in Sundanese, in Latin, Arabic and Javanese scripts. All from the 1850's and 1860's. Some are from Masroen. Some contain an indication of origin: 'Fragmenten, bij gebrek aan beter te Kalipoetjang verzameld', 'Brief Parigi', 'Gekregen te Tjikalong', 'Briefjens van Raden Wangsa aan mijn schrijver'.
[* Mal. 548]

Acehnese, paper, 302 pp.
Incomplete copy of Hikayat Malem Dagang, also known as Hikayat Meukata Alam and Hikayat Raja Si Ujut, here apparently a fragment from the longer redaction of the text of this epic hikayat. Apparently copied from a MS in which the beginning was missing. See Voorhoeve, Catalogue of Acehnese manuscripts (1994), pp. 36-48, especially p. 43. Not mentioned by C. Snouck Hurgronje, nor by H.K.J. Cowan, De 'Hikajat Malem Dagang'. Atjehsch heldendicht. The Hague 1937.
(Mal. 378)

Or. 2255
Malay, Minangkabau, paper, 110 pp.

Incomplete copy of Kaba Cindur Mato, the Minangkabau state myth. See E.P. Wieringa, Catalogue of Malay and Minangkabau manuscripts, vol. 1 (Leiden 1998), pp. 109-111 (on this text), and for this MS on p. 445.
(Mal. 549)

Or. 2256
Malay, Dutch paper, 188 ff. (including blanks).
An untitled work on Islamic law, incomplete and misbound, possibly by Syaikh Ismail ibn Mukri Zabidi (colophon on f. 188r). See E.P. Wieringa, Catalogue of Malay and Minangkabau manuscripts, vol. 1 (Leiden 1998), pp. 445-446, with reproduction of ff. 187v-188r.
(Mal. 550)

Or. 2257
Makassarese, paper, 18 ff., Buginese script (with some words Arabic and Chinese script), executed in blue and red inks, with illumination work.
Jauna Tjampea (according to two inscriptions in Latin script), apparently a religious (Islamic) text, and possibly another text. Label on f. 18v: 'Jaoena Tjampea, den 31ten Meij 1863 [or: 1843?]'. On f. 18a this title is repeated.

Or. 2262
Javanese, Sanskrit, carboard box containing 6 palmleaf MSS and 1 portfolio with 6 sheaves of paper, containing miscellaneous notes. The contents of the portfolio concerns the palmleaf manuscripts, except the last mentioned item. Presently there are no letters A-E available in the box, but the pieces in the box are inscribed with the letters that precede the letters of the here-following lontar manuscripts.
F. Palmleaf MS, 55 ff. without numbers, slovenly boorish script and idiom. Central Java: notes on Muslim theology and mysticism. A tentative copy in regular Javanese script is in the portfolio.
G. Palmleaf MS, severely damaged and incomplete, 17 whole leaves and some broken ones, fairly well written in so-called buda script. Incantations, partly Sanskrit slokas with Old Javanese explanations, Shiwaitic. A pencil copy in buda script and a tentative copy in regular Javanese script are in the portfolio.

H. Palmleaf MS, 11 leaves with 4, partly 3 lines of 34 cm and 8 leaves with 4 lines of 39,5 cm, written in so-called buda script: incantations, partly non-Islamic, beginning with awighnam astu namas siddim, partly Muslim, beginning with the basmallah. The kidung rumeksa in weni is mentioned in a line written in regular Javanese script.
I. Palmleaf MS, 3 leaves with 4 lines of 42,5 cm and 2 leaves with 4 lines of 32 cm, written in so-called buda script. Incantations, non-Islamic, mentioning names of spirits etc. A pencil copy in buda script and a tentative copy in regular Javanese script are in the portfolio.
J. Palmleaf MS, damaged and incomplete, 29 leaves written in so-called buda script. Pawukon divination, mentioning names of spirits etc. A tentative copy in regular Javanese script is in the portfolio.
K. Palmleaf MS, 7 leaves with so-called buda script. Pawukon divination. A tentative copy in regular Javanese script in the portfolio.
The buda script used in these MSS resembles the script registered in Holle's Tabel van Oud- en Nieuw Indische Alphabetten, in KBG 1877, No 71. The origin of the MSS is unknown, perhaps some remote district of Central or East Java. They seem to have belonged to C.J. van der Vlis (his name on sheaf K). See the reproduction from Or. 2262 H in Pigeaud III, plate 25, and the detailed description, with transliteration and translation in Pigeaud III, p. 57. For similar script see also Or. 3039, below.
The portfolio contains moreover an unnumbered sheaf with a copy of a didactic and moralistic treatise on the Pandawas in prose in regular cursive Javanese script (6 p.). See cat. Vreede p. 400 and Pigeaud II, pp. 92-93 (who do not explicitly describe the content of the portfolio).
[* Lont. 46]

Or. 2263
Javanese, Malay, cylindrical card-board box, containing two paper scrolls, Javanese and Arabic scripts, drawings.
Divination texts, pawukon, copied on paper in the original script, in bold semi-cursive letters, with many rubrics. The script is ancient West Javanese. Cat. Vreede p. 383 has references to literature, i.a. to Raffles's History of Java, where a. Cerbon MS probably related to Or. 2263 is mentioned. On part of the reverse side of both scrolls Malay notes on divination, in Arabic script, are written. The first part of the longer scroll has coloured figures of the zodiac signs at one side. Perhaps the originals of which Or. 2263 is a copy were palmleaf MSS. Pigeaud II, pp. 93-94. See also E.P. Wieringa, Catalogue of Malay [...] manuscripts 1 (1998), p. 448.

Or. 2268 a
Javanese and Dutch, palmleaf, 45 ff., Javanese script, and paper, with Latin script, illustrations.
Divination texts, pawukon, provided with illustrations of the wukus etc. in wayang style, drawn on the length of the leaves. The MS is written in so-called buda script. For similar script see also Or. 3039, below. A Dutch treatise on wuku divination, which, according to a note, was translated under supervision of J.F.C. Gericke (1798-1857), and which is dated 1845, is added ('Berekeningen der zeven dagen der week'). See cat. Vreede p. 400, where the MS has the number 1102. Or. 2268 a, b, c belong together. Pigeaud II, p. 94.
(in Lont. 53)

Or. 2268 b
Javanese, palmleaf, 103 ff., Javanese script.

Old Javanese treatise in prose, notes on religious speculation (tutur), repeatedly mentioning the Pandawas, rather slovenly written in so-called buda script. Or. 2268 a, b, c belong together. See cat. Vreede p. 400 where the MS has the number 1103. Pigeaud II, p. 94.
(Lont. 52)

Or. 2268 c
Javanese, palmleaf, 11 ff., Javanese script, illustrations.

Or. 2289
Collective volume with texts in Arabic (and Javanese?). A MS from Java.
(1) ff. ??-?? Bahgat al-`Ulum, anonymous commentary on Bayan `Aqidat al-Usul, or: Masa'il, by Abu al-Layth Muhammad b. Abi Nasr b. Ibrahim al-Samarqandi, who seems to be identical with Abu al-Layth Nasr b. Muhammad b. Ahmad b. Ibrahim al-Samarqandi (4th cent.), GAL G I, 196. This catechism, one of the most popular religious textbooks in Indonesia, is mentioned twice by Brockelmann under different titles (Nos. 6 and 7). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, pp. 44-45.
(2) ff. ??-??. Explanatory notes (Ta`liq) by al-Ramli (d. 957/1550) on al-Sittun Mas'ala fil-Fiqh, usually ascribed to Abu (/Ibn) al-`Abbas Ahmad b. Muhammad al-Zahid (d. 819/1416), GAL S II, 112. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 342.
(3) ff. ??-??. al-Miftah fi Sharh Ma`rifat al-Islam, anonymous commentary on Bab Ma`rifat al-Islam wal-Iman, which is anonymous theological tract, very common in Indonesia.. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 195, where also references to MSS in Jakarta and Paris, BNF, mal.pol. 35 (which latter MS has an author: Ahmad b. Shaykh al-Islam.
(4) ff. ??-??. al-Mufid. An anonymous commentary on Umm al-Barahin by Abu `Abdallah Muhammad b. Yusuf al-Sanusi (d. 892/1486), GAL G II, 250. Erroneously identified by Brockelmann as the commentary by al-Tilimsani. Copy from Java. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, pp. 387-388, where the incipit, and also references to other manuscripts of this text in Jakarta and London are given.
(5) ff. ??-??. Commentary by Muhammad b. `Umar b. Ibrahim al-Tilimsani (897/1492) on Umm al-Barahin by Abu `Abdallah Muhammad b. Yusuf al-Sanusi (d. 892/1486), GAL G II, 250. With Javanese glosses?. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, pp. 387-388.

(Ar. 1719)

Or. 2291 - Or. 2299
Collection of Javanese manuscripts partly from Yogyakarta, purchased in 1881 at an auction. Also one Madurese manuscript. There is no mention of an origin in the 'Journaal', but Pigeaud II, p. 8, mentions an origin (auction) for the Javanese MSS. The way of entering these MSS in the 'Journaal' would suggest that Or. 2299 does, too, belong to this 'collection'.

Or. 2291
Javanese, paper, 226 ff., Javanese script, illuminations.
History of Javanese kingdoms in verse, beginning with Adam down to the reign of Sultan Agung of Mataram, dated 1785 A.J., i.e. 1856. A.D., in the introduction said to be a copy of the history written at the order of Ratu Mas Blitar, Queen of susuhunan Paku Buwana, who was buried in Pajimatan. The Ratu's piety is extolled. The MS is written in Yogyakarta script. It has polychrome decorated initial pages. Cat. Vreede pp. 99-100 has a short epitome and collations with other texts. Or. 10.867 contains a list of initial lines of stanzas by Soegiarto. Pigeaud II, p. 95.
(Mal. 568)

Or. 2292
Javanese, paper, 62 ff., Javanese script.
Johar Manikan, romantic tale in verse, dated 1789 A.J., i.e. 1860 A.D., in the introduction said to be taken from the Nasikatul Muluk. It is written in Yogyakarta script. Cat. Vreede pp. 208-211 has an extensive Dutch summary and collations with other texts and editions, also Malay. Pigeaud II, p. 95.
(Mal. 569)

Or. 2293
Javanese (and some Arabic), paper, 73 ff., Javanese script.
Eschatological treatise in verse, mentioning the Imam Mahdi: Kabar Kiyamat etc., dated 1788 A.J., i.e. 1859 A.D., written in Yogyakarta script. Cat. Vreede pp. 152-153 has an extensive Dutch summary. The end is abrupt. Inside the binding Qur'an verses are written in fine Arabic script. Or. 10.867 contains a list of initial lines of cantos by Soegiarto. Pigeaud II, p. 95. Not in Voorhoeve's Handlist.
(Mal. 570)

Or. 2294
Javanese, paper, 343 pp., Javanese script.
History of the foundation of the Yogyakarta Sultanate by Manku Bumi, 1748-1755 A.D., in verse, with introduction (10 p.), dated 1783 A.J., i.e. 1854 A.D., mentioning Sura Adimangala, Regent of Semarang as owner of the original. The MS was written in Pati; the script is Central Java North Coast. Cat. Vreede p. 109 has a short Dutch epitome, stating that for the major part the text is identical with the Major Babad text (Or. 1786, above). Pigeaud II, pp. 95-96.
(Mal. 571)

Or. 2295
Javanese, paper, 238 pp., Javanese script.
History of Mecca and Turkey, 19th century, raja Bilngon (i.e. Muhammad ibn `Awn) of Mecca and Sultan Abdul Majit of Rum, in verse, dated 1788 A.J., 1276 A.H. and 1859 A.D. Cf. Or. 6793, below, and C. Snouck Hurgonje, Mekka, vol. I, p. 159. Cat. Vreede p. 150-152 has an extensive Dutch summary and references to literature. The MS is written partly in a perpendicular script partly cursive, Central Java. The numbers of the chronograms are put in reverse order (thousands first), which is unusual. Pigeaud II, p. 96. HRP
(Mal. 372)

Or. 2296
Javanese, paper, 194 ff., Javanese script.
Seh Mardan, Bagenda-, romantic tale in verse, Javanese version of the Malay hikayat Shah Mardan, or Endra Jaya, or Wikrama Ditya Jaya, dated 1788 A.J., i.e. 1859 A.D., on the adventures of Seh Mardan, a prince of Darul Kastana, who i.a. at some time was transformed into a bird. In the end he becomes Endra Jaya, Raja Adi Mulya of Nusantara. Cat. Vreede pp. 211-213 has an extensive Dutch summary and references to literature and Malay texts. Or. 2296 is written in upright Central Javanese, Yogyakarta, script with a shaky hand, but neatly, with red rubrics. Or. 10.867 contains a list of initial lines of cantos J. by Soegiarto. Pigeaud II, p. 96.
(Mal. 373)

Or. 2297
Javanese, paper, 291 pp., Javanese script (and Arabic ex-libris), illumination.
Dewa Mendo, romantic tale in verse, Javanese version of the Malay hikayat Dewa Mandu, dated 1785 A.J., i.e. 1856 A.D. Adventures of Dewa Mendo, son of a King of Gangsa Indra, with a girl he met while hunting. In the end Dewa Mendo and his mother are acknowledged by the King (he left her a ring) as his son and wife (Indian motive). Cat. Vreede pp. 213-216 has an extensive Dutch summary and references to Malay texts and literature. The MS is written, like Or. 2296, above, Seh Mardan, in upright Central Javanese, Yogyakarta, script, with a shaky hand, but neatly, with red rubrics. The two initial pages are decorated with a polychrome framework and the last page has a kind of ex libris in the same style mentioning apparently the name of the owner (and maker) of the book, in Arabic characters, al-Hagg Minhag Gili, i.e. haji Minhaj of Gili (Giri, Gresik?). Or. 10.619, below, is a romanized copy by J. Soegiarto, also in BCB 72. Pigeaud II, p. 96.

Javanese, paper, 132 pp., Javanese script.
Tungul Wulung, wayang purwa play versified. Cat. Vreede pp. 252-253 has a Dutch epitome. Tunggul Wulung, the Dark Standard, is put up by King Gajindra in his Court after having stolen Kalimasada, the Pandawas' palladium, with the assistance of his brother Rukmala; he killed Darma Wangsa (Yudhistira). Gajindra and Rukmala are transformed into that Standard. At the same time Bima and Arjuna are transformed into stone statues. In the end, chiefly by the activity of Gatutkaca and Kresna, all are exorcised and Gajindra is vanquished. Tungul Wulung has the name of Bhatara Guru, the Javanese Supreme God, written on it. The MS is written in cursive Surakarta script. Or. 10.867 contains a list of initial lines of cantos by J. Soegiarto. Pigeaud II, pp. 99-100.

Or. 2334
Javanese (and some Arabic), paper, 277 ff., Javanese script.
History of (West) Madurese Kings in prose, edition de luxe, written in large quadratic Madura script, in Madurese Javanese idiom. Evidently the book was made with a view to the marriage of the Bangkalan princess Sarija daughter of Cakraningrat II with the Surakarta King Paku Buwana VII in 1834. W. Palmer v. d. Broek published a Dutch translation of the major part of the text (TBG, vol. 20). The unpublished part contains interesting particulars on the bride's wedding gifts. The framework which should decorate the pages of the codex has not been made. The years of the genealogy are given in elaborate Arabic sentences. The history begins with Arya Damar of Majapahit. Cat. Vreede p. 148 has a short epitome and notes on the idiom. Not in Voorhoeve's Handlist. Pigeaud II, p. 100.

Religious notebook from Aceh. Collection of prayer, Qur'anic fragments, dzikir, jimat, drawings, notes, prayers, medical notes, etc., in various hands. Mention in Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 34.

Provenance: Gift from P.G. Neeb, received in 1882. The previous owner has written on the cover: 'Djimat of Talisman gevonden op de borst van eenen Athinees gedood bij Moessappie te Atjeh, was met zijn bloed gedrenkt. Deze Athinees was een Hoedoebalang (voorvechter). October 1875. P.G. Neeb.' The previous owner is probably the medical doctor, who wrote a treatise about beri-beri. He is not the medical officer H.M. Neeb who was engaged in making photographs in the Dutch East-Indies, including of massacres by the Dutch in Aceh, about a generation later.

The collection of manuscripts of Amin al-Madani.
Amin b. Ahmad al-Halwani al-Madani al-Hanafi (d. 1316/1898) was a scholar and bookseller in Medina. He had come in 1883 to Amsterdam to participate in the Colonial Exhibition. He and his library of manuscripts were quickly spotted by the Leiden scholars. His library was first purchased by Mr. E.J. Brill, the Leiden bookseller and publisher, who had a catalogue made of it by Carlo de Landberg (Catalogue de manuscrits arabes provenant d'une bibliothèque privée à el-Medina et appartenant à la Maison E.J. Brill, Leiden 1883). There is also a lithographed list of the titles of his books made by Amin himself, possibly as a marketing tool in the Amsterdam exhibition, but this seems to have been lost, or at least temporarily unavailable. In the same year the Leiden library purchased the entire collection, with special funds alloted by the Dutch government. See for Amin al-Madani's further stay in The Netherlands also C. Snouck Hurgronje, Het Leidsche Orientalistencongres. Indrukken van een Arabisch congreslid. Leiden 1883 (reprinted in Verspreide Geschriften VI, pp. 240-272). The Arabic text by Amin, which was translated by Snouck Hurgronje, was originally published in the journal al-Burhan of 22, 25, 29 October and 1 and 5 November 1883. Cuttings from al-Burhan containing the Arabic text are available in the Snouck Hurgronje archive. Amin al-Madani's lithographed portrait in the edition of 1883 by A.J. Wendel was copied after the photographic portrait by the Leiden photographer Goedeljee, an original of which is available in the Snouck Hurgronje archive. Amin, and some of the controversies in which he took pare, are mentioned by C. Snouck Hurgronje, 'Eenige Arabische strijdschriften besproken', in Tijdschrift voor Indische Taal-, Land- en Volkenkunde 39 (1897), pp. 379-427 (reprinted in Verspreide Geschriften III, pp. 151-188).

Amin al-Madani's role in selling such a sizeable collection of manuscripts has recently met with severe criticism. See Abbas Saleh Tashkandy in the preface of his work, entitled A descriptive catalogue of the historical collection of the scientific manuscripts at the Library of `Arif Hikmat in Medina, Saudi Arabia, Pittsburgh 1974. There is also an article by Dr. Tashkandy (Tashqandi) in the periodical `Alam al-Kutub on this subject. Many of the manuscripts have been inscribed by Amin al-Madani as being autograph copies. It is not certain on which information he based this, and the ascriptions are doubtful unless they are corroborated by other evidence. There is a report on Amin al-Madani's death by `Abd al-Samad Sharaf al-Din in 1316/1898, on the authority of a report by al-Zirikli, which says that Amin al-Madani had left Medina for a visit to Arab countries. At a certain day he arrived in Tripoli. He was white haired, had a feeble eyesight and wore 'medical' spectacles. Some bedouins thought that he was a foreign spy and killed him. These details are not mentioned by al-Zirikli in his biography of Amin (al-A`lam, 2nd ed., vol. 1, p. 357. Al-Zirikli does mention in Amin's biography in al-A`lam that Amin, in his controversy with al-Sayyid Ahmad As`ad al-Rafi`i, used the pseudonym `Abd al-Basit al-Manufi. The report on Amin's murder is given `Abd al-Samad Sharaf al-Din in his preface to volume 2 of his edition of al-Mizzi's Fath al-Ashraf bi-Ma`rifat al-Atraf, Bhiwandi 1386/1966, p. 28.
The Leiden volume 865 C 43 contains two lithographed texts by Amin al-Madani, both of which were published in Bombay in 1304 [1887]. A note on the title-page of the first text is probably written by Amin himself, as he often has done in his manuscripts.

Volume 3 (covering years 241-350 AH) of Ta'rikh al-Islam by Muhammad b. Ahmad al-Dhahabi (d. 748/1348), GAL G II, 46. Amin 1; CCA 843 (II, p. 21, where there is the erroneous serial number: CCA 863). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 371. The fact that this an autograph is stated on f. 1a by the former owner, Amin al-Madani, whose collection of which this manuscript was part was purchased in the course of 1883. Another autograph of al-Dhahabi would be Or. 654, above. That looks quite different from the script in this manuscript, but not differently enough to exclude the possibility of being an autograph as well. Or. 654 is apparently a collection of draft notes, whereas Or. 2363 is evidently a neat copy. See also Or. 2494, below, which is also said to be an autograph by al-Dhahabi. On f. 10a of Or. 2558, below, is al-Dhahabi's signature, so that is with certainty an autograph. An autograph signature or colophon by al-Dhahabi has been reproduced in al-Zirikli, al-A`lam, 4th edition, Bayrut 1979, vol. 5, p. 326.

Ta'rikh `Abd al-Hamid Bey* (d. 1283/1866). CCA 1122 gives a list of names of the biographees. Amin 6; CCA 1122 (II, pp. 194-196). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 370. Edited solely on the basis of the (unique?) Leiden manuscript by Aboul-Kassim Saadallah (Abū al-Qāsim Saʿd Allāh), *A`yan min al-Mashariqa wal-Maghariba (Ta'rikh `Abd al-Hamid Beg) ... Beirut (Dar al-Gharb al-Islami) 2000. It is not improbable that the Leiden MS is indeed the incomplete draft version of the text. The MS is in fact an account book and it may well be that this is all what remains of this text which was not completed by the author.

Or. 2494
Collective volume with texts in Arabic, paper, 8 ff., one hand (except for the sama`at on f. 8a), half-leather binding, pasted boards (stencilled ornaments).
(1) f. 1a. Buhur al-Shi`r. Anonymous. Mnemotechnic lines for the Arabic metres. F. 1b blank. Not separately mentioned in Voorhoeve's Handlist.

(2) ff. 2a-8a. Muntaqa min Mashyakhat al-Hafiz Abi al-Haggag Yusuf b. Khalil, abstract, purportedly (but unconfirmed by the MS) made by Muhammad b. Ahmad al-Dhahabi (d. 748/1348), GAL G II, 46, of Mashyakhat al-Hafiz Abi al-Haggag Yusuf b. Khalil. Amin 121. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 202, where the text in this booklet is said to be an autograph of al-Dhahabi. There is no direct information in the manuscript, however, that points to such an identication. With some good will the handwriting can be reconciled with the (rather contradictive) evidence of Or. 654 and Or. 2363, above, which, too, are said to be autographs of al-Dhahabi. The dating to 738 AH which is given by Voorhoeve could not be ascertained. Al-Dhahabi is the musmi` (but not the katib) of the last qira'a note on f. 8a, which note is dated Thursday 4 Dhu al-Qa`da 742. There are several other sama`at and qira'at on f. 8a. F. 8b blank. On f. 10a of Or. 2558, below, is al-Dhahabi's signature, so that is with certainty an autograph. An autograph signature or colophon by al-Dhahabi has been reproduced in al-Zirikli, al-A`lam, 4th edition, Bayrut 1979, vol. 5, p. 326.
[* Ar. 1852]

Or. 2495
Arabic, paper, 12 pp., dated 692 AH.
Amali al-Dabbi by al-Qadi Abu `Abdallah al-Husayn b. Harun al-Dabbi (393/1003). Amin 122. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 13.
(Ar. 1853)

Or. 2496
Arabic, paper, 23.2 x 18.5 cm, 8 pp., preceded by two paste-in leaves and followed by one similar paste-in, 17-19 lines to the page (with variations), irregular naskh script, dated Tuesday 1 Sha`ban 1242, autograph copy (colophon on f. 4b), under the colophon the seal of the issuing scholar, partly readable: Muhammad al-`Azizi al-Shafi`i, pasted boards with flap.
Igaza issued by Muhammad b. Muhammad al-`Azizi, given on Tuesday 1 Sha`ban 1242 to `Abd al-Rahman b. `Abd al-`Aziz b. Muhammad b. `Abd al-Wahhab al-Hanbali for the six canonical books of the Hadith (Bukhari, Muslim, Abu Dawud, al-Tirmidhi, al-Nasa'i, Ibn Maga). Amin 123. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 123. Is the recipient the grandson of the founder of Wahhabism, Muhammad b. `Abd al-Wahhab al-Nagdi (d. 1206/1791), GAL G II, 390, as Landberg claims in his catalogue of the Amin collection?
[* Ar. 1854]

Or. 2497
Arabic, paper, 166 pp., partly autograph.
Rasa'il by Muhammad b. `Abd al-Wahhab al-Nagdi (d. 1206/1791), GAL G II, 390. Amin 124. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 285. A partial autograph (?) of the founder of Wahhabism. C. de Landberg has given these four treatises the following titles:
(1) fi Hukm Ahwal al-Qabr wal-Hashr wal-Nashr.
(2) fi Hukm al-Ghiba wal-Namima wal-Fitan allati tahduth fi Awwal al-Islam.
(3) fi Hukm Khalq Allah al-Samawat wal-Ard.
(4) fi Hukm Katm al-Ghayth wal-Hulm.

(Ar. 1855)

Or. 2498
Arabic, paper, 40 pp., dated 1222 AH?
Two tracts by Muhammad b. `Abd al-Wahhab al-Nagdi (d. 1206/1791), GAL G II, 390, the first about igtihad, the second, of which the end is missing, about shirk. Not an autograph as supposed by Landberg (Amin 125). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 450.
(Ar. 1856)

Or. 2499
Arabic, paper, 16 pp., copied by `Abd al-Rahman b. Ibrahim.

(Ar. 1857)

Or. 2500
Arabic, paper, 10 ff.
A Fatwa of Ibn Taymiyya (d. 728/1328), GAL G II, 100, on Tahara. According to Landberg (No. 127), on the authority of Amin al-Madani, the copyist would be Muhammad b. `Abd al-Wahhab al-Nagdi (d. 1206/1791), GAL G II, 390; S II, 530. Amin 127. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 78.
(Ar. 1858)

Or. 2501
Arabic, paper, ff., 'Yaquti script', dated 700 AH, copied by `Abdallah al-Sayrafi, illuminations, bound in black silk.
Partial copy of the Qur'an, from the Near and Middle East. Contains surat al-Fatiha (1), surat al-An`am (6), surat al-Kahf (18), surat al-Saba' (34), surat Fatir (35). Amin 129. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 278.

Or. 2502
Arabic, paper, 8 pp., autograph, dated 1110 AH.
Risala fi Hukm al-Tabligh khalf al-Imam, by Mansur al-Mansuri al-Hanafi. Amin 130. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 296.
(Ar. 1860)

Or. 2503 - Or. 2520
These 18 manuscripts were all copied by Muhammad b. Tulun al-Salihi al-Hanafi (d. 953/1546), GAL G II, 367, and they once belong to the same collective volume, as can be seen from the title-page in the first volume (Or. 2503, f. 1a, below). See for this also the evidence noted in Or. 2508-Or. 2510, below. They are all in the same small format and were all written by the same copyist. Only one is actually dated: Tuesday 9 Dhu al-Qa`da 936, and was copied by Ibn Tulun in Damascus (note in Or. 2512, f. 1a). The identification of Ibn Tulun as copyist is based on Or. 2503, f. 1a and Or. 2512, f. 1a. This gives the works of which Ibn Tulun is also the author the status of autographs. Works copied by Ibn Tulun but not authored by him in this collection are Or. 2509, Or. 2516, Or. 2517 and Or. 2518, below. As these texts are all copied by Ibn Tulun and originally originate from the same collective volume, the volume may have been a personal volume of some sort to Ibn Tulun. See also C. Landberg, Catalogue de manuscrits arabes provenant d'une bibliothèque privée à El-Medina et appartenant à la maison Brill. Leiden 1883, p. 36.

Or. 2503
Arabic, paper, 22 ff., naskh script, autograph, pasted boards.
al-Masa'il al-Mulaqqabat fi `Ilm al-Nahw (title on f. 1a), by Muhammad b. `Ali Ibn Tulun (d. 953/1546), GAL G II, 367. Amin 132; CCA 244 (I, pp. 129-130). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 199. The author and copyist has added to the title: Gam` Katibihi Muhammad b. Tulun al-Salihi al-Hanafi ...
F. 1a is also the title-page of the entire Magmu`a. It contains a considerable number of owners' and readers' notes.
[* Ar. 1861]

Or. 2504
Arabic, paper, 5 ff., naskh script, autograph, pasted boards.
Darb al-Huta `ala Gami` al-Ghuta (title on f. 1b), by Muhammad b. `Ali Ibn Tulun (d. 953/1546), GAL G II, 367; S II, 495. Amin 143; CCA 814 (II, p. 10). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 58.
Title on f. 1a, in a later hand: Darb al-Huta `ala Gami` al-Ghuta lil-`Allama Muhammad b. Tulun.

Arabic, paper, 8 ff., naskh script, autograph, pasted boards.
Ithaf al-Nubaha' bi-Nahw al-Fuqaha', by Muhammad b. `Ali Ibn Tulun (d. 953/1546), GAL G II, 367. Amin 138; CCA 249 (I, pp. 130-131). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 143.
On f. 7b is a note (not by the copyist) on the surface of the court yard of the Umayyad mosque in Damascus (398 x 200 feet).
On f. 8a are several poetical fragments in Arabic, in a hand which is not the copyist's.
On the inside of the front cover, written in a later hand, is the same title as in the text.
[* Ar. 1863]

Or. 2506
Arabic, paper, 16 ff., naskh script, autograph, pasted boards.
Commentary by Muhammad b. `Ali Ibn Tulun (d. 953/1546), GAL G II, 367; S II, 495, on the Qasida [...] allati dhukirat fiha Ghazw al-Ifrang li-Madinat Bayrut (926/1520, title on f. 1b), by Ibrahim b. Sarim al-Din al-Saydawi. Amin 144; CCA 958 (II, pp. 86-88). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 265.

On the inside of the front cover, the contents have been described, in a later hand: Ta'rikh Bayrut wa-Akhdh al-Firang laha wa-huwa Sharh Manzuma fi hadhda al-Khusus.

Or. 2508
Arabic, paper, 15 ff., naskh script, autograph, pasted boards.
Tabyin al-Munasabat bayn al-Asma' wal-Musammayat (title on f. 1b), by Muhammad b. `Ali Ibn Tulun (d. 953/1546), GAL G II, 367. Amin 141; CCA 246 (I, p. 130). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 350. Occasional marginal notes.
On f. 1a a title in a later hand: Risala tusamma al-Munasabat bayn al-Asma' wal-Musammayat.
At the end (f. 15b), the few words which are now in Or. 2510, f. 1a, are missing, and were supplied by a later hand. That same hand has made a reference to the Risalat Sharh Hadith laysa fil-Imkan abda` min kan (= Or. 2510, below). This implies that this booklet was once a codicological unity with Or. 2510, below.
[* Ar. 1866]

Or. 2509
Arabic, paper, 41 ff., naskh script, copied by Muhammad b. `Ali Ibn Tulun (d. 953/1546), GAL G II, 367, pasted boards.

Title on f. 1a, in a later hand: Ta`liq Latif li-Ibn Abi Sharif Hawi li-Turaf min al-Ta'wil `ala Taraf al-Tanzil.
At the end (f. 41b), the few words which may now in Or. 2510, f. 1a, are apparently missing here, and were supplied by a later hand. This implies that this booklet may once have been a codicological unity with Or. 2510, below. See however also the note in the description of Or. 2508, above.
[* Ar. 1867]

Or. 2510
Arabic, paper, 51 ff., naskh script, autograph, pasted boards.
Qiladat al-`Iqyan fi Agwibat Mas'alat "Laysa fil-Imkan Abda` mimma kan" (title on f. 1b), by Muhammad b. `Ali Ibn Tulun (d. 953/1546), GAL G II, 367. Amin 148. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 262.

On the inside of the front cover is a title in a later hand: Kitab Sharh Hadith Laysa fil-Imkan Abda` mimma kana li-Ibn Abi Sharif. The latter is possibly Ibrahim b. Muhammad Ibn Abi Sharif (d. 923/1517).
On f. 1a are the final few words of a previous text (now Or. 2509 or Or. 2508, above), which implies that the present booklet at some stage was part of a larger Magmu`a.

Or. 2558
Collective volume with texts in Arabic, paper, 10 ff. Copied by Muhammad b. Ahmad al-Dhahabi (d. 748/1348), GAL G II, 46.
(1) ff. 1-7v. Kitab al-Talwih fil-Sab`... (the remainder of the title and the name of the author being illegible). Dated Safar 620 AH. Amin 187. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 362.
(2) ff. 8v-10r. `Umdat al-Mufid wa-`Uddat al-Mugid, a rhymed manual of recitation of the Qur'an by `Aly b. Muhammad al-Sakhawi (d. 643/1245), GAL G I, 410. The MS does not mention the title. Copied by Muhammad b. Ahmad al-Dhahabi (d. 748/1348), GAL G II, 46. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 387. For other possible autographs of al-Dhahabi see Or. 654, Or. 2363 and Or. 2494, above. On f. 10a of Or. 2558 is al-Dhahabi's signature, so that is with certainty an autograph. An autograph signature or colophon by al-Dhahabi has been reproduced in al-Zirikli, al-A`lam, 4th edition, Bayrut 1979, vol. 5, p. 326. At the end are several sama`at.
(Ar. 1916)

Or. 2559
Arabic, paper, 9 ff., old, but not an autograph (as CCA has it), as can be seen by comparison with al-Maqrizi's own notes in Or. 560, above.
Manaqib Ahmad b. Hanbal, by al-Maqrizi (d. 845/1442), GAL S II, 37, No. 4. Possibly a part taken from the author's work al-Muqaffa. Amin 188; CCA 1103 (II, p. 181). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 183.
(Ar. 1917)

Or. 2560
Arabic, paper, 6 pp.
Various notes, but not in the hand of al-Maqrizi (d. 845/1442), GAL S II, 37, No. 4, as Landberg (No. 189) and de Goeje (CCA, No. 1065) thought. One should compare for this al-Maqrizi's handwriting in Or. 560, above. Amin 189; CCA 1065 (II, pp. 136-137). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 429.

al-Istidrak `ala Abi `Ali al-Farisi, by Nur al-Din Gami` al-`Ulum `Imad al-Mufassirin Abu al-Hasan `Ali b. al-Husayn. According to Houtsma this is Nur al-Din Abu al-Hasan `Ali b. al-Husayn b. `Ali al-Baquli, called al-Gami` (d. 543/1148); see Haggi Khalifa V, 212. The work contained in our MS consists of critical notes to Kitab al-Higga (wal-Ighfal) by Abu `Ali al-Farisi (d. 377/987), GAL S I, 176, which is a commentary on Kitab al-Qira'at al-Sab` by Ibn Mugahid (d. 324/934), GAL S I, 328. Houtsma's identification is probably correct, though the name of the author is followed by the formula Harasa Allah Ayyamahu on the title-page, as well as in the text of both this work and al-Ibana fi Tafsil Ma'at al-Qur'an (Or. 2577, below). This does not prove that the author was still alive when this was written in the beginning of the 8/14th cent; the scribe may have copied it mechanically from the original text. See also al-Kamil al-Farid (Or. 2579, below). Amin 207. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, pp. 141-142.

al-Ibana fi Tafsil Ma'at al-Qur'an ..., by Nur al-Din Abu al-Hasan `Ali b. al-Husayn b. `Ali al-Nahwi (who is probably al-Baquli al-Gami`, d. 543/1148). See also al-Istidrak (Or. 2576, above) and al-Kamil al-Farid (Or. 2579, below). Amin 211. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 120.

(1) ff. 1-29v.fout! Kitab al-Taysir fil-Qira'at al-Sab`, by `Uthman b. Sa`id al-Dani (d. 444/1053), GAL G I, 407. Copy used by O. Pretzl for his edition of the text Das Lehrbuch der sieben Koranlesungen, Bibliotheca Islamica 2 (Istanbul 1930), where this is not indicated. Dated 707 AH. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 358.
(2) f. 107. Qasida fil-Tagwid by Musa b. `Ubaydallah b. Yahya Abu Muzahim Ibn Khaqan (d. 325/937), GAL G I, 189. c. 707 AH. Amin 209. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 268.
(Ar. 1936)

Or. 2579
Arabic, paper, ff. 109-260 of the original foliation.
al-Kamil al-Farid fil-Tagrid wal-Tafrid, or Mufarradat al-Qurra' al-Sab`a, by Abu Musa Ga`far b. Maki (Makki?) b. Ga`far al-Mawsili (d. 711/1311 or 713/1313), GAL S II, 210. See Otto Pretzl in Islamica VI, 47, and see also Wird (Or. 2580 (5), below). Voorhoeve cannot accept the statement by Landberg (No. 210), following Amin al-Madani, that this manuscript is an autograph. He argues as follows: At the end of the first part it is mentioned that the author finished it in 683 AH, the second part in 702 AH, the third in 676 AH, the fifth in 685 AH. The handwriting is much too uniform to allow for a lapse of 26 years between the writing of the third and the second part. Moreover, the Sipahsalar Library in Tehran has a copy of the second part only, which has exactly the same colophon as the Leiden copy (Cat. Sipahsalar Library by Ebné Youssef, vol. I, p. 191). It is much more likely that this latter MS would be the autograph and the copyist of the Leiden MS copied the dates mechanically from his originals, just as he thoughtlessly wrote the formula Harasa Allah Ayyamahu after the name of the author of Or. 2576 and Or. 2577, above, whereas the author had been dead, at the time that the formula was written, for at least 160 years. The name of the copyist may have been mentioned in a deleted colophon at the end of the seventh part. The note on the next page may, however, be in the author's own handwriting: it contains the statement that somebody has read the book under his direction. Amin 210. Vol. 1 only of al-Tahdhib fi Tafsir al-Qur'an by Abu Sa`d al-Muhassin (so vocalized in this MS) b. Muhammad b. Karama al-Bayhaqi al-Yamani (d. 494/1101?), GAL G I, 412. According to Landberg (No. 214) this would be an autograph, but because of the date (which itself needs not be authentic) Voorhoeve doubts this. According to Houtsma the date is 6th cent. AH. Or. 2587 Arabic, paper, 25.5 x 18.5 cm, 194 ff., naskh script (in Yamani style, with the frequent use of large and bold script), 28-29 lines to the pages (with variations in case of the use of bold script), so-styled autograph and dated 712 AH (according to the catalogues, but on f. 194a is the author's colophon with the date Muharram 711, without any indication in the MS itself that this is indeed an autograph copy. The date of the author's copy is followed by what seems the date of copying, namely 10 Sha`ban 712. Half-leather Islamic binding, with pasted boards.
The last part only (end of ch. 3 and ch. 4) of al-Shamil li-Haqa'iq al-Adilla al-`Aqliyya wa-Usul al-Masa'il al-Diniyya (title so on f. 194a), apparently Zaydi work of Mu`tazili content, begun by the author (whose name is not mentioned) in Muharram 711 and completed by him on 10 Sha`ban 712 (colophon on f. 194a). The author is identified by Michael Cook as being Yahya b. Hamza (d. 747/1346), and the work as being part of his al-Shamil li-Haqa'iq al-Adilla wa-Usul al-Masa'il al-Dunyawiyya (see `Abdallah Muhammad al-Hibshi, Masadir al-Fikr al-Islami fi Yaman. See Louis Massignon, 'Les systèmes philosophiques des motakallimoun en Islam, selon Horten', in Der Islam 3 (1912), pp. 404-409, especially p. 405, where the faulty attribution to al-Guwayni in GAL I 389 is mentioned. This erroneous identification is based on a note by the former owner, Amin al-Madani, on f. 1a of the present MS, where the work al-Shamil fi Usul al-Din is attributed to al-Guwayni, merely on the basis of information from Haggi Khalifa's Kashf al-Zunun. Massignon does not address, in the few lines which he devotes to the present MS, the question whether or not the present MS is an autograph copy. Amin 219. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 328.

Arabic, European paper, 168 ff., 22.7 x 16 cm, varying number of lines to the page (30 lines on the average), leaves are apparently in disorder, naskh script, black ink and rubrics, several copyists are involved, dated Sunday 27 Ragab 1245, copied by Muhammad b. al-Shaykh (colophon on f. 20b), and Friday after the `isha of 12 Sha`ban 1245, copied by Muhammad b. al-Shaykh `Atiya al-Zaqzuq (colophon on f. 168a), half-leather European binding with pasted boards.
One or more confused works of historical content, without mention of title or author's name, composed around 1100 AH. Amin 298; CCA 859 (II, pp. 31-32). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 428.
¶ The manuscript is quoted several times as 'Handschrift Leiden 2021' by C. Snouck Hurgronje in Mekka, but it is clear from these quotations that at the time when Snouck Hurgronje used it, the leaves were in a different order, with different numbers and possibly unbound.
Quotations to the present manuscript in Snouck Hurgronje's Mekka should be read as follows:
Mekka I, p. 9, note 2 => Hs 2021, f. 59vo = Or. 2663, f. 89b
Mekka I, p. 33, note 2 => Hs 2021, f. 52ro = Or. 2663, f. 52a
Mekka I, p. 33, note 2 => Hs 2021, f. 89ro = Or. 2663, f. 98a
Mekka I, p. 120, note 1 => Hs 2021, f. 116 = Or. 2663, f. 125a
Mekka I, p. 120, note 2 => Hs 2021, f. 108ro = Or. 2663, f. 117a
Mekka I, p. 121, note 1 => Hs 2021, f. 119vo = Or. 2663, f. ??
Mekka I, p. 121, note 2 => Hs 2021, f. 106vo = Or. 2663, f. 115b
Mekka I, p. 122, note 2 => Hs 2021, f. 116ro = Or. 2663, f. 116a-b (?), or f. 125a
Mekka I, p. 131, note 9 => Hs 2021, f. 104vo = Or. 2663, f. 113b
Mekka II, p. 52, note 3 => Hs 2021, f. 90vo = Or. 2663, f. 99b
On some pages of Or. 2663 the old leaf numbers are still visible: f. 99a (= old 90), f. 113a (= old 104), f. 125a (= old 116).
Added: Postcard with short text from Theodor Nöldeke in Strassburg, to C. Snouck Hurgronje in Leiden. Sent on 3 April 1888. This postcard has probably a connection with the fact that Nöldeke corrected Snouck Hurgronje's German style in the book Mekka, and may have been used as a bookmark in the present manuscript.

Or. 2664
Arabic, paper, 117 ff., naskh script, illustration (f. 57a), half-leather binding, pasted boards.

A fragment only (abrupt beginning and end) of Kitab Akhbar Makka wama ga'a fiha min al-Athar by Muhammad b. `Abdallah al-Azraqi (d. c. 244/858), GAL G I, 137. Amin 299; CCA 923 (II, p. 69). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 8.
First chapter title (f. 3b): Ma ga'a fi Hagg Adam ...
Last chapter title: (f. 116b): Bab Sifat al-Shadirwan wa-Dhur` al-Ka`ba.
On f. 117a is mention as Rawi of Abu Muhammad Ishaq b. Ahmad b. Nafi` al-Khuza`i, who is the Rawi of MS Leiden Or. 424. On the basis of this, it may be assumed that Leiden Or. 2664 is younger than Leiden Or. 424.

The fragment has no title or author's name. It was identified by way of a description by A. Cherbonneau of the content of Qism 3 of al-Tanasi's work in Journal Asiatique 1851, II, p. 590. The content of chapters 4 and 5 is in conformity with the contents of the same chapters in the present MS (see below). Amin 368; CCA 503 (I, pp. 306-307). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 252. In the partial edition of the Nazm al-Durr by Mahmoud Bouayed (Algiers 1405/1985 [8254 D 15]) a table of contents of the entire work is given. The chapters in the present fragment are mentioned on p. 40, which corroborates the identification which was made on the basis of Cherbonneau's information.
f. 1b. Bab 1. Fi Dhikr ma ruwiya min dhalik `an al-Zurafa wal-Muluk wal-Khulafa'.
f. 38a. Bab 3. Fi Dhikr Shay' min Mahasin al-Shu`ara'.
f. 51b. Bab 4. Fi Dhikr Zuraf min Akhbar al-Muhibbin.
f. 73a. Bab 5. Fi Nawadir al-A`rab.
f. 79a. Bab 6. Fi Dhikr Shay' min Akhbar Ahl al-Kihana.
f. 86b. Bab 7. Fi Dhikr Shay' min Akhbar al-Mughanniyyin.

A fragment only of Rasa’il by Abu Bakr al-Khwarizmi (d. 382/993), GAL G I, 93. Amin 417; CCA 344 (I, p. 184). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 284.
(Ar. 2136)

Or. 2779
Collective volume with texts in Arabic, paper, 10 ff., naskh script, half-leather binding, paper boards.
(1) f. 1a. Two prayers, the first entitled Fi al-Nahy `an al-Ghayba, against slander.
(2) ff. 1b-7a. al-Kashif fi `Ilm al-Angham, by al-Muzaffar b. al-Husayn b. al-Muzaffar al-Musiqi al-Hisni, GAL S I, 907; II, 1036, No. 9. Amin 418. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 155. See Amnon Shiloah, The theory of music in Arabic writings (c. 900-1900). Descriptive catalogue of manuscripts in libraries of Europe and the U.S.A. München 1979, pp. 127-128, No. 71.

Shiloah identifies the author differently: Muzaffar b. al-Husayn b. al-Muzaffar al-Haskafi al-Musiqi (fl. 15th cent.), GAL S I, 907. It is obvious that al-Hisni and al-Haskafi could be a variant reading of either other name.
(3) ff. 7a-10a. Muqaddima fi `Ilm Qawanin al-Angham, by Gamal al-Din al-Maridini (title and author on f. 7a), who is probably the same as Gamal al-Din `Abdallah b. Khalil al-Maridini (d. 809/1406), GAL G II, 169, where this text is not mentioned. On ff. 9b-10a musical dawa'ir. Not in Voorhoeve's Handlist. See Amnon Shiloah, The theory of music in Arabic writings (c. 900-1900). Descriptive catalogue of manuscripts in libraries of Europe and the U.S.A. München 1979, pp. 276-278, No. 193. Shilaoh spells the nisba as al-Mardini.
(4) f. 10b. Fawa'id. Genealogical notes on the ancestors of the Prophet Muhammad, and other subjects.
- Owners'notes, evidently of Egyptian origin: al-Hagg Muhammad al-Husri b. al-Hagg `Amir al-Husri al-Fayyumi al-Shafi`i, 5 Shawwal 1234 (f. 1b); Muhammad al-Ashmuni al-Hanafi (f. 7a).

According to King, In synchrony, pp. 101, 407, the full name of the author is `Abd al-Fattah b. Ibrahim al-Maliki al-Azhari al-Disti. ¶ See for references to this text David A. King, In synchrony with the heavens. Studies in Astronomical Timekeeping and Instrumentation in Medieval Islamic Civilization (Studies I-IX). Volume one. The call of the Muezzin. Leiden - Boston (Brill) 2004:
- Part I-4.8.7 (p. 101): 'MSS Aleppo Awqāf 911 and Leiden Or. 2808 (2) of a set of prayer-tables computed ca. 1700 for Lattakia by al-Dīsṭī (II-11.8) contain a table of ψ(λ)with values of two digits for each degree of λ and parameters ϕ = 34;30° (Lattakia) and ε = 23;35°.'
- Part II-11.8 (p. 407): 'MSS Aleppo Awqāf 911 and Leiden Or. 2808 (2) are copies of a work entitled Asnā 'l-ghāyāt fī ʿilm al-mīqāt, "The Best Ends in Timekeeping", compiled by ʿAbd al-Fattāḥ ibn Ibrāhīm al-Mālikī al-Azharī al-Dīsṭī, [note 11: "On al-Dīsṭī (I-4.8.7, etc.) see Brockelmann, GAL SII, pp. 1017, where the manuscript of his prayer tables which is now in Leiden is listed; Cairo ENL Survey, no. D62 (there incorrectly as al-Daystī without a dot); and İhsanoğlu et al., Ottoman Astronomical Literature, II, p. 514, no. 352 (now as al-Daysaṭī)."] an Egyptian astronomer who was a student of Riḍwān Efendī (7.10). After a brief introduction in 3 *bāb*s al-Dīsṭī presents a set of prayer-tables for parameters: ϕ = 34;30° (Lattakia) and ε = 23;35°. The format of the tables is the same as that of the main Cairo corpus. The functions tabulated are: δ, d, H, D, h_a, t_a, T_a, s, r, ΔD, B, C, h_0, 2N, α and α_ϕ . The values of ΔD are those for Cairo, found, for example, in MS Cairo DM 108 of the main Cairo corpus (4.11). The work concludes with a table of the solar motion between the prayer-times as in the tables of Shams al-Dīn al-Lādhiqī (7.8), and a star catalogue for 1160 H [= 1747].'

In his index of manuscripts consulted (In synchrony, p. 926) King describes the text as ‘al-Dīsṭī’s prayer-tables for Lattakia’.

Or. 2841 bis

In the 'Journaal' (p. 58) mention is made of a manuscript Or. 2841 bis. This is added to the sequence of class-marks by P. Voorhoeve. To this he added the word 'fotocopie' with reference to the old archive microfilm F. B 358. However, on the shelf, between the manuscripts, there is no trace of this Or. 2841 bis. It may have been, at some stage, a photocopy of Or. 2841, which was kept in the Library.

Or. 2842

Collective volume with texts in Arabic, paper, pp., 'old'.
(1) 53 pp. The last part only of Kitab al-Bughya, ascribed to Gabir b. Hayyan. See P. Kraus, Mém. Institut d'Égypte 44, p. 81, No. 317. Landberg (Amin 482) reads wrongly Kitab al-Baqiyya. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 53.

PREFACE

The arrangement of the present volume of the Inventories of Oriental manuscripts in Leiden University Library does not differ in any specific way from the volumes which have been published earlier. For the sake of brevity I refer to my prefaces in those volumes. A few essentials my be repeated here.

Not all manuscripts mentioned in the present volume were viewed by autopsy (but quite a number was indeed inspected). The sheer number of manuscripts makes this impossible. At a later stage this may be achieved, but trying to achieve this at the present stage of inventorizing would seriously hamper the progress of the present project. When a manuscript was not inspected this can be seen from a simple typographical device. Whenever the indication of the shelf-mark is put between round brackets, I have not, or not extensively or sufficiently, inspected the manuscript, and its entry in the inventory is based mostly or entirely on secondary sources, be they published or not. These have, of course, always been indicated. When the shelf-mark is put between square brackets and preceded by an asterisk, this means that I have had the manuscript in my hands, at least once but probably more often, and that the description contains elements that can only be seen in the original manuscript. Such autopsy does not mean that I am, automatically, the author of all information given under that particular class-mark.

The basic elements for each entry of the present inventory are: 1. class-mark, 2. language(s), 3. details of physical description, 4. survey of the contents, 5. provenance, 6. location on the shelf. Depending on the nature of the material, exceptions and divergences are made from this strict arrangement. The collective provenance of a series of manuscripts may be concentrated into a short text, preceding that series, without being repeated under each class-mark.

I am aware of the fact that references of some recently published catalogues, in particular volume 2 of the Catalogue of Turkish manuscripts ... by Jan Schmidt (Leiden 2002), have not yet been added to the descriptions in the present volume of the Leiden inventories. Another very recently published catalogue which will be utilized in the near future is the second volume of E.P. Wieringa, Catalogue of Malay and Minangkabau Manuscripts ... (Leiden 2007). All this will be done in an updated version, in the near future. Then there will be ample occasion to give answers to the question marks which are now still in the text, and the correction of obvious mistakes. However, the fact that the present list has been for nearly complete for quite a while made me decide to put it at the disposal of the public without further delay.

I end with an important note. Although the inventories which I am publishing here contain descriptions of public and private collections, which will no doubt profit of the existence of electronic versions of my work, none of my inventories has ever been made at the express insistence or by the specific demand of these institutions. The idea to compile such inventories, the invention of their structure, the acquisition of the necessary information from a multitude of primary and secondary sources, the way of publishing, all this is my idea and my work alone. It is therefore my sole property and I assert the moral right of the authorship of form and content of these inventories, with reference, of course, to what I have said elsewhere about the method of compilation.

Arabic, paper, lithographed copy, vii, 160 pp.

A fragment of the Murug al-Dhahab wa-Ma`adin al-Gawahir by al-Mas`udi (d. 345/956), GAL G I, 144. CCA 830 (II, p. 17).
Apparently the work mentioned in the Catalogue auction Dozy under No. 375, where it is described as 'MS. Orient. moderne sans date.'
According to CCA 830 (II, p. 17), this should be a then (1907) recently made copy from the Orient. However, the 'Journaal' has it, on p. 61, that the volume has been transferred in March 1969 to the collection of printed books. It used to have shelf mark Ar. 2392 in the manuscript stacks. According to a note by P. Voorhoeve this is almost certainly the text part taken from Historical Selections of Arabic authors. Vol. I. History of the Omayyides from Más'údy's Golden Meadows. Selected and corrected by A. Sprenger and Moulvee Mámlúkak'aly. vii, 160 pp., lith. Dehli 1846. 12°. No more published. Voorhoeve has this information from the catalogue of the British Museum. In our copy title-page and introductory part are lacking.

Portfolio containing four sheaves with Malay letters and documents.
I. Lithographed copies of letters.
II. Lithographed copies of letters.
III. 32 Malay letters from Bali, Banjar Krangan, Kotaringin, Landak, Madura, Pontianak, Riau, Selangor, Sumbawa and other places, sent to the Dutch East-Indies government in the period between 1794-1810.
IV. 58 Malay letters and documents from Banjar, Kedah, Kota Waringin, Madura, Minangkabau, Pahang, Palembang, Pontianak, Riau, Sambas, Sumbawa, and other places, sent to the Dutch East-Indies government in the period between 1796-1834, and others.
See for a full and detailed survey of the contents: E.P. Wieringa, Catalogue of Malay and Minangkabau Manuscripts (Leiden, 1998), pp. 469-489.
The collection probably originates from the library of Rijks-Instelling tot Opleiding van Indische Ambtenaren ('Government Training College for Indian Civil Servants'). Manuscripts of the College were transferred to the Library of Leiden University at several instances between 1871-1878. See Wieringa, op.cit., p. 283.

Malagasy text, written on the flesh side of a piece of animal skin (hair side still furry), measuring 39 x 47 cm, in Arabic script, in two columns or pages, on palimpsest. It is apparently the binding of a manuscripts, but that is lacking. The text appears to be in a dialect of the East coast of Madagascar.
Provenance: Transferred in 1884 from the collection of the State Museum of Ethnography in Leiden to the University Library. The Museum had received the manuscript in the course of 1877 from J. Audebert in Madagascar. See also P. Voorhoeve, 'Indonesische handschriften' (1952), p. 215.

Collection of eleven manuscripts, purchased in January 1885 from the estate of Dr. Antonie Rutgers (1805-1884), The Hague. Since 1837 Rutgers had been professor of Hebrew in Leiden University. For a number of years he also taught Sanskrit and was considered by Kern as the founder of Sanskrit studies in The Netherlands. In addition he knew Arabic and edited an Arabic text Historia Jemanae sub Hasano Pascha (Leiden 1838). See on him: J. Nat, Studie (1929), p. 139, and the bio-bibliography by E. Zuidema in NNBW II, cols. 1244-1245. His collection of manuscripts is interesting because it contains a number of pieces that had been roaming through the hands of generations of private owners in The Netherlands. For more materials from Rutgers, see also Or. 12.623, below.

Collection of notes and texts by and from Franciscus Raphelengius (1539-1597) and others, some of which were apparently meant to be published by his Plantinian Printing Office in Leiden. Notes and instructions to the typesetter can be seen in a few occasionally. Also preliminary stages of Raphelengius' Arabic grammar, and a few other, and later texts and notes. There are also notes in the hands of several other persons, both contemporaries of Raphelengius and Erpenius, and later scholars. The texts are kept in a number of sheaves, the contents of which needs more thourough research, especially in respect to the relationship between the several versions of the same texts, and in respect to the publishing activities of the sons of Raphelengius, of Thomas Erpenius (1584-1624) and of the Medicea Press in Rome, all in as far they are concerned in or around 1613 with publishing an authoritative Arabic grammar together with editions and translations of indigenous grammatical texts, and more particularly those by Ibn Agurrum and the Tasrif by al-Zangani.
In several of the introductions on the Arabic script there are tables showing the Arabic alphabet. In all these table the Maghribi way of writing Arabic can be observed. Raphelengius had this predilection for the Maghribi script. See on this John A. Lane, The Arabic type specimen of Franciscus Raphelengius' Plantinian Printing Office (1595). Leiden 1997, pp. xi-xv.
A preliminary description of the greater part of the papers is given by J.R. Jones in his (unpublished) thesis Learning Arabic in renaissance Europe, 1505-1624. (Ph.D. Thesis London, School of Oriental and African Studies (SOAS), pp. 276-278 (Note 513). See A. Hamilton, 'Nam tirones sumus', p. 567, note 37, and also p. 579.
Added on a separate leaf is a Latin table of contents which gives the following description:
'In hoc Fasciculo sunt Variae versiones Grammaticae Arabicae, item complura ad Grammaticam Arabicam pertinentia, quaedam perfecta, alia imperfecta.'
Then follows a line of text, which has been crossed out, but which still can be read:
'Item versiones aliquot principij Alkorani, item Epistolae Pauli ex Arabico.'
Then follows:
'Observationesque Hebraicae
Lexicon Persicum ex R. Saadia & Aruck.
Item Dictionarium materiae Arabicae (this word crossed out) Medicae Arabicae &c.
Item Collatio versionis (?) Arabicae Pentateuchi inde (?) Hebraeis.
& alia ad studium Arabicum pertinentia.
Omnia Francisci Raphelengij.
Huic Fasciculo alligatur Lexicon Mains. (?) .... (followed by two lines of text, crossed out).
After this description there is a note in Dutch telling that the papers best should be burnt if there is no one with an interest in Arabic and in Raphelengius: 'Weetmen geene Liefhebber niet alleen van de Arabische zaek maar die ook meteene een Liefhebber zij van Raphelengij eer, diemen dit pak leveren ende betrouwen mach, soo ist best dat het verbrand worde.'

Sheaf I, containing what can be considered as definitive typesetter's copy, made by Justus Raphelengius between March-November 1613. The leaves are kept together with a thread.
(1) ff. 1-7a: Grammatica Arabica, Arabic grammar in Latin by Francis Raphelengius. Copied on March 18, 1613, by his son Justus Raphelengius (1573-1628). On the last page also copies of notes or recommendations by Heinrich Salomons (?, signature in Arabic) and by Hugo Grotius (1583-1645), dated 23 March 1605. Text in two columns.Red pencil is used to delineate sections, probably done as instruction for lay-out.
(2) ff. 8a-14b: Gjaroumia Liber [Arabic text] Grammaticae Arabicae Compendium Iaroumia dictum, Arabicè, cum punctis vocalibus, ex versione Francisci Raphelengii inter Lineas notatâ. The Arabic text only of al-Muqaddima al-Agurummiyya by Ibn Agurrum (d. 723/1323), GAL G II, 237, of which title and text are apparently especially written as typesetter's copy, in appropriate lay-out. They show a centered text for a title-page (f. 8a), and a lay-out with double lining for Arabic text and interlinear translation, with a running head title in small capital: GIAROUMIA, and interleaved with blank pages of larger size than those which contains the Arabic text. The blank pages must have served the same purpose as those in the next-following text, namely to contain a translation, or possibly two translations, of the Arabic text. At the end (f. 14b) Justus Raphelengius, if it is him, writes that he copied out this text on 9-10 October 1613. Also on f. 8a is a notice about the size of the book in the Roman edition (of 1592). See also Or. 235 (2), above.
(3) ff. 15b-30a: Liber Tasrif seu Coniugationum Arabicarum compendiosa descriptio, Arabicè, cum versione Latina interlineari Francisci Raphelengij. punctis vocalibus, ubique annotatis. On f. 16a is a note (dated 10 October 1610) about the Roman edition of the text (1610). The Arabic text of the work entitled al-Tasrif, compiled by al-Zangani (d. 655/1257), GAL G I, 283, with two Latin translations, apparently both by F. Raphelengius. The Latin translations are given side by side, in two columns, one is literal (Interpretatio ad verbum), the other follows the meaning (Interpretatio ad sensum). Both translation provide explanatory notes. Dated notes are on ff. 25a (7 March 1613) and on f. 30a (writing of the Arabic text completed on 14 October 1613, and the translations on 4 November). After f. 30b, which remains blank, there are 18 blank leaves.

Sheaf II: Latin translation (by Franciscus Raphelengius?) of al-Muqaddima al-Agurummiyya by Ibn Agurrum (d. 723/1323), GAL G II, 237. More or less a neat copy of the Latin translation. Corrections, e.g. f. 1b, in another hand. 9 ff.

Sheaf III: Latin translation (by Franciscus Raphelengius?) of the Arabic grammatical work entitled al-Tasrif, compiled by al-Zangani (d. 655/1257), GAL G I, 283. Widely written in one column, neat copy of the translation, the other column remaining blank. 37 ff.

Sheaf IV: Isagoge in Grammaticam Arabicam. Introduction to the Arabic grammar (by Franciscus Raphelengius?). 12 ff.

Sheaf V: Grammaticae Arabicae in tabulas digesta.

See the extremely succinct mention by P. Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 469.

Cambodian (?), 1 lontar leaf.
Of the two leaves, mentioned in 'Journaal' as 284/1 and 284/2, the leaf marked 284/1 is missing (note by curator C. van Arendonk [d. 1946], dated April 11, 1933 to this effect). However, 'Journaal' pp. 50, 62 mentions that Or. 2280 and 3062 are in fact one and the same manuscript. This seems doubtful to me, as the present leaf is clearly marked '284 No.2', which would point to the National Museum of Ethnology as the previous owner of Or. 3062, whereas Or. 2280 is a gift from O.J.H. Or. 3075 - Or. 3096 Collection of Oriental manuscripts some of which are connected with Sebaldus Ravius (1721-1818), but most of which (if not all) probably come from his son. Sebald Rau was professor of Oriental languages in the University of Utrecht. His son, Sebald Fulco Johannes Rau (1765-1807) was, with an interruption, professor of Theology and Oriental languages in the University of Leiden. Young Rau was interested in al-Tayfashi's book on stones, as becomes clear from his thesis which he defended in 1784, Specimen Arabicum continens Descriptionem et Excerpta Libri Achmedis Teifaschi de Gemmis et Lapidibus pretiosis. S.F.J. Rau's house was destroyed by the so-called kruitschip disaster in Leiden (January 12, 1807), and all his property was lost, among which his as yet unpublished edition of the full text of al-Tayfashi's work, and also the manuscripts which he had borrowed at home from the Leiden Library. As Interpres Legati Warneriani, S.F.J. Rau may have taken the liberty to bring books from the Library to his private house, which was only some 200 m away. Great was the amazement in the Library when three manuscripts of the present collection turned out to be manuscripts that were earlier considered to have been destroyed in 1807 in Rau's house, and that were apparently salvaged from the ruins. See on father and son Rau: J. Nat, De studie (1929), pp. 114-118 and pp. 121-122, and Nat in NNBW IX, 841-842 and 842-843. This beautiful story is compounded, however, by the fact that already in 1847 R.P.A. Dozy could use the three Leiden volumes of al-Maqrizi's Kitab al-Muqaffa, one of which was believed to have been destroyed in Rau's house: 'Découverte de trois volumes du Mokaffá d'al-Makrízí' in his Notices sur quelques manuscrits arabes (Leiden 1847-1851), pp. 8-16. In 1851 Dozy described the three volumes of Or. 1366 in CCO II, p. 200-201 (No. 870).

S.F.J. Rau had acquired his manuscripts from the auction of the private library of E. Scheidius (1742-1794), his predecessor in Leiden.
The collection was donated to Leiden University by Mr. S.J.E. Rau (1801-1887) and was received there on January 28, 1888.

Hebrew, paper, 21 ff.
Various writings of Naftali Herz Ulmann (2nd half of 18th cent.). There is a connection between the present manuscript and MSS Leiden Or. 4807-Or. 4810.

Overall damaged with occasional loss of text, which was possibly caused by the kruitschip disaster of 1807. See A. van der Heide, Hebrew manuscripts, pp. 67-68, and M. Steinschneider, Catalogus (1858), pp. 303-305.

Hebrew letters from the collection of Sebald Rau, and two letters directed to him. Information about the contents kindly provided by Dr. Hannah Neudecker. See also A. van der Heide, Hebrew Manuscripts (1977), pp. 87-88.
(a) Hebrew, paper booklet, 4 ff.
Copies of a letter to Abraham Senior Coronel with the answer. The answer is signed Coronel and dated Amsterdam, 1 Kislev 5421 (1660). The Christian writer complains about the price of books ordered from Coronel, which apparently had to come from Hungary. Coronel does let himself be influenced by the complaint and maintains his price. The books mentioned are: Leqach Tov and Shimmush Tehilim.
(b) Hebrew, paper, 1 bifolium.
Letter from Ja`akov Abbas to Sebaldus Ravius. In his letter Abbas asks Rau's consideration for the difficulties he has, being in prison. At the end the letter contains a poem with the acrostichon Sebaldus Ravius. Dated Monday July 17, 1780.
(c) Hebrew and Dutch translation, paper, 2 f., and envelope.
Letter dated July 6, 1782, from Ja`akov Abbas to Sebaldus Ravius. In his letter Abbas extensively mentions his conversion to Christianity, on March 26, earlier that year. With his letter Abbas tries to elicit an answer to his earlier letter (Or. 3092 b).

Pp. 299-490 of a note book, which somehow has a connection with Hadrianus Relandus (1676-1718). Could they be study and reading notes of Sebald Rau (1721-1818), who, after David Mill (1692-1756), became Reland's successor in the University of Utrecht? Anyway, the primitive way of writing Arabic points to a beginner or amateur in Arabic studies. Reference is made to Reland's De religione Mohammedica and the structure of that work is followed throughout in the present notes.

Notitia auctorum Arabicorum, quos, ad dialectorum OO. promovenda studia, sive Manuscriptos sive Impressos nobis comparavimus. The notice contains a list of Arabic texts, both handwritten and printed of books relevant to the study of the Arabic language. It would seem that the list was written by E. Scheidius (1742-1794), the predecessor of S.F.J. Rau (1765-1807) in the University of Leiden. Apart from Scheidius' handwriting, which is quite distinctive, the identification with the Scheidius library can be made through No. V (on p. 2). This is Tabaqat Mutarrizi, 'Motharrezii Thabacat' written in exactly the same hand in MS Leiden Or. 1366 (see above). Other titles might be found in Scheidius' auction catalogue of 1806, Bibliotheca Scheidiana, sive Catalogus librorum [...] quibus usus est Everardus Scheidius quorum publica fiet auctio, in officina Honkopiana, die 19. Martis 1806 & seqq. Leiden 1806, from which the Leiden library did not buy but the volumes of al-Maqrizi's Kitab al-Muqaffa (Or. 1366). The book shows traces of the Leiden kruitschip disaster of 1807.

Or. 3148 a-e
Notes, dictates, commentaries on books of the Old Testament, etc., by E.J. Greve (1754-1811), received on September 10, 1891, from the estate of a Mr. Greve, a Minister of the Divine Word in Haarlem and descendant of E.J. Greve, through the intermediary of Dr. W.N. du Rieu (1829-1896), the University Librarian. The collection has been described in some detail by Albert van der Heide, Hebrew Manuscripts of Leiden University. Leiden 1977, pp. 76-78.
(Hebr. 158a-e)

Hebrew and Latin, paper, 143 ff.
Psalms 1-41, metrically arranged and translated into Latin, with critical and exegetical notes in Latin, by E.J. Greve (1754-1811), dated Deventer, June 12, 1768. If the ascription is correct, the work was completed by Greve when he was only 14 years old. A. van der Heide, p. 76.
(Hebr. 158a)

Or. 3148 b
Latin and Hebrew, paper, 207 pp, interleaved.
Text of Joh. Buxtorf's Epitome Grammaticae Hebraeae, with glosses by E.J. Greve (1754-1811), dated IJsselmuide, November 7, 1773. A. van der Heide, pp. 76-77.
(Hebr. 158b)

Excerpts and notes on exegetical matters, chiefly attempts to give a metrical representation of the Hebrew text of Job and Isaiah. A. van der Heide, p. 77.
(Hebr. 158d)

Or. 3148 e
Collective volume with texts in Arabic, Latin, Dutch, Greek and Hebrew, paper, c. 200 ff.
(1) 19 ff. Arabic, with some Latin. Notes taken by E.J. Greve (1754-1811) from al-Hamasa by Abu Tammam (d. 231/846), GAL S I, 40. On f. 14a there is a reference to the parts of the Hamasa that have been edited by Albert Schultens (1686-1750) in his edition of the Grammatica Arabica by Erpenius (Leiden 1748). The present fragments do not seem to originate, however, from Schultens' edition, but were apparently taken from a MS. It is not clear from which of the Leiden MSS (Anyone of Or. 87, Or. 181, Or. 396 [with al-Tabrizi's commentary], Or. 569 [with al-Marzuqi's commentary], all above). These notes not in Voorhoeve's Handlist.
(2) Notes in Latin and Dutch, with translations of parts of Isaiah 1-39, Job and Psalms.
(3) Notes on Isaiah 1-39, with explanatory note in Dutch (by Ds. Greve?).
(4) Transcription and Latin and Dutch translation of Isaiah 40-45 as published by E.J. Greve (1754-1811): Vaticiniorum Jesajae volumen postremum a cap. XL usque ad LXVI. Amsterdam 1810.
(5) Hebrew text of Joel.

(6) Various notes in Latin, with some Greek text. Exegetical notes.
See A. van der Heide, pp. 77-78.

Or. 3151 a-c
Arabic, Javanese (?), paper, 3 ff.
Dayak papers, received in January 1892, through the intermediary of Dr. W.N. du Rieu (1829-1896), the University Librarian. Materials collected in Borneo or received from there.
(a) 1 f. Divination circle, with drawings, showing humans with and without heads, according to the description in Dutch, in connection with headhunting: 'Tover Kaart, om gelukkige en ongelukkige dagen te bepalen tot het doen van strooptochten, en koppensnelpartijen (Dayaks Borneo)'. Some undetermined text in Arabic and another (Dayak?) script.
(b) 1 sheet, folded twice, with text and drawings on one side only. There are 2 pp. with divinatory and magical drawings, with words in Arabic script. And there are 2 pp. with text in Arabic script, which contain ayat from the Qur'an, and other text in Arabic The description in Dutch reads: 'Amulet gevonden bij een gesneuvelde Dayaksche voorvechter.' See Voorhoeve's Handlist, p. 54.
(c) 1 sheet, unfolded. Divinatory drawing, with text in Javanese, and some Arabic, script.
Earlier provenance: It is not impossible that Dr. du Rieu had received these papers from the National Museum of Ethnography in Leiden. Earlier he had been instrumental in the transfer of written materials from the Museum to the University Library (see Or. 3146-3147, above).

Or. 3168
Javanese, paper, 337, 9 pp., Javanese script.

Travels of Surya Wijaya of Surakarta, a clerk of Dr A.B. Cohen Stuart (1825-1876), to Semarang and Batavia, in verse, dated 1869. According to a Javanese note on the outside, the book was given by the author to young sinyo J.W.T. Cohen Stuart as a memento. It contains beside interesting descriptions several moralistic lessons. The initial 9 pp. contain a moralistic tract in prose. Cat. Juynboll II, p. 144 has a Dutch epitome. Or. 10.867 contains a list of initial lines of cantos by J. Soegiarto. Pigeaud II, p. 107.
(Mal. 673)

Or. 3169
Javanese, paper, 116 pp., Javanese script.
Rama Nitis, in verse (pp. 8-116), tale of the reincarnation of Rama and Sinta in Kresna and Sembadra. Cat. Juynboll II, pp. 74-75 has a Dutch epitome and a reference to literature. The text is preceded by a passage from Demak history, referring to Tingkir, in verse (p. 1-8), see cat. Juynboll II, p. 99.
According to the title-page the MS was written by Santa Reja in Batavia in 1786 A.J., i.e. 1857 A.D., for Mr Boutmy (?). Or. 10.538, below, is a romanized copy by J. Soegiarto. Pigeaud II, p. 107.
(Mal. 674)

Or. 3170
Malay, Dutch paper, 100 pp., dated April 24, 1843 / 24 Rabiulawal 1259, copied by Muhammad Sulaiman.
Hikayat Indranata. See E.P. Wieringa, Catalogue of Malay [...] manuscripts 1 (1998), pp. 493, 495-496, with reproduction of p. 100, containing the postscript (in syair) by the copyist. The postscript is also transcribed by Wieringa.
Earlier provenance: Gift of the former Governor-General P. Mijer (lived 1812-1881, in office: 1861-1872), possibly to A.C. Vreede (1840-1908).
(Mal. 189)

Or. 3171
Javanese, paper (damaged), 118 pp., Javanese script, illustrations.
Incomplete copy of Menak Amir Hamza romance in verse, Kendit Birayung episode, sequence of the Rengganis, with numerous coarse polychrome illustrations in wayang style. Boorish Central Javanese schript. See cat. Juynboll II, p. 25 and Poerbatjaraka, Menak. Pigeaud II, 107.
(Mal. 676)

Or. 3172
Javanese, paper, 51 ff., Javanese script.
Incomplete copy (beginning and end are missing) of Panji romance in verse, episode of Gunung Sari's marriage with Ragil Kuning, the war against the Queen of Nusa Tembini (Tawar) Gantungan), fought i.a. by Curiga Nata (Braja Nata) of mount Wilis and Klana Jaya Kusuma, conqueror of Bali, cf. Poerbatjaraka, Panji, pp. 147-150. Eastern North Coast script, cursive.

Ff. 50a-51 contain a Damar Wulan fragment, written by another hand.
Cat. Juynboll II, p. 78 has an extensive Dutch summary. Or. 10.867 contains a list of initial lines of cantos by J. Soegiarto. Pigeaud II, pp. 107-108.
(Mal. 677)

Or 3173
Collective volume with texts in Javanese (and Sanskrit), paper, 235 pp., Javanese script.
(1) pp. 1-45. Prose texts on grammar (Sanskrit) called Sandi Sastra and (p. 18) Wyanjana Sandi. See Juynboll II, p. 218.
(2) pp. 45-52. Small treatise, moralistic and on statecraft, called Sasana, in verse, beginning: pan sedasa praceka nerpati.
(3) pp. 52-56. Praniti Kenya in verse, on good womanly behaviour.
(4) pp. 56-59. Tata Sasana in verse, moralistic.
(5) pp. 59-65. Praniti Kokila in verse, moralistic, birds' allegory.
(6) pp. 65-69. Candraning Wanita in verse, physiognomy of women.
(7) pp. 69-74. Asmaragama in verse, erotics.
(8) pp. 74-79. Pirasat in verse, physiognomy.
(9) pp. 80-113. Sandi Wanita in verse, moralistic, on womanly behaviour.
(10) pp. 113-128. Sandi Sasmita in verse, moralistic.
(11) pp. 18-150. Ringring in verse, moralistic, mentioning in the introduction Yogyakarta as residence of the author.
(12) pp. 150-189. Caraka Basa in verse, moralistic explanations of words.
(13) pp. 189-199. Paniti Sastra, Old Javanese text with modern Javanese explanations, stanza by stanza, dated 1741 A.J., i.e. 1813 A.D.

(Mal. 675)

Or. 3177
Javanese, and Madurese, paper, 235 pp., Javanese script (6 lines in the length of the pages).
History of Sumenep, Madura, in verse, mentioning Jaran Panuli, the Majapahit King's son-in-law, Tirta Nagara and Pak Lesab. Cat. Juynboll II, p. 103 has a Dutch epitome, references to literature and a list of initial verses of cantos. The script and the idiom are Javanese-Madurese. In the beginning 11 pages are written with quadratic script, for the rest cursive. The end is missing. Or. 10.684, below, is a romanized copy by J. Soegiarto, another copy of which is preserved as BCB 168. Pigeaud II, p. 109.
(Mal. 682)

Or. 3178
Collective volume with texts in Javanese, paper, 246 pp., Javanese script.
Lawbooks and treaties:
(1) pp. 1-41. Angger Ageng, Angger Sadasa, 50 articles.
(2) pp. 43-84. Angger Ageng Nawala Pradata dated 1759 A.J., i.e. 1831 A.D., 42 articles.

(5) pp. ??. Agreement (prajanjiyan) of 1812 A.D. of the British Government and Paku Buwana IV of Surakarta, 22 articles.
See cat. Juynboll II, p. 437 and T. Roorda's edition (where??). The MS, written in cursive Surakarta script, was intended to be used for the edition. Pigeaud II, p. 109.
(Mal. 683)

Or. 3179
Javanese, paper, 165 pp., Javanese script.
Arjuna Wiwaha, Minta Raga, epic poem, modern Javanese version in macapat metres by C. F. Winter (1799-1859) written in quadratic Surakarta script. See cat. Juynboll II, p. 9. W. Palmer v. d. Broek's edition of 1868 (??) has the same text as Or. 3179. Pigeaud II, p. 109.

Earlier provenance: The MS originally belonged to professor T. Roorda (1801-1874).
(Mal. 684)

Or. 3180
Javanese, paper, 134 pp., Javanese script.
Sana Sunu, moralistic poem in macapat metre with an introductory stanza mentioning the date 1747 A.J., i.e. 1819 A.D. and beginning: awigenam asitu namas sidi. For the rest the texts of Or. 1806 and Or. 3180 are identical. See cat. Juynboll II, p. 120. Pigeaud II, p. 109.
(Mal. 685)

Or. 3181
Javanese, paper, 87 pp., Javanese script, illustrations.
Sembadra wayuh jaler, also called Sri Mangungkung, wayang purwa play in prose by Tirta Adiwinata of Boja Nagara, dated 1883, with 21 polychrome illustrations in wayang style, written in cursive script. Sembadra appears as a transformation of Arjuna, Sri Mangungkung of Srikandi, Brata Kusuma of the real Sembadra, and Raras Driya of Raras Ati, who in the end causes all the family to recover their original sex and identity. Cat. Juynboll II, pp. 419-420 has a Dutch epitome. Pigeaud II, pp. 109-110.
(Mal. 685)

Or. 3182
Javanese, paper, 344 pp., Javanese script.
Babad Tanah Jawi, another version than the major Babad. Incomplete copy (end missing) of the History of Javanese kingdoms in verse beginning with Adam down to the period of Senapati Mataram, see Juynboll II, p. 102. The MS is written in cursive Yogyakarta script by Tirta Sura, a mantri jawa of the Yogyakarta Court, and dated 1741 A.J., probably a mistake for 1751, i.e. 1823 A.D. Or. 10.867 contains a list of initial lines of cantos by J. Soegiarto. Pigeaud II, p. 110. See now also E.P. Wieringa, 'An old text brought to life again. A reconsideration of the "final version"of the Babad Tanah Jawi', in BKI 155 (1999), p. 253 ff.
(Mal. 687)

Or. 3183
Malay, Dutch paper, 73 ff., dated April 1, 1825, copied in the General Secretariat in Batavia, possibly by Haji Zainal Abidin.
Hikayat Raja Jumjumah. Apparently made as a study copy for a European, and provided with numerous notes by J.J. Meinsma.
E.P. Wieringa, Catalogue of Malay [...] manuscripts 1 (1998), pp. 497-498, with reproduction of pp. 1-2.
Earlier provenance: From the collection of J.J. Meinsma (1833-1886), and possibly before him from the collection of the Royal Academy in Delft. See for the manuscripts of the Delft collection as they are now preserved in the Leiden Library: Or. 1689-1886, above.
(Mal. 688)

Or. 3184
Javanese, paper, 107 ff., Javanese script.
Sri Tanjung, mythical tale in verse (mostly wukir metre). East Javanese idiom, variant version, see Cat. Juynboll I, p. 262, and Prijono's edition (Sri Tanjung. Een oud Javaansch verhaal, The Hague 1938). Or. 4513 is a copy in Javanese script. Or. 7217 and Or. 10.652, below, are romanized copies by J. Soegiarto. The MS is mentioned in cat. Brandes III, No. 1064. Pigeaud II, p. 110.
Earlier provenance: From the estate of Ds. Lenting, from where it was transferred to A.C. Vreede (1840-1908) in 1881.
(Mal. 689)

Or. 3185
Javanese, paper, 58 pp., Javanese script.
History of Kadiri in prose, beginning of the text published, and translated by P.W. van den Broek, De geschiedenis van het Rijk Kediri, door Mas Soema-Sentika. Leiden 1902. The MS, a copy in cursive script, was made in Paré in 1889 for Mr Sigal. Cat. Juynboll II, p. 405 has references to literature. Pigeaud II, p. 110.
Earlier provenance: Gift from Mr. Sigal, controleur in Paré, Java.
(Mal. 690)

Or. 3186
Javanese, paper, 120 ff., Javanese script, illustrations.
History of Jipang, Arya Panangsang, in verse, beginning with the tale of ki gede Tarub and the nymph Nawang Wulan, with many polychrome illustrations in popular wayang style, products of a vivid imagination. Bra Wijaya, Bondan Kejawan, nahi gede Kali Namat, the thunderbolt caught by ki gede Sesela, Sunan Kudus (not personally depicted, only indicated, because of his spiritual rank), Suta Wijaya, Sultan Pajang and ki gede Pamanahan are represented. See cat. Juynboll II, p. 98. The MS is dated 1255 A.H., i.e. 1839 A.D. Bandayudan is mentioned as the author's residence. It is written in popular cursive Central Javanese North Coast script and idiom. Pigeaud II, p. 110.

Batak, paper, 25, 2, 25 + 2 + ?? pp., Batak script.
Collection of texts in Mandailing Batak and Toba Batak.

(a) 25 pp. Mandailing Batak. Legend on the origin of the marga Nasution. The same as in MS Manchester 10 (microfilm A 25d in Leiden), but shorter, and not completed.
With a letter dated 1893 by G. de Waal to M.J. de Goeje (1836-1909), in which the MS is offered to the Library, with a table of contents by C.M. Pleyte.
(b) 2 ff. Copy by C.M. Pleyte (*1863) of the inscription on a long bambu, now MS Amsterdam, KIT A 4268 B. With letter from Pleyte to M.J. de Goeje, offering the copy to the Library. The copy has been corrected by P. Voorhoeve. A translation of the letter has been published by Pleyte in Globus 67, pp. 69-72. See also Or. 3406, pp. 168-170.
(c) ?? ff. Notes by C.M. Pleyte on the pustaha's of H.N. van der Tuuk (1824-1894). See on these notes Codices Batacici, p. 15.

Or. 3189
Javanese, Balinese, Sanskrit, palmleaf, 23 ff., Balinese script.
Notes, Javanese-Balinese, on *mantra*s, ritual and magic, with many Sanskrit *sloka*s, mentioning i.a. Rudra Kawaca (p. 7); Wisnu Panjara (p. 8); the four Buddhist Jinas Amoghasiddhi (S), Wairocana (E), Amitabha (W), Ratnasambhawa (N) (f. 10b); Trimurti mantra in connection with Tiga Surya and Cakra Bhuwana (f. 11b); Kala Dasaksara (p. 12a); Loka Natha (f. 15b); incantations, exorcism sang Puntang panting (f. 16a); resi Gana (f. 18b) ; exorcism of the Kalas Genjong, Muneng etc., ni Calon Arang, ni Dompo, ni Larung etc. (f. 19b); incantation of mpu Bharadah etc. (f. 20a); Mertyunjaya prayascita ning wwang (f. 23a). See cat. Juynboll II, p. 325, and R. Goris, Bijdrage tot de kennis der Oud-Javaansche en Balineesche theologie. Leiden 1926.
Quoted by C. Hooykaas, Stuti and stava (Bauddha, Saiva and Vaisnava) of Balinese Brahman priests. Amsterdam 1991. Pigeaud II, pp. 110-111.
Provenance: Purchased in August 1895, without indication of source in the 'Journaal' (p. 65).
(Lont. 95)

Or. 3190
Javanese, Madurese, palmleaf, 168 ff., Javanese script.
Incomplete copy of the Rama epic in macapat verse, East Javanese-Madurese version, idiom and script, called Rama Kling. The MS is slovenly written. As the scratched letters are not blackened as usual the text is difficult to read. It contains only part of the Rama tale, mentioning in the beginning Sugriwa and at the end the dam. See cat. Juynboll II, p. 69. Or. 10.867 contains a list of initial lines of cantos by J. Soegiarto. Pigeaud II, p. 111.
Provenance: Purchased in September 1895 from Gouda Quint, booksellers in Gouda, see their catalogue of June 1895, No. 104.
(Lont. 96)

Or. 3191
Collective volume with texts in Javanese and, Balinese (?), small palmleaf MS, 27 and 10 ff., Balinese script.

(1) 27 ff. Nabi Paras, the Prophet's Shaving, in macapat verse, ending in an edifying didactic treatise on Muslim theology, see cat. Juynboll II, p. 45.
(2) 9 ff. Kidungrumeksa ing wengi, in verse. See cat. Juynboll II, p. 52. This second text has a colophon beginning with the Balinese awignam astu namastu siddirastu, and stating that it belonged to the Balinese King (Anak Agung Agun, Gede Ngurah) of Karang Asem, and that it was written in Kuta Raja in 1814 Saka, i.e. 1892 A.D. before (and in connection with) a war. Evidently the very neatly written ms was considered as a charm.
Pigeaud II, p. 111.
Provenance: Purchased on November 28, 1895 from Mr. Leestonner from Delft, who had served as a quartermaster-sergeant and who had brought the MS home from Lombok.
(Lont. 97)

Or. 3192 - Or. 3194

Notes by H.N. van der Tuuk (1824-1894). See also P. Voorhoeve, 'Indonesische handschriften' (1952), p. 219.

Or. 3257
One portfolio containing a collection of booklets, exercise books and loose leaves, with notes by H.N. van der Tuuk (1824-1894) on Malay-Polynesian comparative linguistics.
(a) Booklet, paper, 124 + ?? pp. Notes: 'Eigennamen van persoonen, landen, steden, rivieren, bergen etc.' Written by Van der Tuuk. Most pages are empty. Beginning from both sides of the booklet are more extensive notes, mostly of bibliographical nature.
(b) Booklet, pages not numbered, mostly empty. Comparative lexicographical notes, as it seems for Dayak, Batak, Malay and Javanese. Beginning from the other side are two pages with a text, in Dayak?, in Latin script. All texts in Van der Tuuk's handwriting. See P. Voorhoeve, Codices Batacici. Leiden 1977, pp. 102, 189.
(c) Exercise book with linguistic notes, a.o. on the spelling of Malay. Also incorporated is a list: 'Aliqua vocabula Lucitana quae in intulit Amboijna, Banda et Moluccis saepe numero Malaicis intermittentur' (the latter not written by Van der Tuuk). Added a letter in Malay (??), written in Arabic script and signed by a Chinese (cap and signature), and some loose leaves with notes by Van der Tuuk. Also bibliographical notes: 'Boeken op de Leijdsche bibliotheek aanwezig'. Numerous notes have been struck, apparently because they have been used by van der Tuuk.
(d) Exercise book, all in van der Tuuk's handwriting. Comparative lexicographical notes. Several comparative series can be observed, e.g.: Malay, Sundanese; Sundanese, Javanese; Sundanese, Malay, Javanese, Lampong; Sundanese, Malay, Batak, Javanese; Lampong, Batak, Makassarese, Malay; and other combinations, also with other languages.
(e) Exercise book, all in van der Tuuk's handwriting. Dayak, Landak Dayak glossary by H.N. van der Tuuk. See P. Voorhoeve, 'Indonesische handschriften' (1952), p. 215. Beginning from the other side also notes on other subjects.
(f) Two folded charts of comparative lexicography. Some languages mentioned on one of the charts: Bit (?), Malay, Batak, Javanese, Dayak, Gav. (?), Lampong, Balinese, Sundanese, Magind. (?), Gag. (?), Sat (?), Nalag (?), Sanb ... (?), Makassarese, Madurese. The other chart has several other languages.
(g) Three sests of leaves, folded in the shape of, and sewn as an exercise book. Comparative vocabularies. Some of the languages mentioned: Malay, Tagalog, Makassarese, Bitaj, Batak, Lampong, etc.
(h) Collection of eight quires, as the preceding, and a few loose leaves, all with comparative vocabularies, and notes on comparative lexicography.
See Catalogue T. Iskandar (1999), No. 318 (I, pp. 130-131), with divergent arrangement of the material.
¶ The presence of some of the stationary of van der Tuuk in this collection used as evidence for possible influence on Balinese artists, by H.I.R. Hinzler, Catalogue of Balinese

Or. 3258
One portfolio containing a collection of booklets, exercise books and loose leaves, with notes by H.N. van der Tuuk (1824-1894), many on Malay linguistics. See for mention of the notes by Van der Tuuk, also P. Voorhoeve, 'Indonesische handschriften' (1952), p. 219. Some sections contain titles, and these have been separated from the rest of the papers by T. Iskander, while he worked on the contents of this portfolio as part of his Malay MS cataloguing project in the 1970's. His handwriting is visible on several of the covers.
(a) Small booklet, containing lines in Malay, both in Arabic and Latin script, in van der Tuuk's handwriting.
(b) Booklet, containing shorter texts and fragments in Malay (and Javanese?), a.o. from the Ken Tambuhan with reference to a manuscript, in Arabic and Latin script, all in Van der Tuuk's handwriting, written from both sides.
(c) Booklet, similar to the preceding, containing shorter texts and fragments, apparently in Javanese. Reference is made to the 'Br. Y. No. 31', apparently the Bharatayuddha, in Latin script, and incidentally in Javanese script, in van der Tuuk's handwriting. Not in Pigeaud II.
(d) Six leaves, folded, with (as many?) texts in Balinese and Latin scripts, not in van der Tuuk's handwriting. One text on karang, the figures and patterns in sculpture. One other text is a list of names of desa's. One other text reads: 'Koetara Menama'.
(e) Folded leaves, containing comparative vocabularies, and a few texts and notres. All in van der Tuuk's handwriting. Malay?
(f) Folded leaves, several quires, containing a Javanese text, not written by Van der Tuuk, but with heading in van der Tuuk's handwriting reading: 'Copij van Javaansche Hss in het bezit van Prof. Millies en van den Hr. Palm afkomstig.' Prof. H.C. Millies (1810-1868) was professor of Oriental languages in Utrecht University, and before that employed by the Dutch Bible Society in the Dutch East-Indies. See for succinct biographical details Encyclopædie van Nederlandsch-Indië (2e druk), II, pp. 729-730, and the references there. The manuscripts of Millies came at two instances in the Leiden library: Or. 1930-Or. 1943, Or. 1959, Or. 4996-5011. The Mr. Palm mentioned here could not be identified. Not in Pigeaud II.
(g) One sheaf with loose leaves, containing *tangkal*s (spells), and other shorter texts and notes, all in van der Tuuk's handwriting. Some are provided with English translation.
(h) Large number of quires with mainly lexicographical notes (Minangkabau-Dutch?), apparently made at several instances, and certainly not a consistent collection, as is already clear from the different sizes of paper used. All notes are in van der Tuuk's handwriting. Many words are crossed out, possibly indicating that they had served their purpose.

(i) One quire, and a loose leaf, with all sorts of lexicographical notes. One section is titled ‘Woorden uit P. Bone’. In the other parts many words are crossed out, possibly indicating that they had served their purpose.
(j) One quire of two sheets, folded once, with Dutch text, of Malay relevance, titled ‘Geslachtregister der vorsten v. Bandjar Masin.’ A work by S. Muller is quoted. All in van der Tuuk’s handwriting.
See Catalogue T. Iskandar (1999), No. 319 (I, pp. 131-132), with divergent arrangement of the material.

One portfolio containing a collection of booklets, exercise books and loose leaves, with notes by H.N. van der Tuuk (1824-1894), several on Buginese linguistics, als materials in Batak and Chinese. See for mention of the notes by Van der Tuuk, also P. Voorhoeve, ‘Indonesische handschriften’ (1952), p. 219.
(a) Booklet, containing 36 ff, with a Buginese (?)-Dutch vocabulary, apparently not in van der Tuuk’s handwriting. From the other side of the booklet is the beginning only of a Dutch translation of the first chapter De la Historia, ij Vida del Gran Facaño. por D. Francisco de Quevedo Villegas ...’ This work is known as the Historia de la vida del Buscón. This may, or may not, have been written in van der Tuuk’s hand.
¶ Francisco de Quevedo (his complete name was Francisco Gómez de Quevedo y Villegas) lived in Spain between 1580 and 1645. He may not be as well known as his contemporary Miguel de Cervantes y Saavedra, the author of Don Quixote, he was nevertheless one of the most important authors of the period. He wrote poems and novels, all with a significant satirist and/or moralist load. Probably his most famous novel was Historia de la vida del Buscón. This is at the same time one of the most important picaresque novels of Spanish literature, and was written in (or around) 1626 (Introduction by Frank van Gerwen, quoted from his English translation of the work, as available on the internet).
(b) 3 exercise book, written by van der Tuuk. The first two contain notes on Buginese texts and manuscripts, in the British Museum, followed by a vocabulary: ‘Vocabulary English, Bugis and Malay’. In Buginese, Arabic and Latin script. This vocabulary is continued in the second exercise book. In the third exercise books, which contains a Batak vocabulary, there are numerous notes in Chinese as well. See P. Voorhoeve, Codices Batacici. Leiden 1977, pp. 102, 189, where the third exercise book is described as being ‘a Batak vocabulary, made by van der Tuuk on the basis of printed works, before he had studied Batak on the spot. Between the Batak parts are fragements in Chinese words, which van der Tuuk copied from printed works, one of which could be identified as the work by Abel-Rémusat, Élémens de la grammaire chinoise, ou Principes généraux du Kou-Wen ou style antique, et du Kouan-Hoa, c’est-à-dire, de la langue commune généralement usitée dans l’empire chinois. Paris 1857. From this, it becomes clear that van der Tuuk has occupied himself, after his return from Sumatra, with the study of the basics of Chinese.’

(c) Book containing 132 ff., all written by van der Tuuk. Lengthy, and well-written notes of lexicographical and encyclopedic nature. All apparently about Buginese matters. Numerous customs and expressions are extensively explained.
(d) Four folded sheets, being an (incomplete) list of Javanese texts. The titles are numbered and the first title available has No. 25 (Dewaruchi).
(e) Exercise book, containing lexicographical notes, from Buginese (?) to other languages, Javanese, Malay and Dutch. All in van der Tuuk's handwriting.
(f) Two quires with sheets, folded, with van der Tuuk's reading notes, with extracts from William Marsden's translation of the travels of Marco Polo (London 1818). Also comparative (Nias, Batak, Bima and Lampong) lexicographical notes taken from both volumes of Malayan miscellanies (published in Bencoolen 1821-1822). And other notes, all in van der Tuuk's handwriting.
(g) Several quires, with van der Tuuk's reading notes on many books, and notes of linguistic nature. A few may be mentioned: Shakespeare's King Lear, Cervantes' introduction (to Don Quichote?), from Le Vaillant's Reize in de Binnenlanden van Africa, with remarks on the Hottontot language (Reize in de binnenlanden van Afrika, langs Kaap de Goede Hoop, in de jaaren MDCCLXXX tot MDCCLXXXV gedaan door den Heer Le Vaillant. Uit het Fransch door J.D. Pasteur. Leyden/Amsterdam, 5 vols., 1791-1798), the draft text of a (polemical) article (against 'F', with mention of J.J. de Hollander), beginning of notes on the Malay grammar, reading notes from works on American travels, with notes on Amerindian languages, and J.F.G. de La Pérouse, Reize in de jaaren 1785, 1786, 1787 en 1788. Naar het Fransch door Joannes van der Linden, 3 vols. Amsterdam 1801-1804; and on Pacific linguistics, taken from James Cook, Reize rondom de waereld . Vert. door J.D. Pasteur. Leyden, Amsterdam, en 's Haage 1795-1809. 13 vols., with vocabularies extracted by van der Tuuk with words of the languages of the inhabitants of Tahiti, of Haiti, of the language of New Zealand, both from the northern and the southern island, of New South Wales, of the Island Savu (Sawu), of the language of Prinseneiland, of the Societeit eilanden, followed by 'Voorlopige Aanmerkingen omtrent het gebruik van deze Woordenlijst'. This is followed by lexicographical extracts from J. Turnbull, Reizen in den Stillen Oceaan, in de jaren 1800, 1801, 1802, 1803 en 1804. Dordrecht 1810-1814, 3 vols., on words from Tahiti, followed by remarks about Tagalog, taken from works by Spanish authors, lists of words from Madagascar (as compared with Malay), followed by many blank pages, and at the end, a drawing of an instrument, taga-taga ('mondharpp'). All, or mostly, in van der Tuuk's handwriting.
(h) Exercise book, with (on 5 pp.) a short vocabulary of Bugis, Malay and English, possibly extracted from A vocabulary of the English, Bugis, and Malay languages, containing about 2000 words [ed. by C.H. Thomsen]. Singapore 1833. The rest of the pages blank. In Buginese and Latin script, in van der Tuuk's handwriting.
(i) Incomplete (from p. 15 onwards) exercise book, with van der Tuuk's reading notes from travelogues. The beginning of the extracts (concerning parts of Indonesia and Malaysia) from an unidentified source, then follow extracts from De vermaarde reizen van de heer Vincent Le Blanc die hij sedert d'ouderdom van veertien jaren tot aan die van zestig, in de vier delen des werrelts gedaan heeft. Te weten in [...] en in veel vermaarde eilanden van de werrelt. Door J.H. Glazemaker vert. uit de Fransche. Amsterdam 1654. This is followed by extracts from Magazin für die Neueste Geschichte der Evangelischen Missions und Bibelgesellschaften, 1840, No. 4, about matters concerning the Batak. This is followed by a word list for the Dairi Batak, several words of which have been struck, indicating that they have served their purpose.

Not in Catalogue T. Iskandar (1999).

One portfolio containing a collection of booklets, exercise books and loose leaves, with notes by H.N. van der Tuuk (1824-1894), several on Malay. The contents of the sheaves and notebooks is usually indicated by P. Voorhoeve.
(a) Exercise book, with a few loose leaves, containing notes on and extracts by van der Tuuk from Malay manuscripts. Inside the front cover is a detailed list of these manuscripts, made by P. Voorhoeve. The extracts are taken from the following Malay work, from MSS in London: Sejarah Melayu (MSS R.A.S. 18, 68, 80), Isma Yatim (MSS R.A.S. 16, 62), Bustan as-Salatin and Taj as-Salatin (MS R.A.S. 17), Panji Wila Kesuma (MS R.A.S. 26), Raden Mera Lara Kesuma (MS R.A.S. 40), Maharaja Ali (MS R.A.S. 72), Raja Babi (MS R.A.S. 52), a poem (MS R.A.S. 49). Van der Tuuk also extracted a number of manuscripts in Padang and belonging to himself: Hikayat Aba Yazid al-Bistami, Hikayat Rabia Hudayl Dawia (?), Hikayat Dara Matasia, Hikayat tatkala Nabi Musa Munajat, Hikayat Burung baran-baran, and Hikayat Raja Buda (the latter in van der Tuuk's possession, and collated with a manuscript in Barus. This or the latter may be identical with Or. 3318, below.
(b) Exercise book, paper, 32 pp., with a loose leaf added from Anbiya in prose, dated 1752 AJ. Contents, according to P. Voorhoeve:
- pp. 1-11. Notes and abstracts by van der Tuuk, from MS London, R.A.S. 17.
- pp. 13-22. About a Javanese Anbiya in English possession?
- pp. 30-24. From MS London R.A.S. 34, a magical text in Malay, in the Batak fashion.
- pp. 32-31. Notes in English about the Prophet Muhammad.
(c) Several quires, 37 pp. Description by P. Voorhoeve: Notes about divinatory texts in MS London R.A.S. 74 and concerning MS Acad. 260, below.
(d) 4 quires, 28 ff. Excerpts and notes in Dutch by van der Tuuk concerning Book II of the Bustan as-Salatin, the encyclopedic work by Nuruddin al-Raniri, who wrote the work under the patronage of Sultan Iskander II of Aceh (reigned 1637-1641). Made from MS London, R.A.S., Raffles Malay 42 (See M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 138).
(e) One notebook in van der Tuuk's handwriting, 41 ff., containing:
- Excerpts from printed works (Asiatic Researches 12; A dialogue in the English and Madagascan language; Bronnen voor het Madagascaansch, taken from JA of February 1833, followed by notes on Islamic customs (in Dutch).
- Collection of pantun's, in Arabic script.
- Notes taken from MS 77 of the General Secretariat in Batavia (Hang Tuah), starting from the reverse side.
(f) Notebook, 7 quires, 58 ff., all in van der Tuuk's handwriting. List of Arabic, Malay and Javanese religious books (kitab).

(g) Notebook, 1 quire and loose leaves, all in van der Tuuk's handwriting. Notes (in Dutch) on Javanese grammar. Not in Pigeaud II.
(h) Notebook, 10 ff. with text, in van der Tuuk's handwriting. The beginning only of Mir'at al-Tullab fi Tashil Ma`rifat al-Ahkam al-Shar`iyya lil-Malik al-Wahhab, the handbook about Islamic law (mu`amalat) compiled by `Abd al-Ra'uf b. `Ali al-Gawi (= Abdurrauf of Singkel) at the request of the Sultana of Aceh, Safiatuddin Syah bint Iskandar Muda, reigned 1641-1675).
(i) Notebook, 18 ff. Fragment of a Minangkabau Kaba. Text, with a few lexicographical at the end.
(j) Notebook, 30 ff., with drawings copied on transparant paper, text in van der Tuuk's handwriting. Excerpts from MS London R.A.S. 34, Undang-undang.
(k) Exercise book, ?? ff. text in van der Tuuk's handwriting. List of Javanese manuscripts in London, in the collection of the East India House, the manuscripts of Netscher (possibly E. Netscher, 1825-1880) and others.
(l) Notebook, 151 ff., with text in van der Tuuk's handwriting. 'Maleise boekzaal'. Annotated list of Malay texts.
(m) 2 quires. Dialogue in Malay. 'A dialogue of the coming of a certain ... (?), to wit, how the Master thereof appeared before the King, and what was done there besides, written after the Indian manner ...'
(n) 4 quires. Excerpts by van der Tuuk from printed sources, JA 1832 an article on Malay books (46 titles mentioned) in several foreign collections, and other, similar sources. The leaves are possibly in diorder. Also notes on Indo-Persian literature, in connection with the school curriculum.

Or. 3261
Sundanese,

One portfolio containing a collection of three notebooks and loose leaves, with notes by H.N. van der Tuuk (1824-1894), mostly on Sundanese. All notes are of lexicographical nature. Many entries are struck, probably indicating that they have served their purpose. All notes are written in van der Tuuk's handwriting. Most entries contain Javanese script, but a number have lemmata in Arabic script. See Edi S. Ekadjati, Naskah Sunda. Inventarisasi dan Pencatatan. Bandung 1988, p. 291.
[* Mal. 885]

Or. 3262
One sheaf containing loose leaves with texts and notes, one (b) written by H.N. van der Tuuk (1824-1894), in Malay and Minangkabau.
(a) One page with text in Malay. Not in van der Tuuk's handwriting.
(b) 16 pp. Hikayat Nakhoda (?). In van der Tuuk's handwriting.
(c) 3 folded sheets, with a booklist, containing titles of Arabic religious works, not in van der Tuuk's handwriting.
(d) 3 sheets with lists of words. Labelled as 'Minangkabaus van Mandailing'. Not in van der Tuuk's handwriting.
(e) 1 sheet with shorter pieces, not in Van der Tuuk's handwriting.
One folio from this sheaf was transferred by E.P. Wieringa to Or. 3244, above, after he had identified is as the final part of the Hikayat Angkawijaya.
See Catalogue T. Iskandar (1999), No. 321 (I, p. 136), with divergent arrangement.
[* Mal. 878]

Or. 3263
One portfolio containing booklets and exercise books, written by H.N. van der Tuuk (1824-1894), with materials in (a) Rejang, (b) Buginese, (c) Malagasy, (d) Sundanese and (e) Ternatanese.
(a) One sheaf, inscribed 'Redjangsch en Midden-Maleisch'. Exercise book, starting from both sides.
(1) Copy by van der Tuuk of MS London India Office, Malay D 11. At the beginning van der Tuuk writes: 'Redjang MS. Op bamboestrooken aan een einde door middel van een band aan elkander geregen. De strooken zijn door letters gekenmerkt en ik weet niet of de volgorde goed is. Een der strooken is los. Het heeft aan de linkerkant op het tipje waar een gat zit voor die band de letters (follow two rejang letters).'At the end he writes: 'Niet meer heb ik van dit MS gevonden.'
(2) At the reverse side is a copy of text from MS London India Office Malay A 2, and a wordlist in rejang script, with transliteration in Arabic script, taken from that same manuscript. All in van der Tuuk's handwriting. According to a note by P. Voorhoeve, Rejang materials from this sheaf have been transferred by him to Or. 3387 (bb), below. See also P. Voorhoeve, 'Indonesische handschriften' (1952), p. 217.
(b) One sheaf, inscribed 'Boegineesch'. Exercise book, starting from both sides. Copies written by van der Tuuk from the Buginese MS in the R.A.S. and other notes. See for a description of this MS, B.F. Matthes, Kort verslag aangaande alle mij in Europa bekende Makassaarsche en Boeginese handschriften. Amsterdam 1875, p. 98. Added is, on a separate leaf of paper, written in pencil and in Dutch, but not by van der Tuuk, nor by Voorhoeve, a detailed description of the copies. This can be summarized in English as follows:

(1) In this MS one finds repeated copies, in Buginese and in Latin script, of Buginese notes pertaining to the district Palakka in Bone. They are orders given by someone on 30 Gumada I 1225 to the rulers of Palakka. (Then follow comparative remarks on the different pieces).
(2) f. 9v. Beginning of a note on a meeting of the heads of Palakka on 25 November 1216 (1801).
(3) ff. 2r-3r. Buginese words.
(4) f. 3v. Beginning of a history of Palakka (a few lines only).
(5) f. 3v. Verdict of the ruler Maharaë in Tanina (?).
(6) ff. 10r-11r. Shorter piece in English, with explanation in Javanese. Not in Pigeaud II.
(7) From the reverse side: ff. 20r-18r. Notes on Buginese grammar.
(c) One sheaf, inscribed 'Malagasy'. Text materials of H.N. van der Tuuk for his article 'Outlines of a Grammar of the Malagasy Language' in: JRAS 1865, pp. 419-446, according to P. Voorhoeve, 'Indonesische handschriften' (1952), p. 215. However, the documents in this sheaf are not referred to by van der Tuuk in his article. This does, of course, not exclude that they were indeed used by van der Tuuk. See for Malagasy materials from van der Tuuk also Or. 3387 (ee), below.
The sheaf contains a number of documents in Malagasy:
Sheet 1: Copies of 6 letters, numbered 1-6: Mahavelona, 1 Alahasaty 1865; Saomasina, 20 Alahamady 1865; Saomasina, 10 Adizaoza 1865; Alakamicy, 6 Alakaosy 1864; without place, 8 Adimizana 1864; without place, 10 Adimizana 1864.
Sheet 2: Copies of 4 letters, numbered 7-10: Iamatave, 27 Adizaoza 1865; Mahavelona, 25 Alahamady 1865; Mahavelona, 3 Alahasaty 1865; Mahavelona, 17 June 1865, 20 Alahasaty 1865.
Sheet 3: Copies of 3 letters, numbered 11-13: Amboanio, 13 Asorotany 1865; Amboanio 13 Asorotany 1865; Iamatave 4 July 1865, 12 Alahasaty 1865.
Sheets 4-5: 'Copy of a diary kept by our Catechist, on a late visit to Mahavelona'.
Sheets 5-6: 'Ohabolana' 38 numbered sentences.
Sheet 7: Copy of an undated letter, numbered 11. 'Copie du lettre q'ae je Ecris au Commandant.'
Added an original letter, numbered 12: To Any Mosse Ginet. Dated Vohimarona 24 Adaoro 1863.
(d) One sheaf, inscribed 'Soendaneesch'. Several loose leaves, with text in Arabic script (in van der Tuuk's handwriting), and one quire with text in Javanese script, not in van der Tuuk's handwriting, with a drawing (of a game-board of some kind?), and one sheet with text in Latin script, apparently poetry, with indication of metres, not written by van der Tuuk.
(e) 5 ff. Collection of 17 *pantun*s from Ternate in the Ternate language. Transcript in Latin script, texts in Arabic script. Not written by van der Tuuk. Added is one leaf, with a translation (from Ternatanese to Malay?) of a letter, sent by the military commander of Ternate on February 21, 1882. P. Voorhoeve, 'Indonesische handschriften' (1952), p. 212, incorrectly refers to these texts as notes by van der Tuuk.

See Catalogue T. Iskandar (1999), No. 322 (I, pp. 136-137).

(o) 4 pp. Treatise on statecraft for Kings, Javanese prose. Central Pasisir idiom, quadratic script, with a Malay translation, signed Pangeran Surya Kusuma. Not in Iskandar's Catalogue (1999).
¶ Catalogue T. Iskandar (1999), No. 323 (vol. I, p. 137), mentions under Or. 3266 a copy of the Malay Hikayat Jauhar Manikam. Here Iskandar was led astray by a typesetting error in H.H. Juynboll's Catalogus (1899), p. 159, where indeed Or. 3266 is given. That should have been Or. 3366. It is remarkable that Iskandar under Or. 3366 (his No. 397, in vol. I, p. 174) gives a description of the same manuscript again, with slightly different title, watermark, number of folios, etc.

Or. 3268
Sarawak Dayak, Malay and English. Notes, by James Glover and William Chalmers, on the Dayak language.
(a) 10 ff. 'A few Notes on the Language of the Sea Dayaks of Sarawak', by James Glover, probably an autograph (signed on the last page by the author). The text is arranged as follows:
First. Vocabularies of the most common words.
I. Pronouns.
II. Adjectives.
III. Names of things.
IV. Verbs.
V. Praepositions, Adverbs, etc.
Second. Derivatives.

Third. Illustrations (with 10 shorter texts).
At the end is a guide for the pronunciation. A few addenda on the last page.
(b) Notes, and a letter, by William Chalmers (signing WC, at the end), dated Singapore, December 30, 1861, (addressee not mentioned, possibly Dr. Reinhold Rost, 1822-1896), concerning his Dayak vocabulary. Also draft lists in Chalmers' hand. Added is the printed text: pp. 1-40 only of A vocabulary of English, Malay and Sarawak Dayak. No author or publisher is mentioned. It is, however, the work of William Chalmers (published in Canterbury, St. Augustine's College Press, 1861, 69 pp., as identified with the title of the copy in the KITLV library). Van der Tuuk had received these materials from Rost, as is stated in Notulen BG XV, pp. 63-64, and ibid. XVI, p. 73).
(c) 5 ff. 'A vocabulary'. A comparative English-Dayak vocabulary. Four dialects are given: Idaän (Dayaks at foot of Mt. Kina Balu), Bisaya and Adang (Murut), who are Dayaks about Brunei River and neighbouring rivers, and Pekatan (a Dayak tribe of Central Borneo). No author indicated.

¶ Catalogue T. Iskandar (1999), No. 332 (I, p. 141) states that the copyist is `Abd al-Samad al-Palimbani (which would imply that this MS is an autograph, a conclusion mysteriously not drawn by Iskandar), but the colophon (f. 139b) only mentions a date and place, not the name of the copyist. It is more probable that this colophon was copied from the exemplar and that the present MS is in fact of later date. That is corroborated by the fact that Dutch paper was used (see the watermark and counter-marks mentioned by Iskandar). It's use points to an Indonesian origin of the manuscript, not to a Mekkan origin. `Abd al-Samad is in fact mentioned, in a note in pencil, on f. 1a, but that note cannot be interpreted but as a bibliographical help. It cannot be in anyway a confirmation that `Abd al-Samad is really the copyist of the present volume.

Malay, with some Arabic, paper, 441 pp., Arabic script, all in van der Tuuk's handwriting, and many texts provided with collation notes. In the present description, the (erroneous) old page numbers have been retained, mainly because they figure in older quotations from this MS. In the meantime (between 1975-1979), a slightly different, and more correct, page numbering has been written in the MS.
Collected notes and copies, made by H.N. van der Tuuk (1824-1894) from Malay manuscripts in the India Office, the Royal Asiatic Society, both in London, of the General Secretariat in Batavia, and of several private owners, both Dutch and indigenous. The quires were apparently made at several instances, from different kinds of paper, and are now bound together in the present volume. Van der Tuuk has published at several instances about these collection, for which publications he apparently used his notes which are kept together in the present volume (e.g. 'Kort verslag van de Maleische handschriften in het East India House te Londen', in Tijdschrift voor Nederlandsch-Indië 1 (1849), pp. 385-400; 'Kort verslag der Maleische handschriften toebehoorende aan de Royal Asiatic Society te Londen', in BKI (3e reeks) 1 (1866), pp. 409-470).
(1) pp. 1-4. Hikayat Budak Miskin. Abstract by van der Tuuk of the MS which is now MS London, SOAS 12260 (according to M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 158). The original, however, is dated 1221 AH, and not 1225 AH as Ricklefs & Voorhoeve have it.
(2) pp. 4-8. Hikayat Putera Jaya Pati. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS London, IOL, Mal. B.5 (IO 2608, see M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 123).
(3) pp. 9-17, 21-23. Hikayat Pelanduk Jinaka. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS London, IOL, Malay B.2 (IO 3049) (See M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 123). Or would the London MS be Malay B.10 (A), see Ricklefs & Voorhoeve (1977), p. 124? and see also Or. 3300 (54), below.
(4) pp. 17-18. Hikayat Isma Yatim. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS London, IOL, Mal. C.4 (IO 2436) (See M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 125). On pp 19-20. is a fragment in Dutch and Malay, possibly belonging to this text. Pp. 21-23 is the sequel of text No. 3. P. 24 is blank.
(5) pp. 25-40. Book IV of the Bustan as-Salatin, the encyclopedic work by Nuruddin al-Raniri, who wrote the work under the patronage of Sultan Iskander II of Aceh (reigned 1637-1641). Abstracts by van der Tuuk from MS London, R.A.S., Raffles Malay 42 (See M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 138).

(6) pp. 41-81. Sejarah Melayu. Abstracts by van der Tuuk of MS London, R.A.S., Raffles 18 (See M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), pp. 134-135).
(7) pp. 83-84. Syair orang berbuat amal. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS London, IOL, Mal. B.3 (A) (in IO 2609, See M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 123).
(8) pp. 84-95. Syair Silambari. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS London, IOL, Mal. B.3 (B) (in IO 2609, See M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 123
(9) pp. 96-98. Syair surat kirim kepada perempuan. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS London, OIL, Mal. B.3 (C) (in IO 2609, See M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 123).
(10) pp. 98-101. Hikayat mi`raj Nabi Muhamad. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS London, IOL, Mal. B.3 (D) (in IO 2609, see M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 123).
(11) pp. 101-104. Hikayat Nabi Yusuf. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS London, IOL, Mal. D.4 (IO 2874, see M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 126).
(12) pp. 111-109, in reverse order. Hikayat Cekel Waning Pati. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS London, IOL, Mal. C.1 (IO 2691, see M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 125).
(12a) pp. 106-108. According to Iskandar's catalogue, p. 150, this would be an abstract from MS London, IOL, Mal. C. 1 (IO 2691), which is mentioned as No. 12, previously. It should be noted that No. 12, above, has been described as an abstract by van der Tuuk of MS London, IOL, Mal. C. 2 (IO 2875). Comparison between either of the two IOL manyscripts and the abstract should decide what is really the case. In addition it may be noted that one of the abstracts contains a copy of the date of the original: 10 Zulhidjah 1216 (p. 108), but that no London manuscript of the present text, as described by Ricklefs & Voorhoeve, contains that date.
(13) pp. 112-119. Hikayat Pandawa Jaya. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS London, IOL, Mal. B.4 (in IO 2605, see M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 123).
(14) pp. 120-143. Hikayat Maharaja Boma. Abstracts by van der Tuuk from MS London, IOL Malay C. 8 (IO 2905, see M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 125). Wrongly identified as an abstract of MS London, R.A.S., Raffles Mal. 15, in M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 134.
(15) pp. 144-148. Hikayat Syahi Mardan. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS London, IOL, Mal. D.5 (B) (IO 2673, see M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 126).
(16) pp. 148-151. Hikayat Nabi Muhammad .... Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS London, IOL, Mal. D.5 (D) (IO 2673, see M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 126). Iskandar, p. 150, gives this text the title Hikayat perang Raja Khaibar.
(17) pp. 151-158. Hikayat Hang Tuah, the last chapters. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS London, IOL, Mal. B.1 (IO 2607, see M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 123).
(18) pp. 159-170. Mu`jizat Rasul Allah (Hikayat bulan berbelah) Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS London, R.A.S. Raffles Malay 47, see M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), pp. 138-139. Wrongly identified by Iskandar (p. 150) as an abstract of MS London, R.A.S. Raffles Malay 62.
(19) pp. 170-173. Seribu masa'il. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS London, R.A.S. Raffles Malay 62 (C), see M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 140. With drawings from the MS copied on transparant paper.

(20) pp. 173-174. Ceritera Nabi Allah Musa. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS London, R.A.S. Raffles Malay 62 (D), not mentioned by M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 140.
(20a) p. 174. Hikayat Muhammad bercukur. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS London R.A.S. Raffles Malay 62 (F), not mentioned by M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 141.
(20b) pp. 174-176. Hikayat Raja Syah Johan Indera Mengindera. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS London R.A.S. Raffles Malay 58 (A), not mentioned by M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 140.
(21) pp. 176-178. Hikayat Tuan Puteri Jauhar Manikam. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS London, R.A.S. Raffles Malay 58 (B), not mentioned by M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 140. From here on, there is a mistake in the pagination, which starts at p. 159 again.
(22) pp. 159-163. Hikayat Ular Nangkawang. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS London, IOL, Mal. A.1 (IO 2611, see M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), pp. 122-123).
(23) p. 163. Hikayat Parang Puting (or Hikayat budak miskin). Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS London, IOL, Mal. D.3 (IO 2877, see M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 126).
(24) pp. 164-165. Hikayat Dewa Mandu. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS London, IOL, Mal. D.1 (IO 2871, see M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), pp. 125-126).
(25) pp. 166-176. Hikayat Bayan Budiman. Here the title is given as Hikayat Khoja Mubarak or Hikayat Khoja Maimun. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS London, IOL, Mal. B.7 (IO 2604, see M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 124).
(26) pp. 176-182. Hikayat Bayan Budiman. Here the title is given as Ceritera Taifas. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS London, IOL, Mal. B.8 (IO 2606, see M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 124).
(27) pp. 183-211. Hikayat Silindung Dalima. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS London, IOL, Mal. C.6 (IO 2715, see M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 125).
(28) pp. 211-215. Hikayat Maharaja Mahadewa. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS London, IOL, Mal. D.2 (IO 2876, not mentioned by M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 126).
(29) pp. 216-218. Syair Jaran Tamasa. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS London, IOL, Mal. B.9 (IO 2610, see M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 124).
(30) pp. 219-220. Hikayat Nabi Musa, by Abdulkadir. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS Batavia, General Secretariat, No. 30. Van der Tuuk notes that it is a fragment of the Islamic law of succession, taken from a larger work. Iskandar (p. 151, No. xxxiii, gives as title (of the larger work?) Kitab zuhrat al-murid (fi bayan kalimat at-tawhid), but refrains from giving further details.
(31) pp. 220-222. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS Batavia, General Secretariat, No. 34, containing `Umdat al-Muhtagin ila Suluk Maslak al-Mufridin by Abdurrauf of Singkel (11/17th cent.). The original MS now seems to be lost. See P. Voorhoeve, 'Bajan Tadjalli', in TBG 85 (1952-1957), pp. 87-117, especially p. 112.
(32) pp. 222-239. Kitab Fikih. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS Batavia, General Secretariat, No. 43.
(33) pp. 239-240. Kitab al-Durra al-Farida fi Sharh al-Qasida. Note by van der Tuuk about MS Batavia, General Secretariat, No. 49. Apparently this concerns an Arabic text, possibly a commentary by Muhammad b. Dawud al-`Inani (Iskandar, p. 151, No. xxxvi, reads al-Fatani) on the Qasidat al-Burda by Muhammad b. Sa`id al-Busiri (d. 694/1294), GAL G I, 264. Not in Voorhoeve's Handlist.

(34) pp. 240-241. Hikayat Nabi Musa. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS Batavia, General Secretariat, No. 40.
(35) pp. 242-243. Jauhar al-Fara'id, or Durrat al-Fara'id bi-Sharh al-`Aqa'id by Nur al-Din al-Raniri. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS Batavia, General Secretariat, No. 39. Iskandar (p. 151) makes two different titles (Nos. xxxviii and xxxix) out of this one text.
(36) pp. 244-245. Durrat al-Nazir, apparently a MS of Palembang origin, as it contains the words paduka Sari Sultan Ratu Badr ad-Din ... (of Palembang). Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS Batavia, General Secretariat, No. 5. Iskandar (p. 151, No. xl) wrongly reads the title as al-Durr al-Nazim.
(37) pp. 245-246. Asrar al-Huruf, apparently a MS of Palembang origin, as it contains the words paduka Sari Sultan Ratu Badr ad-Din ... (of Palembang). Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS Batavia, General Secretariat, No. 6.
(38) pp. 246-247. Kitab Hikam. Apparently a Malay text based on the Arabic al-Hikam al-`Ata'iyya by Ibn `Ata' Allah al-Iskandari (d. 709/1309), GAL G II, 117. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS Batavia, General Secretariat, No. 4 (a).
(39) p. 247. Fath al-Rahman li-Sharh Risalat al-Wali Raslan, by Zakariyya' al-Ansari (d. 926/1520). Apparently a work in Arabic. The original work is the Risalat al-Tawhid by al-Wali Raslan b. Ya`qub b. `Abd al-Rahman al-Ga`bari al-Dimashqi (d. c. 695/1296), GAL G I, 452. Short note by van der Tuuk about MS Batavia, General Secretariat, No. 4 (b). Not given by Iskandar (p. 152).
(39) pp. 247-250. `Uddat al-Habib fi al-Targhib wal-Tarhib by Nur al-Din al-Raniri. Abstract by van der Tuuk of a Malay work, MS Batavia, General Secretariat No. 3.
(40) p. 250. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS Batavia, General Secretariat No. 8, being Bughyat Ahl al-`Ibada wal-Awrad wa-Fawa'id tunawwir al-Qalb wal-Fu'ad, a work which is based on three other texts: (a) Sharh al-Ratib al-Musamma Sabil al-Hidaya wal-Rashad by Shihab al-Din Ahmad b. al-Hasan b. `Abdallah al-Haddad; (b) Sharh `ala al-Ratib, by Hamid b. `Umar al-Munaffar Ba `Alawi; (c) Sharh `ala al-Ratib, by `Abd al-Ghani al-Yamani. Iskandar (p. 152, No. xliv) identifies the fragment as the text mentioned here as source (b).
(41) p. 251. Shams al-Afaq pada menyatak Asrar al-Huruf. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS Batavia, General Secretariat No. 10. Iskandar (p. 152, No. xlv) gives as title: Asrar al-huruf.
(42) pp. 251-257. A Malay redaction (?) of `Uddat al-Hisn al-Hasin, a compendium by Muhammad b. Muhammad al-Gazari (d. 833/1429), GAL G II, 203, of his own al-Hisn al-Hasin min Kalam Sayyid al-Mursalin. In a MS of royal origin from Palembang. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS Batavia, General Secretariat No. 9.
(43) pp. 257-258. A Malay version of a work by Muhammad b. Yusuf al-Sanusi (d. 892/1486), GAL G II, 250. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS Batavia, General Secretariat No. 7. Iskandar (p. 152, No. xlvii) gives as title Usul (not warranted by the MS).
(43a) p. 258. Collection of prayers, beginning with story about Muhammad b. Usama. Note by van der Tuuk about MS Batavia, General Secretariat No. 11.

(44) pp. 259-264. Hikayat ada (?) seorang Raja Indra Angka... (?). Abstracts by van der Tuuk from a manuscript which he borrowed from the private collection of an indigenous owner from Kampong Kwitang in Batavia. Followed by unnumbered blank pages. Iskandar (p. 152, No. xlix) gives the title Hikayat Si Miskin.
(45) pp. 267-269. Hikayat Ceritera Tuan Jawhar Manikam. Abstracts by van der Tuuk from a manuscript which he borrowed from an indigenous owner in Batavia.
(46) pp. 270-278. Hikayat Sama`un (?). A work translated from Javanese into Malay. Abstracts by van der Tuuk from a manuscript which he borrowed from an indigenous owner in Batavia.
(47) pp. 279-295. Sirat al-Mustaqim, a work on fiqh, compiled by Nuruddin ar-Raniri between 1044-1054 / 1634-1644. Abstracts (mainly a copy of the table of contents) by van der Tuuk from a manuscript belonging to Mr. Scheuman, house-tutor of the Governor-General J.J. Rochussen (1797-1871). A copy from another MS (or the same?) of Mr. Scheuman is in Or. 3343 (8), below. The introduction of the text is in Arabic, the text itself in Malay. The following text is from this same volume.
(48) pp. 295-296. Kitab ... Hukum Nikah. Abstracts by van der Tuuk from this text, which is contained in the same volume as the preceding text.
(49) pp. 297-310. Hikayat Bima. Abstracts by van der Tuuk from a manuscript in the possession of E. Netscher (1825-1880). According to a note in pencil by P. Voorhoeve, the MS Berlin, Schoemann V, 3, is a copy of this manuscript.
(50) pp. 311-318. Hikayat Mesa Tandraman. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS London, IOL, Mal. c.3 (IO 2602, see M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 125).
(51) pp. 319-324. Hikayat Muhammad Hanafiah. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS London, IOL, Mal. D.5 (A) (IO 2673, see M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 126).
(52) pp. 324-328. Caritra Rama. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS London, IOL, Mal. D.7 (IO 3539, see M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 126).
(53) pp. 328-329. Babat Sekander. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS London, IOL, Mackenzie Private 43, see M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 122. Followed by number of blank pages.
(54) pp. 330-377 [pp. 357-406 in the new, corrected pagination]. Hikayat lima fasal. Abstract (or full copy?) by van der Tuuk of MS London, IOL, Malay B.10 (C) (IO 2603), see M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 124.
(55) pp. 380-411 [pp. 409-441] Undang-undang and other stories and shorter texts. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS London, R.A.S. Raffles Malay 32, see M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 136.
See H.H. Juynboll, Catalogus van de Maleische en Sundaneesche handschriften der Leidsche Universiteits-Bibliotheek. Leiden 1899, p. 315, where the contents is described as copy by van der Tuuk from MSS in the East India House (now the India Office collection).
Catalogue T. Iskandar (1999), No. 348 (I, pp. 149-153).
In 'Journaal' p. 67, this MS is also referred to as Or. 3300 a.
[* Mal. 790 a]

Or. 3300 a

Malay, paper, 37 pp., and blanks, Arabic script, all in van der Tuuk's hand.

Copy by H.N. van der Tuuk (1824-1894), of MS London, R.A.S., Malay 30 (see M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 136), being Daftar Sejarah Cerebon, a genealogical of the kings of Cirebon. Numerous textual notes by van der Tuuk in the margins, some of which are written in Javanese script.
[* Mal. 790 b]

Or. 3301
Malay and Arabic, paper, 169 pp., Arabic script, all in van der Tuuk's hand.
Notes and abstracts by H.N. van der Tuuk (1824-1894) from manuscripts, in the General Secretariat in Batavia, and belonging to private owners.
(1) pp. 1-13. Siyar al-Salikin. Abstracts by van der Tuuk from MS Batavia, General Secretariat No. 17, containing the second part of that text, being the Malay translation made in 1193-1203 AH by `Abd al-Samad al-Palimbani of the Ihya' `Ulum al-Din by Abu Hamid Muhammad al-Ghazzali (d. 505/1111), GAL G I, 423.
(2) pp. 13-17. Abstracts by van der Tuuk from MS Batavia, General Secretariat No. 18. The manuscript was seen by Van der Tuuk around 1850, but was lost later on. See also P. Voorhoeve, 'Bajan Tadjalli', in TBG 85 (1952-1957), pp. 87-117, especially p. 113, where, however, the Batavian class-mark is wrongly given as No. 13. It is a collective volume containing:
(a) Tanbih al-`Amil fi Tahqiq al-Kalam fil-Nawafil.
(b) Bayan Aghmad al-Masa'il wal-Sifat al-Wagiba li-Rabb al-Ard wal-Samawat, by Abdurrauf of Singkel (11/17th cent.).
(c) A work by Tag al-Din Abu al-Fadl Ahmad b. `Abd al-Karim b. `Ata' Allah (identical with Ibn `Ata' Allah al-Iskandari (d. 709/1309), GAL G II, 117?). Title not given by van der Tuuk.
(d) Sharh Latif `ala Arba`in Hadithan, commentary by Abdurrauf of Singkel (11/17th cent.) on the Arba`in Hadithan by Yahya b. Sharaf al-Nawawi (d. 676/1278), GAL G I, 396. See also P. Voorhoeve, 'Bajan Tadjalli', in TBG 85 (1952-1957), pp. 87-117, especially p. 111.
(3) pp. 17-18. Nasihat al-Muslimin wa-Tadhkirat al-Mu'minin, a work in Arabic by `Abd al-Samad al-Gawi al-Palimbani (end 12th/18th cent.), the pupil of Muhammad al-Samman. Abstracts by van der Tuuk of MS Batavia, General Secretariat No. 19. Not in Voorhoeve's Handlist.
(4) pp. 19-21. Abstracts by van der Tuuk of MS Batavia, General Secretariat No. 13, which was seen by van der Tuuk around 1850, but which was lost later on. It is a collective volume containing:
(a) Daqa'iq al-Huruf by Abdurrauf of Singkel (11/17th cent.). See P. Voorhoeve, 'Bajan Tadjalli', in TBG 85 (1952-1957), pp. 87-117, especially p. 114.
(b) Bayan Aghmad al-Masa'il, also by Abdurrauf of Singkel. See also P. Voorhoeve, 'Bajan Tadjalli', in TBG 85 (1952-1957), pp. 87-117, especially p. 113.
(c) Kifayat al-Muhtagin ila Mashrab al-Muwahhidin al-Qa'ilin bi-Wahdat al-Wugud, a work in Malay by Abdurrauf of Singkel. The text ends with Silsila Qadiriyya. This was the copy with the full title of the text. See P. Voorhoeve, 'Bajan Tadjalli', in TBG 85 (1952-1957), pp. 87-117, especially pp. 112-113.

(5) pp. 21-22. Mukhtasar, by al-Wali Raslan b. Ya`qub b. `Abd al-Rahman al-Ga`bari al-Dimashqi (d. c. 695/1296), GAL G I, 452. Abstracts by van der Tuuk of MS Batavia, General Secretariat No. 20.
(6) pp. 22-24. Kitab Asrar al-Insan fi Ma`rifat al-Ruh wal-Rahman by Nur al-Din al-Raniri. Abstracts by van der Tuuk of MS Batavia, General Secretariat No. 24. The original manuscript is of royal origin from Palembang.

Collective volume with texts in Malay, paper, 98 pp., Arabic scripts (with words in Javanese script).
(1) pp. 1-73. Serat Pawukon, or Wukon Jawa. Malay translation of a Javanese work on calendar computation. Copy by H.N. van der Tuuk (1824-1894) of MS London, R.A.S. Raffles Malay 41 (A), see M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 138, with marginal notes containing the Javanese names of the wuku's, taken by van der Tuuk from MS London, BL, Add. 12,338 (on which see ibid., p. 52, without reference to van der Tuuk's copy). Pasted to the MS is a copy of a diagram, drawn on transparant paper.
(2) pp. 74-84. Surat Silsila Rasul Allah. Van der Tuuk's note says: 'The Malay translation of the Javanese piece in u. The translation is interlinear and in italic script, but since the spelling is so irregular, we have converted it into Arabic script, with careful notice of those words, the transliteration of which is irregular.' It is not clear whether this and the preceding text are in fact part of one composition. This is van der Tuuk's copy of the Malay part, in Arabic script, in MS London IOL, Jav. 2, which was published and translated by A. Cabaton, 'Raden Paku, Sunan de Giri (légende musulmane javanaise). Texte malaise, traduction française et notes', in Revue de l'histoire des religions 54 (1906), pp. 374-393 (See M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 59), where the Javanese title is given as Serat Sejarah Rasullulah Muhammad.

(3) p. 84. A note on the Javanese MS London, BL, Add. 12,310, Gonda Kusuma (ibid., p. 48). Pp. 84-97: blank.
(4) p. 98. List of names of wuku's and the names of the gods belonging to these, taken by van der Tuuk from MS London, BL, Add. 12, 334, which is possibly a mistake for class-mark Add. 12,338 (see also text No. 1 in this volume).
Not in Pigeaud II. See H.H. Juynboll, Catalogus van de Maleische en Sundaneesche handschriften der Leidsche Universiteits-Bibliotheek. Leiden 1899, p. 305. See also on this MS A. Cabaton, in Revue de l'histoire des religions 54, p. 274.

Malay, paper, 119 ff., Arabic, with some Latin, script, all in van der Tuuk's hand. Nos. 1 and 5 contain copies by van der Tuuk of Malay letters. Those in No. 1 are sometimes transcribed by van der Tuuk. All texts have marginal notes by van der Tuuk, which occasionally were useful for the transcription of names. The copies of letters in both collections are provided by van der Tuuk with serial numbers. These have been retained in the descriptions below.
(1) ff. 1a-7b. Copies by H.N. van der Tuuk (1824-1894) of Malay letters in the possession of Dr. Millies in Amsterdam. Prof. H.C. Millies (1810-1868) was professor of Oriental languages in Utrecht University, and before that he was employed by the Dutch Bible Society in the Dutch East-Indies. Millies' manuscripts are in the Leiden library as well (Or. 1930 - Or. 1943, Or. 1959, above, and Or. 4996 - Or. 5011, below). It is tempting to try to identify these letters with those kept in Or. 5002, below (??), which still needs to be done. There are numerous other indications that Millies was in contact with van der Tuuk, most notably as Batak texts are concerned (see P. Voorhoeve, Codices Batacici [Leiden 1977], pp. ??.
- ff. 1a-2a. No. 1, from Abdunabi bin Jaifar, the great vizir of the Raja of Bima to Tuan van der Giessen (?) in Makasar, dated Monday 3 Zulhijah 1243.
- ff. 2a-3a. No. 2, from Sultan Ismail, Raja of Bima, to Tuan van der Giessen (?) in Makasar, dated Bima, 8 Zulhijah 1243.
- ff. 3a-4a. No. 3, from the Sultan of Dompu to Tuan Fetor in Bima, dated Dompu, Thursday 15 Safar 1241.
- ff. 4a-6b. No. 4, from Sultan Tajulmulk Amirudin Iskandar Khawolain, dated 23 Jumadilakhir 1253 / August 24, 1837. Arabic script, with transliteration in Latin script (also copied from the original). To A.J. van Olphen, resident of Ternate.
- ff. 6b-7b. No. 5, from Bacan, from Sultan Muhammad Hayatudin, dated 1252 / May 23, 1836, to resident van Olphen in Ternate. With the transliteration. Ff. 8a-b. Blank.
(2) ff. 9a-12a. Hikayat Nur Muhammad. Copied by van der Tuuk from an original in the possession of a Batak ... ?? in Kampong Ligambogambo.
(3) ff. 12a-15a. Ceritera baginda Rasul Allah. Copied by van der Tuuk from the same volume as the preceding text.

(4) ff. 17b-42b. Copy by van der Tuuk of ... from a manuscript in his own possession (here referred to as c), with extensive collation with two other manuscripts (here referred to as a and b).
(5) ff. 43a-59a. Copies by van der Tuuk of several Malay letters, all provided with numbers by van der Tuuk.

Or. 3343
Malay, Minangkabau, Javanese, Arabic, paper, portfolio with several sheaves.

Undang-undang Minangkabau and other texts. Portfolio with several autographs of H.N. van der Tuuk (1824-1894), some copied from other manuscripts. See for a full survey of the contents: Van Ronkel, Supplement-Catalogus (1921), pp. 258-259 (No. 659).
(1) sheaf I, pp. 1-21. Malay, in Van der Tuuk's handwriting. Copy of a text containing Undang-undang Minangkabau. Part of the introduction, ending in the middle of the paragraph on legal witnesses. Van Ronkel (p. 258) mentions MS Batavia No. 902 as a similar text. Dated (p. 21): Padang, 6 April 1840, 'Toeankoe Pangliema Soeltan Iskander hoofdregent'.
(2) sheaf I, pp. 22-24. Malay, in Van der Tuuk's handwriting. Copy from a manuscript: 'Traditie omtrent Baroes naar ''n HS in h. bezit v.d. Hr. Palm'. Dated (p. 24): 1273.
(3) sheaf B, pp. 1-28. Arabic and Malay, in Van der Tuuk's handwriting. Text in both languages with numerous collations. al-Mukhtasar fil-Fiih, or Ghayat al-Ikhtisar, or Mukhtasar fil-Fiqh `ala Madhhab al-Imam al-Shafi`i, by Abu Shuga` al-Isfahani (d. after 500/1106), GAL G I, 392. Not mentioned in Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 368.
(4) sheaf B, pp. 29-31. Malay, in Van der Tuuks handwriting. Fragment taken, according to a note by Van der Tuuk written over the beginning (p. 29), from a manuscript in the Royal Institute, quarto No. 239. On ritual purity.
(5) sheaf C, ff. 1a-6a. Malay, in Van der Tuuk's handwriting. Minangkabau pantuns, with some proverbs.
(6) sheaf C, ff. 6b-9a. Malay, in Van der Tuuk's handwriting. Fragment of Abdullah's Journal.
(7) sheaf D, pp. 1-11 pp. Malay, in Van der Tuuk's handwriting. Fragment taken from the introduction to Undang-undang Minangkabau. Taken from a manuscript in the possession of a Mr. Netscher, probably E. Netscher (1825-1880). There are several contemporaries of Van der Tuuk persons bearing that name and somehow involved with the Dutch East-Indies. See also Van der Tuuks notes on pp. 1, 12.
(8) sheaf D, pp. 12-13. Malay, in Van der Tuuk's handwriting. Fragment taken from a fiqh text by Nur al-Din al-Raniri (d.) of 1044 AH, from a folio manuscript in the possession of Mr. Scheuman, house-tutor of the governor-general J.J. Rochussen (1797-1871). It is probably a fragment of the Sirat al-Mustaqim, compiled by Nuruddin ar-Raniri between 1044-1054 / 1634-1644. See for van der Tuuk's copy of another MS (or the same?) in the possession of Mr. Scheuman, Or. 3300 (47), above.
(9) sheaf E, 4 ff. of text. Malay, in Van der Tuuk's handwriting. Fragment of the Hikayat Abu Samah. Taken from an incomplete, small quarto MS in the possession of an indigenous person, counting 40 pp.
(10) sheaves F, H, J, K. Arabic, paper, 32 ff. Description by H.N. van der Tuuk of 31 Arabic manuscripts in the collection of the Batavia Society of Arts and Sciences. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 412. However, see also Ph.S. van Ronkel, Supplement-catalogus, where the following description is given:
Sheaf F. Part of an Arabic and Javanese text, Tuhfat al-Talib al-Mubtadi' wa-Minhat al-Salik al-Muhtadi, and pieces from the science of *isnad*s.
Sheaf G. Copies from vol. 2 of Malayan miscellanies. Bencoolen, Sumatran Mission Press, 1821-1822?.

Sheaf H. Abstracts from Idah al-Fiqh, after a manuscript in the collection of A.D. Cornets de Groot (1804-1829), dated June 24, 1826, followed by a description of several Arabic and Javanese texts, which belong to one collection.
Sheaf J. Ghayat al-Ikhtisar, or Mukhtasar fil-Fiqh `ala Madhhab al-Imam al-Shafi`i, by Abu Shuga` al-Isfahani (d. after 500/1106), GAL G I, 392. Arabic text and Malay translation. Not in Voorhoeve's Handlist.
Sheaf K. (1) Abstracts from Malay and Javanese commentaries on the Qur'an, from the collection of manuscripts in the Batavia Society, (2) followed by part of the Arabic text of Kitab Nasihat al-Muluk, with Javanese translation (with this may meant the Arabic translation by `Ali b. Mubarak (2nd half of 6/12th cent.), GAL G I, 423 No. 30 of the originally Persian text al-Tibr al-Masbuk fi Nasihat al-Muluk, by al-Ghazzali (d. 505/1111), see Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 379, for interlinear Javanese translations of this text, (3) followed by a treatise on titles and functions in Banten, (4) followed by notes on Banten genealogies from Javanese manuscripts in Batavia, of which van der Tuuk may have wished to compile a description.
Sheaf L. Fragment of the Hikayat Raja Bandar dan Kota Ringin. See J.J. Ras, Hikajat Bandjar. A study in Malay historiography. The Hague 1968, p. 202.
Sheaf M. Abstracts from Batavia manuscripts, a.o. Syair Hikayat Raja Damsyik.
Sheaf N. The history of the learned Jew from Khaibar, in rhyme.
O. Malay. Copy of Sufi texts, taken from Or. 1332, above, with van der Tuuk's emendations. Or. 1332, above, contains numerous texts, but H.H. Juynboll, Catalogus (1899), p. 288, gives it one title: Kitab Mir'at al-Muhaqqiqin. It has been described in detail by E.P. Wieringa, Catalogue of Malay and Minangkabau manuscripts 1 (1998), pp. 18-19.
P. Javanese. Fragment of a mystical text. Not in Pigeaud II. But see Pigeaud IV, pp. 47-48, with an extensive note concerning Or. 3343-VI, and ibid., p. 48, concerning Or. 3343-XXXI.

Or. 3359
Javanese, paper, 52 pp., Arabic script, drawings.
History of the Sundanese, called Carita Sunda, or Kitab Sunda, beginning with cosmogony, mentioning Ciyung Manarah and Munding Wangi, and ending in eschatology, mentioning baginda `Ali. Unvocalized prose tale, rather rambling, provided with several red-and-black drawings representing, according to the captions, the scenes of the tales, i.a. a Royal compound and a mosque. Cat. Juynboll II, p. 407. Or. 10.695, below, is a romanized copy by J. Soegiarto, a copy of which also BCB 175. Pigeaud II, p. 113.

Or. 3361
Malay and Sasak, paper, 2 ff., Arabic script, with lexicographical notes by H.N. van der Tuuk (1824-1894) in Latin script.
Notes written in Malay, concerning the Sasak language of Ampenan, beginning: Bahwa inilah basa Sasak Ampenan ... Not described in any of the printed catalogues.
[* Mal. 759]

Or. 3362
Several Indonesian languages, paper, 294 pp., text on pp. 1-82 and 295, all others are blanks.
Comparative lexicographical and etymological notes by H.N. van der Tuuk (1824-1894). A great number of words, without meaning in Dutch or English, but with their equivalents in other Indonesian languages. It is difficult to tell whether there is one language which serves a basis, or source, for the other languages. There is no straight way of lay-out. Many entries have been crossed out, meaning that they had apparently served their purpose. At the beginning (pp. 4-22), van der Tuuk may have worked from interrelated Dutch meanings, which he wrote over the page, on the topline. E.g. on p. 4: 'wandluis, kakkerlak, vlinder, glazemaker, schorpioen'. The Indonesian languages referred to are: Batak, Balinese, Madurese, Malay, Tagalog, Buginese, Alfur Minahasa, Sundanese, and others. The volume does not contain a complete system or alphabet. There seems to be no mention of the volume in any of the printed catalogues.

Several Indonesian languages, paper, 286 pp.
(1) pp. 1-185. Comparative lexicographical and etymological notes by H.N. van der Tuuk (1824-1894). The source languages is English, and the book contains a complete alphabet (above-zodiac). The target languages are numerous, and are often indicated with short abbreviations: Balinese, Tagalog, Malay, Batak, Javanese, and also French and Spanish.
(2) pp. 186-246. Etymological notes by H.N. van der Tuuk. Numerous phonological changes are documented and illustrated. From p. 247-p. 282: blanks.
(3) pp. 283-287. Grammatical and etymological notes by H.N. van der Tuuk.

¶ Catalogue T. Iskandar (1999), No. 323 (I, p. 137), mentions under Or. 3266 a copy of the Malay Hikayat Jauhar Manikam. Here Iskandar was led astray by a typesetting error in H.H. Juynboll's Catalogus (1899), p. 159, where indeed Or. 3266 is given. That should have been Or. 3366. It is remarkable that Iskandar under the present manuscript, Or. 3366 (his No. 397, I, p. 174) gives a description of the same manuscript again, with slightly different title, watermark, number of folios, etc.

Collection of materials in mostly in or concerning Batak, but also in or concerning, Malay, Acehnese, Malagasy, Sundanese, Chinese, Minangkabau, language of Enggano, and Dayak and the Polynesian languages. Dutch is a source language as well.
One of the baskets of H.N. van der Tuuk (1824-1894), containing numerous separate pieces. P. Voorhoeve, Codices Batacici (1977), pp. 102-104, describes the entire contents of the box. In that description, Voorhoeve also informs us that in 1971 he re-arranged the contents of this basket and Or. 3394, below, and that he then transferred a number of documents from this basket to the two portfolios of Or. 3394, below.

A. Printed letterproof, Suhutan ni si Jangga Mura-meru. The beginning only. Of this text Voorhoeve does not know a manuscript. Apparently van der Tuuk sent it from Barus to Holland, where it has been used by H.C. Millies (1810-1868) as a specimen for Batak type. The beginning has been printed as Spécimen des Caractères de la langue des Bataks, de l'île de Sumatra, gravés et fondus par N.Tetterode, fondeur en caractères à Rotterdam, sous la direction de Mr. H.C.Millies à Amsterdam, and then in Batak script : On ma suhutan Si Djangga Mura-meru sinuhuthon ni Guru Tinandangan halak tian Naipospos, ia na mandokkon halak patorophon di huta ni Ulonda si Pan dor Tuk, meaning: 'This is the story of Si Djangga Mura-meru, as told by Guru Tinandangan from Naipospos. The one who has made it be multiplied in Holland is Van der Tuuk.' Si Djangga Mura-meru was a seven-headed monster that lived in the Village of the Heights (Huta Pangarahisan). He got stuck with his legs in the roots of a djungdjung buhit-tree, and lamented so loudly that Batara Guru Doli in the upper world could not sleep, and sent the mandi-swallow in order to see what was going on. This listened at the complained of Si Djangga Mura-meru, promised to come back and returned to Batara Guru. Here the printed piece ends abruptly. A transliteration in Or. 12.475. Comparable are the stories summed up under OVB 187, in which the attention of the god in the upper world is drawn by drumming, and similar devices, especially No 95 G, where also a seven headed creature is mentioned. In that story it is brought to heaven by Batara Guru and transformed. (Codices Batacici, p. 127).
B. Stories in Toba-Batak, in Latin script.
(1) Small fragment, the beginning only of a story. Written by van der Tuuk in Latin script. The fragment only contains the beginning of a story in which the preparations of the marriage of Datu Tala di Baunge are treated. The latter is known from the story about the divination with a rooster (OVB 9). An excerpt in Dutch is in Or.12.475. (Codices Batacici, p. 126).
(2) 3 double folio leaves, 6 pp. In Latin script, written by van der Tuuk, containing: Creation story, belonging with OVB 1, probably recorded after oral communication. On p. 1 two failed beginnings, then a survey of the contents by van der Tuuk: 'Si nandeang sundahan dochter v.batara guru doli werd wegens onwilligheid om bij de haar gegeven man te slapen naar beneden gedaagd, en nam daar debata hasi hasi, zoon van nanggongga di portibi en werd op die wijze de stammoeder der menschen. Zij vormde de aarde die haar van boven door leang2 mandi werd gebragt. Zij kreeg zeven zoons en zeven dochters.' The Batak stories goes further from here and treats, among other things, the shackling of Naga Padoha and the origin of the *djudjungan*s of the different marga's. (Codices Batacici, p. 126).
C. Translations of Batak stories, into Dutch. The beginnings only of two Batak texts, namely Si Adji Panurat (BL I p. 55, OVB 154) and the struggle between Sobu and Sumba (OVB 247). Possibly van der Tuuk has also translated Batak texts into English, One might assume this, though not with certainty, from No.1069 in the Millies auction catalogue (Catalogue de la bibliothèque délaissée par feu M. le Dr. H.C Millies. Vente 7 mai 1870. Utrecht 1870. [752 E 16]): 'Eng.vertaling van een paar hoofdstukken uit 't Maleische werk Bostanoe-salatin en Bataksche texten. Msc. de la main de Mr.vd.Tuuk. 40 pag.' (Codices Batacici, p. 128).

D. Ethnographical descriptions. Extensive description in P. Voorhoeve, Codices Batacici, pp. 189-190.
(1) The text on Batak houses, translated from F. Junghuhn, Die Battaländer auf Sumatra (Berlin 1847 [361 F 26-27]). 10 double folio leaves, with text on 19 pp.
(2) 'Godsdienst der Battaks'. 2 double folio leaves, with information of G.s.n. (=Guru Saniangnaga?) in Barus, about gods and spirits, mainly pangulubalangs.
(3) Similar notes, 4 pp. (1 double folio leaf).
(4) 1 double folio leaf, 2 pp. Notes about parombunan and similar omens, 1 p. Of lexicographical notes and one page with notes about mythology and a short text about a visit of Si Singamangaradja to Siambaton. (Codices Batacici, p. 189).
(5) 3 double folio leaves (12 pp.)
- p. 1. Names of begu's.
- pp. 2-3. Latin script. Prescript for pagar pangam-bangi. (Codices Batacici, pp. 176-177).
- pp. 4-6. The beginning only of a story about Si Boru Haen Hadungdungan, who goes to consult Boru Sibaso Paet na mian di gubo-gubo, to find out why she is unable to have children. Latin script with many mistakes, that would point to a defective original. (Codices Batacici, pp. 127-128).
- pp. 12-9. I ma tonggo-tonggo ni martua debata dohot mortua sombaon dohot boru saniang naga dohot boru namora. In Latin script (Codices Batacici, p. 177).
(6) One leaf of thin paper, a letter from van der Tuuk, to 'Hooggeleerde Heer' about the despatch of ethnografical object in a chest with the colour of a gallow. Dated 'Baroes den 14den October 1853'. Added to this is a smaller leaf with the draft of a text about the contents of an ordinary jenever chest, 'die ligt te kennen is aan een kleur niet ongelijk aan die van een galg, meegegeven aan de heer Rosenberg.'
(7) 1 leaf of blue paper. Fragment of a list of ethnographical objects.
(8) double folio leaf. 'Lijst van Bataksche voorwerpen toebehoorende aan den Hr. H.N.v.d.Tuuk; bevonden op den zolder van het lokaal in de Warmoesstraat, 18 July 1859. Aldus bevonden in gezelschap van den Heer van der Tuuk. (Get.) Land, alg.sec.N.B.G.'
(9) 1 double folio leaf. Printer's copy for the 'Verklaring der platen' at the end of the Woordenboek, plates I – XXII,7 (which apparently was complemented later on with additional material, before publication).
(10) 1 double folio leaf. List of ethnographical objects, beginning with 'Bataksche muzijkinstrumenten'.
(11) 1 double folio leaf. 1 p. With description of copper coins, 2 pp. Deleted lexicographical notes about Dairi Batak.
(Codices Batacici, pp. 189-190).

L. Criticism. See for a more extensive description P. Voorhoeve, Codices Batacici, p. 191.
(1) Protest by van der Tuuk against the unjust punitive expedition of the Dutch against Pangaribuan in 1851. Full Dutch text edited by P. Voorhoeve: 'Ik was in 't jaar 18.. met het civiele gezag belast op een buitenpost, niet ver van een land gelegen, waar een andere taal of liever tongval gesproken werd en hoorde op eens een klagt over den roof van een veertigtal menschen door de inwoners van dat land op ons grondgebied gepleegd. De rovers waren op hun van het goevernement onafhankelijk grondgebied teruggetrokken, en te talrijk om door ons klein personeel van oppassers achterhaald te worden, zoodat ik mij tot den resident wendde, die tevens militair commandant was, en hem vroeg, wat in dezen te moeten doen, daar er op de roovers geen verhaal scheen te zijn. De resident, die gaarne expedities maakte, schreef naar ...., en ontving den last, een expeditie naar dat land te ondernemen, die eenigen tijd daarna ook plaats had, en eenige kampongs, zooals gewoonlijk, verbrandde zonder de schuldigen te treffen. Geruimen tijd daarna kwam iemand uit dat door ons getuchtigde land op ons grondgebied wegens mishandeling, zooals hij zeide, vlugten, en trad als bediende bij mij in dienst. Hij was niet lang bij mij, of ik bespeurde, dat hij in zijn land iemand geweest was, die niet onder het gemeen was te rangschikken, daar hij eenige beschaving had, en lezen en schrijven kon. Daar ik in mijn archief een verzameling had van in de taal van het land geschreven brieven, die aan mij als civiel gezaghebber gerigt waren, en die ik altijd in het Maleisch door mijn inlandschen schrijver moest laten vertalen, wilde ik de kundigheden van mijn nieuwen bediende eens beproeven, daar ik niet ongaarne nog Iemand zoude willen hebben, dien ik desnoods ook als tolk zoude kunnen gebruiken, wanneer de diensten van den in functie zijnden inlandschen schrijver elders vereischt werden. Ik liet hem een der brieven lezen hem tegelijk vragende, wat er in stond. Tot mijne verbazing meldde hij mij, dat de brief was van .... vorst van het door ons getuchtigde land, die zich bij mij als civiel gezaghebber beklaagde over een op zijn grondgebied door lieden, die onder de bescherming onzer jurisdictie stonden, gepleegden roof van menschen! Ik wist van den inhoud van dezen brief niets, en begreep toen eerst dat de menschenroof, waarvoor wij dat land getuchtigd hadden, hoogst denkelijk geen plaats zoude gehad hebben, zoo ik van de daann vervatte klagt geweten had. Ik liet den inlandschen schrijver bij mij komen, ondervroeg hem, waarom hij mij den inhoud van dien brief niet had medegedeeld, en kreeg toen van hem tot antwoord, dat hij denzelven niet had kunnen lezen, omdat het schrift zoo veel verschilde van het op ons grondgebied gebruikelijke, en niemand toen had kunnen vinden, die hem voor hem had kunnen lezen. Ik konde om zeer gewigte redenen den inlandschen schrijver niet ontslaan, en buitendien, het kalf was reeds verdronken, want de vorst van dat land had zich een tuchtiging van ons op den hals gehaald, omdat hij zich wreekte over de schending van zijn grondgebied door de onzen. Wie gelooft niet, dat er meer zulke dingen geschieden, en dat zij aan het licht zouden komen, zoo niet op vele buitenposten slechts goevernements dienaren aanwezig zijn, die zwijgen moeten. W (1). A small Malay-Acehnese vocabulary, written in Arabic script, in pencil. See also P. Voorhoeve (with T. Iskandar and M. Durie), Catalogue of Acehnese manuscripts in the Library of Leiden University and other collections outside Aceh. Leiden 1994, p. 254.

W (2). A leaf from a Malay manuscript with a theological text. Each passage in Arabic script is followed by a Latin transliteration, and by a Dutch translation, not by van der Tuuk.
W (3). Surat hitungan orang Arab dan orang Cina, the numbers in Dutch (Arabic script), in Arabic and in Chinese (in Arabic script!), written by 1st Lieutenant Muhammad Cing Saidullah, retired clerk of the General Secretariat in Batavia, February 19, 1846. See on him also P. Voorhoeve, 'A Malay scriptorium', in Malayan and Indonesian studies. Essays presented to Sir Richard Winstedt on his eighty-fifth birthday. Edited by John Bastin & R. Roolvink. Oxford 1964, pp. 256-266, esp. pp. 260 ff.

X. Sundanese text in Javanese script.
Y. Notes by van der Tuuk on the ancient literature of the Indonesian archipelago.
Z. Part of a report on Siak, 1861, not by van der Tuuk.
¶ P. Voorhoeve, Codices Batacici. Leiden 1977, has several more references to Or. 3386, in connection with manuscripts in the Leiden collection. Not all of these could, without autopsy of the material, be identified with pieces in the above division. An unspecified references is on Codices Batacici, p. 90, which concerns notes about Or. 3563.
¶ The other six exercise books in Or. 3396, below, have been transferred in 1971 from Or. 3386. (Codices Batatici, p. 198).

Or. 3387
Miscellaneous materials of the Van der Tuuk Legacy, mostly concerning the Lampong language, but also in or concerning Malay, and also notes on Rejang, Malagasy, Batak and Javanese, and letters in Sundanese.
One of the baskets of H.N. van der Tuuk (1824-1894), containing a variety of manuscripts, some in pure Lampong'ese, others (the *tetimbai*s) in a Lampongese variant of South Sumatran literary Malay. Added to the material is a handwritten list by P. Voorhoeve (1899-1997) with a description of the content of the basket. That list was used as a starting point for compiling the survey given hereunder. Many parts from the collection show a label with a number: '37'.
(a) Si Dayang Rindu. Malay-Lampong'ese stories. Book, paper, 148 pp. Transliteration of the beginning is in Or. 3391 (f), below. Some interlinear notes by Van der Tuuk.
(b) Si Dayang Rindu. Malay-Lampong'ese stories. Booklet, paper, 28 ff. Dated 1274 AH.
(c) Si Dayang Rindu. Malay-Lampong'ese stories. Booklet, paper, 36 ff., and one added page (f. 37).
(d) Anak Dalom. Malay-Lampong'ese stories. Illustrated book: Several full-page and a few part-page illustrations in black and red ink, showing illuminations, sailing ships on the water, with islands, people on the boats, also plates showing a benteng with guns, and also with horses, stables, people and plants; and showing a benteng with guns, situated on the sea shore, also with sailing ships, and people. Book, kept in a leather binding, paper, 114 ff. A transliteration of this text is Or. 3391 f, below.
(e) Anak Dalom. Malay-Lampong'ese stories. Booklet, paper, 59 pp., and two letters with Lampong'ese seals.
(f) Anak Dalom. Malay-Lampong'ese stories. At the end is a love saying. Booklet, paper, 70 ff.
(g) Anak Dalom. Malay-Lampong'ese stories. Booklet, paper, 143 pp. A note in Dutch by P. Voorhoeve, dated January 29, 1970 is on the front cover: 'This seems to be the best text, but unfortunately it is very incomplete. The following pages are lacking: 12-19, 24-27, 90-91, 98-99, 132-133, 144-end. A romanized copy is available from me.' The present whereabouts of that romanized copy are unknown to me.

(h) Title on cover: 'Soerat kontarah, darie Radja Bangoeh kampong kooeroengan nyawa afdeeling Telok Betong.' Title: Kuntara Rajaniti. Lampong'ese. Booklet, paper, 11 ff.
(i) Surat Undang. Law text. From Kroë. This manuscript is reproduced by H.N. van der Tuuk in Les manuscrits lampongs, Leiden 1868, pp. 20-25. On the cover: 'E. Handschrift uit Kroë afkomstig.'
(j) Surat Undang. Law text. Lampong script. Booklet, paper, 15 ff.
(k) Tangguh pakaian bujang gadis kalu kaundangngan. Addresses given at a feast. Lampong'ese, with short text in Arabic script at the beginning. Booklet, paper.
(l) Tangguh. Addresses given at a feast. Lampong'ese, with short text in Arabic script at the beginning. Booklet, paper.
(m) Hiwang. Lovers' complaints, in Lampong'ese. Booklet, paper, 6 ff.
(n) Hiwang. Lovers' complaints, in Lampong'ese. Booklet, paper, 10 ff.
(o) Hiwang. Lovers' complaints, in Lampong'ese. Booklet, paper, 12 ff.
(p) Hiwang. Lovers' complaints, in Lampong'ese. Booklet, paper, 11 ff.
(q) Hiwang. Lovers' complaints, in Lampong'ese. On a scroll of paper. 'Van der Tuuk 82'.
(r) Hiwang. Lovers' complaints, in Lampong'ese. On a scroll of paper. Without further indication.
(s) Hiwang. Lovers' complaints, in Lampong'ese. On a scroll of paper. Without further indication.
(t) Love songs, in Lampong'ese. Exercise book, paper, 12 ff. With notes by Van der Tuuk.
(u) Love songs, in Lampong'ese. Exercise book, paper, 24 pp. With notes by Van der Tuuk.
(v) Exercise book with notes by H.N. van der Tuuk about lexicon and grammar of the Lampong'ese language. In the beginning is a fragment in Javanese (kakawin Arjuna Wiwaha, canto 13, 14). Booklet, paper.
(w) Exercise book with notes by H.N. van der Tuuk about Middle-Malay and Rèjang. Inside the cover is a detailed table of contents by P. Voorhoeve. Paper, 60 ff.
- Transliteration by van der Tuuk of MS London, IOL, Mal. D.11 (See M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 127).
(x) A sheaf with songs, riddles, etc., in Lampong'ese. Also one sheet in Javanese script.
(y) Transliterations by H.N. van der Tuuk of Lampong'ese manuscripts on bambu or treebark. These were partly used for his Les manuscrits lampongs. Leiden 1868.
(z) Stories, a.o. Kancil stories. Paper, several different pieces, or fragments. With notes by Van der Tuuk.
(aa) Letters, reports, documents, etc., in the Lampong'ese language (also some in Dutch), with seals in Lampong'ese and Arabic scripts. One sheaf, with a great number of loose papers. Occasionally notes by Van der Tuuk can be observed. Several document bear the date 1285 AH.
(bb) Middle-Malay and/or Rèjang. One sheaf, with various papers. Divided by Voorhoeve in nine different bibliographical entities. Lampong'ese script, and occasionally also Latin scripts.
(cc) Letters in Sundanese, in Javanese script. Some with notes by Van der Tuuk. One dated 1842 and another 1262 AH.
(dd) Malay. Study notes by H.N. van der Tuuk. Various sizes.

(ee) Malagasy. Three documents, in different hands (also Van der Tuuk?), on paper of different types and sizes. Prose and poetry. One contains, a.o., copies of letters, which are dated 1863. Still to be compared with letters in Or. 3263 (c), above.
(ff) One quire with Mandailing-Batak songs by Willem Iskander, 1869. Published, in a somewhat changed way, in Si-boeloes-boeloes, Si-roemboek-roemboek, Sada boekoe basaon. Na ni soerat W. Iskander. Batavia 1872. Shortly mentioned in P. Voorhoeve, Codices Batacici (1978), pp. 104, 198. According to Voorhoeve, op. cit., p. 197, these were probably not collected by Van der Tuuk, but acquired by him pnly after his departure from Sumatra's West Coast.
(gg) Javanese, now differently registered, as Or. 3266, Miscellanea Van der Tuuk, see above.
(hh) Word list, written by H.N. van der Tuuk. From an unidentified language to Dutch. Paper, 4 ff.
(ii) Letters to and from Van der Tuuk, all in Dutch:
- From ? (a brother of Van der Tuuk?), Modjokerto, December 12, 1868, to ? (H.N. van der Tuuk). Also used by Van der Tuuk in order to write text on the blank space.
- From H.N. van der Tuuk, Lèhan, December 17, 1868 to the 'Directeur van Onderwijs en Eeredienst.' Contains a report of Van der Tuuk's fieldwork in the Lampongs.
- From Departement van Onderwijs, Eeredienst en Nijverheid, No. 100092, Batavia, November 29, 1869 to H.N. van der Tuuk, concerning the Lampong script. Also used by Van der Tuuk in order to write text on the blank space.
See also P. Voorhoeve, 'Indonesische handschriften' (1952), p. 215, under Lampong.
[* Lont. 101]

Or. 3388
Malay, Javanese, Rejang (?), Arabic, Sundanese?, Balinese?, paper, sheaves of letters and documents.
One of the baskets of H.N. van der Tuuk (1824-1894). The basket mostly contain letters of great linguistic and regional variety. To judge from officially written remarks on many of the letters, these were acquired through one or more East-Indian postoffices, where they were kept as undeliverable. The sheaves do not reveal how these documents eventually came into the possession of van der Tuuk, but it would be possible that he received them, or requested them, from the Dutch East Indian postal service, which had stored them as undeliverable. All letters of this origin bear postmarks dated in 1872.
Apparently someone has been ordering the materials and put them in different sheaves. This ordering was not completed, neither between the sheaves, nor within them. In the following the documents have been described in the order as they were found. A definitive ordering must be undertaken at a later stage.
A. Collection of 44 letters (including 2 in Arabic and 2 (?) in Javanese in Arabic script). Some of the letters carry a number, possibly because they were sent as registered letters. There is no apparent order, and the letters have been enumerated below, as they were found in the sheaf.

Ba. Collection of three Malay letters from Raja Ali Haji (1809-c. 1872), a relative of the ruler of Riau, to the Dutch official, of German extraction, Hermann von de Wall (1807-1873). See the edition by Al Azhar & Jan van der Putten, 'Four Malay letters from Raja Ali Haji to von de Wall', in BKI 148 (1992), pp. 521-528. Nos. 2 and 4 of the collection are also mentioned by Annabel Teh Gallop, The legacy of the Malay letter. London 1994, p. 172, and were included by her in the Malay Concordance Project, as indicated hereunder. These four letters come from sheaf B in Or. 3388. There are more letters in Or. 3388 B, which are now kept separately, in what hereunder is referred to as Sheaf Bb. The fourth letter edited by van der Putten and Azhar as No. 1, dated Rabiulakhir 1275 (November-December 1858), is not kept in this sheaf, but in sheaf Bb, below. Its attribution to Raja Ali is assumed authentic by van der Putten and Azhar.
(1) One folded leaf, text on one side. Dated Rabiulakhir 1275 (November-December 1858.
(2) Letter from Raja Ali (signature) to Tuan von de Wall. Dated 17 Safar 1287 (May 19, 1870). One folded leaf, text on one page.

D. Collection of 20 letters (15 Malay and 5 Javanese). A collection of very fragile materials. Some leaves have been numbered in pencil or contain numbers otherwise. All pieces are lithograph copies, which have been used by a student of Malay and Javanese, in order to learn to understand these documents. One of these could easily be traced back to a model in the Leiden collection. Most documents contain interlinear and marginal study notes in pencil. In addition there notes by that student containing tentative transliterations of documents numbers No. 1 and No. 14 (4 sheets, with texts in pencil on both sides). The lithographic process does not make perfect copies, and most of the texts are difficult to read. Because they are of such elementary nature, it seems unlikely that the numerous study notes are in the hand of van der Tuuk, unless they date from a very early stage of his study of Malay.
(2) Malay. Letter from Tungku Besar ... (?) to/from (?) Riau. Dated Friday 19 Jumadilawal 1246. Motto: Ya Nur al-Shams wal-Qamar.
(3) Malay. Letter. Numerous pencil notes.

(4) Malay. Letter from Sultan Abduljalil Jalaludin of Siak to the Tuan Commandeur in Bandar Pariaman, dated 22 Ramadan 1248 (February 12, 1833). The original of this lithograph copy is probably Or. 2242 IV (7), See Wieringa, Catalogue 1 (1998), p. 423. Motto: Wal-Shams wal-Qamar. Black seal print: Al-Mansur billah al-Sultan Abduljalil Jalaludin Sibt al-Sultan Abduljalil Saifudin ibn Mawlana al-Habib Marhum Sultan Osman bin al-Shaikh `Ali Ba `Alawi. Sanat 1242. Also text in the cirkle surrounding the main text of the seal. Numerous pencil notes.
(5) Javanese. Dated 2.?.1840. One sheet, text on one side.
(5) Javanese.
(6) Javanese. Dated 16.?.1840. One sheet, text on one side.

E. Collection of 70 Malay (and a few Arabic) letters. In the present collection it can be seen, as in the collections described hereafter, that van der Tuuk apparently could have refused and non-deliverable letters at his disposal. He may have collected these as they constitute interesting linguistic specimens. It would seem that van der Tuuk could acquire these letters in the middle of 1872.

U. Balinese. Collection of five letters or documents in Balinese Javanese script, one dated in pencil by van der Tuuk (?) 1891. One the reverse of one of the documents notes by van der Tuuk. They are letters by informants to van der Tuuk. See H.I.R. Hinzler, Catalogue of Balinese Manuscripts, volume 2. Descriptions of the Balinese drawings from the van der Tuuk collection (Leiden 1986), p. 13.

V. Collection of 68 letters in Javanese script, on different sizes of paper, written by a great number of senders. The period of writing of the letters ranges between 1836 and 1878, but the majority dates from 1877-1878. In the following, more detailed list, the letters in the present sheaf are referred to by the numbers that have been written by someone (=?) on the letters. In this sheaf we find from this number series Nos. 28, 30-38, 47-52, 112-121, and one unnumbered (after No. 121). Several of the senders are also mentioned in the next-following sheaf (W).
No. 28. 1 sheet, 2 pp. of text. Dated 25.?.1877. With coloured paste-on.
No. 30. 1 sheet, 1 p. of text, and address.
No. 31. 1 sheet, 1 p. of text. Dated 8.?.1876.
No. 32. 1 sheet, 1 p. of text. Dated 31.1.1878.
No. 33. 1 sheet, 1 p. of text, and address text. Dated 23.3.1878. Signed by Muswahido (?).
No. 34. 1 sheet, 1 p. of text. Signed by Hariaman.

No. 35. 1 sheet, 2 pp. of text. Dated 12.?.1877. A note in Latin script indicates the addressee: Mas Soemodipoero, mantri cepir in Buleleng, for Radhen Mangoendiriyo and Radhen Adiwirio.
No. 36. 1 sheet, 1 p. of text.
No. 37. 1 sheet, 2 pp. of text. Dated 29.7.1878.
No. 38. 1 sheet, 1 p. of text. Dated 27.7.1878. Signed by Adi ... (?)
No. 47. 1 sheet, 2 pp. of text. Dated 28.?.1878, signed by A.M. Hamidjaio (?).
No. 48. 1 sheet, 1 p. of text. Not dated, signed by Soemora.
No. 49. 1 sheet, 1 p. of text. On the reverse a note in Latin script, dated 8.1.1878, signed by Soemadhi, in which the clerk, Pa Soekarno, is mentioned.
No. 50. 1 sheet, 2 pp. of text probably the same text twice, once in Javanese and once in Latin script). Dated Banyuwangi, July 14, 1877, signed by Adi... (?).
No. 51. 1 sheet, 1 p. of text. Dated 20.?.1877, signed by Soemadhi.
No. 52. 1 sheet, 1 p. of text. Signed by Soemodhiwirio.
Nos. 112-121, sewn together. A collection of ten originally numbered documents (presents order Nos. 53, 55, 51, 58, 59, 61, 62, 65, 66, 68) or letters, dated on different dates in 1863. The documents look like copies from an official archive. All comprise one page of text and are signed by the same person.
Unnumbered sheet, with 4 pp. of text, dated 21.?.1836 (AJ?)
W. Collection of 68 letters in Javanese script, on different sizes of paper, written by a great number of senders. The period of writing of the letters ranges between 1849 and 1878, but the majority dates from 1877-1878. In the following, more detailed list, the letters in the present sheaf are referred to by the numbers that have been written by someone (=?) on the letters. In this sheaf we find from this number series Nos. 39-42, 44-46, 53-110, further No. 62 bis, and also two unnumbered letters (after Nos. 67 and 110), . Several letters were undeliverable and were apparently collected by van der Tuuk, who may have had an arrangement with the postmaster in Buleleng to have these letters as linguistic specimens. A considerable number of the letters, mostly from 1878, but some also from 1877, is directed to a Raden Haji Umar, with as his address the house of the prison warden (a euphemism for the prison itself?) in Buleleng, Bali. A frequent sender to Haji Umar is A.M. Hamidjaio (?). Some of the senders are also mentioned in the preceding sheaf (V).
No. 39. 1 sheet, 4 pp. of text. Dated 21 ?? 1878.
No. 40. 1 sheet, 2 pp. of text. Dated 28.2.1878.

[* Lont. 102]

Or. 3389
Javanese, also Latin, Sanskrit, Dutch, paper, also photographs, and an Abklatsch.

One of the baskets of H.N. van der Tuuk (1824-1894), containing diverse materials of mainly Javanese epigraphic interest. There are also some drawings of antiquities. See for an extensive description of the contents of the basket also H.H. Juynboll, Supplement op den Catalogus van de Javaansche en Madoereesche Handschriften der Leidsche Universiteits-Bibliotheek. Deel I. Madoereesche handschriften, Oudjavaansche inscripties en Oud- en Middeljavaansche gedichten. Leiden 1907, No. 200, pp. 107-112, which has been used for the present description. Note that Juynboll erroneously mentions Or. 4717 (2) as the class-mark of the present number. Strangely enough, the number is not treated by Pigeaud. Not in Pigeaud II.
The basket contains:
(a) Sheaf, 23 sheets, with specimens of different alphabets, mostly older Javanese scripts. Also with comparative tables. Several of these may be in the hand of van der Tuuk, but others are certainly not written by him. A few of these contains the alphabet employed in the inscriptions on a stone and the statue Joko Dolog in Simpang, near Surabaya. Another sheet is written and signed by A.D. Cornets de Groot (1804-1829). Another sheet gives the alphabet employed in the inscription of Malang. Another sheet is signed 'Poespowielogo van ampèl'. Another sheet contains the two alphabets, of Ugran or Abong, and of Pasisir.
(b) One folded sheet, text (in van der Tuuk's hand?) on one side. (1) Two old Javanese alphabets, (2) Copy of an inscription on a gender in the possession of Mr. Rothenbühler in Surabaya, with transliteration in New Javanese script (3) Copy of an inscription on a stone in the garden of Mr. Hogendorp in Surabaya, with transliteration in New Javanese script. The latter is the longer legend of the Manjusri statue, the former was hitherto unknown, and its reading remains uncertain. The Manjusri statue is in the Museum für Völkerkunde in Berlin. Copies are in Leiden (National Museum of Ethnology (Serie 1403, No. 3191) and in Jakarta, Museum of the former BG. See also on the Manjusri statue R.H.Th. Friederich in ZDMG 18 (??), p. 494, and H. Kern in Notulen BG 18 (1880), p. 106.
(c) 2 folded sheets, text on one side of each. Copy of both legends on the Manjusri statue, with Javanese translation, marked No. 1 and No. 2 respectively, and signed 'Sumanap'.
(d) One sheet, text on one side. Copy on the longer legend on the Manjusri statue, with quasi transliteration in Latin script.
(e) 3 folded sheets (of 4 sheets, originally, but one must have been lost, which is already stated by Juynboll in 1907). Copy of the longer legend on the Manjusri statue, with quasi transliteration in Latin script, and a note (in Dutch), written and signed by J.F.C. Gericke (1798-1857), dated Surakarta, January 14, 1830, marked 'Brieven van vreemden N 140.' Gericke's note has the following subtitles: 'Het Schrift', 'De Uitspraak', 'De Meening', 'Aanmerkingen'.
(f) One folded sheet, text on one side. Copy of the inscription in Ceta, made by C.J. van der Vlis, Proeve eener beschrijving en verklaring der oudheden en opschriften op Soekoeh en Tjetto. Batavia 1843. (Verhandelingen van het Bataviaasch Genootschap van Kunsten en Wetenschappen, vol. 19), No. 2, with Javanese transliteration and translation.
(g) 2 folded sheets, text on one side of each sheet. Copy of the legends on the Manjusri statue, with Javanese translation (by van der Tuuk?). See also Or. 3389 (b-e), above.

(h) One folded sheet, text on 1 page. Copy of an inscription found in Sungkuh, containing: (1) part of the text in Nagari script, (2) inscription in Old Javanese, the same as in Th.S. Raffles, History of Java, 1st ed., I, 368; 2nd ed., Atlas, plate 23 (with reference to vol. I, p. 413), and (3) an inscription, hitherto unknown.
(i) 7 and 4 sheets. Copies of prasasti's, as published by A.B. Cohen Stuart, Kawi oorkonden in facsimile. Leiden 1875, No. xxx, after a copy in Or. 2180, above, with the Javanese translation. First the charter, referred to by J. Brandes as B (see Notulen BG 24 (1886), pp. 141 ff. (7 sheets), and secondly, the partially preserved charter, referred to by Brandes, ibid., as A (4 sheets).
(k) One folded sheet, text on both sides, and a drawing. Copy of the (Sanskrit) inscription on the Jaka Dolog in Surabaya, with a drawing of the statue. See TITLV 22, p. 394, note 1.
(l) Booklet, 44 pp., cover of treebark paper (dluang). Copy of the inscription on the stone, formerly in Simpang, now in the Museum BG, No. 16. At the end the same three inscription as in the next item.
(m) Booklet, 48 pp. 'Inscriptie op eenen overeindstaanden steen, te Simpang bij Soerabaija aanwezig, zijnde afkomstig van Modjopait'. With numerous interlinear notes in pencil, by van der Tuuk. On the last page: 'Inscriptien op oude steenen bakken, aanwezig ten huize van den Regent van Soerabaija, Raden adipati kromo Djojo adi Negara. 1828'. Copy of the inscription of the stone that formerly was in Simpang, and then was transferred to the Museum of the BG (No. 16). See also the preceding item.
(n) 8 strips. Copy of the plates of Kendal, prasasti of 851 saka, copied on strips by (?) K.F. Holle, saying '1858 door middel v. Struben adm. Kali wungu Ottenhof | aan Prins Hendrik | Temanggung'.
(o) One sheet, text on one side. Copy of the inscription of Prambanan, as published by A.B. Cohen Stuart, Kawi oorkonden in facsimile. Leiden 1875, No. xxiii. Probably made by van Limburg Brouwer(= P.A.S. van Limburg Brouwer, 1829-1873?).
(p) One sheet, text on one side. Copy of an inscription of a stone pilar (with drawing). Now Museum BG No. 46. Text almost complete (damaged at the lower part).
(q) One sheet, text on one side. Blind print of the hana-sina inscription of the Dieng. Van der Tuuk wrote: 'afdruk steen te Dieng (v. Hengel, Bandjarnagara, 9 Maart 1885' (or 1883?). Later on, the blind print was provided with ink, in a rather irregular way.
(r) One sheet, text on one side, with a smaller sheet. Copy of the legends on both plates of Pasindar. See TITLV 25, pp. 462-465. In Javanese and in Latin scripts.
(s) One sheet, text on one side. Gouache of a stone with inscription of the Dieng. Apparently the right half only of a double page image.
(t) One folded sheet, text on one page. Faulty copy (in pencil) of the inscription in the cave of Sangsit, with the year 933. See Notulen BG 33 (1895), p. 23.
(u) 2 strips. Blind print of the copper plate in the Museum BG as published by K.F. Holle in Verhandelingen BG 39, No. II. The original plate originates from the residency Kedu. Later on, the blind print was provided with ink.
(v) One sheet and 2 strips. Copy of the front and the two sides of the inscription on the stone of Plumbangan, dated 1062 saka. With notes by van der Tuuk.

(w) 2 folded sheets, text on 5 pages. Romanized copy of the prasasti on copper plate of Kendal (see also Or. 3389 (n), above). See also the next item. Juynboll refers to this item as Or. 3389 (x).
(x) 2 folded sheets, 8 pages of text. Copy of the prasasti on copper plates of Kendal, see Or. 3389 (n), above, and also the preceding item. Made under the supervision of K.F. Holle in two copies, one of which was apparently sent to the BG, 14/4 - 74 - II. Juynboll refers to this item as Or. 3389 (w).
(y) One large sheet, text on both sides. Romanized copy by A.B. Cohen Stuart of the inscription on the Minto stone. See for photographs of the stone Or. 3389 (nn), below.
(z) 2 double sheets (one for the frontside, one for the reverse), text on one side of each set of doubles. Copy of the romanized copy by J. Brandes (1857-1905) of the inscription of the stone of Plumbangan of saka 1062.

Or. 3390

Collection of drawings and paintings, commissioned by H.N. van der Tuuk (1824-1894) from Balinese artists, when working on his Kawi-Balineesch-Nederlandsch woordenboek (Batavia, 1897-1912). It is evident that the drawings were intended by van der Tuuk as illustrations to the Woordenboek. However, the author died before the text was seen through the press and the Woordenboek was eventually published by J. Brandes and D.A. Rinkes, without the plates, despite the numerous references to plates in the text. Originally the collection was kept in one of the baskets (Lont. 104) of van der Tuuk, but presently it is kept in a specially assigned cupboard with drawers, situated on the first floor under the staircase in the Library's strongroom.

The earliest full description of the collection of drawings is given by H.H. Juynboll, Supplement op den Catalogus van de Javaansche en Madoereesche Handschriften der Leidsche Universiteits-Bibliotheek. Deel II. Nieuwjavaansche gedichten en Oud-, Middel- en Nieuw-Javaansche prozageschriften. Leiden 1911, pp. 474-485. The serial numbers given by Juynboll in his description (Nos. 1-307) are retained till today.
The collection has been the object of a detailed study by H.I.R. Hinzler, Catalogue of Balinese manuscripts in the Library of the University of Leiden and other collections in The Netherlands. Part 1 (Leiden 1987) of that work contains reproductions, mostly in black-and-white, of the drawings in the van der Tuuk collection, and volume 2 (Leiden 1986) contains the descriptions of the drawings, together with a history of the collection, an attempt at identification of the artists and a description of the drawing materials, styles and techniques. Hinzler has also made an attempt at identifying remarks by van de Tuuk in his Woordenboek to the drawings. Hereunder will be given the titles of the drawings, as taken from the Hinzler catalogue, with reference to that catalogue. A few drawings from the same series were acquired by the Leiden library in the course 1982. These are now registered as Or. 17.994, below. These, too, are extensively treated in Hinzler's catalogue.

Or. 3391
Lampong materials of H.N. van der Tuuk (1824-1894).
One portfolio containing 9 sheaves, marked (a) till (i). Added is a summary list indicating the contents, written by P. Voorhoeve (1899-1996).
(a) Paper, 78 ff. Dutch-Malay-Rejang glossary by E.A. van Vloten (1803-1878), whose name is written on the first page. See Notulen KBG X, 150 and XI, 69. See also P. Voorhoeve, 'Indonesische handschriften' (1952), p. 217. Each page has four columns: Dutch, Malay in Arabic script, Rejang in Rejang script, Rejang in Latin script. At the end (ff. 75b-76a) is a list of the Rejang alphabet entitled 'Peladjaran Soerat Hoeroep tjara Redjang dan Lebong, dan Sarawij. Ampat Lawang dan Pasmah', dated 'Termaktoeb di Kepahiang pada 22 Januarij 1873'. On the covers some notes by van der Tuuk.
(b) Paper, 79 ff. Complete copy in loose leaves of H.N. van der Tuuk, Les manuscrits Lampongs, en possession de M. le Baron Sloet van de Beele, (ancien Gouverneur-General des Indes Neerlandaises). Leiden 1868. With numerous marginal and interlinear notes by van der Tuuk. See for an another annotated copy: Leiden 829 A 1. See P. Voorhoeve, 'Indonesische handschriften' (1952), p. 215. Added: uncut offprint of Verbeteringen behoorende bij en te plaatsen achter de Verzameling Lampongsche teksten, getranscribeerd onder toezicht van O.L. Helfrich, which is an addition to Helfrich's Verzameling Lampongsche teksten. Batavia 1891 (Verhandelingen van het Bataviaasch Genootschap van Kunsten en Wetenschappen, vol. 45 (1891), pt. 5).
(c) Paper, 6 ff. Notes by H.N. van der Tuuk concerning the Lampong phonology.
(d) Paper, 6 ff. Bandung (lover's complaint) in Lampong script. Apparently copied from an original dated 19 Muharram 1286. On the cover in the hand of P. Voorhoeve: Full title: Sidji surat bandung gelarni bandungni muli rik maranai. "Tjerita gadis sama boedjang dari Semangka". Voorhoeve also gives transcriptions of the beginning: Adjo surat kukarang njal ngambiti dajak pasalni katuvankani (?) temang lagidiku, and of the final paragraph: Gelarni bandung sidji bandung sebik sebikni maranai djama muli ulih muli sina demon ngaladjukon maranai bagawoh demon ki makai pakakasni maranai ki tjawani kapo pu, betik betik djama maranai sina djadi maranai sina panjanani muli sina hak demon ja kapo batik kadar tjawani maranai takanna radu puput di Telug Betung tanggalni bulan 19 suva belasni bulan Muharam 1286. On the first page is a transliteration of a bandung written on bambu, on the last page are two bandung's from Bumi Ayung in transliteration. Also some domestic notes by van der Tuuk, dated July 1869.

(e) Paper, 38 ff., as in an Arabic manuscript. Anak Dalom. A text in South Sumatrn literary Malay, in Lampong script. On a separate, modern, top sheet, P. Voorhoeve has written in pencil (in Dutch): 'This text has been transliterated by me, but that proved to be such a terrible job that I doubt whether I will ever make a neat typewritten copy of it. The transliteration may be borrowed from me and will probably be deposited in the University library after my death. P. Voorhoeve.'
(f) Paper, 36 pp. Anak Dalom. A text in South Sumatran literary Malay, in Latin transliteration by van der Tuuk, made after Or. 3387 (d), above. On p. 23 is (upside-down) a transliteration of the beginning of Or. 3387 (a), above, Si Dayang Rindu, Malay-Lampong'ese stories.
(g) Paper, 24 pp. Si Dayang Rindu. Malay-Lampong'ese stories. In Latin script, in van der Tuuk's handwriting. A text from Sukadana, sie H.N. van der Tuuk, Brieven betreffende het Lampongsch, in ??, p. 30.
(h) Paper, 29 pp. Van der Tuuk's corrected draft (pp. 7-27), and a neat copy (pp. 1-8) of a comparative (three columns) glossary of the Lampong dialects from Abung and Teluk Betung, with the meaning in Dutch. The drafted has 370 counted entries. On p. 29 is a short comparative glossary of three dialects, without the meaning in Dutch. Only the neat copy is not in van der Tuuk's hand, though it bears his notes in pencil.
(i) Paper of several sizes, ?? ff. Notes, mostly of lexicographical nature of the Lampong'ese language, partly in the shape of a diary. Mostly in van der Tuuk's hand. Some drawings (of krisses). Also a proofpage with text in Lampong, printed in photolithography. Also a list dated Demang, August 18, 1868, with heading: Hadat orang Lampong njang moesti die pakie Sekarang. Also a booklet, with the heading: Lampongsche Districten, containing an alphabetically arranged list, and some other notes. Also a letter by A.B. Cohen Stuart (1825-1876) to van der Tuuk, dated Batavia 19/11 <18>68, 3 pages of text, beginning: 'Amice! Met deelneming zag ik uit Uwe anders zeer aangename lettr. V. 1 dezer, hoe de gevolgen v. Al te intieme omgang met het inl. Element ditml. Niet alleen uwe gezondhd, maar ook uwe taalstudie zijn opgebroken; maar gij zijt "ouwerot", en zult het ook ditml, hp ik, wel spdg te boven komen. ...' The 4th page contains lexicographical notes by van der Tuuk. Also 1 sheet with: 'Nota van gewenschte planten, uit de Lampongsche Districten, voor 's Lands plantentuin te Buitenzorg.' Dated: Buitenzorg 20 April 1868 and signed: J.E. Teijsmann, the same who had, in 1866, published a catalogue of the Plantentuin. After the list of names of desired plants, Teijsmann gives further instructions: 'Versche doch goed rijpe vruchten, ieder afzonderlijk in bamboekokers, met zand, goed digt gesloten, zijn het gemakkelijkst ter verzending! Van anderen kunnen de vruchten of zaden droog in papier verzonden worden. Bij gebreke van vruchten zijn jonge kleine plantjes te prefereren, die met een kluitje uitgegraven, in geneverkisten geplant het beste ... (?) overkomen. Een en ander van nummers te voorzien, die op de lijst der inlandsche namen terugwijzen.' Also, a similar note, by the same, now for animals: 'Nota van dieren voorkomende in de Lampongsche districten, die gewenscht worden.' Also an official note on behalf of the resident of the Lampong Districts, dated Telok Betong, November 27, 1868, from which can be understood that van der Tuuk is given several Lampong manuscripts on treebark, bambu and nipa palmleaf. Also an official permit to the Batavian firm H.M. van Dorp for the dutyfree delivery of writing materials to H.N. van der Tuuk in Telok Betong., dated October 6, 1868. Also van der Tuuk's diary of his trip to the Lampong Districts, beginning August 25, 1868, from Batavia, not much prose, but mostly wordlists, and a few drawings. Also a letter from K.F. Holle (1829-1896) to van der Tuuk on Sundanese script. It would seem that the above letters have been preserved by van der Tuuk as writing material, as partly blank paper, for all his notes, and not specifically for their content.

Lampong, Malay, Dutch, paper, 69 ff.
Lampong dictionary by H.N. van der Tuuk (1824-1894). Meanings in Malay (Arabic and Latin scripts) and Dutch. The full alphabet is covered. Apparently a draft copy, as much space has been left open for insertion of new words.
[* Mal. 749a]

Or. 3392 b
Lampong, Malay, Dutch, paper 558 pp.
Lampong-Dutch dictionary by H.N. van der Tuuk (1824-1894). The text of the dictionary is preceded by several pages with shorter pieces, in Lampong (?), in prose and poetry. The dictionary proper starts at p. 10 and ends on p. 524. At the end several shorter pieces in prose and poetry as well, some with drawings of krisses, and also some inserted loose leaves. The book is apparently in a much further stage of completion than Or. 3392a, above.
The dictionary has been been consulted by P. Voorhoeve (1899-1996) in the 'Kantoor voor de Volkslectuur' in Batavia, between April 1932-October 1933. There may have been plans to publish the text, but this seems not to have happened. New plans to do this must have been made after the war, as the manuscript was given on November 29, 1949, to Mr. J. Soegiarto in order to make a typewritten copy, with several carbon copies, of it.

Added, in a separate sheaf, is a typewritten copy by J. Soegiarto, consisting of 69 pp. of carbon copy. The typescript covers the words a-dasor, corresponding to pp. 10-107 of Or. 3392b. The plans to publish the Dictionary neem seem to have materialized.

According to the 'Journaal' of the Legatum Warnerianum, p. 68, under this number there were three boxes, containing 28 (Balinese) wayang puppets, apparently collected by H.N. van der Tuuk (1824-1894). In a note in the handwriting of P. Voorhoeve, who was curator of Oriental collections in the Leiden library from 1946-1959, these puppets were transferred to the National Museum of Ethnography in Leiden, on the basis of a decree of the Minister of Education, No. 23.772, dated December 2, 1946.
Presently, these 28 puppets are registered in the Museum as series 2601 Nos. 1-28, after they had been registered in the Museum as a loan (B 31) in the course of 1937. Apparently the ministerial decree confirmed and perpetuated an existing situation. This information was kindly supplied on June 6, 2000, by Dr. Pieter ter Keurs, curator of the Indonesian collection in the Museum.

Or. 3394 - Or. 3576
Legacy of H.N. van der Tuuk (1824-1894). Registered in the Library in 1896.
Part 2: Batak manuscripts, on paper, bambu and tree bark.
- Or. 3394-Or. 3422. Batak manuscripts on paper.
- Or. 3423-Or. 3576. Batak manuscripts on treebark. Or. 6900, below, is also a pustaha from the van der Tuuk collection.

For the description of the Batak collection an almost integral translation of the 'Gids voor gebruikers van de Batakse handschriften in de Leidse Universiteitsbibliotheek' by P. Voorhoeve and M.T. Mostert-Silitonga, as this is incorporated in P. Voorhoeve's Codices Batacici (Leiden 1977, pp. 7-306) is given. The 'Gids' was entirely scanned, and the often lengthy quotations of Batak texts in the present inventory are the result of the scanning. The abbreviation OVB refers to P. Voorhoeve, Overzicht van de Volksverhalen der Bataks. Vlissingen 1927. This work is fully incorporated in Voorhoeve's Codices Batacici (pp. 307-505). The information of OVB is not incorporated in the following list. Whenever Voorhoeve speaks in the 1st person, this has been changed in the English translation into the third person.

Or. 3394-Or. 3422.
Batak manuscripts on paper.
The main part of this collection consists of the Batak texts that have been written on paper of small-folio size, that had been supplied by van der Tuuk. Most texts have been written by Batak teachers, informants and helpers, some texts have been written by van der Tuuk himself. Already in Barus, van der Tuuk had made bundles from these papers, that are all separately paginated, and that were later bound, in the Netherlands. There are 25 of these bundles: Or. 3398 – Or. 3422. A. Teeuw, in his introduction to the English translation of van der Tuuk's Tobasche Spraakkunst (A grammar of Toba Batak. The Hague 1971), wrongly says that there 20 such bundles. (Also the number of treebark manuscripts as given by Teeuw is wrong, it should be 154 in stead of 151.) At the beginning of each volume van der Tuuk has written a summary table of contents. A slightly more extensive survey of the contents of vols. I-IX (now Or. 3398-3406) is among the loose pieces on paper, now kept in Or. 3386 (i). Whatever has been quoted here (in the 'Gids' and in the present inventory), mostly in Dutch, of these 9 bundles, has been taken from this slightly more extensive survey of contents. Apart from these 25 folio volumes there are loose pieces in Batak. These are: Or.3257b, Or. 3259b, Or. 3386a-z, Or. 3387ff, Or. 3394a-y and Or. 3395 – Or. 3397.

The majority of the texts written on paper consists of the popular stories. Of these Voorhoeve has made a survey in his thesis Overzicht van de volksverhalen der Bataks. Vlissingen 1927 (hereafter abbreviated as OVB). Of only nine stories there is a more or less extensive summary of the content, for the other stories the content has been referred to in a few sentences only. Voorhoeve had made extensive surveys of the contents of all stories, but these have been lost during the war, except the summaries of the Eulenspiegel stories. Voorhoeve had given a copy of these to Mrs. M.Coster-Wijsman, who used them for her thesis Uilespiegel-verhalen in Indonesië in het biezonder in de Soendalanden. Santpoort 1929. After the war Voorhoeve received these back from her. They are now incorporated in Or. 12.475. Some of Voorhoeve's summaries have been somewhat edited and thus published in the 2nd volume of the work of J.de Vries, Volksverhalen uit Oost-Indië. Zutphen 1925-1928. (Codices Batacici, pp. 101-102).

Or. 3394
Batak, paper, two portfolios with a great number of texts, all in Batak script, except Or. 3394 (y).
Collective volume with texts in Batak.
¶ P. Voorhoeve has, in the course of 1971, rearranged this number in combination with materials found in Or. 3386, above, which is one of the so-called baskets of H.N. van der Tuuk (1824-1894), containing numerous separate pieces. P. Voorhoeve, in Codices Batacici (1977), pp. 102-104, describes the entire contents of the box. In that description, Voorhoeve also informs us that he rearranged the contents of this basket and Or. 3394, below, and that he then transferred a number of documents from this basket to the two portfolios of Or. 3394.
P. Voorhoeve, Codices Batacici, pp. 104-105 contains a survey of the contents (here translated).
Or. 3394 a-o. Copies of pustaha's
(a 1) pp.1-23. Copy of MS Amsterdam (KIT) A 4152d (see Codices Batacici, p. 100).
(a 2) pp.24-27 Copy of the beginning of a manuscript which van der Tuuk had borrowed from Naipospos. A complete copy is Or. 3404, below, p.125-149.
(b) 8 pp. Wrongly sewn together, but with continuous text. Copy of a pustaha, which is not in van der Tuuk's collection. See Or. 12.322, ff. 666-667. The pupil for whom the original was written is called Guru Badjora ni adji. The title is Poda ni tambar si mangalo(m)poi, about a medicine, a.o. against lepra, with mention of is preparation, applications and of the incantation formulas (tabas). The chain of transmission is on p.

4. (Codices Batatici, pp. 169-170).
(c) 23 pp. Copy of Or. 3564, below.
(d 1) pp. 1-8. Copy of Or.3520, below.
(d 2) pp. 9-18. Copy of Or. 3485, below.
(e 1) pp. 1-20. Copy of Or. 3566, below.
(e 2) pp. 20-37. Copy of Or. 3394 (n 3), below. See also Or. 12.322, ff. 667-672. Or. 3394 (e 2) is probably a copy of Or.3394 (n 3). It is a copy of a pustaha, borrowed by van der Tuuk from Guru Mangalagat in Baringin, region Rambe. He, as well as his younger brother, Guru Mangatup ni adji are mentioned as teachers in the chain of transmission. Their father was Guru Partahal, their teacher Guru Bisara ni adji. The pustaha was written by Guru Tuhason from Huta Gindjang. The first part concerns manuk gantung, divination by means of a chicken, cut open. Then follows the enumeration of the todoan (what is destined for a ghost) for si Adji Mamis, Bisnu, Sori, Hala, Borma and some more ghosts. Then follows text about pangurason, ritual purification, and pagar si lali piuan, a means of protection. Further divination with moments in time and orientations, and pane na bolon, with a few drawings, not well copied. (Codices Batatici, pp. 168-169).

(g 10) pp. 71-80. Copy of Or.3480, below.
(h) 27 pp. See Or. 12.322 ff. 782-784. Copy of a pustaha, belonging to Guru Mangalagat of Baringin. Subject matter: gorak-gorahan ni manuk, divination with signs perceived in the inside of a chicken. The pupil addressed to Guru Mandihal ni adji. His teacher was Guru Partahal ni adji, who is, as becomes clear from Or.3394 (n 3) p.27-45, the father of Guru Mangalagat. The text almost entirely consists of a list of signs. The copy is rather sloppy, e.g. instead of Mandihal, once Mandjingkang is given. (Codices Batatici, p. 169).
(i) 55 pp. Copy of Or.3429, below.
(j) 4 pp. See Or. 12.322, f. 785. Notes about tabas. Magical drawings, some with their names added, by H.N. van der Tuuk (1824-1894), and the names of the 30 days, to be used as tabas. (Codices Batatici, p. 183).

(l 4) pp. 8-13. Copy of Or. 3478, below.
(l 5) pp. 14-34. Copy of Or. 3479 and Or. 3488, below, which form in fact one manuscript.
(m) 24 pp. Copy of Or. 3548, below, from the beginning till approximately b 19.
(n 1) pp. 1-16. Copy of a manuscript of Guru Mangalagat of Baringin, region Rambe. See Or. 12.322, ff. 786-790. Parmanuhon adji nangka piring, with, by way of introduction, the story about the gold in the fish, as in OVB 9, and a chain of transmission from Datu Tala di Babana to Guru Portahal ni adji, who, as appears from another piece, was the father of Guru Mangalagat. The original, of which the present MS is a copy, was written by Guru Mamerper ni adji. On p. 5, there is an enumeration of sacrificial animals for the hasea na pitu. But in fact the usual parmanuhon text, which, on p. 5, is interrupted by a short text, entitled Poda ni sirusa-rusa ni pamuhu tanduk debata na helung. The last part of the text (p.14-16) concerns pangarambui. (Codices Batatici, p. 168).
(n 2) pp. 16-27. Copy of a manuscript of Guru Mangalagat of Baringin, region Rambe. See also Or. 12.322, ff. 791-793 and Or. 12.475. The original was written by Guru Mamerper ni adji for Guru Portahal ni adji, the father of Guru Mangalagat. The first part (till p. 20) treats pagar. On p. 21 the text mentions an adji (magical ?) and on p. 22 begins a text about pangulubalang si suda uhur. The manuscript is in loose quires and van der Tuuk's pagination is continuous. Yet it seems probable that between pp. 20-21 there is something missing. On p. 24 mention is made of pabalik bangke. This seems to be a ceremony that one should perform when one has lost a warrior in battle. See also MS Kopenhagen (manuscript M under BAT. 5). (Codices Batatici, p. 168).
(n 3) pp. 27-45. Copy of a manuscript of Guru Mangalagat. Or. 3394 (e 2) is a copy of this one. Full description of the contents under Or. 3394 (e 2).
(n 4) pp. 45-55. Copy of Or.3539, below. A very bad copy.

(p) Small fragment of Si Adji Marimbulu Bosi. See OVB 119f.
(q) Si Hadji Kontjang-kantjing. OVB 229a.
(r) Fragments of Dairi Batak stories. The originals, but not anymore entirely complete, of three stories that have been transcribed in Or. 3406, below, to wit: Si Djinaka (Or. 3406, pp. 152-153), Simbujak-bujak (Or. 3406, pp.153-157), Kajuara merlendung (Or. 3406, pp. 146-148 line.7). (Codices Batatici, p. 129). A facsimile by H.N. van der Tuuk on transparant paper of the first page is in Or. 5006 (3), below.
(s) Fragment of Si Hadji Kontjang-kantjing. 6 pp.

The beginning only of a copy of OVB 229, the story of Si Hadji Kontjang-kantjing and Si Hadji Medem-medem. The other version which is mentioned in OVB 229a is now Or.3394q, above. See also Or. 3403, pp. 188-238. There is a certain similarity with the Javanese story of Bubuksa and Gagang Aking (See Th. Pigeaud, Literature of Java I, pp. 70-71, who refers to Or. 3918, Or. 4164 and Or. 5038, below.) (Codices Batatici, p. 129).
(t) 42 pp. Toba-Batak translation of Old Testament, Genesis 1-23. The same as the printed edition, Het boek Genesis. In het Tobasch vertaald door H.N. van der Tuuk. Amsterdam 1859 [861 D 27]. (Codices Batatici, p. 188).
(u) 45 pp. Dairi-Batak translation of Old Testament, Genesis 1-23. (Codices Batatici, p. 188).
(v) Texts in Mandailing Batak.
- 2 pp. Sutan Parampuan, who lives in Bandjar Malaju, goes to Padang Bolak and defeats Baginda Barumun in a disputation. She orders him to build a new village in Pinang Rarangan. Then she goes to Balik Sabun for a disputation with Mangaradja Enda Padang Bolak. Here the text end abruptly. Sutan Farampuan is also mentioned in OVB 234. There she is the sister of Mangaradja Enda Panjabungan and lives in in Padang Garugur. (Codices Batacici, p. 128).
- 2 pp. Complaint (andung) of a young man, about his sad fate, copied from a bambu with seven knots, beginning: Ija tehe ale baja anggi bulu aor tobol na sundat..., which is similar to that in Or. 3411, p.195, but the end of the two texts is not the same. (Codices Batacici, p. 151).
- 4 pp. Draft of circular in Mandailing Batak for enrolling in the army. See also Or. 8256, below, which contains two neat copies of the same text in Toba Batak. (Codices Batacici, p. 192).
(w) 6 pp. Translated stories. From Dutch into Toba Batak, e.g. about King Radboud who did not want to be baptized, because he wanted to join his forefathers after his death. A Dutchman tells a Toba Batak that he is not afraid to travel by sea, even if his father and grandfather have died on sea, because the Toba was not afraid at home, although his father and grandfather had died at home. (Codices Batacici, p. 192).
(x) Dairi-Batak verse and two stories.
First 1 page with songs, the first of which goes as follows:
Isang-isang ni purbung mo kapeken aie nang saket mo mi dahan sina kentja keri tinurbungku ena kade dija gasih(of ng?)na, and the last of which goes as follows:
Napurun gatap gatap mengawak-ngawak reben atar si turang madap-adap enggo kalak malerang leben pukah si turang nola mo sideban ale nina.
(Codices Batacici, pp. 140-141).
Then follow the two stories:

Si Hadji Serap-serap, de Half One, goes to heaven, and is made beautiful. His seven brothers go as well, they gnaw horns as karbaus and destroy the road to heaven. See also OVB 113.
And: Anak lumang-lumang comes into prosperity because a ghost gives him campher. The similarity with OVB 102 is not much. (Codices Batacici, p. 129).
(y) Old list of the pustaha's in the possession of van der Tuuk. See on this list also Codices Batacici, pp. 10-11. Van der Tuuk must have compiled it in The Netherlands.

Or. 3395
Batak, paper, 1 volume, pp. 51-158, and from the reverse side another 27 unnumbered pages.
Collective volume with texts in Batak.
The beginning of the book contains notes by H.N. van der Tuuk (1824-1894) about the Batak and their language, excerpted by van der Tuuk from works published before 1850 (Willer, Junghuhn, Andersen, Marsden, Raffles, etc.) with notes, in which van der Tuuk has tried to identify Batak words.
On pp. 135-140. Van der Tuuk's preliminary draft (with titles in Batak) of 'A short account of the Batta manuscripts belonging to the Library of the East India Company'. The original is now MS London, IO, Batak 1. See M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve, Indonesian manuscripts in Great Britain. Oxford 1977 p. 12.
pp. 145-147. Copy by van der Tuuk of MS London, IO, Batak 3, 2nd text. H.C. Millies (1810-1868) from van der Tuuk's transcript is now in Heidelberg University Library, MS Trübner 97. See M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve, Indonesian manuscripts in Great Britain. Oxford 1977, p. 13. Poda ni pormamisan holing, (IO Batak 3). The last words of this piece in the original: unang tortiarap do hita ale datunami. pp.148-151. Poda ni pormesa ni pormamis holing with a diagram at the end, as compared with a Malay manuscript, in which ma (yellow), ha (black), sa (white), ba (red), nu (green). This does not come from MS London IO Bat. 3. Neither the Malay, nor the Batak manuscript has been identified.
pp. 151-152. Ija poda (ni) pagar adji Sang Ba(i)ma na bolon, with a chain of transmission, ending with Datu Dari ni adji. It contains in Mandailing-Bataks arangan, bargot. This is copied from MS Manchester, John Rylands Library, Batak 3.
The above three pieces have been copied by H.C. Millies (1810-1868) from van der Tuuk's transcript and this copy is now in Heidelberg University Library, MS Trübner 97. See M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve, Indonesian manuscripts in Great Britain. Oxford 1977, p. 13. See also L. Manik, Batak-Handschriften (Verzeichnis der orientalischen Handschriften in Deutschland 28). Wiesbaden 1973, No. 340.
(Codices Batacici, pp. 171-172, 243).
pp. 151-152. Abstract by van der Tuuk of MS Manchester, John Rylands University Library, Batak 3. The copy made by H.C. Millies (1810-1868) from van der Tuuk's transcript is now in Heidelberg University Library, MS Trübner 97. See M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve, Indonesian manuscripts in Great Britain. Oxford 1977, p. 15.

The part at the end contains old Batak vocabularies, which van der Tuuk had made when he was still in the Netherlands. The vocabularies contain notes on regions, marga's and villages in the mountains above Barus.
(Codices Batacici, pp. 105-106).

Or. 3396
Batak, Malay (?), 7 exercise books, in total 138 pp., Batak script (small, neat), in vertical lines
Collective volume with texts in Batak.
Texts in Batak script copied by Guru Sinangga for J.L. Nommensen (1834-1918). See for a book written for this guru Or. 14.381, below.
The 5th exercise book is bound and has been registered as Or. 3396 from the beginning. It contains two stories as in OVB 117h and OVB 119e. The other six exercise books have been transferred in 1971 from Or. 3386, above, to Or. 3396.
Contents: Stories and other pieces copied in 1872 for Nommensen by Guru Sinangga from Sait ni Huta in Silindung. A transliteration of the beginning is in Or.12.475, below. A typed transcript, copied befor the war by Voorhoeve from a copy borrowed from one of the missionaries, is now in Jakarta, with class-mark Vt. 147. A handwritten transcript is in the estate of Nommensen which is kept in the Archiv der Vereinigten Evangelischen Mission in Wuppertal-Barmen (in the exercise books Nos. 10, 20, 26, 27, 28 and 29. A survey of the pieces found there is given in Or. 12.475, below, sub Or. 3396. In the transcriptions, the stories and the other texts have been numbered. It transpires that in the Leiden copy, the first story and the beginning of the second story are lacking. A short story occurring between Nos. 27 and 28 has been skipped, probably because it was considered pornographic. J.H. Meerwaldt, Handleiding tot de beoefening der Bataksche taal. Leiden 1904, has published four stories from a manuscript of Guru Sinangga. Probably he used the romanized copy. These are the following:
- Meerwaldt No. 2, Si Porda Bagondang (OVB 143a). Survey of contents in J. Warneck, Studien über die Litteratur der Toba-Batak. Berlin 1899 [1899 B 11], pp. 138 ff.
- Meerwaldt No.3, Mula ni debata idup (OVB 184e).
- Meerwaldt No.4, Rangsa ni pangiburuon (OVB 220c).
- Meerwaldt No.5, Si Boru na Tumandi (OVB 93b) which is No. 27 of the text of Guru Sinangga. The other three could not be identified, because Meerwaldt uses other titles. From the copy in Jakarta (Vt. 147) several pieces have been published by Guru Wismar Hutagalung (not to be confused by Waldemar Hutagalung, author of the Pustaha tarombo). The creation story (No. 1 of the work of Guru Sinangga) one can find in Hutagalung's book Adat taringot tu ruhut-ruhut ni pardongan saripeon di halak Batak, Jakarta 1963 [821 C 37], p.71. There it is said (p. 70) that Guru Sinangga belonged to the marga Pasaribu. Other pieces seems to have been published in the weekly Pangabahan of February 6,1954, and in Immanuel, 1956.
In addition to stories, Or. 3396 also contains other pieces, that is a considerable number of texts concerning datu science: songs, texts on marga relations in Silindung, and others.

The beginning of the neatly written text, about halfway p. 1 of the Leiden MS corresponds with the transliteration in Wuppertal, Heft 10, p.13. The preceding pieces has been recounted in a slightly different way in Wuppertal, Heft 10, pp.12-13. The final part of Or. 3396 corresponds with the final part of Wuppertal, Heft 10 and Heft 27.
The stories Nos. 27, 27a and 28 have deleted with pencil in the Leiden MS, and were originally not included in the transliteration. They are available in exercise book No. 3, between Nos. 10 and 11. Later, the transcriber has incorporated the stories Nos. 27 and 28 in exercise book No. 4 (p. 76) of the Leiden manuscript.
The copy of Guru Sinangga's work in Wuppertal should have been described by L. Manik in his Batak-Handschriften (Verzeichnis der orientalischen Handschriften in Deutschland 28). Wiesbaden 1973. However, when the Nommensen family had given the manuscript to the Archive of the Mission in Wuppertal, Manik had just closed his manuscript. If there appears a supplement to Manik's catalogue, one may expect it to contain an extensive description of the contents of the book of Guru Sinangga. Hence the study of the Leiden was not further pursued by Voorhoeve.

Toba Batak, paper, 216 pp.
Collective volume with texts in Batak.
Contents:
pp. 1-24. Si Marganggang Gaol. The 'erotic poem'. This is a very long poem about a gambler who, forced by debts, starts roam around while leaving his pregnant beloved behind. His sad fate and that of his deserted beloved is sung in a sometimes very obscure language. Also van der Tuuk has apparently not fully understood the text. Many words that occur in it are lacking in his dictionary (Bataksch-Nederduitsch woordenboek, Amsterdam 1861). Frequent use is made of rhyming lines such as the ones that form the first half of an umpama (Malay pantun). Sometimes the rhyming lines follow, and in which the real meaning of the poem is given. But often these lines are omitted, so that one is forced to guess what may have been meant. Repeatedly there are more than just two rhyming lines, on which the counterpart lines should follow, but the parallelism is not well maintained in this poem. Voorhoeve knew such long umpasa's (as the pantun-like poems in Simalungun are called) only from Simalungun literature. An example is M. Sipajung, Umpasa pakon umpama Simalungun, Rokaman II (c. 1968), p.12 (12 rhyming lines and 12 lines with meaning), Possibly the actual poem Si Marganggang Gaol, that treats a vagrant, called, Si Tunggar na Geduk, on p.16. After that comes a similar poem, or is it a sequel to the preceding one?, about the sad fate of an unlucky gambler in general. In that is contained a description of how to make a parsili and a pangaseon, by Datu Rindang na di Baho. In this final part, the rhythm that otherwise is characteristic for the poem, is not strictly maintained.

Voorhoeve has made a full transliteration of the text in Or. 12.475, below. There he has indicated with pencil marks who he thinks the division of lines really is.
The name Tunggar na Geduk occurs in the marga genealogical tree of W.K.H. Ypes (loose enclosure in his Bijdrage tot de kennis van de stamverwantschap, de inheemscherechtsgemeenschappen en het grondrecht der Toba- en Dairibataks. Leiden 1932 [390 E 21-21*]), as the father of the marga Sitindaon.

(Codices Batacici, pp. 133-134).
p. 80. Toba Batak Riddles (huling-hulingan). In the text the solution of the first riddle only is given. Van der Tuuk wrote a few solutions with pencil in the margin, in Latin script. Beginning: i ma surat ni huling-hulingan ma inon huling-hulingansa ansa di toruna asar ni lali diatasna asar ni aili (This is the solution of the immediately following first riddle) di toru ibana di gindjangna asama ia di gindjang ibana di toru-na asarna aha i? (Codices Batacici, p. 132).
pp. 81-118. Si Singa Mangaradja. OVB 248a. Edited and translated by C.M. Pleyte in BKI 55, pp. 1-45. On BKI 105, p. 113, lines 2-3 is comment by Voorhoeve: It concerns Or. 3398, pp. 91 ff.: A piece in which the descent of si Singamangaradja is told. It is said that Batara Guru sent the ancestor of Singamangaradja family a lawbook, the content of which is communicated. This piece too has probably been written by Guru Tinandangan from Naipospos geschreven. The revealed lawbook is nothing else than a shortened version (though in some details it is actually longer) of part of text A. (= Or. 3405, pp. 205-280). (Codices Batacici, p. 162).
pp. 119-126. Pangaraksaon. According to van der Tuuk's dictionary (Bataksch-Nederduitsch woordenboek, Amsterdam 1861: 'het in geest-aanroepingen of bij feestelijke gelegendheden sierlijk beschrijven der zaken, waarbij meestal tevens op den oorsprong gedoeld wordt'. According to the beginning of this piece: asa i ma surat ni pangaraksaon di na mardung dape boti do di na mangendei parsili pe boti do. In this, the reading mardung is probably a mistake for marandung. So: this is a list pangaraksaon names. These are used in complaints about the death and the singing to the parsili. Then follows the list of the normal terms used in this type of language, to begin with tano, the earth, which is called Tuan di Laksamana. The word raksa (root of pangaraksaon) Voorhoeve derives from the Sanskrit laksana, core mark, of which -na has fallen off because it was considered as the Batak pronominal suffix. A complete list of the pangaraksaon words which occur here is given in Or. 12.475 (in transliteration). In the present text, this is preceded by a prayer: Asa turun do hamu ompung debata di atas asa manaek do hamu ompung debata di toru asa humundul do hamu ompung debata di tonga on turun (van der Tuuk: turuni) do ahu nagurungku naguru songta naguru songti asa songta songti do ahu mangusap morsantabi di daompung boraspati ni tano di na martua sombaon di debata na tolu dohot di gurungku mungka ni pangaraksaon asa tidjak tondjol ho mangadjari manuturi di ahu asa aha ma ulaning na marmonakkon mormonikkon mungka ni pangaraksaon asa tuan di laksamana ma hape goar ni tano, etc.
On pp.125-126 are not only given the pangaraksaon names of the musical instruments, but also the names of the gondang melodies and the order in which they must be played. Here it is also said that the piece originates from Naipospos. It seems to be from the hand Guru Tinandangan.

Beginning: Asa i ma na ningot i ma paboaon di sisean suhutan na saingan asa manoppa ma oppunta Ompun Tuan Batara Guru Doli tian banua gindjang asa ditoppa ma djolma manisia on tu debata di tonga on mula ni lahi-lahi mula ni boru-boru asa laho ma djolma manisia on tu dalan Hite Urat disi ma mulana toppa djolma manisia on. Here an entirely different presentation is given of the spread of human (read: Batak) than the one that is now usual (Pusuk Buhit, Siandjur Mula-mula, etc.). Isa Tuan di Laksamana i ma mula ni tano si Deang Sintabele mula ni duhut, duhut do mandjadi mula ni haju, haju mandjadi soban, soban mandjadi api, api mandjadi timus, timus do mandjadi ombun, ombun do di langit manapor mandjadi udan asa udan ma si mandjadi aek.
Isa Tuan si Odjir ma mula ni aek, etc.
For getting an idea about the circles to which the author belongs the following paragraph is also characteristic: Maga-maga Siborboron ma sihahaan sombaon anggina paduahon Oppu-oppu na Godang ma tinodohonna tinodohonna muse Naga-naga ni Sombaon sianggian namuse sombaon na humaliang na humaloho i ma pangaratopan goar ni sombaon. Then there follows an enumeration: sorts of earth (tano), andor (many sorts, each with a short description of its external appearance and its use), omens for unfavourable events (to begin with tunggul bauta na beguon); what one should do, when seeing certain ominous snakes, and the same in connection with other animals, both wild and domestic. On p. 172 begins Mula ni haju, a description of different types of trees, with mention of their characteristics and their use. On p. 181 follow the winding plants (andor), sorts of gum, birds (e.g. the swallow: djaha raksa ni pidong leang-leang na pahae na pahulu parhabangna na so ra lodja habang do i pidong leang-leang i tano do asar ni leang-leang i birong pamatangna na saina ni pat do balgana asa i ma raksa ni pidong na pahae na pahulu habang idaon ni halak habang di toru ni langit di atas ni tano di liang batu do parasaranna asa i ma raksa ni pidong leang-leang di harangan). On p. 191 follow sorts of fig trees (hariara). From p. 192 onwards: pangaraksaon names of all sorts of objects, with their use. At a part of the text treating tunggar (dead wood) on land and in water, van der Tuuk has written 'onverstaanbaar' (incomprehensible). He will have understood it later, as it is not particularly unclear. Finally, the sun is treated, and to that the piece on the dispute between sun and moon (p. 200) is connected (OVB 3a).

The piece actually does not belong to the category 'Ethnography', but it is a sort of Batak encyclopaedia, with all sorts of useful information.
The colophon on p. 208 reads: asa i ma ganup na huraksahon ni raksa ni nasa na tubu di atas ni tano nasa na di toru ni langit i ma na binoto i ma sinurathon i ma na niingot i ma sinuratton asa unang mananta si tuan na torop ale. Then follows a good wish and a tabas ni pangurason and tabas ni taoar, both beginning with binsumirla, and mostly in incomprehensible gibberish ('abracadabra'). pp. 265-272. Si Marganggang gaol. An entirely different version from the one in Or.3398. The name si Tunggar na Geduk is not mentioned here. Nor is there a continuous storyline, but the poems consists of short pieces that usually begin with: tu si marganggang gaol, tu si marganggang gual-gual. This sometimes rhymes on: tu si targaga laos, tu si targaga buat, what might mean: To whom who hesitates to leave. But there are a lot of rhyme lines of which the lines to which they rhyme have been left out. And when this is not the case, the meaning often remains obscure. There are a lot of sexual allusions, e.g. dolok paheba-heba, meaning 'mountains of even heighth, standing in front of one another, meings a woman's breast. A complete transliteration is in Or.12.475, in which the division in lines of van der Tuuk has been maintained. (Codices Batatici, p. 142).

Batak, paper, 346 pp., entirely copied by Guru Tinandangan from Naipospos, see about him Codices Batacici, p. 3. Most of the texts in the volume are treated by Voorhoeve in Codices Batacici, pp. 153-157. He has tried to treat the work of Guru Tinandangan as much as possible together.
pp. 1-3. Hata ni tondung. 'Iets over de bijzondere bij 't wigchelen gebezigde woorden'. Mention of the special words used during divination, e.g. ia goar ni baba si mordaup asa daup horas-horas dingin-dingin porlabaan porsaulian, boti ma ninna datu molo mortondung ibana. (Codices Batacici, pp. 153-154).
pp. 3-17. Tonggo-tonggo ni pane. The introduction in which is said that Van der Tuuk is in fact Radja Lambung from Bangkara, has been published by C.M. Pleyte in TBG 47/5 ('Hoe de Bataks over wijlen Dr. H.N.van der Tuuk dachten'). The author of thi piece also mentions his name: i ma minangsi ni halak tian Naipospos morgoar Guru Tinandangan. He has written it on paper, also uses bindu's and, later on in this volume in the part that treats divination, also drawings. In Voorhoeve's opinion this is, therefore, not a copy, but the original of Guru Tinandangan's hand, and since the handwriting in the entire volume is the same, he must be the writer (author) of all pieces. The stories on pp. 29-104 have been treated by Voorhoeve in OVB. This piece contains an offering prayer (tonggo-tonggo) in which are invoked consecutively (with the formula: asa mari ma hamu...): pane na bolon, pane si djandji olop-olop, pane naga di hurma djati (also extensive description of his daughters), pane si morgonggom tua radja pordosir ni adji, pane datu tangting ni adji, pane habang, pane sidjang madingin, pane si manaek midjur, that is to say, the *pane*s who live in the eight directions of the compass. At the end, van der Tuuk is again addressed as Radja Lambung and is there a question of his return to Bangkara.
pp. 17-21 Tonggo-tonggo ni ompunta si Adji Mamis. ('Aanroeping van den geest Sie adjie Mamies'). Datu Maling ni adji na tubu di na sogot. In addition there are invocations for:
si Adji Bisnu na tubu di na pangului Ompun Tinggi ni adji;
si Adji Borma na tubu di na hos Datu Bonor ni adji;
si Adji Hala na tubu di na guling Datu Rimbang ni adji; si Adji Sori na tubu di na bot Datu Putor ni adji, at the end called together begu na lima, the five Spirits. (Codices Batacici, pp. 180-182).
pp. 21-28. Andung. Toba-Batak. Beginning: Asa on ma surat ni andung Batak ale tuan Pan dor Tuk asa adong paboaonmu tu tano ni anak ni Ulonda tongosonmu pe djolo djadi do asala dung husurat hian di hortas on ale tuan Pandjito oio amang na manurat di hortas. From this it is clear that Guru Tinandangan personally has written this. On pp. 21-25 is a complaint about a son who has died. Then follows the explanation of andung words: ia panggoari ni andung dohot tu hortina hata ganup ari: molo amang sisumbaon ninna, pahompuna ma i barang ompuna doli, etc.

pp. 105-133. 'Godenleer van die van Naiepospos'. Notes from this text , see OVB 112. About the gods. After the author has mentioned that there are upper, middle and lower gods, the author treats consecutively: Debata na tolu, that is 1. Batara Guru Doli; 2. anak ni Sonpada mandeda; 3. anak ni Mangalabulan habonaran; 4(!) Debata Hasi-hasi, and then also: ia dongan ni debata di gindjang palimahon Si Radja Guru. Then, after a large bindu the middle gods: man (djolma manisia) and the seven spirits (begu) that descend from above, halibutongan (rainbow), si anmodjan, ampilas, antuara manginsop, porhas, antu porburu, begu gunung. The latter ones get a more extensive treatment, with mention of the symptoms of the illness he causes, and the present (somba) that one has to offer in the hope to be cured. Their names are: Guru Sinondang Hadatuon; Radja Mortungkot Bosi; Datu Porsanti Rea; Guru na Helung; Guru Menahenak; Si Sumangkan Ulubalang (six in all). Then follow naposo na opat (their four slaves), namely Si Adji Pambobok; Si Adji Pangarambas; Si Adji Antuk; Sisobur daro tata siharat dugul-dugul si Adji Rimba Punu. Spirits that have evolved from humans (na mormulahon djolma) are: sombaon with his servants and his daughters Saniang Naga and Boru Namora; porsumangotan and all that belongs to it; djonggol and his club; ruang tano and the like; begu ni ihur gadja etc.; sinangbela etc.; begu ni mual etc.; begu na halioan etc.; begu ni pidong dohot hulis-hulis etc.; begu ni giting-giting etc.; begu ni ambalalungun etc. Ia hadatuon ni djolma mandjadi begu i ma morgoar panongtongi dohot adji. Ia goar ni panongtongi: 1. silabu-labu. 2. si garut na tipul. 3. etc., till No. 26. Then follow the adji: 1. si balik bidja. 2. si singki panaluan. In all 13 ones. Ia goar ni pagar sipamuli begu 1. pagar si balik hontas (22 names of pagars). There are six lower gods: 1. Naga Padoha ni adji; 2. Boraspati ni tano; 3. Tonggung ni huta; 4. Ranggapun matutung; 5. Sinangbela (who is on earth and cannot find back the way down); 6. Patuan Naga na birong. Begus that belong to both the lower and the middle world are homang and sulambak golang-golang. Famous humans and birds who have visited the upper and the lower worlds are: 1. Sutan Panalinan si Adji Manmbulu Bosi (his names and genealogy are enumerated, see also OVB 119); 2. Sutan si Malin Deman (see also OVB 115); 3. Si Adji Urang Mandopa (OVB 117); 4. Si Adji Bahir-bahir (OVB 113); 5. Radja Gundur di Lalo (OVB 114); 6. the bird Radja Imbulu Man (OVB 181, here, a.o., the story of si Metna and si Mutna, that only occurs in Or. 3432 voorkomt. Possibly that too is a piece by Guru Tinandangan. After a large bindu:
pp. 133-136. Djudjungan. Mainly described in OVB 2 H (note). Ia ma raksa ni djudjungan ni halak na mormarga-marga, about certain spirits that talk through mediums, and that are different for the different marga's, to wit: Hutabarat, Hutagalung, Hutapea, Parapat have the gondang siatas banta and the djudjungan Radja Siatas Barita.
Sitompul, Hutatoruan, Panggabean: djudjungan Mortua Sobu; gondang sobu.
Sihombing, Simamora: gondang maga-maga, djudjungan anak ni Maga-maga.

Lontung, Siregar: gondang silali; djudjungan anak ni Mortua Silali.
Siborboron: gondang pagaran tombak; djudjungan Radja Sibor-boron.
Tungka: gondang tolong-tolong; djudjungan: Mortua Dolok Tolong.
Marbun, Sihotang, Meha, Seul, Mungkur, Hasugian: mangarapit do i tu Simamora.
Sipoholon: gondang mortua same; djudjungan anak ni na Mortua Same.
Siambaton: gondang mortua hare; djudjungan anak ni na Mortua Hare.
The gods that belong to certain marga's are:
hami Sipoholon (this was Guru Tinandangan's marga), dohot Simamora, Sihombing, Marbun, Meha, Mungkur, Seul, Sihotang, Hasugian: Mangalabulan debatana, si Boru Deang na Guristik ma pinorboruna. The offering is described: I ma porbage ni debata ni Sumba sandok.
Sitompul, Hutatoruan, Panggabean, Hutagalung, Hutabarat: Soripada.
Tungka, Lontung, Bangkara, Simanullang, Pasaribu: Batara Guru.

No. 2, that has been omitted in BL answers the question 'How can traveler get to drink aek bangunan while the owner is present. Aek bangunan is according H.N. van der Tuuk, Bataksch-Nederduitsch woordenboek. Amsterdam 1861: 'een waterplaats, waaruit men water voor een plechtigheid nodig heeft, en die daarom bewaakt wordt, om te verhoeden dat er iemand van drinkt'. The other questions are:
9. How can a honeysuckle get to eat a tiger? As in OVB 35.
10. How can a cocos monkey eat crusts of rice in a cauldron while someone is guarding it?
11. How can a bull gnaw banana leaves that hang over a crevice?

12. How can a sarudung-monkey eat fruits of a postop-dila-tree that grows near the village gate, while there are all the time lots of people about?
13. How can female weeders kill a deer calf that is still with its morther? (The calf trusts them, asks for mais and is caught).
14. How can guards of drying rice catch a 'kwikstaartje' that sits in a galinggang-horbo-plant? (While they have gone to the river, the bird eats avidly from the rice and suffocates).
15. How can a kancil get to eat a tiger? (as in OVB 20 Q).
16. How can a kancil get to eat two buffaloes? (as in OVB 26).
17. How can an otter get to eat a poisonous snake ? (He gives him a white stoke, on which the snake breaks its poison teeth).
18. How can a chicken get to eat a 'kiekendief'?
19. How can a dog get to eat a tiger cat (manguliman)?
20. How can a tiger cat (tampulak) get to eat a jackal (antu asu)?
21. How can an otter get to eat a kancil? (He gives him fish and he suffocates in the bones).
22. How can a mountain quail get to eat a siul-bird ? (He pretends that a trap is his pusaka, the bird steps on it and its caught).
23. How can a deer get to eat a tiger (The deer gets him to eat tuba-gadong, by which the tiger dies).
24. How can a boar get to eat a bear?
25. How can a bovine get to eat a capricorn?
26. How gets a cocos monkey a cucumber that is lying near a hut? (A field mouse goes and gets it for him).
27. How can a big cocos monkey rape a woman who is coming to get bulbs from the ladang? (She permits him to search for lice, and then falls asleap).
28. How can a cat get to eat a tiger (babiat lapuk)?
29. How can a locust get eggs of a breeding chicken? (The locust enters the house where the chicken is breeding and lets its young on the village square. The chickes flies up and picks up the young, and in the meantime the locust eats the young.
30. How can a field guardian get the flowers of an old lady, which she is constantly watching?
31. How can a fisherman get rambutan-fruit, without climbing the tree?
32. How can a dog get to eat a bear youngster?
33. How can a tulung-api-snake get to eat a kidjang (hidje)?
34. How can a woman that has run away from her husband, get the gold of a begu-nurnur (a ghost that sometimes shows itself in the shape of a rainbow)? (She stays overnight in a hut in the field. A begu-nurnur takes shelter in it against the rain. She hits him on the teeth so hard that he runs away and leaves his chest with gold. Another woman tries the same but is killed by the begu-nurnur). See also OVB 96.
35. How can someone get a 'donderbeitel' from the stem of a banana plant? (By accident he sees a porhas bite against a setan so that his tusk gets stuck into the stem of the banana, sait ni porhas = 'donderbeitel').

36. How can a tiger get to a little dog that is bait in a trap? (a tanduk boang, drektor, opens the basket in which is the dog, so that it comes out of it).
37. How can a monkey creep through the set clips of a trap without being caught?
38. How can a buffalo get to the bananas that a woman is bringing to the market?
39. How can a boar get to the roots that are bait in a trap?

pp. 1-107. (in fact 108 pp. As p. 81 is numbered twice). 'Eenige zeden, gewoonten en wetten van die van Pasarieboe'. from Pasaribu. The comma after 'Van der Tuuk' in BKI 105, p. 111 is of course a typing error. W.K.H. Ypes has had in mind to publish this, but nothing came of it. A transcript by W.K.H. Ypes and a translation into Malay by the demang Frederik Goeltom is now Or. 8820, below. A transcript made by Voorhoeve is in Or. 12.475. pp. 311-316. Ende ni Boru Galingging. Song of a woman of the marga Galingging, who is possessed by a spirit. As appears from the text, the song is accompanied by play on the sarune. With very simple, but very suggestive means, the spirit is brought to descend. She predicts disaster, but after an offering has been given to her, she reveals how this can be prevented by the making of a porsili, a statue made out of the stem of banana. The song has been recorded by someone from Naipospos (Guru Tinandangan?) for Radja Lambung (that is van der Tuuk).
Introduction: On ma surat ni ende ni boru Galingging, pasiar djudjunganna ibana; ia porsarunena si Serong Laut. Asa hupodahon ma di ho Radja Lambung, ai i ma goarmu ninna halak, ale radjanami oi. Olo tutu gurunami anak ni Naipospos na bolon.
Beginning: Habang eor-eor tu pusuk ni sanggirgir morsarune ma si Serong manontor boru Galingging.
In 7 couplets the excellence of the dancer is described:
Na pande manortor boru Galingging on, songon gondang debata soara ni andjakna on.
'An expert in dancing is this woman of the Galingging tribe. When the drums play the 'tune of the gods', the trampling of her feet sounds (what one only hears when the dancer is possessed by a spirit, whereas with a normal dance, the feet touch the ground softly).
After a transitional couplet the dancer counts her ten fingers, each of which is connected with a certain spirit. She sings:
Hutilik-hutilik djan-djarina sada siar hamu djolo si boru parhata-hata Madungdung siala dibahen hinatimbona siar parhata-hata tian siamun harorona.
Then the names of the fingers are given:
Huida nama djolo ma ni tanganhon husunrang nama djolo ompuna porsadaan on.
Then the spirit descends but there is no offering for her. The offerings for the ten abovementioned spirits are enumerated, e.g.:
Tinapu salaon marurus tu bonana patibal sisasapon pelean ni porhata-hata, the right to have an offering of the thing to be peeled (sugar cane in the language of the spirits) for Her that speaks.
The suhut (the person who as asked to call for the spirit) speaks: 'We do not have all these offerings. Please, content yourself with the few things that we can offer. The spirit answers: Why call me then, if you do not have any offerings for me? The suhut: Please, do not revenge your disappointment on us, your children. The spirit: I will consult my oracle. Within three nights someone in this village will die. The suhut says: Which means (sarapa) is there against this? The spirit: Make a porsili so that you will be well. Then the spirits takes her leave and asks her father, who has conceived her (amang na mordjadji) to open the gate of heaven for her and to send down her flying costume with which she can return. Then the woman stops dancing and tells the sarune player to end his play:

Tabo ma napuran na mordongankon inggiringgir sumurut djudjunganna mansohot ma boru Galingging Tumbur ni pege hutilpokkon nama djolo da amang porsarune mansohot ma hita djolo Nidogol lasina mordongankon pege i mansohot ma nasida na marende-ende i.

Postscript: Ba i ma parendeon ni boru Galingging pasiar djudjunganna asa diboto ho ale tuannami, i ma dibahen husurathon di hortas on. Oio amang gurunami, ai so muba nidokmi inon. A full transliteration is in Or. 12.475. (Codices Batacici, pp. 143-145).

pp. 316-317. Ende daon ni monsi. In order to prevent that mice will eat all his rice, the owner of a ladang goes there with a cocos shell full of water and sand, and with peelings of oebi and with chaff. In his hand he has the sheath of a knife and kicks on it with a little stick from the idjuk. Then he disperses the sand, the peelings and the chaff over the field, walking to and fro, and singing:

Hupadege-degei sanggar na masuak on asa huarit-arit dangka ni salaon on Huparende-endei silasang di haumangkon (silasang is a word in spirit language for mouse) asa laho torbali-bali tu dongan sabalok on Complete transcription in Or. 12.475. (Codices Batacici, pp. 145-146).

p. 318. Ende daon ni singke. Against water insects, that destroy the rice on the sawah the owner walks on the sawah dikes, plays on his mouth harp (saga-saga dengdeng) and sings:
Rabi ni rabi mamangka sige bulu on asa gira husandehon tu bagot sigukguk on Bali ni bali singke si mandjurur on unang sai disagehon (read disegahon) eme di haumangkon
Parindahanan tihe isian ni napuranna

Then he buries the mouth harp in a sawah dike. This is only done on hauma saba and hauma raoang, not on hauma darat.

pp. 319-321. Document concerning Radja Ibus.
pp. 322-326. Letters from Padang Bolak. The letters in van der Tuuk's Batak collection are all copied by him in Batak script. Almost without exception they come from the archives of Dutch gouvernmental employees. The mostly treat the contacts of the Dutch gouvernment with the, at that time independent, regions in the interior, that is Upper-Barus (most letters) and Padang Bolak (a small collection in Or. 3407). The spelling is often defective and the content is not always clear. This must be the reason why van der Tuuk did not transcribe but gives them, as authentic as possible, in the original script. Voorhoeve has made transliterations of all these letters. These are kept in Or. 12.475, not under the class-marks of the manuscripts, but together, on pp. 50-75. The last two are pamulas, burn letters. An index of proper names has been added to the transliterations. (Codices Batacici, p. 185).

Angkola-Batak alternating love song, by a boy (Radja Timbajung) and a girl (Nai Gala Barumun), who address each other. He addresses her with the namboru, she him with uda. So they are of the same marga. Yet they make love secretly, and the girls becomes pregnant. The boy goes to Padang Bolak in order to earn buffaloes so that he can pay a fine to her father. After a long time she goes to meet him at the resting place on the road to Padang Bolak. He comes there with thirty buffaloes, the requested number, but he dies of exhaustion, and she follows him in the grave. Her spirit calls to those who pass by that they are not allowed to appropriate the buffaloes. The piece ends with a warning against marsumbang (incest). (Codices Batacici, p. 143) pp. 162-168. Ende ni begu na niparo. BL II pp. 204-208. (= Or. 3416 pp.136-140).

Transliteration in Or. 12.475. See also: Am Urquell. Eine Monatschrift für Volkskunde. Der neue Folge Bd.I. Leiden-Hamburg 1897, pp. 321-329: Geistersprachen. Eine Umfrage von C.M. Pleyte. I. (Eine Angkolaische Geisterbeschworung). There the text is given in transliteration, with German translation and a list of hata-begu-na-sijar (read: hata ni begu sijar). It is an Angkola-Batak song of a spirit that has been made to descend (ende ni begu na niparo). One can hardly call this poetry. The text is mostly prose, but the words spoken by the spirits werd most probably sung during the performance. The story tells how people, plagued by famine because the rice harvest has failed, make the pangulubalang Sipamutung descend into a medium in order to ask for a rich harvest in the next season. The pangulubalang brings the request to god Hobol Dibata na Tigor in the upper world, but the latter becomes angry and says that the pangulubalang is only trying to get a lot of offerings. On the advice of the pangulubalang the people make Boru Sombaon na godang descend. She gives them the advice to work hard on the field, and indeed they are rewarded with a rich harvest. Then they bring the promised offerings to Boru Sombaon na godang and pangulubalang Sipamutung.(Codices Batacici, pp. 147-148)

pp. 118-117, and a leaf between pp. 118-119. Andung (Mandailing Batak). A complaint (andung) by one of van der Tuuk's Mandailing teachers, either copied from a bambu, or composed in the style of a bambu inscription. As usual, first the fate of the bambu is complained, and then the writer switches to his own miserably fate. Beginning: Ija tue ale anggi bulu aor leman na sundat ko sajur matuwa bulung dibaen diandung si lumampis bibir simanaremu i na sundat ko parsitinggiran ni unggas mamolus, etc. Then the author starts to describe his own fate: i pe i ma djolo na dangol ni simanaremu I upaijut kupatompa doma djolo na dangol ni simanarengku i dibaen ngada tartaon be na dangol dibagas siubeonku... (Codices Batacici, p. 150).
On the leaf pasted between pp. 118-119 is a copy in Batak script by van der Tuuk of a text on bambu from Angkola. The writer is very short on the bambu and quickly changes the subject to his own personal misery: Ija tehe ale bulu aor riman na sundat magindj ang magodang ditinggang sirumondop udan dipuJu-puju alogo ditinggang sirumondop udan ho baja bulu aor nman au peda sundat doma huoloi daamang damang dohot sinuan tunas na dua tolu ondi, etc. That the text originates from Angkola is also evident from the use of nada as negation. (Codices Batacici, pp. 149-150).

pp. 120-119. Mandailing customs (Uhum) (Mandailing Batak). Uhum di Mandailing, collection of prescripts on a variety of subjects. Transliteration in Or. 12.475). (Codices Batacici, p. 162).

54. (= Or. 3416 pp.65-102). A fragment with Latin transliteration of the beginning only is in Or.3386n.
p. 144. Deleted.
p. 145. Riddles, and a song (Mandailing Batak). Several Mandailings riddles, with the solution. A sort of puzzle, also called riddle by the writer (uling-kulingan) but according to van der Tuuk this should be torkan-torkanan. (How to get a slice of melon out of a bambu container? Solution: pour water in the bambu and the slice comes up, floating on the water. Then follows a (ende). (Codices Batacici, p. 133).
pp. 145-146. Si Tadjom (Mandailing Batak). Si Tadjom went with his mother-in-law to be, accompanied by two slave girls, to look for damar in the forest, because his fiancée was ill. They were surprised by rain, storm and darkness. While the two slave girls slept, they committed adultery. Si Tadjom's father-in-law to be let himself be told that nothing had happened. Belongs to OVB, chapter XIII. (Codices Batacici, p. 128)

pp. 153-156. Si Pargintjir (Mandailing Batak) OVB 179.
pp. 157-159. Poda ni manonga ribut (Angkola Batak). Explained in van der Tuuk's Bataksch-Nederduitsch woordenboek, Amsterdam 1861 as: 'een oefening in 't spellen bestaande in een opsomming van datu's wier kunst in 't lezen en schrijven men verlangt te evenaren.' On pp. 157-159 there is a rather extensive specimen in the handwriting of one of van der Tuuk's informants from Angkola. Here are also instructions by van der Tuuk for printing, but the piece has not published in the 2nd part of the Bataksch Leesboek (Amsterdam 1860-1862). It was probably meant to fill a page and in the end proved to be unnecessary. On p. 118 there is a very short specimen that most originate from South Mandailing, to judge from the script. pp. 236-248. Andung ni budjing laho marbagas. BL II pp. 216-224. (= Or. 3416 pp. 17-25). Complaint of a girl that must leave her parental home in order to marry. She reproaches her parents and other relatives who receive a share in the dowry that they let her go because of their lust for money. She says goodbye to the sisters and takes her leave from the house, the village yard, the bathing place, etc., including the village gate and the lime-burning furnace. She addresses her mother with boru Angin, which is Angkola-Batak. A traditional literary form in Angkola and Mandailing is the complaint written on bambu in andung-language. The author, usually a young man whose father and possibly other relatives as well have died, expresses his sadness. First he addresses the bambu, whose growth has been frustrated. An example of this from Mandailing has been published in van der Tuuk's Bataksch Leesboek (Amsterdam 1860-1862). The other texts are not significantly different. (Codices Batacici, p. 149).

Remarks and corrections by Voorhoeve in (Codices Batacici, p. 162): 'BKI 105 p.113 r.2 en 3 leze men in plaats van "Hieruit blijkt" t.e.m. "hebben": Dit slaat op de passage Cod. Or. 3398 p.91 evv, waar in een stuk over de afstamming van si Singamangaradja verteld wordt, dat Batara Guru aan de stamvader van het Singamangaradjageslacht een wetboek zond, waarvan de inhoud wordt meegedeeld. Ook dit stuk is waarschijnlijk door Guru Tinandangan uit Naipospos geschreven; het geopenbaarde wetboek is niet anders dan een over het algemeen wat kortere maar in enkele détails iets uitvoeriger redactie van een gedeelte van tekst A [Or. 3405, pp. 205-280].'

- p. 9. Torkan-torkanan. On pp. 7-9 are six riddle-stories in the het dialect of Batang Toru. The first three have been treated in OVB 28, 35d and 95d.
The follow: 'How can a man get fire that is strongly guarded? He throws his kladi (suhat) over the heads of the guards in the fire. They throw it back, but some burning coals is attached to it.
How can a mouse get to eat the well guarded lantjat-fruits of a princess? A trader in mats puts his cargo to a tree and the mouse crawls through these into the tree.
How can 'rijstdiefjes' get to well-guarded rice? They hide in a cloud of leaves that is blown by the wind on the rice. (Codices Batacici, p. 132).
- pp. 9-10 Riddles. Batang Toru dialect of Angkola-Batak. 14 riddles (huling-kulingan) with the answers, e.g. huling-kulingatsa dipakpak ma ditoung endena aha ma i di hamu ningiba mandok kalak antusan ni i manuk na martahuak do i i ma i na nidok ni i.
Probaby it is meant that the listener first understands dipakpak as di pakpak, and interprets as: 'on the top he sings a long song'. The meaning is 'he claps his wings and sings a long song, that is a crowing cock. (Codices Batacici, p. 133).

p. 21. Latin and Arabic script. Notes by van der Tuuk. On pp. 21, 38, 40, 111 second half, 122 second half, 145, 146, 177-187 and 258 are lexicographical notes by van der Tuuk, mostly containing Dairi-Batak words explained in Toba Batak. There are also Toba Batak words, most of which will have been entered in van der Tuuk's Bataksch-Nederduitsch woordenboek (Amsterdam 1861). There are also a few Malay words explained. E.g. nènèk in the Malay of Barus means also the owner of an animal (nènèk andjing itu, the owner of that dog), analogous to the Batak ompu = grandfather, master, owner. (Codices Batacici, pp. 193-194).
pp. 23-37 only the odd pages), Batak script, Toba Batak. Rangsa ni djolma. A list of proverbial expressions, or rather figuratively given names for people who have received a certain status or certain characteristics from the gods. An example, for the fickle one :
Rangsa ni djolma manisia dirangsahon ompunta anak ni debata rangsa ni manisia i ma tinompa ni si Nungkar-nangkir porhata si muba-uba porroha si manunggaling i ma na so djadi.
A short piece of the same nature, written in Latin script, is on p. 235. More or less comparable are the two pieces in Latin script on pp. 237 (bottom) and 238 (top). (Codices Batacici, p. 158).

- p. 75. Angkola? Poda ni manonga ribut and other texts. This is the title of a text on bambu, a copy of which has been sent to van der Tuuk. The copy is made on very thin paper, with, in minute script, the following request: 'Kunt gij mij ook vertaling geven van dit stuk (de eerste 4 leden) van een Bat. brief? op een lange bamboes geschreven, en waartoe misschien behoort de eerste afzonderlijke regel', etc. The minute script is in the hand of H.C. Millies (1810-1868). The Batak texts is not transcribed by Voorhoeve, as he assumes that there must be mistakes in the copy. On the side is written: ‘Een ander bamboetje met het volgende’. That other bambu is now Or. 5007a, below. Or. 5007b is the separate line. The bambu of four knots did not eventually come to Leiden. (Codices Batacici, pp. 166, 234, 236).

-pp. 77-80. Mandailing. Si Parsengge. OVB 106.
- pp. 81-86. Mandailing. Ende. Four-line verse in the shape of the Malay pantun. An example:
djongdjong songon tijang tingko-tingko songon galapang nitaonkon parsahitan pagodang-godang pamatang
The songs on pp. 91 and 92 belong to this.
(Codices Batacici, p. 138).
- pp. 87-89 Mandailing. Names of trees, ‘klophanen’. Names of trees, with their use. First mentioned: danon ni ajuara panganon ni unggas; last mentioned: dapdap laungan ni kopi. Then, on p. 89 names of fighting cocks, namely biring, bangke, katinangke, osu, djalak, kinanten, kulabu, todung, kurik, pile, with their colours, and the beginning only of a list of animal names. (Codices Batacici, p. 188).
- p. 90. Mandailing. Fragment of a story. The beginning of a story in which Bajo Radja Hatoguwan from Lumban Binabo Dolok goes to ask help from Sutan Pannggonan Godang. Seems to belong to OVB chapter 13. (Codices Batacici, p. 128).
- pp. 91-100. Mandailing and Toba. Ende. On pp. 93-100 are songs, similar to those on pp. 81-86 above, but in Toba Batak, although the ka is written with tompi. The northern ta is used, and the assimilation of a nasal with a sharp consonant does indeed occur, e.g.:
harambir ni Sibolga diparasar attarias boru ni Sibolga
marale-ale Nias
(Codices Batacici, p. 138).
pp. 101-111. Texts in Latin script.

- pp. 105-106. Toba. Uhum. See BKI 105 p.112. Copy in Or. 12.475.
- pp. 107-109. Mandailing. Pagar balik kunda from a pustaha, partly with Dutch translation. A copy is in Or.12.475. Excerpts in Latin script, taken from MS A.D. Willer, a Mandailing-Batak pustaha about Pagar balik kunda na bolon. Voorhoeve has published a small part of van der Tuuk’s translation in the Introduction to the Kopenhagen catalogue. According to a note by van der Tuuk in the copy in the India Office Library of his description of thje Batak MSS in that collection, Mr. Willer has given the manuscript to H.C. Millies (1810-1868) . Most probably it is now MS. Batak 7 in the John Rylands Library in Manchester. This has the same text as MS. Batak 1 in the same library. It seems to Voorhoeve that MS. 7 is a copy of MS.1. The copy will have been made for Mr. Willer when he was a civil servant in Mandailing. The original has been seen by van der Tuuk during his journey Mandailing in the possession of Mr. A.P.Godon, ‘assistent-resident' of Panjabungan. He has described it in his travelogue (see Or.3386 m(1), p.22). The chain of transmission is: Ama ni Martungkot Bilang anak na di Bolaon - Datu Mangoloi n.a. anak na di Sution - Datu Mangalaon n.a. tano Hampung Torop - Datu So Ambangon n.a. - Datu Sabungan n.a. anak na di Sution Tambangan Tua, Ama si Marlin gorar maramani - anak na di Sobuon Ama si Rangkir. (Codices Batacici, p. 174). For a description of MS Manchester, John Rylands University Library, Batak 7, see now also M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve, Indonesian manuscripts in Great Britain. Oxford 1977, p. 15.

- pp. 109-110. Mandailing? Rambu siporhas, from a pustaha. See also Or. 8906 for a rather accurate copy of the text. Excerpts in Latin script from the MS Enschedé, which is a pustaha about Rambu siporhas. Van der Tuuk uses in his transcription the tj and therefore considered the text as being in Mandailing Batak. The original pustaha appears to have come in the library in Torino, Italy, and was most probably lost in the fire of 1904. (Codices Batacici, p. 174).

pp. 118-119. Latin script. Note by van der Tuuk about the statues of tunggal panaluan. The statues on the tunggal panaluan are the following mythical personalities, starting from the top:
'1. datu sopak panaluan en tussen de benen van deze ziet men een draak si upar manorus, onder zijn dijen twee hoofden voorstellende djolma so begu, onder zijn voeten een karbouw met name horbo huring.
2. datu porhas na uwasan, achter hem een hond si adji porburu-buru, staande hij op horbo pajung.
3. radja na uwasal achter hem een hond si adji porburu-buru en onder hem horbo huring.
4. datu pormanuk na uwasal, achter hem djolma so begu en onder hem horbo huring.

5. datu pormanuk holing; achter hem een hond si adji porburu-buru en onder hem horbo pajung.
6. een zwijnshoofd babi mangutsong. Nu is er een handbreed zonder beeldwerk, onder welke ruimte een karbouwekop horbo djonggi mepal.
7. datu soksong di banua tussen wiens benen de staart van een slang die met de kop benedenwaarts afgebeeld is met name si dari mangambat, beslaande de afbeelding van dit monster de lengte van ongeveer twee handen breedte, en onder deze een krokodil si bua<]a manolam waaronder een ruimte van ongeveer twee handen breedte niet van beeldwerk voorzien is, en gevolgd wordt door een iJzeren punt van ongeveer 1½ hand breedte. De staf is van tada-tada hout vervaardigd en geheel zwart van rook. De lengte bedraagt een mans hoogte.
Volgens een ander heten de beelden van boven af gerekend:
1. si adji donda hatahutan, tussen zijn benen si ulok manorus, onder zijn voeten een hoofd met een lichaam naar achteren si boru sopak panaluan, onder zijn billen een hoofd djolma so begu.
2. si tapi radja na uwasan, achter hem si andjik porburu-buru, onder hem si horbo pajung.
3. datu parsatti raja achter hem weer dezelfde hond en onder hem si datu (sic, read dari) mangambat.
4. datu parmangmang manuk, achter hem sinaboru parsubuti.
5. datu sunggu banta.
6. datu si nukar nakir na de ongebeeldhouwde ruimte volgt djolma so begu onder hem si dari mangambat en onder deze slang de krokodil si buwaja manolam. Maar de stok die ik bij deze beschrijving gebruikte was reeds geschonden zodat het verschil der opgaven misschien daaraan toe te schrijven is.

pp. 121-120b. Batak script. Letter.
pp. 121-140. Texts in Latin script, in Toba Batak.
- pp. 124-121. Notes by van der Tuuk. See p. 21, above. p. 124: Batara guru heeft zeven zonen: 1. maga-maga. 2. sibor-boron. 3. panganbuan. 4. uputuan na mulahim. 5. sanijang naga langit. 6. sanijang naga tano. 7. si dajak parudjar. si radja guru ook een hond van B.Guru. debata hasi-hasi is kinderloos. Batara guru is de donderaar, schepper der mensen. Tuan na Mulahim die een middengod is heeft de dieren geschapen en waakt voor de mensen. Saniang naga tano is de ondergod, heeft ook het water geschapen, en voedert naga padoha en heeft hem m het blok gezet. De dieren hebben geen begu. Si Dajak parudjar mannelijke god met zeer lange borsten doet de maan wassen en afnemen; de regenboog. Si boru Deang na gurastam dochter van Batara guru bedekt de maan en zon (eclips).
Then a summary treatment of the dispute between the sun and the moon, as in OVB 3: Bulan (ook si Deang pardomdoman) is een vrouw. De zon een man (hij heet ook si deang mangilas).
De regenboog is een opslurping van water naar boven van waar het weer naar beneden komt.

Naga padoha heeft het eiland Sumatra op zijn hoofd, en zijn voeten zijn in het blok waarin hij gezet is omdat anders de gehele aarde zou wegzinken. Wanneer nu een horzel (untung-untung) in de grootte van een geit hem steekt schudt hij zich en dat is een aardbeving.
Saniang naga tano geeft naga padoha het eten in de mond, omdat hij zijn handen nodig heeft om de aarde op te houden. De handen van naga padoha zitten aan de wortels der aarde vast.
Leang-leang mandi is de Vader van alle zwaluwen en is de zendeling van Batara guru doli.
De honden van Batara guru doli doden de mensen: 1. si bonang malabe. 2. si sori dandan. 3. si altong martubi-tubi. 4. si alametna. 5. si patogi dalan.
Si Singa mangaradja kijkt naar boven dan komt er regen; doet hij zijn mond wijd open dan krijgt men droogte, hij trapt maar eventjes tegen de grond en er ontstaat water. Zijn geboorte is de dood van zijn vader.
De begus staan onder bevel van Batara guru doli. Batara guru straft de misdadigers en beloont de mensen.
Amatsikki is een beeld van bakkar ni bagot dat door de oorlogvoerenden wordt medegevoerd.
Radja paruba-uba doet de mensen sterven aan ziektes die geen bestemde plaats hebben of die zich telkens verplaatsen.
Si adji saksahele maakt de gekken die schaterend lachen.
Oppu hala, hala suksang, bittakpariama, bittaksidongdong sterren.
De begu boru ni ranggapuri matutung maakt droogte en daarom hongersnood.
De vrouwelijke begu sinang bela verwekt het sterven in het kraambed.
Datu sigundja is haar man.'

Then follow notes about stories (OVB 103 and 187).

The above notes by van der Tuuk (on pp. 118-119, 124, 265) were probably made when van der Tuuk was only a short period in Batak country. By putting direct questions he may have received wrong answers (Voorhoeve's opinion). An example of this is that the sun in OVB 3 would a man. Equally incorrect is that the living statue in OVB 103 would be a man. The essential point of the story is the question to whom the girl created from a statue must be given in marriage. pp. 281-300. Parnabajahon. An extensive and detailed description of the sacrifice to be made by the village community at the bathing place of the village, to the gosts, namely the nabajak, with whom the ancestor of the community must be meant, after two years of failed crops of turnips and rice, in order to ask for blessing and fertility in the future. The making of the altar (langgatan of tambangan) is described in great drtail, the offerings are enumerated, all offering prayers pronounced by the datu (tonggo-tonggo) are given, the parts that the radja, the namora boru and the crowd have in the ceremonies are mentioned. The offerings mainly consists of flour cook and a white and a brown chicken or cock (manuk lahi bini). After the killing of the chicken the datu consults the omens in its inside and from these he predicts good luck for the next harvest. His reward in rice will be abundantly given to him after the harvest. The text contains many repetitions and also many peculiarities which are mentioned in the same way elsewhere in van der Tuuk's texts, e.g. pangaraksaon names of many objects in the world of the Batak village. Yet it is fascinating reading, especially if one has seen such an offering ceremony performed, and one is able to visualize the description in the text. From the text it is clear to Voorhoeve that nabajak is not the name of the festivity (as is given in van der Tuuk's Woordenboek) but of the ancestor spirit to whom the offerings are given. A few emandations to the text made by van der Tuuk are based on his misunderstanding. A word which is not explained in van der Tuuk's Woordenboek is habangsa. It is something on which the datu has to sit, a sort of chair or bench. If there is no habangsa he can sit on a sack of rice. In the Woordenboek is only given: di habangsa omas (literally 'on a golden habangsa'). It refers to a way of crouching when one shoots a rifle (Warneck-Marcks-Winkler, Toba-Batak - Deutsches Wörterbuch: erhöhter Sitzplatz, Thron).
One has to admire the author of this text who has succesfully completed his most extraordinary task to record such a description. He has conceived it as a sort of turi-turian, a short of long story, of which he may have already recorded several other ones at van der Tuuk's request. After the style of the pustaha's he begins his text as follows: 'Surat ni parnabajahon ma inon na tau turi-turian ma inon asa i ma na tian gurunta bao

Guru Badia Porhas hata ni adji asa hupodahon namuse ma di ho ale ibebere bao Guru Sabungan hata ni adji datu partandang bolon tu banua ni halak guru na lambok malilung na soada luluan bada molo soada na mangido asa ho ma hape amang bajo Guru Sabungan radja ni Sarumatinggi na mian di tano Raba-raba (asa hupodahon namuse ma di ho ale tuan Pan dor Tuk) poda ni tonggo-tonggo ni parnabajahonta inon hupaboa namuseng ma di ho ale tuan dohot ambu-ambuan ni parnabajahonta inon.'The words between bracked have been crossed out by van der Tuuk, and the word tuan has been changed by him into sisean, pupil. He often deletes the words that refer to him. The information that the author was the head of Sarumatinggi and that his datu name was Guru Sabungan cannot be doubted according to Voorhoeve. It would be worthwhile to compare this text in detail with the texts that have been written Guru Tinandangan. Then it would probably become clear that all information collected by van der Tuuk in the Toba Batak area of Upper-Barus, reflect a stable tradition in which the individual peculiarities of the different informants are of secundary importance. This tradition is locally confined. One cannot view these texts as a description of Batak religion ('de Batakse godsdienst'), but it is very valuable that a stable local tradition has been recorded so early by different informants. (P. pp. 437-472. Pangulubalang. Extensive description of how to make pangulubalang from the head of an enemy killed during a fight. The head undergoes all sorts of processes, in which the manindi occurs in the meaning which is given in van der Tuuk's Woordenboek, namely the shooting with blanks to a skul, in order to deduct an omen from the way it falls down. The head is then put in an earthen jar (gonsi). Then a messenger is sent to the enemy to ask them whether they want to buy back the head for four rixdollars, or else it will be used to make pangulubalang of it. The enemy renounces from buying the head back. On p. 449 si Mangara Pintu is mentioned: Ia nung i ditonggo datu i ma guruna guru na djolo si Mangara Pintu na di borngin mula ni panuppaon pangaroburon ni oppunta pangulubalang mula ni oppunta ma inon rambu siporhas susuran batara guru doli na tangi pinggol na tonggor mata i ma dohot mula ni pangulubalang panuruni na godang dohot mula ni oppunta pangulubalang buhu tanduk sianggasana si suda uhur ni musunta si manoktohi na margoarhon si tapi na rumonda ronda si tapi na rumondi rondi na marpulung-pulung- ngankon na matektek tian langit na manggulmit tian tano na marhula-hulahon udan na marale-alehon ambolas na marsuru-suruanton leang-leang mandi, i ma ninna datu i martangiang di tonga ni alaman. The consultation of the cut-off neck of a pig is described on pp. 456 ff. The lead is poured in the jar which contains the skull. This jar is kept in a cave (liang batu). It is closed with a well-fitted stone lid. In this lid a hole is made in which an iron tube is made with an idjuk plug. Through that some of the moist is dripped in one of two smaller jars (guri-guri), in which other ingredients are kept, mostly of vegetable substance. After about a year the pangulubalang descends into the datu as his medium, and requests an offering, or else he will kill his medium. Then an even greater feast must be given, during which a buffalo is slaughtered, in order to give the pangulubalang a name. The male pangulubalang receives the name si torban dolok, the female one the name si ruppak batar-batar ni musu. After the ceremony both guri-guri are well kept in another cave which nobody ever enters. A transliteration of the beginning of the text, the passage on manindi, is found in Or. 12.475. P. Voorhoeve, Codices Batacici (Leiden 1977), pp. 175-176.

the other side: Poda ni tembak pusaha ni putir alam dunia. Finally a precript for a pitunang. (Codices Batacici, p. 172).
pp. 216-242. Latin script. Poda ni partonggo ni parbuhitan. See OVB 1t. The original is now in the National Museum of Ethnography, No. 1239/267. Copy of this pustaha. See Or. 12.322, ff. 697-698. 'Afschrift van een Hds toebehoorende aan oppu ni manukkol langit hoofd van Aeek na oelie.' A full description of the manuscript should better be made on the basis of the original. It is mainly a text about porbuhitan, divination with a buffalo, but the usual enumeration of omens to be observed from the falling of the buffalo into a certain direction of the compass is not given. Remarkable is the creation story in the long prayer for the offering rice with which the book begins. The different sorts of offering knives (surik) are treated extensively, in an illustrated text. There is no chain of transmission. However, one marga name occurs in an enigmatic passage: Ia boti do si tadjo ambangera anak na di ubungon hasoktian sinatti pe djalo so sinatti pe djalo tombal na dipandjalohon. Also mention is made of Datu Biksu Raja, whose name is at the beginning of a chain of transmission of a porbuhitan text in MS BAT. 31. (Codices Batacici, pp. 172-173).
The piece between pp. 242-243: 12 pp. in Batak script. First pieces for young pupils. Education in the hadatuon, consisting of the following pieces:

Batak, treebark, 37 ff., 17 x 18 cm.
A 1 Title: Poda ni gorak-gorahan ni manuk, ominous signs in the interior of sacrificied chicken.
A 2 Chain of transmission, partly illegible.
A 3 - a 36 and b 1 - b 21 pandjahai, a paragraph beginning with the word djaha, 'if' (a certain omen is there, one should do this or that). In between this (b 17 and b 18) twice Poda ni pamunu ni gorak-gorahan na so na gabe, how one should make unfavourable omens without danger.
A 36 text on half of the page, then follows the drawing of a divination chicken.
37 pasted to the cover.
B 21 Poda ni mangmang porbue, two prayer formulas, to be said over the (peeled, uncooked) rice, each beginning: Asa turun ma hamu..., 'descend you (gods of the underworld), and (b 24) mangmang manuk, a prayer formula, said over a chicken, in which is said: songoni tijan guru songoni ma ro di sisean, 'as it comes from the teacher, so exactly come it to the pupil'.
B 25 - b 28 Blank.
In the reverse direction:
B 37 pasted against the cover.
B 36 Figure of the eight directions of the compass with, according to the caption on b 35 called: hatiha tugusan mago.
B 32 - b 31 pangarumai, that is paragraphs beginning with ruma ni... the indication of places that certain persons, or groups of persons, have on the oracle (in this case the rice- wan, on which the slices of lemon are thrown.

B 31 - b 29 Paragraphs beginning with djaha pangir, if the slices of lemon fall (in such and such a way) ...
B 29 The drawing that is made on the rice-wan of the oracle.
See transliteration in Or. 12.322, ff. 1-4.

Or. 3424
Batak, treebark, 31 ff., 22,3 x 10,8 cm.
A 1 Pasted to the cover,
A 2 Drawing as a writer's exercise.
A 3 Beginning. Title: Poda ni hatotoganta ... (a 4) na morgoar pangulubalang tungkot homang, about a magical champion (spirit made servile to the magician), called tung kot homang, literally 'dwarf's staff'. Chain of transmission.
A 5 - a 12 Enumeration of the ingredients from which the pangulubalang is prepared.
A 12 - a 16 About the making of the coffin (batang) for the person (bajo) who has to be killed in order to make him into pangulubalang, and about how to kill him by pouring melted tin in his throat.
A 16 - a 25 Several drawings, e.g. those that have to be drawn on the coffin. In the captions there are, among other things, formulas to incite the pangulubalang, beging with surung!
a 25 - a 27 About the making of a human statue of soft stone (batu ranggisgis) with a bowl of water for ritual purification on the head as the seat for the pangulubalang. Similar statues can be found on the bone coffins, see e.g. G.L.Tichelman & P. Voorhoeve, Steenplastiek in Simaloengoen, Medan 1938, fig. 46 and BKI 99, p. 350, fig. 2.
A 27 - a 31 About the several applications of the pangulubalang written in paragraphs that contain each a drawing with a caption, beginning: ahu ma debata... this is the god ..., e.g. ahu ma debata ni si langlang taon, to be drawn on a skull (ulu ni djolma).
The end of a 31 does not correspond to b 1, so there must be a piece at the end of the treebark missing.
B 1 - b 6 Sequel of the section with the paragraphs beginning with ahu ma debata.
b 6 - b 30 Further instructions for the application of the pangulubalang.
b 31 Blank.
See also Or. 3463, below, which treats the same subject. The central part of the chains of transmission in Or. 3424 and Or. 3463 corresponds.
An illustration from this manuscript is in the exhibition catalogue Schatten uit de Leidse Bibliotheek (Leiden 1967), in which the section on the Oriental manuscripts has been compiled by R. Or. 3425
Batak, treebark, 65 ff., 22.5 x 12.5 cm.
A 1 - a 3 Blank.

A 4 - a 50 Poda ni pamusatan ni pamuhu tanduk, about a magic cure that is kept in a horn, partly in connection with the days of the month and the twelve months, among other things on a 12 - a 14 drawings for the months. With a chain of transmission on a 4- a5.
A 51 Poda ni pormesa, about the signs of the Zodiac. This goes till a 64.
A 65 Pasted to the cover.
B 1 - b 2 Blank.
B 3 Sequel of the part about the pormesa, till b 7.
B 8 - b 12 Poda ni panorangta dl bisara na godang na dua hall pitu, see P. Voorhoeve, A catalogue of the Batak manuscripts [in] the Chester Beatty Library. Including two Javanese manuscripts and a Balinese painting.Dublin 1961, p.75. With a chain of transmission.
B 12-16 Poda ni pormesa na sampulu duwa pamilangta di suara ni gordang mula bongot dl pintu ni halak dl bisara na godang, about the signs of the zodiac in connection with drum music, and also about the 8 panggorda and 5 pormamis (this must have been meant although all the time there is pormasi).
B 16 - 17 Poda ni pormesa ni panggorda ni mate tolu, in which only 3 out of the 12 signs are mentioned, namely mesa, singa and mahara (of each four three have 'died', mate tolu?).
B 17-24 Poda ni porsili ni an na tolu pulu dohot bulan na sampulu duwa, about substitutes for our warriors (sothat they can escape the dangers of battle), one for each day and one for each month, with 42 small drawings in red and black.
B 24 - 42 Poda ni panggadja-gadja ni panuruni. Under this title all sorts of magic devices are described that are sent to the enemy, always with an illustration. The first drawing represents the horbo huring, a buffalo figure made of bambu, with charms in it. See P. Voorhoeve, A catalogue of the Batak manuscripts [in] the Chester Beatty Library. Including two Javanese manuscripts and a Balinese painting.Dublin 1961, under No. 1103. Apart from a buffalo, there is also the figure of an elephant (gadja). The word panggadja-gadja probably refers to this.
b 43 - 50 Poda ni pangulubalang si ampudada aman dumarokdok di portibi, with at the end a drawing of a figure of seven heads on top of one another.
b 50 – 62 Written in another hand. Also the names of the writer and his pupil are different. Poda ni pormunijan, about all sorts of ominous signs, partly accorcing to the dirtections of the compass.
b 63 - 64 Blank.
b 65 Pasted to the cover.
Or. 3394 (g 9), pp. 52-71, is a copy. See Or. 12.322, ff. 9-13. (Codices Batacici, pp. 18-19).

Or. 3426
Batak, treebark, 31 ff., 27 x 17 cm.
a 1 Blank.
a 2 - 28 Poda ni pagar surat na sampulu sia, about the 19 letters of the Batak alphabet as a protective means, with an extensive chain of transmission, in which the last pupil ends with a complaint about the jealousy of his uncle, the elder brother of his father. All sorts of applications of this pagar are enumerated. Among these, on p. a15 pagar sahulu angia, in which five statuettes are made, that represent the five auxiliary signs (anak ni surat according van der Tuuk's Spraakkunst): hamisaran (the -ng-sign), sihorani (thus here, instead of sihora the o-sign), hauluan (the i-sign), haborotan (the u-sign) and hatadingan (the e-sign). The five small puppets with the chicken on top on p. a 17 do without a doubt represent these signs. Another curious drawing is the one on p. a 19: three puppets, the central one of which is standing on his head and represents ampilas, what means, according Van der Tuuks Woordenboek: a spirit that descends in the garb of a white cloud and that brings destruction. The word almost always occurs in the combination ampilas manantan, the ampilas hanging down. This hanging down is represented by the upside-down puppet.

a 29 - 30 About pagar, protective devices, that is pagar sarungga bisa.
a 31 Blank, pasted to the cover.
B 1 Blank.
B 2-3 Sequel to the pagar: pagar sianggasana and pagar panindi. Abrupt end.
B 4-30 Blank, but provided with lines, so it must have been the intention to continue the text.
B 31 Pasted to the cover.
The latter part of the chain of transmission in Or. 3464, below, is identical with the one in this manuscript, but the subject matter of the texts is different.
See Or. 12.322, ff. 14-16. (Codices Batacici, pp. 19-20).

Or. 3427
Batak, treebark, 53 ff., 36 x 17 cm
Incomplete copy (beginning and end missing) of a text about Adji pajung, divination with a pig, the head of which has been cut off. The MS makes an older, or at least more torn impression, than Or. 3428.
Collation between Or. 3427 and Or. 3428:

Or.3427	Or.3428
A 1 Half a page, the end of the introduction.
	A 3-4. Introduction with extensive chain of transmission
A 1-53 pangarumai ni adji pajung, table of the mansions, that is the special ominous spots in the pig head divination.	a 5-63. Same text as in Or. 3427.
	A 63-90 and b 3-41 A large portion of text about adji pajung that is lacking in Or. 3427. Here begins b 38 the poda ni portimusan, about omens to be discerned in smoke.
B 1 Last paragraph of the portimusan.	B 41. Same text.
B 1-17 Sequel to adji pajung text.	B 42-63. Same text.
	b 63-90 Another piece about adji pajung, etc. that does not occur in Or.3427.
b 18-35 A text about pamunu tanduk, that does not occur in Or. 3428.

The last name in the chain of transmission of the adji pajung-text in Or.3428 is Ompun Tuwan Djudjur van de marga Simanullang in Huta Gurgur. He was the brother-in-law (lae)of his teacher Datu Ronggur ni adji. At the beginning of Or. 3427 at least two leaves are missing, on which must have been the title, the chain of transmission and the introduction of the adji pajung-text. The end of the introduction is in Or.3428: and i ma ho datu ulang ma ho lupa di poda ni adji pajung ma inon ale lae ma i, 'Well, you, Datu, do not forget the teaching that is about adji pajung, o my brother-in-law (lae).' In Or. 3427: ulang lupa di pangarumai datunami hela ma, 'Do not forget the table of the mansions, o our Datu, you who are my son-in-law (hela)', or that must have been the meaning, as the text seems to be more or less corrupt. The names of the teacher and his son-in-law are not found in adji pajung-text of Or. 3427. In the text about pamunu tanduk is said on b 17 that it originates from Ompu Ronggur, whose pupil was Ompu ni Mangaronsang, who in the text is addressed a few times as Guru Mangaronsa(ng), and as the pupil to whom another part of the text was transmitted is mentioned on b 23 si Radja Bobotul in Matiti. As the script in the entire book is the same, one may assume that the hela from the beginning, Ompu ni Mangaronsang alias Guru Mangaronsang and si Radja Bobotul in Matiti are one and the same person. He was the writer of the beautiful porbuhitan-manuscript Or. 3548, in which he is mentioned as Ompu ni Mangaronsang ni adji in Matiti, pupil and son-in-law (hela) of Datu Ronggur ni adji in Huta Gurgur. From this it is evident that Datu Ronggur ni adji = Ompu Ronggur in Huta Gurgur was the teacher of both his brother-in-law and co-villager Ompun Tuwan Djudjur, and of his son-in-law Ompu ni Mangaronsang in Matiti for the adji pajung. Or. 3427 and Or. 3428 are therefore two copies from a pustaha that belonged to Datu Ronggur ni adji.
After the long text that the two manuscripts have in common (but of which in Or. 3427 a large portion between the end of side a and the beginning of side b are lost), follows in Or. 3427 a pamunu tanduk text, and in Or. in 3428 a part that mostly is concerned with the subject of adji pajung.
A small puzzle constitutes the strip of paper that is pasted Or. 3428 on pp. a 50-54 along the left edge. There are black diagonals on it, between which there is writing in red ink, but which has become illegible and could not be deciphered by Voorhoeve. The text of the pustaha goes alongside, and the paper strip was possibly pasted on the treebark, for the purpose of reinforcement of a weak spot.
In de Leiden library are two more such extensive texts on divination with pigs, Or. 8776 a 69-b 78 and Or. 10.855 a 2-68, below. In MS Dublin, Ch.B.1115, some of the texts that also occur in the introduction Or. 3428, are explained. See P. Voorhoeve, *A catalogue of the Batak manuscripts [in] the Chester Beatty Library. Including two Javanese manuscripts and a Balinese painting.*Dublin 1961, p. 49.
In the chapter about portimusan (divination from smoke clouds) Or. 3428 has four drawings. The last one of these can also be found in Or. 3427 after the long lacuna. One does not find here, however, the drawing of the heavenly tree (hariara sundung di langit), that occurs in this context in Or. 10.855 and MS Dublin Ch.B.1115.
In the final part of Or. 3428 are a few remarkable pieces, that is:

b 69 Poda ni harahar ni anak na tolu sada ina, about the harahar of three sons of a mother. The word harahar (Karo kelakar) occurs in many pustaha's, but it is not explained in the dictionaries. Voorhoeve is not sure about its meaning. Here it is said, for instance, that if the harahar of the eldest son falls on the middle son, the eldest will die and the middle one will become prosperous. One would think, therefore, that harahar would mean something like sahala, in the inborn dignity. However, the assumption of Liberty Manik, Batak-Handschriften. Wiesbaden 1973, No. 133), this it is a charm, is more appropriate to other passages in which this word occurs. Or. 10.855 a 55, and MS Dublin Ch.B. 1115 b 9 (see P. Voorhoeve, A catalogue of the Batak manuscripts [in] the Chester Beatty Library. Including two Javanese manuscripts and a Balinese painting. Dublin 1961, p. 51).
b 87 Poda ni si adji sombauta, and further on si tapi untahorna. Compare this with what is said in the Kopenhagen catalogue about si Tapi Sombauta (see P. Voorhoeve, Catalogue of Indonesian manuscripts [of the Royal Library, Copenhagen], Part 1. Batak manuscripts. With a contribution by Carl Schuster. Copenhagen 1975, under BAT. 34).
See Or. 12.322 ff. 17-24. (Codices Batacici, pp. 20-22, treated by Voorhoeve together with Or. 3428, below, because of the similiarity of the two texts and their common source).

Or. 3428
Batak, treebark, 92 ff., 30 x 16 cm.
Complete copy of a text about Adji pajung, divination with a pig, the head of which has been cut off. The MS makes an younger impression than Or. 3427, above. See for a joint description of Or. 3427 and Or. 3427 the previous description.
Or. 3394 (o 2) pp. 27-102 is a copy. See the transliteration in Or. 12.322 ff. 17-24. (Codices Batacici, pp. 20-22, treated by Voorhoeve together with Or. 3427, above, because of the similiarity of the two texts and their common source).

(Bat. 7)

Or. 3430
Batak, treebark, 16 ff., 44 x 28,5 cm.
Two Toba Batak stories, recorded for van der Tuuk. The stories are 'Si Sangmaima and Datu Dalu' (OVB 110; published as an appendix to van der Tuuk's grammar dictate published by A. Schreiber), 'Sinaboru Saroding' (OVB 93a). Of neitrher story is a text on paper. The title is peculiar: Poda ni porbuhitan, 'prescription for buffalo divination', which has no bearing whatsoever on the contents. Written by Guru Habinsaran from Silaga-laga. He also wrote Or. 3465 and Or. 3533, below. He also wrote Or. 3572, below. The writer has illustrated the stories with interesting drawings. See the illustration of a 16 in Codices Batacici, pp. 508-509.

Or. 3432
Batak, treebark, 42 ff., 36 x 24.5 cm.
Three Batak stories recorded for van der Tuuk.
a1-b12 Radja Imbulu Man. OVB 181 b. (= Or. 3404 pp. 171-252).
b12-b35 Nan Djomba Hik. OVB 85. (= Or. 3401 pp.1-47).
b35-b41 Si Djonaha. OVB 185b. (= Or.3400 pp. 94-116). b41 Tabas ni subutan. There was no text on paper of these. A typewritten transliteration is pasted in Or.3400 p. 117.
There are two more such large treebark books with Batak stories, in Amsterdam (KIT A 4171) and Dresden, Museum für Völkerkunde 34226. See Liberty Manik, Batak-Handschriften. Wiesbaden 1973, No. 254.

Or. 3433
Batak, treebark, 51 ff., 15.5 x 9.5 cm.
a 1 Pasted to the cover.
a 2-39 Poda ni pangarhari, about divination with an egg.
a 40-51 and b 2-4 About the protective device pagar pamalohi.
b 1 Pasted to the cover.
b 5-47 Is written in another hand. The chain of transmission is also different. Divination such as pormesa, pormamis, panggorda, rambu mangipa, pangarambui sipitu-pitu and pinangan ni ari.
b 48-50 Drawing of an animal. According to Mrs. M.T. Mostert-Silitonga it is a lizard.
b 51 Blank.

Or. 3435
Batak, treebark, 59 ff., 23 x 12.5 cm.
Most probably written by the same datu who also wrote the manuscript which is now kept in Kopenhagen, BAT. 2, namely Guru Niapoan ni adji. See P. Voorhoeve, Catalogue of Indonesian manuscripts [of the Royal Library, Copenhagen], Part 1. Batak manuscripts. With a contribution by Carl Schuster. Copenhagen 1975.
a 1 Pasted to the cover.
a 2-50 Rambu siporhas.
a 51-56 Pormesa with small drawings.
a 56-57 The pormamis without drawings as saem.
a 58-59 Mintora ni pagar.
b 1 Pasted to the cover.
b 2-3 Another piece about the pormesa, seems to be a later addition.
b 4-6 Poda ni panorang na duwa hali pitu (clearly here meaning 'moments of the day'), and pamunpunan ni bulan na 12.
b 6-35 Pamunu tanduk.
b 35-39 Sipatama-tama ni bulan na 12.
b 39-53 Pangulubalang (ni)de bat a na helung.
b 53-56 Pandjahai ni rambu modom; to this belongs also b 57-58.
b 56-57 Poda ni pamuhui ni ulu-ulu ni musunta. Published as text R in the Kopenhagen catalogue under BAT. 5.
b 58-59 A piece about pormamis and panggorda written in reverse direction.

Or. 3436
Batak, treebark, 31 ff., 23.5 x 16 cm.
Many folds of this manuscript are wholly or partly broken. At the beginning something is missing, probably one page of text. The text has been written in several hands. Sometimes the northern ta is used, sometime the southern one, sometimes both ones in one piece of text. Once Voorhoeve found the sign for the final h. Pp. a1 and 2 are in a hand different from the piece that begins on a 3, but the subject matter is the same. On top of page a1 the marga name Simanullang can be discerned. Otherwise there are no names of teachers in the entire manuscript. The text is divided in many small pieces, and there are numerous, rather sloppily executed, black pangulubalang drawings. See the related text in MS Kopenhagen BAT. 2.

a 1-2 and 3-30 Pangulubalang sitoba-toba. From this Voorhoeve has transcribed a piece in Or. 12.322, in which is related how the seven-headed bird nanggordá plants the different body parts of the sanggapati (a particularly strong pangulubalang) of the enemy. From these grow all sorts of strong magical plants, etc.
a 31 Blank.
b 1 Pasted to the cover.
b 2-3 Pangulubalang sitangkup pinggan.
b 3-8 Pangulubalang si tapi sindar, the female pendant (boru-boru) of the preceding.
b 8 A dorma to gain the favours of a girl. See MS Kopenhagen BAT. 3.
b 8-16 Pandjahai about the constellation (or months, bintang) 4-12. This piece is of another hand than what precedes it. For each month there is a figure that looks like a sort of secret script.
b 16-20 Pangarhari, divination with an egg.
b 20-23 Pamuhu tanduk.
b 24-31 Blank.

Or. 3437
Batak, treebark, 34 ff., 25 x 17 cm.
Between the end of side a and the beginning of side b a part is lacking. The entire manuscript is written in one hand, except the text on a 1-4.
a 1 Pasted to the cover.
a 2 Blank.
a 3-4 A chain of tyransmission that ends in Urat (on Samosir).
a 4-34 and b 1-20 Adji pajung with a chain of transmission of its own, the names of which can also be found here and there in the text. Written by Guru Sumundut ni adji for his pupil Guru Morhite Adji. The most extensive adji pajung texts treat the divination with a pig or a dog, but adji pajung is also the name of a lemon oracle (panampuhi) and of a sort of divination with a chicken. The latter meaning is applicable here. The text almost entirely consists of an enumeration of the omens in the interior of a chicken.
b 20-33 panabari, to render powerless the bad influences, further on it is called pagar, protective device.
b 34 Blank.

This manuscript learns us to be prudent about the authenticity of the chains of transmission. Apparently a datu from another area than where the book was made originally has acquired the book and written his own spiritual pedigree in the beginning. If this manuscript would have been copied, the two different hands would not be discernable anymore in such a copy, and it would have become impossible to ascertain the value of the chains of transmission.

Guru Sumundut ni adji is called namora Na di Golan Siringo-ringo. Na di Golan therefore seems to be an older name of the marga that is now called Nainggolan.

Or. 3438
Batak, treebark, 47 ff., 15.5 x 10.5 cm
Very neat and regular handwriting, all in one hand, the borders all provided with a continuous ornamented borderline. Only the last page of the text is in another, earlier, hand. We find here a drawing of the horbo huring, that, in a newer shape, also occurs on two pages earlier from that. It would therefore appear that the entire text was rewritten, for which the old text was wiped off bit by bit. This has been done in a very thourough way. Without that last page Voorhoeve would never have thought that this is a palimpsest book.
The chain of transmission of the new text is not altogether clear. In the part about rambu siporhas the chain begins with Ompu Radja Maun (later: Mau) from Dolok na Bolon, but elsewhere in the text it is said that this poda originates from si Mangara Pintu na di borngin Sihotang Pordabuwan anak ni Saur ni adji. Apparently something between na di borngin and Sihotang Pordabuwan has been lost, because the fact that si Mangara Pintu would be of the marga Sihotang is contradictory to all other information. Moreover, in other chains of transmission he precedes by far Sa(j)ur ni adji, whose son he is mentioned to be here. It is said unequivocally that pustaha is written by Guru Debata for his pupil Guru Manatar, but Voorhoeve cannot decide whether this has been taken from the older text or that it applies to the new copy.
a 2 Only the ornamented borderline.
a 3-46 Rambu siporhas.
a 47 Blank.
b 1 Pasted to the cover.
b 2 Only a bindu for the purpose of exercise.
b 3-15 Pamuhu tanduk.
b 15-16 About pieces of meat that may not be eaten. (rasun ni longit and saetan).
b 17-22 About pangulubalang na gara di langit and si tapi sin- dar. Originates from Guru Hapea n.a. b 23-30 Poda ni pongpang ni pamunu tanduk, originating from Guru Dairi ni adji. On b 35, however, is again pamuhu tanduk. Probably pamunu and pamuhu tanduk are the same after all.
b 31-45 Several application of this magic (adji), such as preventing slaves from running away, a dorma sahuta, the making of statues of a boru sibaso bolon and datu panusur (illustration on b 38), een horbo huring (statue of a buffalo, made of bambu, with all sorts of magical devices in it, illustration on b 44), etc. All this apparently has to do with the pamuhu tanduk.

b 46 A small and almost illegible remainder of the old text, with a drawing of the horbo huring.

About gorak-gorahan adji pajung, omens to be observed during the divination with a chicken. Written by Guru So Matahut. Guru So Matahut ni adji is the same as the writer of Or. 3419, above, pp. 117-120. See also P. Voorhoeve, Codices Batacici (Leiden 1977), p. 178. See for transliteration Or. 12.322 ff. 52-53.

Or. 3440
Batak, treebark, 45 ff. 13 x 9.5 cm.
The text in this manuscript is related to that in Or. 3448. The chain of transmission of Or. 3440 gives the following names: Ompu Rad ja Dingkan n.a. - Datu Rondang n.a. – Guru Sanijang Naga n.a. - Guru Mangalenggang n.a. of the marga Simamora Purba in Dolok Sanggul – his two brothers in law Aman Toga Holbung n.a. and Guru Sininta n.a. of the marga Na di Munte in Sosor Tobing. Or. 3448 also begins with Ompu Radja Dingkan n.a. but has between him and Datu Rondang n.a. another name: Guru Padoha n.a. About Datu Rondang n.a. we are told there that he belonged to the marga Situmorang and lived in Huta Gurgur. He transmitted his knowledge top a pupil whom he considered as a son (therefore also of the marga Situmorang), whose name is Radja Batu Guru n.a.. The latter's uncle (amangboru, man of father's sister) who copied the pustaha for him was Guru Sanijang Naga n.a., who we know already from Or. 3440 as a pupil of Datu Rondang. Therefore, we may assume that Or. 3448 is somewhat older than Or. 3440. As far as the contents is concerned, Or. 3440 corresponds, from the beginning till approximately b 35 with the text in Or. 3448 from the beginning till b 22. On the level of particularities, there is much difference, however.

b 1 Blank, except for a writing exercise.
b 35-44 Pangulubalang si pintu langit. This piece is of different origin, namely Guru So Malanggak n.a. - Guru So Tagamon hata n.a. - Guru Mangalenggang n.a. and then further as above.

Batak, treebark, 16 x 13.5 cm.
Neat manuscript, hardly if ever used, written by Guru Matoga, pupil of a datu with the peculiar name Ompu Radja na So (= quiet) who lived in Dolok Sanggul. It contains two texts on protective devices, learned by Ompu Radja na So from different teachers, that is pagar subutan debata na helung (a 2-25 and b 2-8, compare with MS Kopenhagen BAT. 5) and pagar situngguk balik (b 8-23), both in a number of applications. Some of these applications are called pangulubalang, which proves that there is no sharp distinction between protective and aggressive magic.

Or. 3444
Batak, treebark, 47 ff., 14 x 10.5 cm.
The text treats only rambu siporhas, divination with a divination cord. Both sides are written upon. Peculiarities that one usually does not find in this way of divination are found in a table of 5 x 5 squares, over which are distributed four animal names: chicken, dog, elephant, tiger, and a tabel of seven squares in which the eight directions of the compass with in the squares the words mate or bunu.

Page a 1, that is pasted to the cover (and cannot be read, therefore), contains the beginning of the chain of transmission. On a 2 can still be read one name partly anmd three names fully. The last name is Ompun Tuan Nonggar ni adji. He is also addressed as a pupil on a 28, and equally on b 15. On b 5 one finds, however, Guru Tinadji ni adji, and on b 29 Radj a Pandulangan ni adji. As the handwriting in the entire manuscript is the same, one has to assume that these are three titles of one and the same person.
a 1 - b 21 Poda ni panampuhi Adji Pajung, about divination with slices of melon that fall on a wan of rice.
b 22-29 Poda ni pamusatan (ni) sipadiampa ni taon sipadiampa ni bulan ija ma inon na mandjadihon sibaganding tua maimaima sipadiampa ni ari anso hita dapotan ome. The word sipadiampa is Malay, si p ad i hampa, the personification of the empty rice ears. This must be, according to Voorhoeve, a remnant of pre-Islamic Malay magic and divination, that has continued to be used among the Bataks. If the right moments are not observed, sipadiampa makes that the luck bringing sibaganding-snake 'waits', that is that he will not make the rice grow.

Batak, treebark, 44 ff., 18.5 x 15 cm.
Only text on a 2-38. Subject matter: taoar buiend a duwa radja uhum uhum manisija mungka ni taoar mangolu, the magic hulonda medicine, the two rulers of the systems, the system of the human species, the origin of the living medicine. According to the chain of transmission this magic device came from a datu on the other side of the ocean, where people wear their loincloth wrongly and speak broken language. See also Or. 3447, below. The chain ends with Guru Mangalantas ni adji in Dolok na Bolon, who is all the time addressed as pupil. All sorts of porhitean ni taoar, methods for administering the device and to counteract charms of the enemy, are enumerated. It is not too farfetched to assume that hulonda is the Portuguese word Holanda. O for a in the paenultima of foreign words occurs more often, e.g. hobar (Mand.) = Arabic-Malay khabar, hopal = Tamil Malay kapal. A difficulty is the h, that in Toba Batak usually has evolved from k. In his Woordenboek, van der Tuuk gives ulanda. In Or. 8536, below, occurs, however, hulanda. See there, below.

Or. 3447
Batak, treebark, 38 ff., 26 x 18.5 cm.
Contains three texts which originate from different teachers. All were written for (and probably also by) the pupil Guru So Taromar ni adji. a 2 - b 6 Porsili, about substitutes that have to be offered to different spirits, that may harm us, usually in the shape of a human statue (called singa ni djolma). To the porsili the same epithets are applied as in the preceding MS (Or. 3446) to the foreigners: si djaluk marabit na haloat malilung, who puts on his loincloth in the wrong way and who speaks broken language. On a 18 ff several prescripts are given about the chopping into pieces of porsili (manampul), by which omens are derived from the direction in which the pieces of wood fall.
b 7-22 Pagar debata na helung, a protective device, taught by Guru So Taromar to Guru Pamemgan (sic, read Pamenggang?) ni adji in Banua Rea.
b 23-28 Poda ni pane na bolon, but this does not only treat the great dragon Pane na Bolon, but it contains mainly invocations addressed to the rulers of the eight directions of the compass, namely:
East: Pane na.Bolon.
South-east: Si Hutur Lombu-lombu from Huta Tinggi.
South: Pane Martua.
South-west: the spirit of the Batu Mortangga-tangga.

It is difficult to decide which side should be called side a and which one side b. On either side on p. 2 begins a new text. Both sides end abruptly, although there is space on which the text could have been continued. The chains of transmission on either side are entirely different. The only feature that both sides have in common is that they have been written by the same datu, whose name is not mentioned. He was an excellent calligrapher and artist, and he used very good black ink and red paint. Except for occasional superficial tear and wear this pustaha is well preserved. Mrs. M.T. Mostert-Silitonga has called the side with the longest chain of transmission and most blank pages side a. According to van der Tuuk the text began on the other side. Voorhoeve had first wanted to bring the description in concordance with van der Tuuk's idea, but eventually decided otherwise. Hence the corrections on the relevant pages in Or.12.322.

a 1 Drawing of three warriors with lances and swords. Leaf rather damaged. Underneath these figures is a ornamented border, also in black and red. The central figure wears two eardrops, in the shape of a lyre, of the type as depicted in plate IV, figure 4, in the Woordenboek of van der Tuuk. The man at the right wears one such eardrop. Over the central man is a circular radiating figure. In the drawing on a 5 one finds a similar figure over a warrior with two eardrops, and there is evidence that with this figure the moon is meant.

a 2 A beautiful large bindu in red and black, under which begins the text: Poda ni pamusatan ni Ompunta Pane na Bolon. The subject matter, however, is not mainly the great dragon Pane na Bolon, but rather four astrological powers that are subjected to him. These are batu holing, pane habang, pane mandjopput and pane radja. As a fifth power the moon is mentioned (bulan). Man's fate depends on the outcome of the quarrels between these powers. After this piece follows on a 5-6 a drawing with a compass in the centre, surrounded by eight figures, most armed, and again, just as on a 1 one with two eardrops and one with one eardrop. In a circle around this two dragons are lying. Voorhoeve thinks that these two together represent the circuit of Pane na bolon through the directions of the compass and that the eight human figures together symbolize the four astrological powers in their different positions. On the drawing are a number of other details, for which Voorhoeve has no explanation.

a 7-27 About the position of batu heling, pane radja, pane mandjopput en pane habang for the thirty days of the month.

a 27-28 Poda ni tangga ni ompunta Pane na Bolon, about the stairs of Pane na Bolon.

a 28-33 Poda ni alamat mat a intan, about the magical looking glass of diamond. The text, however, only contains instructions about what to do and what not to do on the seven days of the week. The last part, about the Saturday, is not completed.

a 34-40 Blank.

b 1 and 40 Pasted to the cover.

b 2-37 A list of omens to be observed during the divination with a chicken acoording to the method manuk gantung. On pp. 21-26 a way to predict the name of an enemy whom one is going to kill, according to the letters of the alphabet. In this alphabet the letters ga and nja are lacking, however. On pp. 26-35 are very beautiful drawings of the interior of the divination chicken, executed in black and red, with beautiful bindu's written over it.

Looks unused and has probably copied for van der Tuuk. The name of the pupil, in the chain of transmission is Sutan Radja di Langit, who has adopted as name of datu, the name of a famous datu from old time: Guru Mangara Pintu.
The title Poda ni pamusatan ni hatiha pehu is probably valid for the entire manuscript. The text mostly treats the choice of favourable times, according to the parmesa, panggorda and parmamis.

Only sides a 2-42 have text written on them. The remainder of side a and the whole of side b are blank. Because of damage to the first leaves, the title cannot be read. The subject of the entire text is: Pane na bo on. Parts are:
a 2-9 Porbingkason ni ompunta pane na bolon, about the right time to depart on an expedition, with an extensive reflection by the writer Guru Tinatang about his sad fate.
a 10-21 Poda ni hata-hata ni debata na tolu. Under this title one would expect a text about three gods. It contains, however, an extensive account of the course of Pane na Bolon through the directions of the compass.
a 21-30 Poda ni hatiha punpun si tolu-tolu, about twelve signs of the zodiac, reduced to three (mesa, singa, mahara).
a 30 An inexpertly made drawing of Pane na Bolon.
a 31-42 Poda ni pormesa na sampulu duwa, About the complete series of signs of the zodiac, with sloppily made black drawings.

Title: Poda ni mintora ni gorak-gorahan sibarobat. However, the text does not contain a conjuring formula (mintora) but a list of omens to be observed in a sort of divination. According to Voorhoeve, everything is written in one hand and that the text on side a, where de paragraphs begin with the words ruma ni... concern the same sort of divination as described in the text on side b, where the paragraphs begin with the words djaha dumatang ... From the manuscripts in Germany about gorak-gorahan sibarobat, that are described in the catalogue by Liberty Manik, Batak-Handschriften.

Wiesbaden 1973 (Nos. 56, 202 and 387), it appears that this is a sort of cock oracle. The omens are understood from the organs in the interior of the sacrificial animal. The word sibarobat is the name in the divination language of one of these organs, as is silandjang buhit. In MS Amsterdam 288/1, b 10 is given as an unfavourable omen: na morturbing sibarobat dohot silandjang buhit, sibarobat 'and a bend of the small intestine 'pick' (one another?).
b 26-32 Poda ni pagar simangidupi, about a protective device.

In the beginning is an extensive chain of transmission, that is given in the Kopenhagen catalogue (P. Voorhoeve, Catalogue of Indonesian manuscripts [of the Royal Library, Copenhagen], Part 1. Batak manuscripts. With a contribution by Carl Schuster. Copenhagen 1975), as it is almost entirely identical to the chain in MS Kopenhagen BAT. 35. The Kopenhagen manuscript is a facsimile drawn on paper, that was already mentioned in the catalogue by N.L. Westergaard, (Codices orientales Bibliothecae Regiae Havniensis. Kopenhagen 1846-1857). The original, after which the facsimile was drawn, was written for a pupil in the third degree of Guru Mangalagang. The Leiden manuscript is written for a direct pupil of this Guru Mangalagang and therefore certainly dates from the 18th century.

This is one of the most extensive texts about Porbuhitan, the omens to be observed during the killing (by stabbing) of the sacrificial buffalo. Voorhoeve has used this text in his article 'Batakse buffelwichelarij' in BKI 114 pp. 238-248. The chain of transmission is short and does not mention localities. The writer was called Guru Pangadjijan ni adji and belonged to the Sobu-tribe (anak na di Sobuon, a 69). The bindu matoga, as illustrated on b 20, that is drawn on the village square around the killing pole, is reproduced and discussed by Karl Schuster in his contribution to the Kopenhagen catalogue (P. Voorhoeve, Catalogue of Indonesian manuscripts [of the Royal Library, Copenhagen], Part 1. Batak manuscripts. With a contribution by Carl Schuster. Copenhagen 1975). The last part of the text, b 40-69, entitled Poda ni sahala ni ringkar ni ompunta sibaso na bolon, is a creation myth. This piece has been transcribed by Voorhoeve in Or. 12.322 ff. 676-688, and on ff. 688-691 are some more notes that complement the excerpt made by Mrs. M.T. Mostert-Silitonga.

Written by Guru So Djuangon hata ni adji of the marga Situmorang for his brother-in-law Guru Manolhing hata ni adji of the marga Simanullang in the village Huta Gurgur. The text treats medicine, and is divided into three parts, each with a chain of transmission of its own.
a 2-34 tambar si mangarakrak, mostly against poison and gadam (a magical device which causes lepra).
b 5-14 tambar babiat so sunggulon, about a medicine called 'the tiger that cannot be shaken awake', against insomnia.
b 15-34 taoar siappulalas, a magical device. On b 2-4 is, by way of filling up the space, mention of a tambar a medicine against short-windedness.

A chain of transmission for the entire text, that treats from beginning till end omens to be observed during the divination with a chicken, according to the method of manuk gantung. On b 11-14 are coloured drawings of the interior of a chicken. On b 29 is a compass with alongside it two cocks, a golden eardrop, two bracelets and four (sirih) leaves. Written in one hand, with a few fine drawings without red paint. In the beginning is mentioned as pupil Guru Sailan ni adji, who received the prescripts from his father. On b 38 the grandfather of the pupil (whose name is not given in that passage) is called Ompu Radja Mulija ni adji. Otherwise Voorhoeve has not found names of datu's, nor names of localities.
a 4-32 Pagar tulbas si unie bunga tulbas longa djati, a protective device against all sorts of hostile magic, some well known, such as panduga, panongt ongi en panaburi but others seen by Voorhoeve here for the first time and not explained in the dictionaries, such as sirambejur en langsijo.
a 32-40 pagar panangkal huwala sungsang, against sorcery and the influence of evil spirits.
a 40-57 pagar sori mamungkur, a device especially to be used in illness or pregnancy.
b 4-10 pagar tulbas duwa sungsang, a device to be used, among other things, against ominous dreams.

b 10-21 pangarhari si tungkap tunggaling sang rad ja hinasijangan. The word pangarhari here and in the following piece, does not concern divination with an egg, but it has to do with some sort of protective device.
b 21-33 pangarhari naga sitaeram, Also a protective device. In the drawing at the end is a sort of maze, but it is not a 'parik si Djonaha', as discussed by Carl Schuster in the Kopenhagen catalogue (P. Voorhoeve, Catalogue of Indonesian manuscripts [of the Royal Library, Copenhagen], Part 1. Batak manuscripts. With a contribution by Carl Schuster. Copenhagen 1975), but it is a long spiral the end of which is connected to the centre.
b 33-37 Poda ni porsahulahulaowanta di sombaon na laga, a few sayings, with much Malay in it, which are uttered upon the approach of a powerful nature spirit. The writer apparently was at a loss with the strange name, because later on he uses the word porsohulaon.
b 38-46 A medicine, tambar, against poison, etc.

The entire manuscript has been written by Ompu Radja Manodo of the marga Sihite in Lumban Tobing. The first part he wrote for his father-in-law (who calls hem amang kela), Ompu Radja Humba ni adji, the second part for his brother in law (lae, anak ni datulang) Radja Gumbot ni adji anak ni Sitindaon in Nagatimbul. Who of either pupil received the pustaha is not told. It is, of course, also possible that two copies were made. The two texts are the following:
a 2-27 poda ni si adji Mamis. To this belongs also the text on b 3-8 and on b 24-27. This text is entirely different from the poda ni pormamis, in which the moments of the day which are governed by Mamis, Bisnu, Sori, Hala and Borma are treated. As illustration to the latter one finds a divination table of five by five fields. In the present text the five spirits (begu na lima on p. a 8, originally Hindu gods) are invoked, adored, depicted, strengthened with magical brew (sihat), and finally buried. Usually one sees in such a text illustrations of each one of the five, but here they are united in one drawing on a 25, showing them together in a row.
b 8-24 Poda ni pamusatan ni tembak sum alamat debata, about the shooting with a gun, with illustrations of the different positions to be taken during the shooting. There is a separate chapter which treats the mistakes of a pupil and the way to correct these (porsalamatan ni siseanta). But if the pupil hits his teacher than that is a sign that the gods forbid the lessons to be continued.
Or. 3394 (o 6), pp. 154-160, above, is a copy. See also Or.12.322 ff. 122-125. (Codices Batacici, p. 37).

Very worn, beginning and end are lacking. In addition the last pages with text on both sides have been pasted to the covers. There are not many pages lacking, at least not of the side that has been called by Mrs. M.T. Mostert-Silitonga side b. At the beginning of side a (end of side b) probably more is missing. Especially the text on side b is very torn and worn and large parts are simply illegible. Some worn parts have been rewritten by a later hand. On b 1 and b 2 can still be seen part of a chain of transmission. As last pupil is mentioned Guru Mordjilam ni adji. On a 11 it transpires that he is the same person who is addressed elsewhere in the text as Ompu Radja Mamulpul, and that his teacher for the text on side a was Guru Tinonahon. Whether this is also applicable to the text on side b could not be ascertained by Voorhoeve.
Side a contains texts about pagar and pangulubalang. Side b contains texts about pormanuhon adji nangka piring. Only on side a are relatively detailed illustrations, rather well drawn with black and red, an some quite curious. There is no general title, maybe it was pangulubalang si pintu langit. Than name is mentioned rather frequently. With the treatment of the pangulubalang pordjaga-djaga tunggal panaluwan is a drawing of a human figure from whose body grow branches. This has certainly a connection with the myth of origin of the magical wand, in which the protagonists grow into a tree. Another pangulubalang is called heet begu mangusung bangke, spirits of the dead who carry a corps with sticks. This has been depicted on the drawing. The begu's are characterized by long twisted necks. There are also texts about the enigmatic harahar, but it is impossible to find out what is meant.

Although this manuscript makes a rather old and worn impression, it has certainly been written for van der Tuuk. It contains the same text as Or. 3404, above, pp. 42-88. Radja Gundur di Lalo. See OVB No.114. Of the leaves 4-7 (counted from the a-side) parts have been broken off, but there are no lacunae in the text. This means that the story has been written on an old manuscript, after the previous text had been thoroughly wiped off. Palimpsest.

(Bat. 38)

Or. 3461
Batak, treebark, 29 ff, 18.5 x 17 cm.
It is evident from a 1 that this strip of treebark has first had another text that has been wiped off in order to write the present text. After the writing of the present the manuscript does not seem to have been used. It will probably have been made for van der Tuuk. There are elaborate bindu's, that look more like wood sculpture on houses than like the traditional vignettes in the pustaha's. Along the edges is a continuous double black line. There are numerous drawings. These drawings, the bindu's and the borderline are coloured with red till b 8, then the red colour stops. At the end of side a is a somewhat sloppier drawing, in black only. Voorhoeve has the impression that the writer was not an accomplished dat, but someone who had a fair knowledge of datu science. For instance, he makes wrong use of the pronoun inon: alea datunami non. This makes Voorhoeve think of a Batak editor of Balai Pustaka, who, after assiduous study of van der Tuuk, has edited a European story in a somewhat archaic Toba Batak, but rather successful. That person believed with certainty that inon consisted of two words, i and non, and that is what he wrote in his redaction.

The writer of the present pustaha further shows his inexperience by drawing the figures of the poda ni tembak upside down, or at least different from what is usual. On the other hand, the shooting instructions are more realistic than they use to be in the pustaha's, so that they make the impression on a non-specialist (as Voorhoeve professes to be) that they may be based on ballistic experience.
The origin of the text is not very clearly indicated. In the beginning a teacher is mentioned: Si Djakkal Muwara. His name also occurs one time at the end. As pupil we only find mention in the beginning of Guru Sombaon ni adji. As owner of the pustaha is mentioned Ompu(n) Langge Sabungan of the marga Sinaga in Simanampang Huta Bagasan. Maybe he is the man who wrote the book for van der Tuuk.
The entire text on one side, a 2-28, concerns pamuhu tanduk and different sorts of applications thereof. One finds, e.g., also a variant of tabas ni ari na pitu, well known in Simalungun, but here extended to eight days. There is also a piece that treats the divination with a chicken, the head of which is cut off. The animal than falls on a drawing of a human figure, and depending on which body part it falls, the datu can make a prediction. Added to the text is a drawing of a human figure with a chicken.
On the other side, b 2-20, is the poda ni tembak simardjarungdjung, about shooting with a rifle, with many drawings illustrating the different positions during the shooting.
On b 21-24 is a table with 7 quadrangles with compasses in it, and with the words mate and bunu. The figure has several heads and legs. Over it is a large human figure and four cocks, underneath is a table with 4 x 5 squares, with the words mate in 10 of these. On b 26-28 follow prohibitions that elsewhere (but not in this manuscript) are referred to with the name sibanggua.

Written by the same datu who also wrote Or. 3473, below. This manuscript makes an unused impression. There are many drawings, but only with black ink. Red is only used in the first bindu. Quite accidentally, Voorhoeve observed with sidelight that the entire surface of the bark was covered with small glittering cristals. First Voorhoeve assumed that this was for blotting the ink with sand, but then the script should have been covered with cristals as well, which was not the case. Voorhoeve does not know whether blotting ink with sand was a known practice in Indonesia. A more probable solution is to assume that fine sand or pounded glass was used fopr polishing the bark before it was used for writing.
The text was written by Aman Tuwan Simamora for two brothers, Guru Tinumpahan ni adji and Guru Sampuara ni adji of the marga Matondang in Sitonong. This Ama Tuwan Simamora is the same who also wrote Or. 3473 and Or. 3499. Also the chain of transmission is partly identical.
The text entirely treats (a 3-55 and b 2-55) pangulubalang tungkot homang. There are many similarities with the text in Or. 3424, which treats the same subject. Of the chains of transmission in both manuscripts, the central part corresponds between them. Here too the sibiangsa is made by killing a human. Part of the drawings represent the figures that must be drawn on the coffin of the victim. Here the eldest of the two pupils is addressed, Guru Sampuara ni adji: In former days you have seen with your own eyes how your uncle (amangboru) Guru Badija ni adji has made this pangulubalang, now transmit your knowledge of this to your younger brother and do not forget the prohibitions that have to be heeded in this process.
At the end of side a is an illustration that is not altogether expertly drawn. The caption reads: 'this is the exercise drawing of Aman Tuwan Simamora.

Written for Van der Tuuk by Guru Habinsaran hata ni adji from Silaga-laga. He also wrote Or. 3430, above, and Or. 3533, below. He also wrote Or. 3572, below. Although the style of the text and of the drawings is different from what one usually finds in the pustaha's, the content basically corresponds to that of other texts on the same subjects.
a 2-35 and b 2-11 Poda ni (pagar) sipiuan na godang, beginning with a very elaborate formula (tabas) in which the assistance of famous datu' and rulers is requested for the preparation of this protective device of which is said: na tau pagar na tau pamahani di adji ni halak. This is given by van der Tuuk in his Woordenboek under puju (the sub-Toba for of piu): sipujuwan, 'naam van een pagar, die tevens dient om den vijand in zijn middelen te stuiten.'Perhaps van der Tuuk has, erroneously, thought of tahan, to hold back, to resist, instead of pahan, to feed. Voorhoeve thinks that pamahani is a sort of offering by which the datu 'bribes' the spirits which the enemy tries to use against him, to chose his side. According to van der Tuuk sipujuwan is also the name of a variety of kite ('kiekendief') The pagar is sometimes called pagar si lali piuan (lali = kite, 'kiekendief') or pagar lali sipiuan. That this is the meaning in this context follows also from the fact that in the tabas the wings of the sipiuan are mentioned. On b 7 is a drawing of the datu who pronounces the tabas with one long bambu that has been erected before his pantangan and on which hangs a rack for offerings (reproduced in Bulletin of the John Rylands Library, Manchester, 33 (1951) plate 4, p. 298).
Here follows a list of the names of the powers that are invoked in the tabas:
Radja Rung Radja Rang Tuan di Hasaingan in the upper world, let down by Batara Guru into the middle world.
Tuan di Mogot Toba, carried by Naga Padoha on its head in the underworld.
Tuan di Madulahim in the middle world.
Sinaboru Agam na boboru from Ranggapuri Matutung.
Si Djandji Oiop-olop from the East.
Naboru Sibuhut naboru Parapak.
Datu si Mangara Pintu na di borngin from overseas.
Si Djorat Paraliman from Pansur na Pitu below Silindung and above Batak Toru.
Radja Bung Muara Sibuluon in Lobu Sunun (possibly: Sunut. Guru Habinsaran writes also alaman instead of alamat).
Ompu ni Paiti Radja Ompu ni Paiti Sabungan from Sipultak.

Tuan Sangaradja of the marga Simatupang Sianturi Tonga-tonga in Unte Mungkur, has as sombaon Na Mortua Silali (according to van der Tuuk's Woordenboek 'naam van den djudjungan, en de bijzondere muzijk van de marga's lottung en siregar').
Si Singamangaradja in Bangkara Toba. This piece has been edited and translated by C.M. Pleyte in BKI 55 pp. 46-48.
Guru Saruam Bosi in the area of Sihombing in the huta of origin, ipagabu. The migration from there is described.
Tuan Siantar from Sihotang Pardabuan.
Djonggi Manaor from Limbong Mulana.
Tuan Nahoda Radja from Naibaho from Pangururan. The word 'Radja' belongs to the name, that is probably a hereditary title. The bearer of this title is the writer of MS Dublin Ch.B. 1115.
Guru Lenggang from Simbolon, the origin of the tunggal panaluan.
Guru Lagang from Baneara.
Radja Dapoton from Pollung.
Si Bangkit Bale in Huta Paung.
Tuan di Mogot Tuning in Aek na Uli.
Si Parongke Ulabulang in Matiti. This name occurs in the chain of transmission of two pustaha's.
Our ruler Tuan Soripada from Sirumanggas.
Radja Rum Radja Rang in Barus.
Radja Pangulu Ar from Rambe.
Bao Tombak na Beguon from the forest.
Si Sombir Ulubalang uit Daling Matogu.
Na Rudang Ulu Begu from the place from where the sun rises and the moon sets.
Another similar enumeration occurs in MS München, BSB Bat. 3 (Liberty Manik, Batak-Handschriften. Wiesbaden 1973, No. 393).
Then follow the constituent parts of the pagar. The erection of the bambu; alamat ni sipiuan; tabas ni pangurason.
b 12-22 Eleven most curious drawings of warriors with long trousers, possibly inspired by Dutch soldiers or Acehnese or Malay troops. There is no other caption than 'this is the origin of the fire fight, as a sign that is an instruction for those that go into battle'. Two pages have been reproduced in Bibliotheekinformatie 7 (1972) p. 16 and Open 4 (1972) p. 723.
b 23-35 parombunan, ominous signs in the clouds, with illustrations.
See Or. 12.322 ff.154-158v and ff. 716-741, which is a transcription of the text, made by Voorhoeve in 1949. (Codices Batacici, pp. 42-44).
(Bat. 43)

Or. 3466
Batak, treebark, 36 ff., 26 x 18.5 cm.
A text in confused state, possibly written in several different hands. Repeatedly si Humuru in Djandji Mauli (once Djandji Magodang) is mentioned as writer. As pupil usually Guru Mangalagang ni adji is addressed, but other names are used as well. The title Budjing na pitu, that van der Tuuk has given to the manuscript in the old list is only relevant to the first piece of the side that has been called side a by Mrs. M.T. Mostert-Silitonga. The entire side b treats rambu siporhas and also on side a there is some text about this. Also one finds on side a pieces from (pangulubalang) dua rad j a odjim na bolon and pamuhu tanduk. The manuscript is a palimpsest as can be seen clearly on a 1, and was after the removal of the old text folded anew, during which process the old folds were flattened as good as possible.

See Or. 12.322 ff. 159-166. (Codices Batacici, p. 44).
(Bat. 44)

Or. 3467
Batak, treebark, 61 ff., 15 x 11.5 cm.
The name of the pipil in the chains of transmission is on both sides Guru Tumaham Ompu Radja Darman ni adji of the marga Simamora Debata Radja from Aek Sipaihutihuton. The teachers are different for the different pieces. There are four texts: a 2-60 and b 2-7, Rambu siporhas. Ends abruptly. Then there is a blank piece. The other texts begin at the end of side b. b 59-40 Manuk gantung.
b 40-32 Tembak sibolang malak malabe. On the label by van der Tuuk is written maling instead of malabe, but the sign resembles more be than ing, and the meaning of the name is not clear. There are drawings of the positions that should be taken during shooting.
b 31-26 Poda ni panginteanta di pandahanon sira masuju, about the omens that can be observed during the preparation of gun powder.
See Or. 12.322 ff. 166-170. (Codices Batacici, pp. 44-45).
(Bat. 45)

Or. 3468
Batak, treebark, 26 ff., 13 x 10.5 cm.
Contains two different texts, each with a chain of transmission of its own, the latter parts of either one being identical.
a 3-24 Poda ni panampuhi si Tapi Sindar hat(i)ha humala djolma, about the lemon oracle. The word hataha, occurring in the special name, has been supplemented by Mrs. M.T. Mostert-Silitonga into hata-hata, but Voorhoeve is rather of the opinion that ia hatiha is meant, because this also occurs in surat humala djolma and tondung humala djolma, see the Kopenhagen catalogue under BAT. 38, where the figure belong to this sort of divination has been illustrated. That figure does not occur in the present manuscript, nor will it be used in the lemon oracle. According to the chain of transmission this oracle comes from Simalungun.
b 3-25 Poda ni porhalaan hala sungsang, about the divination calendar that is depicted on b 6-10. According to the chain of transmission these prescript originate from Angkola and were taught by the teacher there to Ompun Djolak Manbur. See also OVB 147.
Or. 3394 (f 1), pp. 5-9, is a copy. See Or. 12.322 ff. 170-174. (Codices Batacici, p. 45).
(Bat. 46)

Or. 3469
Batak, treebark, 26 ff., 10.5 x 10.5 cm.
Incomplete. Probably one leaf is missing at the beginning of side a, that was blank on the a side. At the end of the a side probably more is missing. Sloppy handwriting, somewhat torn, with sloppy black drawings.
a 1-11 Poda ni Adji Ngangang, with a short chain of transmission (three names, the last one also mentioned on the other side). Ngangang means according to the Woordenboek of van der Tuuk: 'wijd openstaande; ongunstig van een dag op de ari gurgur', that is the name of a divination table from which the datu calculates favourable or ominous days. In the pustaha's one often sees in the divination tables the letter nga, that has a wide-opened shape. That sign probably indicates the unfavourable days. Here is apparrently meant with the words adji ngangang a magical device that brings disaster. Several applications are mentioned, one of which is the debata na helung, made, among other things, of a young pumpkin.
a 12-20 Poda ni pamoltong, for making the enemy absolutely immobile.
a 21-25 Poda ni panggorda ni pamunu tanduk, but it also treats pormunian, ominous signs, among other things a rainbow, a very sloppy drawing of which added, which is made in the usual way, with two heads. Also summary mention is made of the panggorda's and it is not impossible that the whole of side a actually belongs to a pamunu tanduk.
a 26 Here a new poda is starting, but the title has become illegible and the following leaves are lost.
b 1-4 a fragment, the end of a text about adji, some magical device.
b 5-22 tambar siguringan bosi, with four names in the chain of transmission. About a medicine to enhance sexual potency. In a certain application it can also be used as a soporifer, and in yet another appplication it can be used to chase sickness spirits away.
b 23-25 Poda ni dorma simbora pangguntur. The text probably continues on p. 26 but that has been pasted to the cover.
See Or.12.322 ff. 174-178. (Codices Batacici, pp. 45-46).
(Bat. 47)

Or. 3470
Batak, treebark, 19 ff., 7.5 x 6.7 cm.
Neatly written and well preserved. With small drawings in black and red. Chain of transmission containing three names. The entire text on sides a and b is about shooting with a gun, pamodilon or tembak sibola hotang. In the final part is a tabas ni pitunang, with much Malay, in which the word tijada is used as negation. See also Or. 12.322 ff. 178-180. (Codices Batacici, p. 46).
(Bat. 48)

Or. 3471
Batak, treebark, 28 ff., 11.5 x 10.2 cm.
There is no chain of transmission. The b-side is partly worn and there illegible.

a 2-25 and 3-18 pormanuhon adji nangka piring, about divination with a rooster under a basket, with small drawings of the rooster on the rice wan. The pangarambui-list with small compass drawings on the beginning of side b belongs to this text. On a 25 is a drawing of the divination cock with captions at his body parts.
b 18-27 Poda ni pagar parmeme and other (derived?) protective devices.
See also Or. 12.322 ff. 180-183. (Codices Batacici, pp. 46-47).
(Bat. 49)

Or. 3472
Batak, treebark, 35 ff., 11.3 x 9 cm.
Or. 3394 (n 6), pp. 64-68 is a copy of the a side.
Texts on front side and back side are in different hands. On the a side, the northern ta is used, on the b side the southern one. The text on the a side, which begins on a 3 with a short chain of transmission, treats taoar adji malim na bolon, a device which is mainly used against poison. After a 35 the strip of treebark is at its end, but the text is not. Therefore an extension has been pasted to the treebark strip, against the reverse of a 35. However, this extension was broken off, and so the text on side a ends abruptly. The text on side b begins at the same end as the text on side a, after two blank pages (b 35 and 34) with a large bindu and then the first of a series of 39 drawings in fine black lines with a light red colouring. These are provided with captions, such as*: ahu gadja mangarumbak suratonkon di gordang djangat ale*, 'I am the destroying elephant, to be drawn on the largest on nine drums'. Most captions begin with ahu debata. There is no chain of transmission, nor is there explanatory text. One must, therefore, assume that this is a copy of part of a larger text. Which text that should have been could not be ascertained by Voorhoeve. One might think of a pangulubalang sanggapati, that is mentioned occasionally in the second part of side b. Also in the sanggapati-texts one finds a long series of pangulubalang drawings, but not those that have be drawn on the nine drums. Such drawings are indeed found, however, in the MSS Dublin, Chester Beatty Library Nos. 1127, 1128 and 1133 (not No. 1134 as is erroneously said on p. 66 of the catalogue (P. Voorhoeve, A catalogue of the Batak manuscripts [in] the Chester Beatty Library. Including two Javanese manuscripts and a Balinese painting. Dublin 1961). On that page in the Dublin catalogue Voorhoeve remarked that the artist in MS No. 1128 had made the sign bintang liga with three stars, and in No. 1127 with seven stars. Here the sign is called naga bintang liga, and it consists of seven stars. Apparently this concerns the same series of drawings in all of these four manuscripts, and one might, therefore, call this text, following the Chester Beatty catalogue, panuruni.
It follows clearly from the text that with the term gordang djangat the largest of these one-skin drums is meant. According to the Woordenboek of van der Tuuk the term gordang djangat is the same as gorbung, and means 'the second drum'. For the largest drum in use in the area where van der Tuuk was active, there is apparently no lemma in the Woordenboek. In addition to this there is in the Woordenboek by van der Tuuk the term tataganing, referring to the drums that are smaller than the two big ones, and the term odap for a small double-skin drum (van der Tuuk: 'van weerskanten bespeelde pauk; hiervan worden 2 in het Bat.orchest gebezigd').

As the 11th drawing one finds here the bindu matoga on which the borotan (slaughter pole) or the tataring (fireplace) has to be founded, with mention of the names naga sang basuhi and naga hurma djati. See also Voorhoeve's article 'Batakse buffelwichelarij' and C. Schuster's notes in the Kopenhagen catalogue (P. Voorhoeve, Catalogue of Indonesian manuscripts [of the Royal Library, Copenhagen], Part 1. Batak manuscripts. With a contribution by Carl Schuster. Copenhagen 1975.), where in note 3 reference is made to this figure.
The series of drawings ends on b 12. On the same page begins:
b 12-1 Poda ni porpangiron ni radja ma(ng)gele, the ritual hair washing of the sigale-gale marionet. The here following invocations of spirits (b6-2) and the caption on the beginning of the pasted-on part (b 1) for drawings (not extant anymore) that had to be drawn on drumsticks, belong to this as well. Radja magele is drawn on the porpangiran (a skull).

Or. 3473
Batak, treebark, 53 ff., 18.5 x 13 cm.
Written by the same datu who also wrote Or. 3463, above. This datu, Ama Tuwan Simamora is the same who also wrote Or. 3463 and Or. 3499. Also the chain of transmission is partly identical. Drawings only of black ink. Unused, but yet worn, because of the inferior quality of the ink.
a 2-52 Pagar porsibuni tondi.
b 2-30 Sequel of the preceding.
b 30-47 Poda ni pangarobo-robo ni horbo, only about the omens that occur during the guiding of the buffalo to the slaughter pole and the dancing, not about the falling of the buffalo in different directions. To this also belongs:
b 47-52 panungsang harahar, during which a buffalo is eaten.
See Or. 12.322 ff. 185-190. (Codices Batacici, pp. 48-49).

Or. 3394 (o 3), pp. 102-131, is a copy.
Well written, with some small drawings in red and black, but occasionally illegible by wear and tear or by dirt. The last pupil mentioned in both chains of transmission is Guru Hasongtijan ni adji of the marga Nainggolan in Huta Pajung Lumban Maransang Bosi.
a 2-42 and b 2-15 Pagar pangorom mula djadi, a protective device with a number of applications. In the beginning it is described how the datu teaches this to his pupils. During this the following are among those invoked: Radja Tupung Bosi, Radja Ihat Manisija, Radja Solam Bumi and Radja Ihat di Hehe. In some formulas occurs a lot of Malay, with Muslim terms such as baginda darasilungia, meaning Baginda Rasulullah. A peculiar ceremony is described on b 12-13. If a patient is terminally ill, the datu makes four children sleep on the bonggar-bonggar, the balcony in the façade of a Toba Batak house. The children will in their sleep as the four aforementioned spirit rulers search for the soul of the patient and release it: Radja Tupung Bosi to Djau (the Malay land), Radja Ihat Manisija to Angkola, Radja Solam Bumi to Simalungun and Radja Ihat di Hehe to the upper gods.

b 15-40 Adji pajung, divination with a pig or a dog.
b 40-41 Another piece about pagar, namely pagar datu rumbia budjing. Here, and also on b 5 is a drawing of a man with his hands over his head.

Batak, treebark, 31 ff., 13 x 19.5 cm.
Sloppily written, badly spelt book, worn in the beginning, about Taoar pandoman dua rad a uhum, supplied to van der Tuuk (as it looks unused) by a Situmorang from Hutagurgur, a village which is often mentioned in the chains of transmission in the pustaha's of van der Tuuk. Voorhoeve is not sure about his reading of the word pandoman. See Woordenboek s.v. doman. Taoar dua radja uhum na bolon occurs in the pustaha Amsterdam 2761/50.

Written by Guru Dairi hata ni adji. Entirely treats pormanuhon adji nangka piring, about divination with a rooster under a basket. Ends on b 9, otherwise blank leaves. Apart of some compass drawings there are no illustrations. On a 3 and 4 is the story about the throwing into the sea and the finding back of a jar full of gold. OVB 9a. A transcript by van der Tuuk of this is in Or. 3401 pp. 229-230.

Or. 3479 / Or. 3488
Batak, treebark, 43 + 23 = 66 ff., 18.8 x 15 cm.
Or. 3394 (l), pp. 14-34, is a copy, made when the two parts were still together. Or. 3479 and Or. 3488 form together one manuscript, and the following description concerns both items.
Two folds are entirely broken, another fold is almost entirely broken. The writer was Guru Saitan ni adji of the marga Pohan Simandjuntak from Pagaran Baringin. There are three chains of transmission. At the end of the first chain mention is made of Guru Sori ni adji in Hariara na Uli. At the end of the second chain mention is made of Guru Tinadji in Parira, who fled to Hariara na Uli, and at the end of the third chain mention is made of Sori Guru Tinadji ni adji. It seems that one and the same person is referred to with these names. He was expelled from his place of living Parira by Guru Supan, but he vanquished his enemy with the help of his elder brother Guru Sininta ni adji in Hanara na Uli. Guru Sininta poured lead in the throat of Guru Supan and made of him the sibiangsa ni surat na sampulu sia. He taught his younger brother the first and the third texts in this manuscript. As the teacher who taught him the second text Saur ni adji from Lintong ni huta is mentioned.
The manuscript is well written and has red and black bindu's and drawings. The three texts are:
a 2-65 Poda ni pagar surat na sampulu sia, about the alphabet as a protective device, but not with the usual drawings consisting of letters, but with other figures and tabas. The order is a-ha-ba-pa-na-wa-ma-ta-sa-ja-ga-dja-da-ra-nga-la-i-u-nja. On a 66 is another pagar, written in another hand, but the piece on b3-17 belongs to the first text, although it has in the beginning a new title: Poda ni hata-hata ni pagar Naboru So Hutuhon. This is only one of the numerous applications of the Pagar surat na 19. In this latter part occur also the 12 pormesa with their pinangan ni an, and a small piece of text about the size of the slaughter pole for a buffalo (suhat ni borotan) on b 13.
b 18-43 Pangulubalang sidaldal doit, also called panapu dal-dal.
b 44-65 Poda ni hatotoganta, a magic device (adji) called radja ni adji and five others. The complete collection is called poda ni sahat. One of the six, si adji punuk, has the shape of a phallus.

Or. 3394 (g), pp. 71-80, is a copy.

a 2-29 (30-32 blank) and b 3-25 Rambu siporhas (divination with a divination cord), here derived Boru Namora Ranggapuri matutung, taught by her to Datu Radjim na bolon. The name si Mangara pintu is not mentioned here. In the chain of transmission the name occurs of Guru Tumurun hata n.a. in Lobu Siregar, who is the writer of the large pustaha of van der Tuuk (Amst. A1389, see Codices Batacici, p. 98). Written by Guru Bahuta, marga Nainggolan, in Dolok na Bolon, for Ompu So Taronggar ni adji, who is also addressed as Ompun Tuan Onggar. A large drawing of the divination cord and some small drawings of its possible positions are given, only in black ink.
b 26-28 About the defense against bad omens seen during the chicken oracle.
b 29-31 Blank.

Or. 3481
Batak, treebark, 43 ff., 18.8 x 11 cm.
Treats only rambu siporhas (divination with a divination cord), with red and black drawings of the divination cord, of alamat in the sky and of porsili. Here does occur the name Datu si Mangara Pintu at the beginning of the chain of transmission, which ends with Guru Sinomba ni adji. Writer is Guru Pamilang ni adji.

Or. 3482
Batak, treebark, 41 ff., 19.5 x 18.5 cm.
With a beatiful, original cover, with sculptured ornamentation in the bindu matoga pattern, which has been reproduced in Bibliotheekinformatie 7 (1972) p.18 and in Open 4 (1972) p. 725.
Written by Guru So Tuhason ni adji, marga Rambe Simanalu, in Huta Gindjang, for Toga Sumba and two co-pupils. Black and white drawings of the manuk di ampang. Two strips of treebark, pasted together.
a 2 Drawing of a chicken, with captions.
a 3-40 and b 2-21 Gorak-gorakkan Adji pajung, about divination with omens from the interior of a chicken.
b 21-41 Of different origin, only the last two generations in the chain of transmission are identical: Pormanuhon si adji nangka piring. At the end a pangarumal ni rambu, in which also a drawing of 12 x 30 squares, in which, however, are no hala's drawn, so that this cannot be styled a porhalaan.

Batak, treebark, 45 ff., 36 x 18 cm.
The side of the manuscript which in the description by Mrs. M.T. Mostert-Silitonga is called side b, is in fact side a.

The entire text treats a magical device called Adji gurangsa. On pp. a 2-3 a rather extensive chain of transmission is given, but several names have become illegible because of damage. On the whole, the manuscript is rather well preserved, however. It has entirely been written in a regular hand and has been illustrated with red and black drawings, rather coarsely done. Guru Sungkunan ni adji from Sirait has taught these prescript to his lae (anak ni datulang) Radja Mordjulogi of the marga Simamora Debataradja in Sait ni Huta. Of Guru Sungkunan is somewhere also said that he was namora Sitohang, so he belonged to the marga of that name. Radja Mordjulogi also calls his teacher lae (anak ni namboru). This mutual use of the term lae is also mentioned by J. Warneck (Wörterbuch). According to van der Tuuk, lae is the husband of someone's sister, against tunggane, the brother of someone's wife. In Simalungun brothers-in-law call one another also lawei. In this pustaha Guru Sungkunan calls his pupil also tuan ni laena. This probably means that he a brother-in-law belonging to his hula-hula. As second pupil sometimes is addressed Radja Mangalanggum who is of one mother with Radja Mordjulogi (or with Guru Sungkunan? But that does not seem probable) and belongs to the marga Samusir Pakpahan. Voorhoeve tries to interpret this by assuming that the father of both pupils has died and that the mother then has remarried with a man from another marga.
On pp. a 3-7 is a rather detailed description on the making of the magical device. The only special ingredient consists in fact of all sorts of eyes, tiger eyes, bear eyes, human eyes, etc. Another special ingredient consists of all sort of hairs of moustache. The device has to be prepared in the woods, where wooden statues have to be made for it. With much music and dance it is then brought to the village and divided into three: a pagar (protective device), a sihapotangan (causing darkness) and the actual adji gurangsa. The entire text consists of several applications of this device, all described according to a fixed pattern, first the name, then the ingredients, then shortly about the preparation, and finally usually a drawing. Among the names are given some well-known names of pangulubalang, such as dua radja odjim, sinanggar parau and boru saragi, but also pamuhu tanduk is mentioned as the name of a certain application (this mainly consists of buhu, knots of sorts of stalks) and several sorts of pagar. See also Or. 3564, below.

Batak, treebark, 53 ff., 21.2 x 12.2 cm.
With an original cover with wood sculpture, representing a snake.
a 1-4, b 1 en b 40-52 are blank. Otherwise there is one text, namely pormanuhon adji nangka piring, the divination with a rooster under a basket, with little red and black drawings of the divination chicken. The final part is a pangarambui, about signs in the sky, with compass figures. This ends abruptly. In the chain of transmission (a 5-6) no names of places or of marga's are mentioned. Of Adji nangka piring is said: na tau tinonahon songon boli boru, instead of the more current expression na talu tinonahon songon boli ni boru, which was explained by Ph.L. Tobing to Voorhoeve as meaning 'something that one cannot without damage leave to another'.

The writer uses the southern ta.
Peculiar is also in the beginning i ma na toding tijan gurunta na di borhu tijan ipar-ipar ni lautan asa ro ma di ho urang Batak, 'this somes from our teacher in the very old times, from the other side of the ocean, and then it came with you, O Batak tribe. Here na di borhu can not be the name of a marga, so it has definitely the meaning given by Van der Tuuk of na di borngin, in very old times. The use of the word Batak for the Batak-people very rarely occurs in the pustaha's.

The one side of this booklet treats a device against all sorts of illnesses and poisons called taoar mutiha gamat (forbidden pieces of meat). At the end there is shortly mention of guru ni djuhut. The other side of the booklet treats the chicken oracle, pormanuhon, and more specifically the falling of the chicken in the different directions. Probably the chicking oracle from under a basket is meant here.

Or. 3489
Batak, treebark, 57 ff., 31.8 x 17.7 cm.
The text consists of four different parts. The back side begins at the same end as the front side. Although the first part does not look like a beginning (there is no chain of transmission, and the subject matter is not treated independently but rather as part of a larger text) there can be no doubt about the order in which the four texts are written.
(1) a 2-15 Ari rodjang. Here, Voorhoeve has not found any datu names. The script is similar to that in the 4th piece, but it cannot be assumed that this part of the strip of bark is remained blank so long that the writer of the fourth piece could continue on it. In addition to this it can be seen that the piece about the ari rodjang ends in the middle of the upper line of a 15 and that on the same line is the intial bindu of the piece about rambu siporhas, that clearly has been written in another hand. Voorhoeve has extensively written about ari rodjang (lunar mansions) in the Kopenhagen catalogue under MS BAT. 48 (P. Voorhoeve, Catalogue of Indonesian manuscripts [of the Royal Library, Copenhagen], Part 1. Batak manuscripts. With a contribution by Carl Schuster. Copenhagen 1975). Also this Leiden manuscript has been used in the comparison and was referred to as manuscript G.
(2) a 15-37 Rambu Siporhas, about divination with a divination cord. Written for Radja Hutabosi in Dolok Sanggul by Guru So Tadingon ni adji of the marga Sihombing in tano Barita ni Odjung (perhaps what is called elsewhere Batu Odjung). See also Voorhoeve's remark about the writer under Or. 3490, below.
(3) a 37-56, continued on b 55-43 Adji Sanggabunu. Most probably taught by the same Guru So Tadingon n.a. to his son-in-law (amang hela or ibebere; here it is evident that amang hela has not the meaning of the Simalungun word mangkela = Toba amang boru) Guru Sangkan n.a. of the marga Situmorang in tano Dolok Morsanggul huta ni Simamora na Bila-bila. To this text belongs a large drawing, consisting of a number of figures, that fills the right half of the pages b 50-39. Till there only black ink has been used. In the last piece, that begins in the middle of the left half of page b 43, also red ink is used for the bindu's and the drawings. See also Voorhoeve remark at the end of his description of Or. 3548, below (Codices Batacici, p. 84).
(4) b 43-2 Pagar pandijam na bolon, The Great Silencer, that betrays its Malay origin, not only by his name but also because of the numerous Malay words that occur in the formulas, but without Muslim influence, as far as Voorhoeve could judge. Taught by Guru Pamondang n.a. of the marga Sihite to his lae Guru So Pandangon n.a. of the marga Simbolon in tano Simanampang Huta Balijan. In this piece, on the right half of pages b 24-20 are two large drawings, appriximately as are found illustrating the text about tambatua na bolon (sibaganding).

Or. 3490
Batak, treebark, 61 ff., 17 x 12.5 cm.
Although the beginning of side b has mostly been wiped out, Voorhoeve believes that there can be no doubt that the text on side a is continued on side b, so that the entire book contains but one text, which bears the title Poda ni panungsang harahar, but which is often referred to as pagar.
There is an extensive chain of transmission of which the second member is Guru So Tadingon ni adji of the marga Sihombing Silaban, and who is also referred to as datu pormangsi. If this is indeed the writer of the second piece in Or. 3489 that latter manuscript must be very old, because in Or. 3490 many guru's follow after him. The writer of Or. 3490 is an old gentleman, Ompu Tuwan Sidomdom hata ni adji, who wrote this book for his nephew (son of his brother-in-law) Guru Mamontang Radja. About the meaning of the word harahar nothing can be found in the text.

This booklet, that looks like as if it is unused contains on the one side a short text about pormesa and panggorda, on the other side the well-known text about simonang-monang with the table of the number values of the 19 letters. See the Dublin catalogue (P. Voorhoeve, A catalogue of the Batak manuscripts [in] the Chester Beatty Library. Including two Javanese manuscripts and a Balinese painting. Dublin 1961), p. 77 (where somonang is a typesetter's error).

A rather confused text, badly spelt and with numerous mistakes. Several hands can be distinguished, one of which is that of Guru Niambangan, who has written part of the book for Datu Mangiring of the marga Nainggolan. The remainder may have been written by Datu Mangiring himself. He always spells Mangirin but also confuses nasal sounds in other words. See also Or. 3536, below.
a 1-2 A tabas, formula to be pronounced over a device for protecting the crop on the field (pangijan).
a 3-48 Tambar simangaraprap, a means for 'defoliated', not to remove a forest's foliation, but mainly to cure the sick, by destroying obnoxious influences that are active against them.

a 48-56, with probably the sequel on b 2-6. Tambar si manuk na biron(g), the black-chicken device, also against illnesses. Possibly the following text belongs to this part as well, but it is also possible that it is an independent text, namely:
b 6-12 Poda ni pamanggilta di adji ni halak, for calling the magical devices of our opponents, of course in order to make them innocuous.
b 12-33 Poda ni. pagar ni na di gindjang or also called tulbas ni na di gindjang, the protective device, or medicine, of those who are above. For the meaning of tulbas one should look in the Karo-Batakse woordenboek. The explanation given there seems to fit better than the one that is given by van der Tuuk. This Datu Mangiring learned from another teacher than the previous devices.
b 34-55 Here suddenly follows, without title or chain of transmission, a piece about the buffalo sacrifice, derived from a porbuhitan text. The name of Datu Mangiring could not be found by Voorhoeve in this part.

Well written by Guru Tinumpahan ni adji for Guru Sabungan ni adji Ompu Radja Rumondang ni adji of the marga Marbun in Ajok na uli.
a 2-17 About Sihirput na rere. This is probably a pangulubalang. Guru Sabungan learned it from Ompu Radja Mombang of the marga Sitorang. In this piece some more devices are mentioned, that are referred to as simardung (van der Tuuk: ale-ale, vriend) of sihirput na rere, namely a dorma (alluring device), called djanggamora djanggamori and a donna tunggaling.
a 17-27 and b 4-27 Pangulubalang Naborumpodo. The instruction originate from Nai Abar So Laosan from Angkola. From there they were received by Guru Niapoan ni adji of the marga Sihombing, and he taught them to Guru Sabungan ni adji.
With al aforementioned texts are small drawings in red and black.
As fillers for the page should be considered:
a 27-28 Foda ni rasun ni djuhut (forbidden pieces of sacrificial meat).
a 28 Poda ni daon ni rodjan, a medicine against dysenteria.

Contains a continuous text about an adji (a magical device in battle) called Tampuk ni panuruni. With red and black drawings. In the beginning is an extensive chain of transmission. On a 19 is a drawing of the bindu matoga with an animal figure in it and two snakes around it, serving as a seat of porsonduk or porsinabul. On a 20 the making of bintang tiga is described, what means here three wooden puppets with jars on their heads. There is an extensive description (a 29/30) of ompunta Na Rudang Ulu Begu. On b 8 the meaning is given of a word occurring in another pustaha, namely sihapotangan, a sort of pangulubalang that causes darkness.

b 9-29 Contain the usual texts about pormesa and panggorda (with drawings) and pormamis. On b 29/30 is a list with the explanations in Batak of the names of pormesa and panggorda.

Or. 3496
Batak, treebark, 28 ff., 15 x 11.3 cm.
As the beginning should be considered the side on which, after the title, is given a rather extensive chain of transmission. The entire book has been written by Tuwan Bodjar ni adji for Guru Hatahutan of the Lontung-tribe (anak nai Lantungon), originating from Nagati(m)bul. The contents consist of two pieces from different origins, namely:
a 2-27 and b 3-7 Pagar lumpat tiga na bolon, taught by Guru Mangalagan ni adji.
b 15-27 Adji pajung, the divination with a pig or a dog, as taught by Datu Ronggur ni adji.
The intermediate text, on b 7-15, about slaughtering a dog as sacrificial meal for warriors that go to battle, would seem to belong because of the subject matter more to the following than to the previous part. Voorhoeve could not find the name of the teacher. In the piece about pagar lumpat liga something is said about the use of the letters of the alphabet as a protective means, and about drawings on a sirih leaves, that are given to boys and girls to chew on, which makes them quickly learn to write and weave, respectively.

It is difficult to determine where is the beginning of the text. The side that is considered by Mrs. M.T. Mostert-Silitonga as side b has a long chain of transmission, but the pieces about pormesa and panggorda that occur in the second half of side b usually form the end of such texts. The entire text treats buhu .tanduk debata na helung. Instead of buhu tanduk occasionally pamuhu tanduk is used. A great number of magical devises derived from this is treated. Some of these bear the name si begu ripur. It seems that the chain of transmission belongs to the entire text and the the entire manuscript was written by Guru Tahuak ni adji of the marga Marbun Bandjar na Hor in Parbotihan.

The entire text is about Gorak-gorahan adji pajung, omens in the interior of a chicken. Written by Guru Matoga hata ni adji. As an appendix, on b 24-25 is a prescript for a protective device that must be worn in the hair (pagar porsanggulon) and a drawing of a human figure with the names of spirit written near the different body parts.

Or. 3499
Batak, treebark, 39 ff., 25 x 15 cm.
Has an original cover, very beautiful, with sculpture representing the rambu siporhas, the divination cord.
Written by Ama Tuwan Simamora, the same who also wrote Or. 3463 and Or. 3473. Also the chain of transmission is partly identical.
a 2-39 and b 5-12 Rambu siporhas, about divination with a divination cord. As origin is mentioned here our teacher from very old times Si Mangara Pintu, who came from Simalungun. After him this teaching spread in many branches till it came with Datu Abar So Laosan ni adji of the marga Sigalingging in Huta Namo Habiaran (or Huta Namora?). He taught Ompu Radja Datang ni adji, who is also mentioned in the two other pustaha's, Or. 3463 and Or. 3473. To this also belongs a tabas ni rambu siporhas on b 35-38.
b 12-18 Tondung rambu saporang, another sort of cord oracle, the follower (pangarak) of the Rambu siporhas. Datu Abar So Laosan learned this from Guru Mogot Debata ni adji.
b 18-25 Poda ni pamuhuj ni ulu-ulu and tabas ni panungkuni ulu-ulu, the ceremony with a hunted head and the litany for interrogating the head. The origin of this does not go any further back than Datu Abar So Laosan. This piece has been published in the Danish catalogue, in the description of manuscript BAT. 5 as text H (P. Voorhoeve, Catalogue of Indonesian manuscripts [of the Royal Library, Copenhagen], Part 1. Batak manuscripts. With a contribution by Carl Schuster. Copenhagen 1975).
b 25-35 Poda ni ari manombir ni panaru ni naga bintang sorigongga to which also belongs:
a 39 and b 2-5 Poda ni porhontasan ni panaru ni naga bintang sorigongga. Inthe last part it is told which animal should be sacrificied for the farewell meal of those that go to battle, with what the animal should be bound, what sort of chop block should be used and on what sort of leaves the meat should be deposited, this for each month in a different way.
In the piece about ari manombir it is indicated for the 1st till the 21st day of the month what are the favourable direction and the auspicious moment for departing to battle, which sign of the zodiac gouverns the day, what sort of sacrifice should be given to the (pinangan ni ari), etc. At the beginning of this piece is given as name of teacher, who otherwise is referred to as Guru Badia ni adji, Ompu Radja Mangioga ni adji.

An unused manuscript. Very carefully executedbindu's and drawings in red and black. The name of the writer is not mentioned especially, but probable the pupil last mentioned in the chains of transmission has written the book himself, Manalom Debata. On b 25 begins a more coarse script, and also the bindu's and the drawings in the latter part are less beautiful. The book contains several pieces, which Manalom Debata has learned from two different teachers.
a 2-32 and b 2-9 Pagar donna sibiangsa, with a great number of applications, especially for curing the ill. On p. a 20 one finds a drawing that has to be put, together with a conjuring formula, on the tungkot malehat (the priest's staff, with a statue only on top). Also the tunggal panaluan (the priest's staff that is entirely provided with sculpture) is mentioned. There are also observations over the treatment of lunatics.
b 10-17 Poda ni panampuhi na bolon, about the lemon oracle. The drawing on p. 17 has no caption, but it probably represents the figure that has to be drawn on the wan, on which fall the slices of lemon. With this and the following piece it is specifically said that Manalom Debata has it from a teacher who is called by the people Guru So Matahut. From 'our sister Si Deang Parudjar, the daughter of our forefather the son of Batara Guru from the upper world' he has received the name Ompun Tuan Somba Guru. That the Si Deang Parudjar who is known from from the creation story, also intrudes in human life in another way than by giving names, is clear from what is written on page b 28 about the treatment of the symptoms of the illnesses of the woman in childbirth. If the papient all the time tightly shuts her eyes she is possessed by Si Deang Parudjar. Also another mother of humanity, Eve, is invoked by the datu as inang Huwa, mother Eve (b 20).
b 18-21 Poda ni pagar porsibuni tondi, in order to conceal the tondi's (souls) of our warriors, so that they cannot be hit by the weapons of the enemy. In the following there no names of teachers anymore. Probably everything belongs to the teaching of Guru So Matahut.

b 27-30 Poda ni pagar panungkuni, used during a difficult childbirth.

Written by Guru So Matahut hata ni adji. If he is the same person as the teacher in the previously described manuscript, then Or. 3501 has certainly not written by him, since that is much neater than Or. 3502. The red and black bindu that Guru So Matahut has drawn here over the text is beautiful, however, and he has also well executed the drawings that have to be made on the anduri.
The entire text is about the lemon oracle, panampuhi sitoho-toho. Guru So Matahut wrote this book for four pupils. One of these was called Ompun Salim Babiat hâta ni adji. His teacher advises him to let him (the writer) cure his eye disease, and on p. 152 of the copy of this text in Or. 3404 van der Tuuk has written in the margin: 'Opputsalim babiat is inwoner van Sipagabu (Simanullang), heeft leepogen.'

Batak, treebark, 43 ff., 13 x 12.6 cm.
This manuscript, and Or. 3505, below, are closely related with Or. 3440 and Or. 3448, above. See also Or. 3512 and Or. 3555, below. See also, for the same text and chain of transmission, Or. 3559, below. See also Or. 3562, below. In all four is the poda ni dorma sahuta originating from Ompu Radja Dingkan ni adji. The further chains of transmission are:
Or. 3440: (2) Datu Rondang ni adji - (3) Guru Saniang Naga ni adji - (4) Guru Mangalenggang ni adji- (5a) Aman Toga Holbung ni adji and (5b) Guru Sininta ni adji.
Or. 3448: Guru Padoha ni adji - (2) - Radja Batu Guru n.a. Written by No. 3.
Or. 3503: (2) - (3) - (4) - (5b) - (6) Guru Sabungan hata ni adji.
Or. 3505: (2) - (3) - (4) - (5c) Guru Hasongtian.
In Or. 3503 and Or. 3505 come first the poda ni panampuhi si Tapi Sindar di mata ni ari which originates from Guru Tubijak hata ni adji and which is transmitted by Mogang Mogang ni adji - Djuang ni adji - Guru So Tagamon ni adji - (4) - (5b) - (6). Thus in Or. 3503; in Or. 3505 from (4) to (5c).
These two poda's fill in Or. 3505 the entire manuscript, in Or. 3503 only the first side (a). Then follows in Or. 3503:
b 2-18 Sequel of dorma sahuta.
b 18-25 Pangulubalang sipintu langit of Guru So Malanggat ni adji - Guru So Tagamon hata ni adji - (4) - (5b) - (6).

b 25-35 Tonggo-tonggo ni si adji mamis, with drawings of the five gods, of debata na tolu and boru saniang naga just as in Or. 3464.
b 36-41 Poda ni pane habang just as in Or. 3464, and those pieces of text that also follow in Or. 3464.
To this group of manuscripts also belong the aforementioned Or. 3464 and also Or. 3559.

a 20-42 Title is lacking. It is poda ni parombunan, with drawings of cloud formations from which one can derive omens. The objects are usually recognizable, but hariara sundung di langit and the hariara tumbur djati do not very much resemble trees. Here one can see how a djolma so begu is represented.
b 8 – end. Poda ni pamunu tanduk, of a different origin than the previous text. It only contains lists of haroan ni bulan and pamunu ni bulan. The last one abruptly ends on page b18 in the treatment of the 5th month.

a 2-33 Poda ni manuk gantung, on divination with a chicken, with terminology that one would rather expect in the manuk di ampang.
a 33-38 and b 2-38 Poda ni pordalan ni si adji mamis, and magical devices and amulets derived from this, with conjuring formulas and drawings, of Mamis, Bisnu, Sori, Hala and Borma, Debata na Tolu, and others. The drawings are executed in red and black.

Or. 3507
Batak, treebark, 47 ff., 15 x 11.8 cm.
The entire text treats rambu siporhas, divination with a divination cord. There is an extensive chain on transmission, beginning with Si Mangara Pintu from Simalungun, via Datu Radjim ni adji to Datu Saur ni adji Sihulambak golang-golang Pasaribu, etc., till Guru Mangulahi ni adji of the marga Situmorang na bolon uit Huta Gurgur.
There are the usual drawings of the divination cord and of the porsili's of the 12 months and the (so-called 30, but in reality only 7) days. At the end are a few additions, among other things about a method to reverse the wholesome effect of the farewell meal for the warriors of the enemy into its opposite. Also a rambu sipijuan; a divination table with 7 x 7 squares, and a piece about sombaon and debata of certain persons.

Or. 3508
Batak, treebark, 27 ff., 9.8 x 7.8 cm.
Treats entirely the making of a secret device (panongtongi) originating from Simalungun, from the land of the bad people, silabu-labu (at least, this is the most used part of the long name. There is one drawing, in red and black.
See also Or. 12.322 ff. 321-323. (Codices Batacici, p. 64-65).
(Bat. 86)

Or. 3509
Batak, treebark, 30 ff., 11.8 x 12.3 cm.
Clearly written, but sloppily spelt. Two texts of different origin. At the end of the chain of transmission is Guru Porsuba hata ni adji. See also Or. 3519, below.
a 2-29 Panampuhi na bolon. About the lemon oracle. Here also something about parombunan with figures.
b 2-29 Manuk gantung, about the chicken oracle.
See Or. 12.322 ff. 324-328. (Codices Batacici, p. 65).

Or. 3510
Batak, treebark, 29 ff., 10 x 8.5 cm.
The two sides of this manuscripts are written in different hands. Side a has been written very carefully with beatiful red and black bindu's and drawings. Side b is written in a much less expert hand, and only in black. The chain of transmission on side a is: Ompu ni Batu Pir - Ama ni Hutur Banua - Guru So Matahut. On side b: Ompun Toga Djuara - Ama ni Hutur Banua - Guru So Matahut - Sabungan and his brother broer si So Malanggak. Probably side a has been written by Guru So Matahut and side b by his pupil Sabungan. Both texts treat the lemon oracle, but done in different ways.
a 2-17 Poda ni pamusatan ni panampuhi si hata na pintor. If this oracle gives a favourable outcome one should consult:

a 22-26 The names and drawings of the pormesa's (left) and of the panggorda's (right, reversed) with a snake as dividing line. Only if the opposite signs devour one another is the moment auspicious for a fight.
b 4-25 Poda ni pamusatan ni panampuhi si Tapi Sindar di mata ni ari, entirely the same text as in Or. 3503. This side belongs to the group of texts discussed with Or. 3503. Ompun Toga Djuara is the same as Guru Mangalenggang, No. 4 in Or. 3503, and Sabungan might be the same as No. 6 in Or. 3503, but the name occurs more often, so that is not entirely certain.
This pustaha has an original cover, with sculpture in a pattern of intermingling lines, beautifully done, but not entirely completed.

Or. 3511
Batak, treebark, 25 ff., 11.2 x 9,5 cm.
Unused manuscript, coarsely written. The strip of treebark has been pasted together from two pieces. The pupil is called Ompu ni Mangaronsang hata ni adji, the name of the teacher is given differently at the beginning and the end of the manuscript.
a 2-16 Poda ni hata ni rudji-rudji ni simonang-monang, the usual comparison between the numerical values of letters in names. The table belonging to this is on b 2.
a 16-24 and b 3-6 Poda ni pormamis na lima, without table are drawings.
a 25 A beginning of a pormanuhon text, not wiped off, because it was going to be pasted to the cover anyway. That eventually did not happen.
b 7-23 Poda ni pordaon hangalan, a method to determine whether or not a childless woman will have children. She is presented with a prepared chicken. Depending on what part of the chicken she first takes the datu draws a conclusion about her chances.

Or. 3512
Batak, treebark, 45 ff., 14 x 11 cm.
The entire manuscript treats the subject of donna sahuta. The contents has much similarity to the text discussed above under Or. 3503, and Voorhoeve considers it probable that the name Guru Padoha ni adji, that occurs in the chains of transmission of Or. 3448 and Or. 3512, is the connecting chain, so that this manuscript would also belong to the group discussed under Or. 3503. This manuscript has been written by the last teacher in the chain, Guru Mangasa Rad ja hata ni adji.

Or. 3513
Batak, treebark, 27 ff., 12.5 x 9,5 cm.
Or. 3394 (n), pp. 69-73, is a copy.
The manuscript contains one text, Poda ni hata-hata ni pormasak ni tambar panungsang rasun ni taoar sipiuwan na bolon, about the preparation of a medicine that reverses the effect of poison, and that is derived of the sipiuwan na bolon device. This derivation does not appear in the text very much, however. The text contains a very detailed description of how to prepare the medicine, including thje quantities, the sympoms of the illness (mostly skin diseases) and the ways of application. If one would be able to identify the numerous names of plants which figure in the recipe, one would be able to prepare the medicine with the help of this booklet. Its origin is from Silalahi. From there it was learned by Guru Laga ni adji m. Sigalingging in the Marbun-village Sait ni Huta Nandaleha. He is the writer of this booklet (and also of Or. 3520, below), which he made for his pupil Guru Mangait Toga ni adji m. Antonang Simare-mare in the village Pungga in the Simanullang area.

Or. 3514
Batak, treebark, 39 ff., 26.5 x 13 cm.
Clearly and well written manuscript (except b 33-38, where a previous text has not been wiped out entirely. Probably the entire manuscript is a palimpsest, but not much can be seen of that. It is pecualiar that the older text on b 33 connects to the new text on b 32. It is also possible that the text on b 33-38 is written in smaller script, as a sequel to the text on b 32, and that the writer of the first part was not satisfied about the unfitting sequel and that he has begun to wipe it out, but eventually did not complete the wiping. The names at the end of the wiped out section could not be read by Voorhoeve. According to the chain of transmission the text comes from Simalungun. The last pupil, who is also addressed in the sequel, lived in Dolok Sanggul. The title of the whole is Poda ni panuruni sidjonggi-djonggi, a sort of pangulubalang, made out of a dog, a cat and a coconut monkey (‘klapperaap’). The tunggal panaluan and debata idup are used during the preparation. From p. a 18 onwards, several applications of the panuruni are given, all provided with red and black drawing. There are among these that bear the well-known names of *pangulubalang*s, such as pangulubalang naborun dolok, budjing na pitu, sanggapati, si horbo huring (with a drawing of the buffalo, lead by a rope) and parau odjung. One of the original constituent parts (the cat, according to Voorhoeve) is called si tapi bungameru. See also MS Kopenhagen BAT. 6.
b 22-29 Poda ni pormunian, about ominous events.
b 29-38 Poda ni ari rodjang, the last part illegible.

Batak, treebark, 37 ff., 7.5 x 6,5 cm.

In this booklet, Voorhoeve has not found any other datu name than Guru Sombaon hata ni adji, who is addressed once as a pupil. The title on p. a 2 is Poda ni taoarta di na rodjanon, a medicine against dysenteria, but this only goes till p. a 19. From a 19 till b 7 there is a series of copies of short inscriptions of the kind that is found on bambu strips, the so-called tondung sahala, of which someone has to take one, from which the datu predicts his fate. On b 7 is a tabas ni daon ni rodjan which probably belongs to the first part. One can observe that there is no difference here between taoar and daon in the sense of 'medicine'.
b 9-19 Poda ni sipatulpak pongpang bala saribu.
b 19-33 Divination of the days: ari na pitu, pamahan ni hala sung-sang, panduduhan ni panggorda.
b 33-36 Pangulubalang na so mallada.
The manuscript as a whole is apparently (a copy of) a notebook on sundry subjects.

Or. 3516
Batak, treebark, 65 ff., 15 x 10,5 cm.
The two sides begin at the same end of the treebark strip, both with an extensive chain of transmission. It cannot be determined therefore which side is side a and which side is side b. Voorhoeve in his description follows the order established by Mrs. M.T. Mostert-Silitonga.
a Rambu siporhas. On divination with a divination cord.
b Pormanuhon adji nangka piring. This is a copy of Or. 3543, below. At the end (b 2-1) is an indication of the value (arga) of the objects used during the oracle. Then there was a drawing of a divination chicken with the captions, but because the space was too small for that, it was wiped out again, and eventually made on page a 64.
Both chains of transmission only converge in the writer of the pustaha, Guru Maripul ni adji, who wrote it for his pupil Guru Sihapuluan ni adji m.Matondang in Pagaran Lambung. In the beginning of side b there is a detailed description of the origin of the pormanuhon from the districts where the hariara djambu barus grows, that means 'from the upper world'.
On a 52-63 is a piece about porsili for the warriors, that is not directly related with the rambu siporhas.
The rambu siporhas text has the usual small drawings of the divination cord. The pormanuhon text has no drawings, except the one at the end.

(Bat. 94)

Or. 3517
Batak, treebark, 56 ff., 13 x 10,5 cm.
Originating from Sait ni Huta, according to the chain of transmission at the beginning. The text is about Adji sidal-dal, a device against those people that cheat us, or despise us or envy us. Different applications have special names. One entire section, for instance, is about panapu dangdang, literally the extinguisher of fines, meaning means to avoid the obligation to pay a fine. Such a fine would be, e.g., and ulos, an oxen, a buffalo, a horse, gold. Also adji siborang-borang is mentioned several times. Not belonging to the main text are probably the final parts: a reading formula against tigres (subutan ni babijat) and a formula against disappointed expectation (daon aluk-aluk).

See also Or. 12.322 ff. 349-354. (Codices Batacici, p. 69).
(Bat. 95)

Or. 3518
Batak, treebark, 46 ff., 17.5 x 12.8 cm.
The text consists of two pieces:
a 3-43 and b 2-34 about Rambu siporhas, divination with a divination cord, and:
b 35-42 about Pagar pangorom. Both parts are written for (and probably also by) Datu Pangsa ni adji (not very clearly written, but this seems to be the most probable reading) 'anak na di Poholon Hutauruk', but once there is written 'anak ni Naipospos Hutauruk'. According to N. Siahaan, Sedjarah kebudajaan Batak (Medan 1964), p.103 Hutauruk descends from Toga Sipoholon, son of Naipospos. Datu Pangsa received the two teachings from different teachers. The chain of transmission of the Rambu siporhas does not begin here with Si Mangara pintu but with Datu Gusar ni adji. After the piece about the different positions of the divination cord with small drawings follows a piece about pangarambui with compass drawings. Then follows a piece about pormesa and panggorda with the appropriate small drawings in red and black. The last piece on a 43 is about conjuring spirits of illness. It is written to fill the space, since the text about the panggorda's continues on side b. There also follow the pormamis, and then, on b 10-11 pane na bolon with on b 12 and 13 drawings of pane na bolon and pane habang. The relation of some pieces with the rambu siporhas has become unclear, but then again it becomes evident that in following parts that relation is there after all. The final piece is a formula to be said over the lance (na hombang pipis = hudjur), before the divation with the divination cord. The pagar pangorom mostly serves as a protective device against spirits of illness.

Sloppily written, at least the a side. The other side has a slightly better, smaller script. Here and there, van der Tuuk has made corrections with s steel pen.
a 3-24 Poda ni pane na bolon, from Guru Pinoda to Guru Porsuba. See also Or. 3509. above. The usual course of pane na bolon: three months east, three months south, etc, is treated here more in detail, namely per month, with the position of other signs given for each month. Then a whole month is treated by the day, during which the batu holing is constantly in the east. Finally there is a discussion about conflicts between pane na bolon and other signs: poda ni porbada ni pane na bolon dohot pane radja, etc.. On a 23 is a drawing (only in black) of pane na bolon with a desa na ualu-figure in its body. On a 24 is a compass with a few signs.

b 2-10 Poda ni pormamis na lima, written by Guru Mangantar Porang. Describes the offerings to be given to the pormamis and also those to be brought to Si Deang Parudjar and Tuan Naga Padoha.
b 10-26 All sorts not notes. About pamahani ni panuruni ni musunta, the feeding, that is making the magical device of the enemy innocuous. Pagar sipiuan na bolon, a protective device that is laid (as is done in the text solely devoted to that subject and especially written for van der Tuuk in Or. 3465) on an offering rack (mombang) that is hung in front of the pantangan (the hut of the datu, on a long bambu). About the several pagar's in the pantangan. Offering to Sinaboru Sumbia Sianggasa ni boru Datu Sorta di Malim Si Boru Sanggul Haomasan Guru Bandailing of the right side of the sun, Guru Tantan Debata of sunrise and moonrise, of the hariara tunggul di langit, Sidabulan Rumarebe (how many persons is not clear to Voorhoeve) on three mombang's. Finally about omens that are determined by the datu on the basis what he sees happening on the square of the awakening village, when he looks out early in the morning from his pantangan.

Like Or. 3513, above, written by Guru Laga ni adji from Huta Gindjang Sitanggang Simbolon Pangururan for his pupil Guru Mangait Toga in Pungga.
The entire text is about rambu siporhas, divination with a divination cord. Si Mangara pintu is not mentioned as origin. Guru Laga mentions five other teachers before himself. The same five can also be found in manuscript Amsterdam 118/48a (Pagar pangorom). Apart of the usual black drawings of the divination cord there is at the end a drawing in red and black of the figure that has to be made on the mat: radja ni lage batahan ni rambu siporhas.

Or. 3521
Batak, treebark, 41 ff., 13 x 10.3 cm.
Written in Dairi-Batak spelling, and many Dairi-Batak words are used, such as mi = to, silih = brother-in-law. There is confusion between di en ni, because the writer finds the i of his colloquial not high class enough, but at the same time he does know how to distinguish between di and ni, just as in Karo-Batak pustaka's. Script and language correspond to the script and language in MS Amsterdam IT 137/553. Voorhoeve's statement in Mededeelingen Koloniaal Instituut, afd.Volkenkunde No. 6, is erroneous, where he says that the present manuscript would have the same script as manuscript Amsterdam I.T. H 1315. That manuscript originates from Simalungun, whereas manuscript Amsterdam I.T. 137/553 aoppears to come from the area of Silalahi.

Anyway, they come from a Dairi Batak speaking area on or near Lake Toba., since it is said in both manuscripts that a travelling datu has come di Toba kepar nari, from Toba which is on the other side. Although the language of the poda's is mostly Toba-Batak, it is according to Voorhoeve, better to transcribe the text as Dairi-Batak, because of the Dairi spelling. The datu who had come from Toba was Datu Morparang of the marga Simbolon. His Dairi-Batak pupil was called Pu (= Mpu) Landa. Datu Morparang succeeded by his expertise in datu science to bring a family quarrel to an end. Voorhoeve does not entire understand the story about this. One place name is mentioned, Lae Impal. Dr. L. Manik has informed Voorhoeve that this is a tributary of the Lae Renun. Therefore, the manuscript must originate from Pegagan.
a 2-25 Poda ni kata-kata ni pormanukon adji nangka piring. On a 2-5 is the introduction referred to above. Mrs. M.T. Mostert-Silitonga refers to this side as side b, probably because there are a few blank pages at the end. Voorhoeve thinks it more probable that the writer has started with his long introductory story. The text consists of only tabas, beginning with asa turun makamu... Only on pp. a 7/8 is an enumeration of the objects necessary for the oracle, an appang, and anduri, etc. On pp. A 24/25 is a sloppily executed drawing of the anduri.
a 33-35 pantunan ni pangurasan (Dairi pengurasen, Toba pangurason), about ritual purification.
b 2-6 A device against enemies, with statues made of reed and banana stem. No name found.
b 7-11 Another such device, in order to lure the tondi of the enemy.
b 11-33 porkobolan, a device for invulnerability.
b 33-35 About an amulet called si adji tejas.
b 35-39 sungguh nipi, about dreams, according to the seven days.

Book of Guru Sininta ni adji.
The a side contains the same texts as Or.3464 b 14-22 and b 64-70, namely:
a 2-6 Poda ni tonggo-tonggo ni si adji mamis.
a 12-19 Offerings for si adji mamis and the other four.
a 19-26 Poda ni pane habang, ending with, on a 26-28 and b 2 tabas ni pamahani (arintija hatebat, etc.).
On side b follow a few shorter texts, that probably also have been copied from another pustaha.
b 11-20 Poda ni panorang na duwa hali pitu, about ominous moments.
b 20-28 Pangarambui belonging to the buffalo sacrifice.
The last two poda's in Or. 3527 correspond with the last two poda's in Or. 3524 and can well be the original thereof. Also a list of the pinangan ni an na pitu, in different directions, written in a circle around the centre, occurs in both manuscripts.

Poda ni pangarambui si Deak Hurahank (in the original: Urahank). Maybe the entire text should be referred to with this title, but the text on side a and b 2-9 does so with certainty. The drawings herewith are different from the usual pangarambui drawings. They have only a small compass in the centre, and around that the names of the days. Si Deak Hurahank herself has a large drawing of over one page. She looks like a sort of fat dragon. Further:
b 9-13 Poda ni pormamis na lima na umboto tano hadjodjahan di porparangan.

Batak, treebark, 67 ff., 14.5 x 11 cm.
Very detailed text about the omens of the cock oracle (with a rooster under a basket). The origin is derived from Datu Tala dl Babana. The last names in the chain of transmission are Guru Mangantar Bilang and Guru Mangadar. Guru Mangantar Bilang is addressed as pupil, and Guru Mangadar as the second pupil. In the chain of transmission is written: asa hupodahon na musengan ma di ho ale ... Guru Mangadar. From this it is evident that not the last-mentioned person is speaking, but rather the penultimate person. Voorhoeve is of the opinion, however, that these words are often used without much thought in order to continue the chain of teacher to pupil. Writer was Guru Mangalenggang in Huta Gurgur, see about him Codices Batacici, p. 13. The poda ni pormanuhon adji nangka piring, is illustrated with clear drawings of the position of the cock, and fills the entire a side and pp. b 2-47. Then follows the appropriate pangarambui with compass drawings, and finally, on b 57-66 follows Poda ni panubuti ni Adji Nangka Piring umboto djea ni halak, in which bad omens of the pormanuhon are equalled to those of the pormunian.

Written by Guru Sininta ni adji, datu No. 5b of the datu's mentioned under Or. 3503, for Aman Tuan Sadura in Batu Sandin.
a 2-30 Poda ni pormasak ni taoar subutan ornas, a device against all sorts of poisons and charms and the illnesses caused by these. Some of the necessary ingredients for this device are banana plants and sugar cane, which the datu grows in front of his house, in a neat garden, surrounded by a fence, during seven months. During the sequel of the preparation, the datu offers a meal on the village square, for which the radja, the anakboru and the head woman of his client are invited. At the end the text reads: ija guru ni taoarta mon na so djadi panganon ni na sahit mon, 'that what the patient is not allowed to eat, what is tabu for him during the use of the device, etc. This meaning of the word guru one cannot find in the dictionaries. It also occurs in guru ni djuhut, the pieces of a sacrificial animal that may not be eaten, and, on the b-side of this manuscript in the phrase guru ni tambarta, those parts of the chicken that may not be eaten during the use of the medicine.

b 2-16 Poda ni pormasak ni tambar si runtun mallo, a medicine which one should use before the taoar.
b 16-24 tabas ni subutan mula djadi, a formula to be said by the datu, e.g. when he goes on a trip in order to peddle his taoar.
b 24-27 A formula to be said as porsoma of the taoar, that is, in order to devote the device to the spirits, during which one lets the device standing there for a while.

A palimpsest, with a chain of transmission ending with Guru Habinsaran hata ni adji in Silaga-laga, who may have written this book for van der Tuuk, as he did with Or. 3430 and Or. 3465, below.
The subject matter is Pagar Naga Hurma Djati. The style of the text is different from the usual pustaha style. E.g., the writer has numbered several of the paragraphs (bindu patoluhon, etc.). He has also added small drawings of all sorts of objects (musical instruments among other things), that must be used for the pagar, and an illustrating showing the entire pagar, in a jar on a sangkak, with the sculpted statues around it. In a part of the text that is called poda ni pagar panganon are drawings of a hudon on the dalihan in order to indicate of all sorts of omens that may occur during the cooking of the rice. Cf. The introduction of the Kopenhage catalogue (P. Voorhoeve, Catalogue of Indonesian manuscripts [of the Royal Library, Copenhagen], Part 1. Batak manuscripts. With a contribution by Carl Schuster. Copenhagen 1975).
It is a pity that the spelling of the text is so bad that one sometimes has to guess what the writer wants to tell.
This pagar is preserved, according to the text, in the naga morsarang, the beautifully ornamented horn, a few of which are kept in the van der Tuuk collection in the Tropical Institute in Amsterdam, and have been illustrated in De Bataks op weg. Palimpsest, here and there the old writing still can be discerned. After the new text has been written the booklet has not been used anymore. It has probably made for van der Tuuk. Many names of datu's are mentioned, but on the whole it makes a dilettantistic impression. Voorhoeve would not dare to trust on these chains of transmission. Possibly the text has been written from a practice of popular medicine, rather than from a stable tradition. E.g., there is mention of many more symptoms than is usual. Three devices are prescribed against the effect of all sorts of magical charms and illnesses: taoar (na) dua radja uhum (also so in MS Amsterdam I.T. 2761/50), tambar simangaraprap (compare with Or. 3492, above) and taoar pangomat. There is no evidence for any difference between taoar and tambar. One of the pupils who is addressed time and again is called Guru Biahat ni adji, a Dairi-Batak name (biahat in Dairi = babiat in Toba = tiger).

Here and there, especially in the beginning, very worn. The short chain of transmission cannot be entirely read anymore. Poda ni pamusatan ni pormanuhon adji nangka piring, about the cock oracle (manuk di ampang), without illustrations, very short. Only at the end are two drawings of the divination chicken with captions. Then follow pormesa and panggorda in two columns with drawings. Then the divination table of seven squares, with mate and bunu. Then porsili ni pangarambui si pitu budjing, that is porsili's for the seven days of the week, with drawings. Then two divination tables, each with 5 x 5 squares, the first with drawings in it, which may be imitations of Arabic script.. Finally there is poda ni panoro-noro ni si lali piuwan, the beginning only, abruptly ending because of the loss of one or two leaves.

Two original wooden covers, one of which is ornamented with sculpture. A label of van der Tuuk: 'Handschrift van Van Hoëvell'. He is van der Tuuk's somewhat older contemporary W.R. van Hoëvell (1812-1879).
Written for (and by?) Datu Pormangsi ni adji of the marga Dongoran in the land (tano, which word Voorhoeve thinks that it is used in the pustaha's for an region in which are several huta's) of Mangantar Bilang. As a personal name this occurs quite often, but Voorhoeve does not know it as the name of a place. The entire text is about medicines.

a 22-30 and b 1-22 Poda ni panampuhi adji pajung, about divination with a lemon, with on p. b 22 the drawing that has to be on the rice wan, on which the slices of lemon fall.
b 23-30 ari rodjang, about auspicious and unauspicious days to go on a travel. However, the actual ari rodjang names (hoda, etc.) are not mentioned.
Peculiar in this manuscript is the drawing on p. a 1, which represents a maze and other figures, with the caption Ija ma inon radja ni pank ni si Djonaha ma inon barang di gora paodjak ompunta si Adji Mamis, 'this is the figure of Djonaha's wall (which he has built as a maze). If there is danger this serves to put Lord si Adji Mamis on top of it. See also Or. 3566, p. a 46. And with another large drawing is the caption: i ma radja ni si Adji Mamis, 'this is the figure of si Adji Mamis. Exactly the same combination of figures occurs in manuscript Leiden, KITLV, old number 464/510, No. 3 of Voorhoeve's list of manuscripts of the KITLV, now KITLV Or. 192, p. a 19, and which is reproduced as fig. 41 C. Or. 3394 (m) is a copy of the beginning on side a till approximately p. b 19.
A beautiful, and probably old porbuhitan manuscript about the buffalo sacrifice and the divination used thereby. Written by Ompu ni Mangaronsang ni adji in tano Matiti, who had the text from his father-in-law Datu Ronggur ni adji in Huta Gurgur. The datu name of Ompu ni Mangaronsang, which is given at the end of the text, could not be read by Voorhoeve (Guru ..... ni adji). For the bindu's and other figures light red paint is used. The porbuhitan text is complete, but a short text which has been added at the end of side b ends abruptly. At the beginning of side a (= end of side b) at least one leaf has been lost.
a 3-32 Contains the actual porbuhitan, the omens derived from the falling of the buffalo in one of the 16 directions. The names of these directions have been mentioned by Voorhoeve in his excerpt of the text (Or. 12.322, ff. 692-695). Then follow detailed instructions about the leading of the buffalo to the slaughter pole, the fetching of the pole and of the lianas that are used as cable, etc.
a 52 en 53 Contain a piece, equally written by Ompu ni Mangaronsang, which is not, as far as Voorhoeve can see, relevant to the porbuhitan, namely pangarhari bona ni ari. There is also a drawing of an anduri (rice wan) with a chicken egg, a sirih chew and a hibiscus flower (these are mentioned in the captions of the drawing). According the to text there are also grains of rice, a lidi and a lemon (unte mungkur). It is apparently an extremely simplified cock oracle in which an egg is used in stead of a cock.
b 2-3 Contain some disparate notes, written from the reverse direction. Among other things a device in order to make a girl that has refused the advances of a datu to separate from her lover. Further a hatiha pormamisan with three figures, each of 5 x 5 squares. Also hatiha simanoktohi with a figure of six rounds with a smaller circle inside, three of which have been provided with rays around them. In these figure there is no use of red ink.
On b 4 the porbuhitan text is continued, with on b 5 the drawing of the bindu matoga, which, according to the present text, may not be drawon on the ground, but rather on a piece of simbora (tin or lead). The idea is probably that this is buried under the slaughter pole. Then follow several offering prayers and after that, on:
b 20-30 poda ni panggujang ni sara-sara, ni ansuwan, ni suhut, ni suhut panumpahi, ni parumaen, ni na torop, ni bajo nialap, ni gurung-gurung, ni gordang dohot ogung, ni sulangonkon di horbo. For the word gujang or ujang the Woordenboek of van der Tuuk gives: 'een soort slijmziekte van hoenders', but that does not fit here. In the Simalungun language manggujang means 'to root up (the ground)' as said of pigs. In Karo Batak it means 'to knead'. How words that in sub-Toba have -uja- are in Toba is not given in the Spraakkunst of van der Tuuk, although he mentions in his Woordenboek several sub-Toba words with uja, namely, except the aforementioned ujang or gujang, also hapur suja = campher; tujak = the amount of ½ supak; dujak = quickly nauseating, such as too fat meat (the same in Karo). From hapur sia in J. Warneck, Toba-batak - Deutsches Wörterbuch s.v.hapur it appears that the sub-Toba -uja- = Toba -ia-. So, gujang will probably be the Toba giang = to stir around. One might even assume that the prayers occurring under the title panggujang are pronounced during the kneading of offering biscuits for the several objects and persons mentioned, but this explanation seems rather far fetched. It seems more probable to Voorhoeve that the word, like so many other others in the divination language, has been derived from Malay. To this also points the spelling gojang in a Karo Batak pustaha (Leiden, REM 340/103 IV). In Malay the word gojang means rocking (a cradle), waving. The Batak synonym manaja-naja, to bring something in a rocking movement, especially also said of offerings and the tunggal panaluan. Of the sacrifical knife (surik) both the word panaja (see P. Voorhoeve, A catalogue of the Batak manuscripts [in] the Chester Beatty Library. Including two Javanese manuscripts and a Balinese painting. Dublin 1961, p.48) and panggujang (manuscript Leiden REM 1239/267). In manuscript Dublin, Ch.B.1114 a 39, Voorhoeve interprets panggujang-gujangon as the shaking of the sack with beras during the calling back of the soul. Voorhoeve interprets Panggujang ni gordang dohot ogung as the prayer to be said during the elevating with a waving movement of the drums and the gongs. In this the pangaraksaon names of all instruments of the gondang orchestra. The orchestra as a whole is called manuk-manuk lingga gunung, the bird mountain lingga. If that is an old expression it can mean that the gondang is the voice of the Supreme God Sjiwa in his appearance of lingga's which are seen as a mountain. Among the phenomena that the sounds of the gondang's cause with the audience are: marandjak ma rad ja ni silo-silo, 'the king of the otters dancingly jumps up and down'. This is without doubt an allusion to the story of the kancil and the otter. See No. 178 of P. Voorhoeve, Overzicht van de Volksverhalen der Bataks (now also in Codices Batacici, pp. 474-475).

b 30-38 anggun ni surik, about the knife used in the sacrifice (piso), with a series of illustrations of different sorts of knives and the ominous meaning for the owner. Then follow all sorts of peculiarities about the buffalo sacrifice, such as the rewards that are given to the different collaborators, which are often not easily understandable because of the summary expressions and the sometimes corrupt state of the text.
b 53 The beginning of a poda ni pagar pamuni tondi, called sipatundal ni begu. It ends abruptly at the bottom of the page. A peculiarity of the spelling in this manuscript is that after –ja sometimes –a is written. Voorhoeve found the words ijaa en hasajaa. The former also occurs in Or. 3489 b 48.

Chain of transmission: Guru Lenggang ni adji m.Pohan Pandjaitan to Guru Laga ni adji to (asa hupodahon namusengan ma di ho) Guru Mangain Sangap ni adji m.Sihotang in Tolping and his co-pupil Guru Sahala ni adji. Here asa hupodahon namusengan apparently does not mean that the penultimate guru continues to speak, because later on in the text Guru Mangain ni adji is mentioned all the time as pupil, never Guru Laga ni adji. a 2-31 and b 3-19 panampuhi Adji Pajung, about divination with a lemon. Part of this is called pandesai ni panampuhi na morgoarhon sitoho-toho. This is the well-known text beginning ruma ni bau di purba, for the 16 directions of the compass, but it is incomplete since the south-east is followed by west by north-west.
b 19-30 Hata-hata ni pangulubalang simate-mate na bolon. No drawings. In the text is once: ninna gurunta Aman Totar ni adji. This could be another name of Guru Laga n. a.

The beginning is missing. The first text, which occupies the entire a side, and also b 1-17, is about gorak-gorahan Adji Pajung, omens to be interpreted with the divination with a chicken (certainly not manuk di ampang, probably manuk gantung). The only indication concerning the origin is somewhere at the end, where Ama Ragan ni adji is addressed a pupil, and where it is said that the poda comes from a man of the marga Sirait.

b 17-22 poda ni mamis holing, the usual text about the pormamis na lima. At the end are five squares each containing the initial letter of one of the five pormamis in the centre and the other four initials around it. In this drawing and in the bindu's use has been made of red ink.

The booklet was owned by Guru Batu Tunggal ni adji of the marga Samosir from Pangaribuwan. He learnt the two texts that are in the book from the same teacher. It is well written, but occasionally worn. For the bindu's and the drawings also red ink has been used.
a 1-21 Adji Pajung, about omens to be observed during the divination with a pig, whose neck is cut. With a drawing of the cut pig's neck.
a 21-30 and b 2-25 (rest blank) Poda ni manuk gantung with drawings of the interior of the divination chicken, and at the end an almost completely wiped-off drawing of which a table of 2 x 5 squares with alternatingly the letters bu and ha is still clearly visible.

The side which Mrs. M.T. Mostert-Silitonga has called side b is in fact side a. Voorhoeve has changed this in her description. At the beginning some text is missing, though not much. The text begins in an enumeration of the purposes for which the saetan, which is the subject matter of the first text in the book, can serve. Then follows a rather detailed chain of transmission from it becomes abundantly clear that the booklet comes from the Dairi area. It has been written by Bapa Mohar, the younger brother of Bapa Lapijan, also called Mali jan ni adji, who had learned the text from his father si Namo Porlombu, also called Ompu si Togur or Pu Togur in Parowan (Voorhoeve is not certain about the reading of this name) torpuk (that is terpuk) Porlombu. The final -ha is frequently used. De letter sa is written in the Dairi way, with a little curl over its right side. Also the word utjang = sack is used. Mrs. Mostert has transcribed the text as if it were a text in Toba Batak, so she has written a ha in a word such as sipahasada. In his notes, Voorhoeve had, at first, done the same. However, when he realized that the text was in fact Dairi Batak, he has continued with ka. But most of the language in Toba poda language.
a 1 is pated to cover and Voorhoeve assumes that the beginning of the text is on that page.

a 2-20 saetan por-upunan (?) ni panuruni, in which saetan probably has the meaning as given by van der Tuuk of 'de op een feest van een slachtbeest voor de geesten afgezonderde stukken'. The information is according the 12 months.
a 20-46 Poda ni pamusatan ni silandja bukit, here apparently not in the sense of an interior organ of a divination chicken. However, the text does treat sacrifices with chicken in the different months.
a 46-51 and b 1-11 (perhaps with a lacuna in the text between side a and side b) pamukui, with drawings (only in black) at the end.
b 16-25 pormesa, panggordaha and pormamis, with a small figure at the end.
b 26-4-8 Poda ni kata-kata ni ari si magal mogil in order to effectuate that the enemy becomes stiff of cold. Again the saetan is mentioned here.
b 48-51 Title illegible, a text with the purpose that the enemy is killed by 'our' pamukui, probably with an abrupt end.

Poda ni rambu siporhas (about divination with a divination cord) and other pieces that belong to it. In the chain of transmission of the original from which this manuscript was copied a piece of text was missing (or the copyist of the present manuscript has skipped that piece). Because of that in the beginning is missing Si Mangara Pintu (na di borngin is there, however). The chain ends with Sajur ni adji of the marga Pospos (or Naipospos, as there is a small hiatus) Simanungkalit Lumban Tobing from Sarumatinggi. His teacher lived in Dolok Sanggul. There is no use of red ink. There are small drawings of the positions of the divination cord, of the pormesa and the panggorda. There is also a pangarambui which not only has compass figures, but also small puppets. Also Pane na bolon and Pane habang, and parombunan. At the end are a few divination tables.

Poda ni tembak sun alamat debata, prescriptions for shooting absolutely dead, signs of the gods. When the datu and the sibaso have failed, one can ask, in case of a serious illness, a sharp shooter, who can predict by his art of shooting how the illness will end. This miniature book that is suitable to carry to battle or to hunting, has belonged to Aman Sulagan of the marga Sitompul Lumban Toruwan who had learned the art from Guru So Imbangon ni adji, m.Sihombing Lumban Toruwan living in Sipultak.
a 18-25 and b 2-14 the same subject, in relation with the end of the illness. At the end is a drawing of a human figure in an oval which is divided into three by two stripes.
b 15-26 about different types of bullets, with illustrations of these (only in black).

a 1 hatiha of 5 x 5 squares with the word mate in the 9 fields of the diagonals.
a 2-26 and b 2-11 pormanuhon si adji nangka piring, the oracle with a cock, under a basket, but without drawings. To this belongs also:
b 11-14, where there is first talk about a dispute of the rambu batu holing and rambu ngangang, with a drawing on which the chicken is presented as arbiter between the two rambu's which look like lizards. Then comes a small piece pangarambui with compass drawings, only of rambu batu holing, rambu ngangang and rambu matoga.
The remainder is written in the reverse direction, in the same hand.
b 26-24 about the course of pane na bolon, with a compass in the style of the pangarambui, which otherwse is not found with this text. Also about pane sabungan, tuan laen ni pane, pane pangulosi and pane mandjopput. Voorhoeve does not know this extension of the pane family from other texts. Then special persons are enumerated (first according to their rank, later on only by name), who are influenced by the 'eating' (of Pane?) in the four main directions, by the days of the week and by the months. This ends on b 16. Finally:
b 16-15 a medicine against a disease which is referred to as na maoto di podomanna ('a simpleton who remains lying on his bed in lethargy'?).

Unused manuscript. Red colour in the bindu's, rather coarsely drawn. Learnt by Guru Maralum of the marga Simamora Debata Radja, village headman of Lumban Djulu, from Guru Debata hata ni adji. About Pane na bolon, without illustrations, but of multiple use. One can use it instead of chicken divination and all sorts of oracles. On a 13 the writer says, at the end of a series of twelve months, that he has forgotten something in the first month and he then supplies what he at first had forgotten. Also described is the preparation of a porgomgom of Pane na bolon, a protective deviced that is placed before the pantangan of the datu. Also about a lock (hansing) of P.n.b. on the village gate. And about a staff (tungkot) of P.n.b., which seems to be a sort of porsili. Abd about a sacrifice to be made on a crossing, in which the worn rice pestle is used as slaughter pole (borotan) for a black chicken, etc.

Poda ni pamusatan ni panampuhi si hata na pintor, about divination with a lemon, followed by a list of the panggorda and pormesa, and pieces about five days of the week, the five times of the day. The well-known hatiha of 7 squares with the words mate and bunu and a particularly large heading on b 16. Also about animals that should not be eaten on certain days, and a hatiha of 6 x 6 squares.
On a 20 is, at the end of a piece about the real pananpuhi, a drawing composed from a compass and two human figures. An explanation can be found for this in a note by van der Tuuk in Or. 3386 f (2), above. There is also the explanation of some technical terminology which occurs in the present text.

At the beginning and at the end of this beautiful manuscript something is missing. The text is very much related to the text in Or.3483. The subject matter is the magical device Adji gurangsa. The chains of transmission of both manuscripts are the same till Guru Sungkunan ni adji, the teacher who has taught the text both to the owner of Or. 3483 and the owner of the present manuscript. If one compares the two manuscripts it is evident that the drawing in Or. 3564 are much better done. Moreover, the text in Or. 3564 is slightly longer than that in Or. 3483. After the part that is mainly the same as in Or. 3483 follow a few incantations (tabas) and a rather extensive piece about musical modes (gondang) that have to be played when the device is being used (b 40-44). Then follows a piece about pohung (magical guardian in the field, b 44-49) and the beginning of a piece about pangihut-ihut (magical pursuer of thieves, b 49-50). See MS Dublin, Ch.B. 1103 (P. This pustaha has been written on both sides from the same direction, contrary to what is usual, where one starts writing side b, on the reverse of that lastly written leaf of side a. However, it is clear that the texts on a and b belong together and that they have been written in the same hand. Only side a has a chain of transmission, ending with Datu Banggu ni adji in Arapangi, and the title: Pamuhu tanduk. On b 30 we find also debata na helung ni pamuhu tanduk. The main part of the text is about choosing auspicious times. Also manunsang harahar is mentioned (on a 38). There are several small figures, drawn in black ink, and not very accurately.

Written by Guru Laga ni adji in Bonandolok for Ompu Radja Liang Batu ni adji in Sibaing Tolpe. The text on the a side mainly treats, after a detailed chain of transmission, Rambu siporhas, with a large drawing of the divination cord with captions that indicated the different 'mansions' and with drawings of the different positions of the cord. There are also subjects which one usually does not encounter in rambu siporhas texts, such as panampahaek, the ceremonial declaration of war, with a drawing of the reed used in that ceremony, and pagar, a protective device. But this transpires to be another protective device of (or based upon) the divination cord (pagar ni rambu siporhas). Also the piece about the pormamis and about pane has probably a relation to this. It is doubtful, however, that the piece beginning on a 52, entitled Poda ni pangulubalang pongpang bala saribu belongs to this part. However, in the last part there is mention of 'our' (treated in the previous part) pagar, used as pagar pamuro, as a protection of the crop against birds. On b 3 begins a piece of different origin, about pagar pangurason. On b 38 there is again mention of rambu siporhas . Then follows on b 4b another piece about pangulubalang, namely pangulubalang sihalisungsung, pangulubalang sitang-tang panggumbangan, pangulubalanghata na lang-lang debata na helung. At the end is a piece about rambu tigor in connection with the buffalo sacrifice (horbo marobo), with a drawing of the bindu matoga with tangga omas the names of which are not mentioned, however. Nor are the names gaven of pank si Djonaha which occurs on a 46 in a drawing which belongs to the pagar ni rambu siporhas, which is almost entirely the same as the drawing in Or. 3541, p. a 1.

Both original covers with sculpted ornamentation are still present, but the glue with which the treebark was attached to them has loosened up. There are two ratan straps, made of seven strips (rompu pitu) and the original rope is also still there, but it is broken on one side. It has not been made, as is often the case with the larger pustaha's, of idjuk fibres, but from a lighter type of fibres, possibly cotton, or hori. The strip if treebark has been broken on one fold and the pieces have been sewn together with large stitches of blue thread.
There is a chain of transmission, but several names are unclear. The Mandailing marga names Dahuiae and Lubis occur. The title is Poda ni pagar hunik. However, that only refers to the part on a 3-49. The protective device of curcuma root mostly serves as a protection against the magic of the enemy. At the end one finds a mintora ni sombajang ni pagarta beginning with: ung uwa alla u alla lia ilalla kaal lallai muhammat ma rasu ulla, which is the Muslim creed (Shahada) here used as a mantra. As radja-radjan serve a seven-pointed star and a small half man between two dragons (on a 50). After this begins text in another hand, with a new chain of transmission with other names. The title is panunsang harahar ni pamunu tanduk. Nor is much said about pamunu tanduk, but the term panunsang (or rather panuntjang according to Mandailing pronunciation, see also van der Tuuk, Tobasche spraakkunst, p. 29, F III) harahar is recurring several times. It mainly treat the making innocuous of unfavourable omens. From this all the time the lemon oracle should be consulted, which is treated on b 13-34 (pandjahai ni tampuk ni unte). On p. b 34 and following it is explained how one should combat unauspicious omens of the panggorda (some only mentioned by their Batak names, all with small drawings. On b 49 and following the same, but then for unfavourable omens from the chicken oracle (pamuwang ni isang, mata, etc., ni manuk, the removing of the lower jaw, the eyes, etc., of the divination chicken).

This very neat, small and unused booklet makes on Voorhoeve the impression of having been copied for van der Tuuk from a larger pustaha, rather intended as an example of writing and drawing (the table very neatly done in red and black), than for use by a datu.
Mrs. M.T. Mostert-Silitonga has assumed that the beginning is where van der Tuuk has pasted the label with the text rambu batu holing. The title and chain of transmission, however, are found on b 25, which would be the end, according to the counting by Mrs. Mostert. In that chain are a few well-known names, but he does not end with the name of one of the writers which are known as writers from the van der Tuuk collection. The title is: Poda ni pangarambui ni pormanuhon. This pangarambui is on a 4-17 and contains rambu batu holing, r. monggop, r. mate, r. panaluan, r. tinantan and r. ngangang, with compass drawings.
a 17-21 On which days from what direction begu manoro, the spirits attack.
a 21-28 divination tables, among other thins of 5 x 5 squares with in each square two crescents (sirih leaves?).
b 2 a beautiful bindu godang.
b 3-10 a hatiha which is made of seven squares with a head, also called pangarambui, according to a note by van der Tuuk.
Except mate and bunu one finds here also the word pamunu.
b 11-14 the names of the twelve pormesa's and on b 17-15 the names of the eight panggorda's in the opposite order and direction. Apparently this has been copied from a pustaha in which the pormesa's were in a column at the left with the panggorda's in the reverse in a column to the right of it.
b 17-24 two lists of the pormamis.

Batak, treebark, 71 ff., 9 x 6.8 cm.
Both sides have a minute neatly written script. Yet, they are not in the same hand. On side a there is a consistent use of the southern ta, on side b the northern ta is used. Voorhoeve has found on side a (a 4) one place only where a pupil is addressed. His name is there Datu Pinatubung ni adji. The pupil for of by whom side b has been written is frequently mentioned. His name is Radja Sahuliling Guru Tinandangan ni adji of the marga Simbolon. It does not seem probable to Voorhoeve that this person is the same as the one who is called Guru Tinandangain, and whom Voorhoeve mentions (Overzicht, p. 9 = Codices Batacici, p. 317) as van der Tuuk's teacher from Naipospos. The manuscript does not make the impression as having been newly made during van der Tuuks stay in Barus.
The beginning and the end of the strip of treebark are lost. The first pages with writing of sides a and b have been pasted to the (additionally made) wooden covers, so that that text is not available anymore.

At the beginning of side a, probably a considerable part is lacking. It is impossible to give a general title to it on the basis of the present contents. There are a few shorter pieces about all sorts of magical devices (adji). On a 3 is a drawing of a puppet and two stars in an oval (in black and red), with a number of captions written in all directions around it. Some bear the title puwaowang, which must be the Malay puhawang or pawang. There is possibly a connection between this word and the Simalungun Batak title puwang, e.g., puwangta for the Malay sultans of the east coast, or puwang bolon, de head woman of a ruler. In other places, puwang is used for all sorts of relatives for whom one must have respect., e.g. Dairi puwang = Toba hula-hula; (see the dictionaries under puwang). On side a (a 36) is another drawing representing a human being attacked by five dragons, very carefully executed in black and red. One must draw that figure on the trace of the footstep of the enemy. The text on side a ends abruptly.
b 2-41 (Poda) ni situmpat huwala, a pangulubalang, with chain of transmission. At the beginning probably only the word poda is missing. The last part is a poda ni pandjahai ni manuk marobo, apparently neither manuk gantung nor manuk di ampang but a chicken oracle in which one releases the slaughtered chicken on the alaman. In the tabas the sign of the final -h is used in bissumirlah, sah, and the particle -lah. At the end a human figure.
b 41-44 Of a different origin. Pangulubalang situngku nasa.
b 54-56 Pangulubalang sipogong desa.
b 57-59 Poda ni salusunta di tonga ni lautan. This salusu not only serves to lighten the waves, but also the loosen up the anchor rope on sea. This text must originate from the west coast, since anchors are not used on Lake Toba, as far as Voorhoeve knows. In the tabas occurs: ija ho anak lahi parabak ma pisomu, ija ho anak boru parabak ma sanggulmu, 'if you are a boy, come with your knife, and if you are a girl come with your hair ornament', meaning: be born quickly.

b 59-64 a device to blind opponents (umbahen mata ni halak marondar, see the dictionary by J.Warneck under rondar). What remains is blank.

a 3-56 and b 2-10 Poda ni taoar Adji malim na bolon, about a device which is mjainly against poison (rasun), with a very detailed chain of transmission (a 3-9) ending with a teacher of Guru Sininta ni adji of the marga Simanu(l)lang Lu(m)ban na Ukkup in Sibu(n)tuon. There is a constant confusion in the spelling between -n and -ng. The origin of the medicine is derived from a guru of the old times (guruta na ni borhu) from overseas (tijan ipar ni lautan), on the other side of the country Boang (ipar ni tano Boan), which is Upper-Singkel. Pages b 2-4 have been written in another hand, which uses the southern ta. One of the ingredients is a slaughter pole for a human, who has not been eaten, however (borotan ni djolma na sundat pinangan).
b 11-22 Poda ni pagar pangorom.
b 23-41 about pormanuhon adji nangka piring, mainly about the value (arga) of the different constituent parts of the oracle, followed by one of the pangarambui, which belong to it. This piece has another chain of transmission, ending with Radja (or Datu) Ginugun ni adji anak ni Saruksuk in the village Ajok Raso. Voorhoeve cannot see a difference in the script, however. The spelling is better than in the previous piece.
b 41-54 Poda ni simonang-monang ‘in order to compare the numerical value of the letters in the names of the enemy and our side’. Apart from the ordinary table of numerical values of the letters (na sada dohot na duwa, etc.) there is also a calculation for the seven days which does not convey an impression of expertise about the calculatory capacities of the Batakse datu’s. E.g. on a Thursday he takes 503 bambu sticks and puts them on heaps of three. If one is left, the patient is severely ill. If two remain, the patient will die. If three remain the patient will recover. The art apparently consists of during the counting cleverly concealing at least one stick, but yet better to conceal two sticks. There are a few figures, in which red ink has been used.

Text on one side only. Contents unknown. It is not one of the manuscripts of the Sloet van de Beele collection, as becomes clear from comparison with the specimens published in H.N. van der Tuuk, Les manuscrits Lampongs en possession de M. Le Baron Sloet van de Beele. Leiden 1868. On the present MS the old shelfmark ([Bat.] 151) is still visible, but the manuscript was placed on its present shelf location by P. Voorhoeve (see Voorhoeve's correction in the 'Journaal', p. 71). The free shelfmark Bat. 151 was then given by Voorhoeve to Or. 6900, below, which is a Batak manuscript of the van der Tuuk collection which was registered in the Library only during Voorhoeve's curatorship (1946-1959). In the ensuing confusion, Or. 3573 was not included in the series of transliterations of manuscripts in South Sumatran scripts, Or. 8447, below. Nor is the MS mentioned in Teuku Iskandar, Catalogue of Malay, Minangkabau and South Sumatran manuscripts in the Netherlands. Leiden 1999.

(2) pp. 26-50. Copy of Or. 3788, above, being Suda Mala, East Javanese poem in macapat (sudamala) metre: Uma exorcised by Sahadewa, who marries Tambrapeta's daughter (edition: P.V. van Stein Callenfels. De Sudamala in de Hindu-Javaansche kunst. Batavia 1925 [Verhandelingen van het Koninklijk Bataviaasch Genootschap van Kunsten en Wetenschappen, vol. 66/1]). Citrangada and Citrasena, transformed into demons Kalantaka and Kalanjaya, are vanquished by the Pandawas and so exorcised. See cat. Brandes III, No. 1072 and cat. Juynboll I, p. 264.
¶ The original of this manuscript, Or. 3788, is now missing. According to a note by P. Voorhoeve (curator of Oriental collections from 1946 till 1959) in the 'Journaal', p. 73, the manuscript was lost by P.V. van Stein Callenfels (1883-1938). This must apparently have happened after van Stein Callenfels had been working on his monograph on the Sudamala (Batavia 1925).

PREFACE

The arrangement of the present volume of the Inventories of Oriental manuscripts in Leiden University Library does not differ in any specific way from the volumes which have been published earlier (vols. 12, 13, 14, 20, 22 and 25). For the sake of brevity I refer to my prefaces in those volumes. A few essentials my be repeated here.
One important difference in respect to the previously published volumes must be mentioned here. Manuscripts Or. 4718 – Or. 4814 (in Hebrew, and a few other languages) have been kept in the Leiden Library for several centuries, but then they had class-marks of their own. Only within the period (1896-1905), which is the subject of the present volume, they were given class-marks in the Or.-series. Hence they are treated in this volume, although some of them have entered the collections as early as 1609, and belong in fact to the oldest collections of Leiden University.
Not all manuscripts mentioned in the present volume were viewed by autopsy. The sheer number of manuscripts makes this impossible. At a later stage this may be achieved, but trying to achieve this at the present stage of inventorizing would seriously hamper the progress of the present project. When a manuscript was not inspected this can be seen from a simple typographical device. Whenever the indication of the shelf-mark is put between round brackets, I have not, or not extensively or sufficiently, inspected the manuscript, and its entry in the inventory is based mostly or entirely on secondary sources, be they published or not. These have, of course, always been indicated. When the shelf-mark is put between square brackets and preceded by an asterisk, this means that I have had the manuscript in my hands, at least once but probably more often, and that the description contains elements that can only be seen in the original manuscript. Such autopsy does not mean that I am, automatically, the author of all information given under that particular class-mark.
The basic elements for each entry of the present inventory are: 1. class-mark, 2. language(s), 3. details of physical description, 4. survey of the contents, 5. provenance, 6. location on the shelf. Depending on the nature of the material, exceptions and divergences are made from this strict arrangement. The collective provenance of a series of manuscripts may be concentrated into a short text, preceding that series, without being repeated under each class-mark.
I end with an important note. Although the inventories which I am publishing here contain descriptions of public and private collections, which will no doubt profit of the existence of electronic versions of my work, none of my inventories has ever been made at the express insistence or by the specific demand of these institutions. The idea to compile such inventories, the invention of their structure, the acquisition of the necessary information from a multitude of primary and secondary sources, the way of publishing, all this is my idea and my work alone. It is therefore my sole property and I assert the moral right of the authorship of form and content of these inventories, with reference, of course, to what I have said elsewhere about the method of compilation.

INVENTORY OF THE ORIENTAL MANUSCRIPTS OF THE LIBRARY OF THE UNIVERSITY OF LEIDEN

VOLUME 5

MANUSCRIPTS OR. 4001 – OR. 5000
REGISTERED IN LEIDEN UNIVERSITY LIBRARY
IN THE PERIOD BETWEEN 1896 AND MAY 1905

Continuation of the Van der Tuuk collection (Or. 3195-Or. 4717)

Resumé of the Van der Tuuk Collection:

The legacy of H.N. van der Tuuk (1824-1894) was registered in the Library in 1896. The printed books in the legacy Van der Tuuk have been incorporated in the Library's collection of printed books and can still be recognized as such. They have not been placed together, however.
The entire collection of Van der Tuuk's manuscripts is arranged as follows:
Part 1: Or. 3195-Or. 3393. Malay manuscripts, with a few Minangkabau, Arabic, Sundanese, Javanese and Madurese manuscripts, and also with the scholarly notes by H.N. van der Tuuk. Or. 3390 is the collection of Balinese drawings. Or. 3393 was transferred to the National Museum of Ethnography in Leiden. This collection has now been fully described in E.P. Wieringa, Catalogue of Malay and Minangkabau manuscripts in the Library of Leiden University and other collections in The Netherlands. Leiden 2007.
Part 2: Batak manuscripts, arranged as follows:
Or. 3394-Or. 3422. Batak manuscripts on paper.
Or. 3423-Or. 3576. Batak manuscripts on treebark (and Or. 6900).
Part 3: Javanese, Balinese and Sasak manuscripts, arranged as follows:
Or. 3577-3851. Javanese, Balinese and Sasak manuscripts on palm leaf, as arranged by J. Brandes in Batavia. See Brandes' inventory (Or. 7216, below).
Or. 3852-4004. Javanese, Balinese and Sasak manuscripts on paper, as arranged and described by J. Brandes, consisting of 153 sheaves.
Or. 4005-4717. The remaining part of the Van der Tuuk collection, as arranged and described by J. Brandes.
The manuscripts (and also the printed books) have been provided with an ex-libris reading: 'Ex legato viri doctissimi H. Neubronner van der Tuuk 1894.'
Or. 18.166, below, consists of photocopies taken from originals in the Arsip Nasional in Jakarta, concerning the transport of the van der Tuuk collection of books and manuscripts to the Library of Leiden University.

Nawa Ruci, Tatwa Jiiana Nirmala, Javanese-Balinese speculative epic tale in prose, by Mpu Ciwamurti. See the edition by Prijohoetomo, Nawaruci. Inleiding, Middel-Javaansche prozatekst, vertaling vergeleken met de Bimasoetji in oud-Javaansch metrum. Groningen 1934. Having first vanquished a pair of snakes and Indra, Bima meets bagawan Awa Ruci, Acimtya, in the ocean, and is given lessons by him. Afterwards taking the name Awirota he finds the amerta Anjiwani (vivifying). Taking the name Angkus Prana and practising asceticism, he resisits temptations and vanquishes the gods, also Pramesti Guru. Finally, having saved Indraprastha, he returns to his brothers the Pandawas. The tale is not exactly the same as the modem Javanese Bima Suci or Dewa Ruci. Mpu Siwa Murti is mentioned at the end. Cat. Juynboll II, p. 292 has an extensive Dutch epitome, cat. Brandes II, No. 704. See Pigeaud II, p. 213.

Kidung Purwajati, Balinese poem in macapat metre. Purwajati leaves his two wives Sukaprana and Salin, telling them that if they would have children, these should be named Krta Wijaya and Sepuh Emas (p. 2), and so happens. When the children grow up they start searching for their father (p. 5). They have to fight with a Raksasa (p. 8), a Garuda (p. 10), a tiger, a lion and an elephant (p. 11). Finally, they arrive at Adi Guru, who orders them to fight Wirajaya, the ruler of Sindupati, as the latter had eloped with their mothers (p. 13). The two women come in hell, because of their adulterous behaviour, but they are allowed to enter heaven on the intercession of their children. Cat. Brandes No. 882. See H.H. Juynboll, Supplement op den Catalogus van de Sundaneesche handschriften en Catalogus van de Balineesche en Sasaksche handschriften der Leidsche Universiteits-Bibliotheek (Leiden 1912), p. 130.

Rama Kidung Bali. Balinese Rama Kling version, in macapat metre. The content corresponds with that of Rama Kling. Hanuman is the son of Rama and Anjani. The giant who burns everything by his glowing eyes, who is called Bubutbris in the Rama Kling, is here called Sphutadaksi, just as in the Old Javanese Ramayana. The miraculous herb, which revives the killed apes, which is called Wicalyakarini in the Old Javanese version, is called here kastuba (p. 27). The end corresponds to that of the Rama Kling. Rama is here too vanquished by his two sons, Belawa and Botlawa. Cat. Brandes No. ??. See H.H. Satwa. The prince of Koripan, Mantri Koripan, marries the two princesses of Daha, Semara and Semari. Later he marries Rimbi, the daughter of a raksasa (p. 13). The latter persuades her husband to exile his two pregnant wives to the forest. The child that is born there (the mantri alit) is stolen by the gambler Mosel (p. 17). When in a cockfight he wins from Mantri Koripan, the latter wants to punish him by hanging the child, but this remains without consequence. Finally, the mantri alit is sent to the raksasa, Rimbi's father, in order to be killed by him. However, a raven changes the content of the letter, so that the small mantri is recommended to the raksasa as his grandson (p. 20). When the raksasa is sleeping, the small mantri steals his manik astagina (magic juwel) and with that he returns to his mother. Cat. Brandes No. 999. See H.H. End of the Van der Tuuk collection (Or. 3195-Or. 4717)

Or. 4718 - Or. 4738
Hebrew, and other, manuscripts coming from the legacy of J.J. Scaliger (1540-1609). Other, mostly Arabic, Scaliger manuscripts are found in the series Or. 212 - Or. 268, above. Not all manuscripts in that series come from Scaliger, however. Albert van der Heide, Hebrew Manuscripts of Leiden University. Leiden 1977, pp. 3-10, gives a history of the composition of Scaliger's Hebrew manuscripts collection.
A famous previous owner was Jean Hurault de Boistallier (d. 1572, or 1582). He was French ambassador in Constantinople and Venice. His name can be seen in a number of volumes: Or. 221, Or. 4720, Or. 4722, Or. 4726, Or. 4728, Or. 4729, Or. 4731, Or. 4732, in a number of Greek manuscripts in the Scaliger bequest (Nos. 51, 52, 58). His name can also be seen in a number of printed books, the famous Brescia Bible of 1494 [Leiden class-mark: 1368 G 8], a collective volume with Hebrew grammatical work, among which the Miqne Avraham by Abraham de Balmes [837 C 6], in Bomberg's edition of the Pentateuch of 1527 [854 C 38], in a collection of Hebrew (and Arabic) proverbs [874 D 7], etc.
It is somewhat strange that the Hebrew collection, till 1896, have remained outside the Cod.Or. numbering system of Leiden class-marks. As I have said in my introduction to the series Or. 212 - Or. 268, this can be explained by the fact that Scaliger's manuscripts, from the beginning, have been kept kept apart, in the Scaliger cupboard, which can be seen on the famous Woudanus print of 1610. When after Warner's death in 1665 his collection came to Leiden, again the Hebrew manuscripts in his collection (now Or. 4739 – Or. 4802) were kept apart, and placed after the Hebrew Scaligerani. Later Hebrew acquisitions (now Or. 4803 – Or. 4814) were placed after these. M.J. de Goeje (1836-1909), the interpres Legati Warneriani in 1896, or the adjutor interpretis of the time (Gerlof van Vloten), finally must have seen this as an anomaly, and have addressed the problem by allotting Or.-numbers to the Hebrew collections. The awareness that such registration was necessary may have been caused by the influx of the van der Tuuk collection (Or. 3195 – Or. 4717). Now, suddenly the Leiden collection collection had been increased, by a single legacy, by almost 50%! This must have put some organizational strain on those who were in charge of the collection, and since the only way to find back a book or manuscript is by referring to it by its number, it must have been decided to also include the Hebrew collection in the Leiden class-mark system. In 1858, however, Steinschneider had published his catalogue of the Leiden collection (M. Steinschneider, Catalogus Codicum Hebraeorum Bibliothecae Academiae Lugduno-Batavae. Leiden 1858), but at that time, the Or. class-marks had not yet been given. That is why Steinschneider only refers to the shelf-marks, and that has been why in scholarly literature, the Leiden Hebrew manuscripts have more often than not been referred to, not by their official class-marks, but to their shelf marks (Hebr.). Between the arrival of the Hebrew Scaligerani in 1609, and their final registration in 1896 they had been known as Hebr. Scal. 1 – 21. The Hebrew Scaligerani are described on pp. 310-379 in Steinschneider's catalogue of 1858.

Some of the Hebrew Scaligerani have never been in the possession of Scaliger, however. This concerns Or. 4719, Or. 4725 and Or. 4733. They come from the library of Franciscus Raphelengius (1539-1597). This has been individually indicated for each of the manuscripts in question, with reference to the relevant article(s) by Alastair Hamilton, in which this different provenance has been documented.
The transliteration of the Hebrew titles has been made by Mrs. Monika Humer, 'Leiterin der Fachbibliothek für Judaistik' ('Head Librarian, Jewish Studies Library'), of the University of Vienna, Austria, during a internship in the Leiden Library in the course of September 2000.

Or. 4730

Collective volume with texts in Hebrew, paper and some parchment (ff. 83-92, 101-102, 111-112, 122-123), 2 (blank) + 129 + 3 (blank) ff., copied by Daniel b. Salomo, dated 5228 (1468 AD). Parchment (recycled material, Latin text still visible) binding, pasted on paper, outward stitching on the back. Illustrations. At the end, a printed book is added. - Inside the front board is a table of contents, by J.J. Scaliger (1540-1609).

(1) ff. 1b-8a. Peirush Daniel le-Hakham han-nifla Ibn Ezra, Commentary by Abraham Ibn Ezra (d. 1067 AD) on the Book of Daniel. Edited in A. Löwy, Miscellany of Hebrew Literature. London 1877, pt. vi, by H.J. Matthews. Title written on back cover.

(2) f. 8b. Hilkhot Avelut me-sm"k, Rules for mourning, taken from the 'Small book of precepts', by Isak Corbeil (1277 AD).

(3) ff. 13a-14a. Mis-Sefer Shibolei-hal-Leket be-Hilkhot Smehot, excerpts from 'Spica Oblivionis' (the star of oblivion?) of the part on the rules of rejoicing ('Regulae de gaudiis'), by Zidkijja b. Abraham from the Anaw family (13th cent.). Continuation of this text on ff. 46a-47b, below.

(4) ff. 14b-15b. Chronological table for the year 5217 and following (1446 AD and following), beginning a table of leaping years according to the cycle of 13 months, which is attributed to Nachshon Gaon (9th cent.).

(5) ff. 16a-30b. Sefer han-Nefesh ve-nikra g"k Sefer ham-Mishkal, The 'Book on the Soul or the Libra' (?), by the famous Moses de Leon (1290 AD). On f. 21 a note on the salamander. Curious lay-out on ff. 19a, 19b, 20a, 20b.

(6) ff. 30b-44b. Various precepts and mystical precepts on secrets (Sodot), by Moses de Leon. A detailed survey of the contents is given in Steinschneider, Catalogus (1858), pp. 360-361.

(7) ff. 44b-46a. Sod<ot> bat Sheva, the 'Secret of Bat Sheba', by Josef Gikatilia (13th cent.).

(8) ff. 50a-52b. Anonymous notes on Kabbalistic subjects, with some lay-out in the form of tables: (a) about the names of God; (b) about the letters of the alphabet; (c) explanation of the Tetragram, in 9 figures. See sor similar figures also in Or. 4762 (18), below. Ff. 53a-54b blank.

(9) ff. 55a-66a. Pirkei-Merkavah han-nikraim Heikhalot dR' Yishmael, 'the heads of the chariot', entitled as the 'Statues of Rabbi Ismael' (?). (Steinschneider, p. 363: Capitula Currus, nominata: Templa R. Ismael). With figures of magic signs in many of the margins (partly cut off).

(10) ff. 66a-b. Maaseh Bereshit, the work on Creation. Apparently a fragment of an old mystical work.

(11) ff. 67a-82a. Sefer Mareh ha-Ofanim, 'the Book of the aspect of the circles', the Hebrew translation by Joannes de Sacrobosco of the Arabic (?) 'Treatise of the Sphere' by Salomo b. Abraham Abigdor (1399 AD). Small astronomical illustrations on ff. 67b, 68b, 69b, 70b, 72b, 79b, 80b, 81a, 81b, 82a; half-page coloured illustration of the spheres on f. 68a; half-page coloured illustration of the earth on f. 69a. F. 73a blank, except for a pencilled rough copy of an illustration on the opposite page. On f. 75a is a poem.

(12) ff. 83a-92b. Parchment leaves, pasted onto paper frames. Shorter homiletic-ethical notes, written with relevance to Proverbs by Salomon. Anonymous, but not older than the 14th century.
(13) ff. 93a-129a. An untitled work on the foundations of Kabbala, apparently by (f. 128) by Josef Ibn Wakkar (14th cent.).
At the end of the volume a printed work of 25 ff. is added: Sefer diqduq [we-hu Sefer Mahalak sevile ha-daat] by Mose Qimhi. 3rd. ed. Ortona (Gersom) [Soncino 1519].
See Steinschneider, Catalogus (1858), pp. 357-365. See A. van der Heide, Hebrew manuscripts (Leiden 1977), pp. 63-64. This work is now also mentioned in the automated catalogue of printed books (as Or. 4730:2).
[* Hebr. Scaliger 13]

Or. 4731
Collective volume with texts in Hebrew, paper, (5) + 146 ff.
(1) ff. ??. Reshit Hokhmah, the 'Beginning of Wisdom', an astrological work by Abraham Ibn Ezra.
(2) ff. 63-. Sefer ham-Meorot, the 'Book of the Lights', by Abraham Ibn Ezra.
(3) ff. 72-. Sefer ha-Olam u-Mahbarot (?) ham-Meshshartim, the 'Book about the World and the Conjunction of the Planets', by Abraham Ibn Ezra.
(4) ff. 86-. Sefer kazar be-Mivharim le-Abu Maasher, the Hebrew version, possibly (Steinschneider's guess) of the Arabic work Kitab al-Ikhtiyarat `ala Manazil al-Qamar, by Abu Ma`shar al-Balkhi (d. 272/886), GAL G I, 221.
(5) ff. 90b-. Sefer ha-Pri, Hebrew version of (an Arabic version of) the 'Liber Fructus' (Karpos), the Aphorisms by Ptolemy, and the commentary on that text by Abu Ga`far Ahmad b. Yusuf b. Ibrahim. The Hebrew translator is not mentioned, but on the basis of information from other manuscripts, Steinschneider assumes that he may be identified with Kalonymos b. Kalonymos, who is said to have completed a translation on 20 Elul 5074 (1314 AD).
(6) ff. 125b-. Athil likhtov b'"h mah she-Hibber Baal Hat-Takuit (sic!) bi-Thilat ha-Almank (?) (...) by Yohana hal-Livni, (Steinschneider: 'Capita X cet. magistri Tacuini cet. composita per Jochanan Haliphni'), who is identified by Steinschneider as Johannes de Bianchino (or Blanchino), from Bologna (middle of 15th cent.). Partly edited (f. 125b) by Steinschneider in his Appendix 19 (pp. 405-406).
(7) ff. 143b-. Luah Mahanot hal-Levanah, Table for the lunar mansions (1466 AD). (8) ff. 145-146. A table inscribed: Luah ladaat Shalit ham-Molad, 'in order to recognize a ruler or a lord'.
See Steinschneider, Catalogus (1858), pp. 365-372. See A. van der Heide, Hebrew manuscripts (Leiden 1977), p. 64.
Earlier provenance: Inscription on a leaf before the beginning of the text: 'Hic liber prius concisus et lacere (? lacer) restitutus et huic formae redditus est a me Johanne Heraultio Boistallerio regio apud Venetos legato. Venetiis A. 1561.' Possibly MS Grimani 55 (from the bibliophile cardinal Domenico Grimani (d. 1523). See van der Heide, pp. 6-7). And on f. (?): 'Habui ab heredibus cujusdam Doctoris Judaei Rabbi Zalmani pretio 3 aur.' On f. 3a is is the name of another, previous, owner: Mardochai b. Asher ha-Levi, as is also clear from Or. 4726, above.

(Hebr. Scaliger 14)

Or. 4732
Collective volume with texts in Hebrew and German (Nos. 1, 11), parchment, 166 ff.
(1) ff. ??. Shemot ha-Asavim, the names of plants, with German translation (in Hebrew script).
(2) f. 18. Shaar: Irdopokos (?) Levika (?) Plomzia (?) hi hat-Tekufah hak-karah.
(3). F. 19. Ve-yiddaber Asaf al d' Ruhot ham-menahagot hag-Guf milevad Ruah ha-Hayim, (...) an excerpt from the Book of Asaf b. Barachia. On ff. 22b-23a notes 'de Clysteriis'. Ff. 23b-24 blank.
(4) f. 25. Various medical notes.
(5) f. 34. Treatise on urine.
(6). f. 37. On medical recipes, Shaar be-Rizepta (...).
(7) f. 40. Apparently an index, the beginning missing, on text No. 14, below. Followed by a list of simple medicines, in alphabetical order.
(8) f. 52. On laxatives, beginning: lehodia min ha-Refuot ham-meshalshelot bifnei azmam ve-ham-meshalshelim be-Hibbur (...). Galen is quoted. On f. 62b Clystier, with a figure. On f. 65b Hippocrates is mentioned. On f. 66 Alexander is mentioned. On f. 74 begins a chapter on venal section (= ? bloodletting?). On f. 75b mention of medicine.
(9) f. 76. Medical astrology, according to the signs of the Zodiac, beginning: Teumim. And other notes.
(10) f. 83. Fragment of a work on natural science, in 'forma erotematica', in dialogues between Nekhed and Dod. The Berachija who says that he has translated the text from writings of peoples who had translated it from Arabic, is, according to Steinschneider, without a doubt the same as Berachija b. Nitronai, the author of the Book of the Fable of the Fox, and who seems not to have lived before the 13th century. On ff. 85b-86a are excerpts.
(11) f. 88b. Miscellaneous notes on medicine, mostly on internal diseases. On f. 92a various notes, also names of illnesses and medicines, with notes in German (in Hebrew script).
(12) f. 105b. About urine, and other symptoms. Also on other medical matters.
(13) ff. 127-130. On Unguents and plasters, beginning: Eleh Sharei-ham-Meshihot ve-ha-Isplanit (...),
(14) ff. 140-. Anonymous and untitled work on plants. In other manuscripts it bears the title Sefer ham-Maalot, 'Liber de Gradibus [plantarum]'. In the Latin version it has an author's name attached to it, Constantinus Africanus (c. 1020-1087).
(15) f. 165. A work on various sorts of medicines, also referring the No. 14, above. It is similar to the Arabic work (which?) by `Abd al-Rahman b. Muhammad Ibn Wafid al-Lakhmi, Albenguefit or Abenguefit (d. after 460/1068), GAL G I, 485, on Medicine, a work of which the Latin version by Gerard of Cremona has been published, together with works by Constantinus Africanus (c. 1020-1087).

This is an excyclopedic work, which is divided into 2 parts and 3 special treatises. Part 1 treats logic, physics and metaphysics according to Aristotle, with a treatise in which selected passages from the books Genesis, Psalms and Proverbs are treated. Part 2 treats mathematics, and added are two treatises, one about mysticism, the other on literature. Apparently a Hebrew translation of an Arabic work.
(2) ff. 102-103. Two notes by David de Rocca of exegetical content.
(3) ff. 104-. Deot Hap-Pilosofim, the 'Opinions of the philosophers' by Samuel Ibn Tibbon (13th cent.), based greatly on the work of Averroes (Ibn Rushd, d. 595/1198), GAL G I, 462). Apparently part of a much longer work. A few treatises can be distinguished. Treatise 3 (f. 182b): on Minerals, based on Aristotle's De Plantis. Treatise 5 (f. ??): on Animals, based on Aristotle's De animalium natura. Treatise 6 (f. 273): on the Soul, based on Aristotle's De anima. Treatise 7 (f. ??): On the spheres and the stars, based on Aristotle's De coelo et mundo. Treatise 8 (f. 334): On the active intellect, possibly based on a work by Muhammad b. Muhammad Abu Nasr al-Farabi (d. 339/950), GAL G I, 212. Treatise 9 (f. ??): On sensory perception, possibly based on an epitome by Averroes (Ibn Rushd, d. 595/1198), GAL G I, 462).

Or. 4767
Hebrew, paper, 1 + 320 + 1 ff,
Supercommentary by Menachem Tamar on the Commentary by Ibn Ezra on the Pentateuch.
¶ Bound together with the manuscript is the printed book Avodat ha-levi ve-hu moreh zedeq me-ha-mizevot kefi daat ha-rav rabenu Mose bar Maymon, published, according to van der Heide in Constantinople c. 1515-1520. It has 28 folios, and seems to be devoid of information about the place and date of publishing. In the Provincial Library in Leeuwarden there is a book with the same title, but published in Venice in 1546.

(Hebr. 64)

Steinschneider (pp. 279-297) describes other Warner manuscripts, which were given class-marks immediately upon arrival, soon after 1665. He refers to them, again, by their shelf marks (Warn. 65 - Warn. 79), not by their class-marks. These have already been described in the present inventory, but under their class-marks.
Warn. 65 = Or. 645.
Warn. 66 = Or. 1098.
Warn. 67 = Or. 1158.
Warn. 68 = Or. 1166. lost!, since December 1961.
Warn. 69 = Or. 1189.
Warn. 70 = Or. 1195.
Warn. 71 = Or. 1197.
Warn. 72 = Or. 1129.
Warn. 73 = Or. 1099.
Warn. 74 = Or. 1126.
Warn. 75 = Or. 1127.
Warn. 76 = Or. 1128.
Warn. 77 = Or. 1113.
Warn. 78 = Or. 387.

Warn. 79 = Or. 382.
Then Steinschneider proceeds to describe the other Hebrew manuscripts in the Leiden library (pp. 298-309), by continuing his number series of shelf marks. Three manuscripts are already registered in this inventory under their class-mark.
N. 80 = Or. 107a.
N. 81 = Or. 1298.
N. 92 = Or. 1336.

Or. 4803 – Or. 4814

Hebrew manuscripts, other than the Warner and Scaliger collections. All of these (except Or. 107a) arrived in the Leiden library after the arrival of the Warner collection (1665 and afterwards). Finally, in 1896, the Hebrew manuscripts were registered in the Or.-series of class-marks. See also the general remarks in the introductory paragraph to the Hebrew Scaligerani (Or. 4718-Or. 4738, above). Before their registration in 1896, these manuscripts had been numbered by shelf marks only, and as a far sequel to the Warner collection and a few other manuscripts. That is how they received the shelf marks Hebr. 82 – Hebr. 94. They have been described under these numbers by M. Steinschneider, Catalogus Codicum Hebraeorum Bibliothecae Academiae Lugduno-Batavae. Leiden 1858, pp. 299-309.

Or. 4803 a-b

Or. 4814
Hebrew and Arabic, paper, and some parchment (ff. 1-6), 458 ff., original binding: sheepskin on wood.
Sefer Machzor. The rituals and daily prayers in the town of Fes, that is before the coming of the exiles from Spain. The text is in Hebrew, but the 'constitutiones' (Steinschneider's term) are in Arabic.
The paper is occasionally fragile, due to corrugation of the ink, which makes some pages unfit for reading.
Literature: Saskia de Melker, Emile G.L. Schrijver, Edward van Voolen, The image of the word (Amsterdam, etc., 1990), pp. 60-61 (with reproduction of the title-page). Partial facsimile and edition: Passover Seder. Holiday prayers, Passover Haggadah, Dhir from the Fez Mahzor, Leiden Manuscript No. 94. Published for the first time from a single manuscript. With introduction, variations in rites, explanations and comments by Shlomo Elkayam. Lod 5759/1999. Elkayam p. 7 mentions a few previous owners of the MS. On p. 146 of the MS is the signature of Rabbi Yaakov Even Tzur from Meknes (1673-1752). Other owners identified by Elkayam: Shmuel Yaakov ha-Tzarfati (19th cent.) and Avraham Ben Denan (17th cent.). See also Leopold Zunz, Die synagogale Poesie des Mittelalters, Frankfurt am Main 1920 [804 G 17].

End of the Hebrew collection as described by Moritz Steinschneider in his Catalogus of 1858.

Or. 4815

Arabic, Latin, paper, 136 ff. (including blanks), pasted boards.
Arabic and Latin study notes ('Arabische partes') by the Dutch protestant poet and theologian E.A. Borger (1784-1820), who wrote them in his study years. It is evident that he has worked from the 1748 edition of Erpenius' Grammar, as he begins with lexicographical notes taken from the Sententiae Arabicae (ff. 1a-15a), at which follow his notes on the Hamasa (f. 15b), etc. From f. 43b onwards also translations (into Latin) are given, of parts of Kalila wa-Dimna. These may well have been made from the Arabic text in the Schultens edition of Leiden 1786. For learning Arabic, Borger may have been, from 1806 onwards, a student of J.H. van der Palm (1763-1840). He was also in contact with S.F.J. Rau (1765-1807). Van der Palm presided, together with the poet H. Tollens (1780-1856), over a mourning session for Borger, which has been published as De nagedachtenis van Elias Annes Borger, plegtig gevierd op den 20 december 1820, in naam der Leydsche afdeeling van de Hollandsche Maatschappij van Fraaije Kunsten en Wetenschappen. Leiden 1821 [449 D 33]. See for an outline of Borger's life and work (but without reference to Borger's knowledge of Arabic) the biographical sketch by C. Van der Woude, Elias Annes Borger (1784-1820). Een geleerde-leven in het begin der 19e eeuw. Kampen 1975 [S 2149:26 - 1261 C 27].
Ff. 118-136 blank. Not in Voorhoeve's Handlist.
Provenance: Gift of M.J. de Goeje (1836-1909), received in September 1896. De Goeje had received the manuscript from the historian E.G. Lagemans (*1803), who had recived it in 1819 from the first owner, E.A. Borger.

Or. 4819 - Or. 4823
Copies of Arabic manuscripts made in Istanbul, presented to the Library by Gerlof van Vloten (1866-1903) in January 1897. Van Vloten has become known as the editor of a number of texts by al-Gahiz. He had gone to Istanbul to collect copies of manuscripts which he needed for his work. At that time photography was apparently less feasible an option than having MSS copied by professional scribes. Van Vloten was adjutor interpretis Legati Warneriani, under M.J. de Goeje (1836-1909). He has let himself be inspired by the Orient, and probably particularly so during his Istanbul journey, and published a work for the general public, Oostersche schetsen en vertalingen (Amsterdam 1900), which still makes pleasant reading. In 1903 he took his own life, just before completing his work on the edition of three treatises by al-Gahiz, Tria opuscula, auctore Amr b. Bahr al- Gahiz, which was then posthumously published by de Goeje (Leiden 1903). Van Vloten's notes and indexes are registered in the Library as Or. 5585 - Or. 5587 (and others?), below, when they were transferred on May 24, 1909, as part of the manuscript collection from the estate of M.J. de Goeje (Or. 5568 – Or. 5587, below).

Or. 4821
Collective volume with texts in Arabic, paper, 414 pp., naskh script, one copyist, dated end Rabi` II 1314, copied by Ashraf Zuhdi al-Rizadani (?, colophon on p. 403), half-leather Library binding.
Collection of (mostly) Rasa'il by `Amr b. Bahr al-Gahiz (d. 255/868), GAL G I, 152, copied from MS Istanbul Damad Ibrahim 949, made for G. van Vloten (1866-1903). On p. 403 van Vloten has written: 'Gecopieerd van codex Damad Ibrahim 949 en voor mij gecollationeerd. Oct. 1896. G. van Vloten'. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, pp. 283-284. References are given to the edition by `Abd al-Salam Muhammad Harun, Rasa'il al-Gahiz, 4 vols. Cairo 1384-1399 (1964-1979). Several conjectures and other notes in the margin, possibly also by M.J. de Goeje (1836-1909).

Or. 4824
Lost!. Not found, according to P. Voorhoeve ('Journaal', p. 87). However, Voorhoeve has perceived that Or. 2092, above, consists of two items, which is one too many. It is not impossible that one the two documents kept in Or. 2092 is in fact Or. 4824. Maybe they have just been put together in the same portfolio (see Ar. 1633).

Or. 4825 – Or. 4827
This is a collection of materials which were found in the Library at several places and which were now, for convenience's sake, registered together under these class-marks. The 'Journaal', p. 87 says: 'Some Afro-Arabica, jimats, prayer books, etc., from unknown origin (found in one of the cupboards, and partly made into a lot).'

Or. 4825 a
(1) ff. 1b-24a. Du`a', and related texts, in Malay and Arabic. Not in Voorhoeve's Handlist.

See T. Iskandar, Catalogue (1999), p. 192 (No. 427).
(in Mal. 664)

Or. 4825 b
Arabic, paper, 68 ff., 19th cent., from Bone, Celebes.
Mawlid (or Mawlud) Sharaf al-Anam. Anonymous, but sometimes (however, not in the Leiden MSS) ascribed to all Bukhari, cf. GAL S II, 1000, No. 42. Complete copy, with after the text the same litanies as in Or. 7093, below, and benedictions for the souls of Saints and rulers of Bone. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, pp. 207-208.
(in Mal. 664)

Or. 4826
Arabic, with some Malay, paper, 91 ff., Indonesian naskh, 19th cent. AD., full-leather Islamic binding with flap, blind tooled ornamentation in Indonesian style, rebacked and repaired.
Dala'il al-Khayrat wa-Shawariq al-Anwar by Muhammad b. Sulayman al-Gazuli (d. 870/1465), GAL G II, 252. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 56. A copy without the illustrations (text of the Sifat al-Rawda on ff. 13b-14a).
On ff. 90b, 91a, some notes in Malay.
Provenance: Probably received by M.J. de Goeje (1836-1909) from Mr. P.D. van Benthem Jutting in Middelburg. Added is a letter from the latter, dated Middelburg 8 December 1877, in which two manuscripts are presented. According to the the manuscripts were found in Kampong Penayung in Aceh. Or. 4827 may be the other manuscript from this origin.

Javanese, treebark paper (dluang), 114 + 2 pp., Javanese script.
Menak Amir Hamza romance, called Menak Lare, macapat metres, East Javanese idiom, orthography and script (cursive), incomplete.
Beginning: Awighnam astu nama sidem.
Contains the tale of Pitaljemur, son of Baktijamal, and vizir of Madayin, the births of Amir Hamza's enemies the King of Madayin Nursewan, and his vizir Baktak and the birth of Amir Hamza himself, son of Abdul Mutalib of Mekah, and of his companion Umar Maya. Amir Hamza's adventures at the Court of Madayin are told up to the struggle with Kistaham, the commander-in-chief. The tale corresponds with Poerbatjaraka's Menak Kartasura (KBG MS 613, dated 1715 AD), canto 1-12, and with the Menak epic by Yasadipura (edition Balai Pustaka, Batavia), the books Menak Sarehas and Menak Lare, I, II and III. The redaction of Yasadipurwa is prolix. The text of Or. 4869 seems rather old, probably 17th century. No date. The tale resembles the beginning of the Malay Hikayat Amir Hamza II, see Ph.S. van Ronkel, Catalogus der Maleische handschriften in het museum van het Bataviaasch Genootschap van Kunsten en Wetenschappen. Batavia 1909, MS Cohen Stuart 138. The spelling of the Persian-Arabic names in the various Javanese Menak redactions shows many differences. Or. 10.674, below, is a romanized copy by J. Soegiarto, another copy of which is in BCB 151. See Pigeaud II, p. 245; III, p. 28 (plate 31of p. 33 of the manuscript) and pp. 66-67 (transliteration and translation of the text on the reproduction).

Radin Sukmadi. Madurese poem containing the adventures of Radin Sukmadi, the son of the ruler of Imansah, whose daughter had eloped with a ghost king (ratu prayangan). His father wants to make him marry, but he refuses and secretely goes away (p. 4). First he associates with a pandita, and makes the acquaintance of the latter's son Sujana. They go to Mukadas, as the ruler of that kingdom has promised the hand of his daughter to whomever is able to kill the naga (p. 23). After many princes have tried to achieve this, but in vain, Sukmadi kills the naga and marries the princess (p. 61). Now he starts to look for his father and finds him back as tapa (p. 73). The following party of the story consists of a description of his struggle against the buta-ruler Srana, the kings of Tor Sina, of Nusantara, etc. See also Or. 4709, above. See H.H. Morsada, a Madurese romance. See Pigeaud II, pp. 33-34: Mursada's quest for a medicine to cure the illness of his step-mother the Queen of Rum, who was a Princess of Malaka. As a child Mursada was (together with his mother) repudiated by his father the King of Rum. He was taken in by poor people, ki and ni Nambi, caught a magic fish with golden scales which became his protector, and had many adventures with beautiful princesses, both spirits and humans, in the course of his quest. In Or. 1819, above, the tale ends abruptly, but Or. 4881 is a Madurese version of the same tale (with some differences in the names), continuing it to the end. See See H.H.
